Flame-colored roses add life to the home property. There's nothing quite like a bed of roses of these vivid colors everyone of which stands out like a Spanish dancer, full of fire and allure. Many of the shades are flaming or reddish-orange but the live colors burst out all over from the bright pinks, reds to the warm yellows. The rose hybridizers must have a renewed alliance with Mother Nature to have turned out all these wonderful colors we find this year.

Actually it takes about 10 years or more to develop a new rose and have it ready in quantities for the market. Maybe the new nail polishes gave hybridizers the ideas, though new rose colors are far harder to come by.

Ex-Senator Hits 'Shotgun' Charges

Former state senator Fred O. Dickinson, chairman of Florida's Committee of 100, called for a halt to "irresponsible shotgun blasts at Florida land developers and home builders attributed to persons some of whom have never even visited our state."

"The time has come for an accounting and for a halt to charges by these people who, in seeking to weed out nefarious land developers across the county, blacken the names and reputations of some of the finest construction firms in Florida," Dickerson said.

He referred to a recent quote in an AP dispatch by officials of the Association of Better Business that "the greatest land scandal in United States history is developing in the Southwest and in Florida." One of the officials Dickinson referred to lives in Rye, N.Y., the second in Des Moines, the others in Chicago and Kansas City.

"I cannot, of course, speak for what is happening in Southwest United States, but I must take sharp exception to such a blanket indictment of Florida and our home builders and land developers here," Dickinson continued.

"Florida has passed stringent laws to protect investors in Florida properties. There are still some isolated examples of nefarious real estate operations, but these are being weeded out as rapidly as they arise.

"What the officials of the Association of Better Business forget to note is that there are fine, well-financed and highly responsible home builders and land developers in Florida. Organizations such as Arvida, General Development Corporation and others have invested millions of dollars of their own money in the growth of Florida. They are selling good land and are bringing good, substantial people to our state to enjoy the benefits we have to offer. Th new arrivals, in turn, are creating a highly effective impact on our economic growth.

"It is entirely unfair, and, indeed, untrue to indict these fine Florida organizations with a reprehensible shotgun blast at everyone. Great harm, and very little good, can come from such tactics."

The Committee of 100 is composed of 100 leading Florida citizens.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Method Of Freeze Drying Foods Explained

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapefruit, Emperor grapes, juice oranges, cranberries.

Vegetables— Potatoes, cauliflower, broccoli, turnips, leafy greens.

Protein Foods — Pork loins, pork shoulder, bacon, "beef specials," eggs.

Other Foods — Frozen orange concentrate, canned fruits, vegetables and ice cream.

No doubt you've been hearing a lot about freeze-dried foods lately. One reason for all the commotion lies in the fact that Columbus has been selected as a test market, by a large meat packer, for four complete dinner casseroles containing freeze-dried meats. If the market test on these products proves successful, freeze-dried foods probably will take their place on the grocery shelf in supermarkets over a wider area.

Mrs. Franks

What is freeze-drying, anyway? When you open one of the new packages now available you'll know something has happened to the meat. The pieces are dry, crisp and light as a feather. Here's what happened:

Any food that is freeze-dried is first frozen, then slowly dehydrated under vacuum until practically all the moisture is removed. This causes ice to vaporize leaving the product porous and in its original shape —with the tissue and fiber essentially unchanged. When water is added, the food quickly regains its original weight, flavor and texture. Reports indicate there is little or no change in nutritive value or palatability.

This process is by no means new. It has been used for several years in the field of medicine, and is essentially the same process that is used to preserve blood plasma.

A fact worth noting is that freeze-drying, like any other process of food preservation, is no better than the quality of the product at the beginning. Therefore, much of the responsibility for putting a high quality product on the table of consumers continues to rest with the farmer.

However, the possibility of a high quality product reaching your table may be greater with freeze-drying than with frozen foods. This is because frozen foods must be kept at 0 degrees F., or below, to maintain quality. Because of the complexity of our marketing system, frozen foods are handled by many people before they get to the consumer, and the chance of their losing quality along the way is a possibility.

Freeze-dried foods need no refrigeration. However, there is not sufficient data, at present, to indicate the extent of their shelf life. They must be in the proper package—it must not absorb any moisture. Once the seal is broken, the food begins to lose quality unless used immediately.

Next week we will discuss some of the pros and cons of freeze-dried foods and the implications in our marketing system.

Husband Has Fine Letter About Wife

To hear our nominee "yell" at the children (and me) at various times makes one wonder if this is the person that should be nominated for this award, but this particular homemaker does get mad and does voice her opinion, but she also has kind words, kisses and deeds at the right time to balance out these gentle outbursts.

Her taste and grooming has developed increasingly thru our married life and though she is not one to get "hep" on TV and diet exercises, she seems to keep trim and healthy by housework and by picking up after three children (and her husband). She finds time to take our children to choir practice and there have been many errands of meals to friends in time of need and time is always found for prayers at meals and at bedtime.

Our neighbors and friends know of her as a good seamstress and she is always willing to alter whatever needs to be. Thru her continued interest in Church she has become increasingly active in the many functions of Church life and she is now studying the spread of communism in East Asia and the Church's position. She is also active in PTA, president of the Hillcrest Child Conversation League and has served on many door to door charity drives. She has currently set-up and is in charge of non-professional people working on "Sabia on Sunday" at Franklin Heights School.

She is much better in managing our finances than I thru her resourcefulness and she thinks the best things in life are free (or close to it) and she has seen to it that our budget allows for a family swimming ticket in the summer and there was even a camping trip this past summer, the story too long and humorous to tell in this letter, but we will say it lasted only one day and one night.

It would be foolish to say our home is always neat with three children and a husband, but the appearance upon entering is one of a lived in home, always clean and showing ability our nominee has in making drapes and wall decorations. It has been mentioned by friends that they have never eaten anything prepared by our nominee that wasn't good and she has prepared menus to serve 5 to 300.

Her sewing ability has been an asset as she has made all her own dresses and has made numerous dresses for our girls. Our nominee has many and varied abilities from winning 1st prize in a CCL contest of table decorations to doing yard work and I would say that she has no special hobbies except that of helping and doing for her family and for someone else. It is for the reasons as briefly stated that we nominate Mrs. Robert (Doris) Wilson, Mother, Wife; our Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

In our efforts to learn everything to be learned we are finding some costly studies are being made at a cost to taxpayers today. For example, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, has come up with the following list of studies being made by the National Institute of Health:

Parkside-rd Resident Chosen Community Council Head

Pierson ("Pete") Block, 3181 Parkside-rd, has been elected president of the Hilltop Community Council and will take office Dec. 13. He succeeds J. Robert Frakes who has served two years.

Although active in local civic affairs for many years, Block is a relative newcomer to the council which represents about 40 Hilltop organizations. Last spring, in fact, he strongly opposed the group in its endorsement of a new recreation center for Westgate Park. He acted on behalf of residents surrounding the park and defended their views in a lively debate at City Hall. After Columbus councilmen ruled in favor of the center, however, Block vowed to give the Hilltop council his fullest support.

Other 1963 HCC officers are: Terry Ogden, 319 S. Algonquin-av, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Bowles, 3130 Ridge-av, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. C. Booth, 599 E. Tree Rites Dated

During its monthly session last Thursday, the Hilltop Community Council voted to hold a community Christmas tree lighting ceremony the evening of Sunday, Dec. 9 on Glenwood Park hill.

Chuck Moore will coordinate the program planning.

Georgian Heights Slates Fall Dance For Friday

Annual Georgian Heights fall dance will be held Friday, Nov. 16 from 8:30 p.m. to midnight at Haubrich Armory, Sullivant-av.

There will be round and square dancing. Featured will be the Iola Gombo.

Admission will be $3.50 per couple. Beverages, mixer, chips and ice will be sold.

The dance is open to the public and is sponsored by the Georgian Heights Civic Association. Jack Petty, 4176 Atlanta-dr, is chairman.

Town, Rich Changeover To One-Ways Approved

Motorists using several of West Side's major thoroughfares will be changing their ways in about a week.

W. Town and W. Rich-sts will be posted for one-way traffic (and so will some connecting streets, buses are to be rerouted, changes will be made in traffic signals, some new no-parking areas will be established.

The City Traffic Commission outlined its plans Tuesday afternoon to representatives of the West Side Neighborhood Council. The changes are the latest to come from a list of 25 traffic reforms requested by the council a year ago.

Because the new one-ways will terminate on Glenwood-av the Traffic Commission voted to erect a new traffic light at Glenwood and Broad-st. It will be up on a 60-day trial basis. However, over WSNC's protests, the traffic bosses decided to remove the present light at Yale and Broad. Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher asserted that two lights only 250 yards apart on Broad-st would be sure to cause new bottlenecks, especially as rush hour traffic empties from Glenwood onto Broad.

Following is the new traffic plan approved Tuesday by the commission and is subject only to review by the safety director:

RICH STREET

Two-way traffic will be maintained on both the Main-st and Rich-st Bridges. Eastbound traffic only will be permitted on Rich-st from Glenwood to the Starling-Main intersection. A signal will be placed at the west end of the big intersection at the bridge. The rest of the intersection will be channeled by paint lines and "turtles." From this junction Bell-st will be northbound from Main to Town; Starling will be northbound from Rich to Town. Head-in parking on Washington-blvd, between Main and Town, east side, will be changed to parallel parking.

No parking at anytime will be observed on Rich-st, south side, from Glenwood to Hawkes; and on the north side between Hawkes and Gift. There will be "no stopping" from 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. from Rich-st's east service drive of the Sandusky-st Expressway to McDowell-st, south side. The city will maintain the present "no stopping 6 to 9 a.m. and 3 to 6 p.m." from McDowell to Starling-Main on both Rich and Town-sts.

TOWN STREET

Town-st will be one-way west bound from Starling-st to Glenwood-av and two-way from Glenwood to Central. There will be traffic lights at the east side of the Sandusky-st Expressway at Rich and on the west side of the expressway at Town-st. Traffic engineers plan to keep the present "no stopping 4 to 6 p.m. (north) and 7 to 9 a.m. (south) on Town-st excepting in areas between Starling and Gift-sts and Davis to Glenwood. Here the present no-stopping signs will be removed and full-time parking restored.

BUS ROUTES

Gallagher said City Transit buses will travel the following routes: The SULLIVANT-AV bus traveling west on Town-st will go to Davis, turn south to Sullivant and go west in its usual route. Eastbound Sullivant-av buses will go to Davis, then north to Rich-st, and east to Washington-blvd,

Second Generation Will Stage '62 Mock Wedding At Glenwood

Glenwood Methodist's Tom Thumb wedding, children's classic at the church for more than a quarter of a century, will be tinged with nostalgia for many in the audience this year.

The 1962 production, planned Friday, Nov. 16, 7:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, will contain many second generations in the make-believe wedding party.

Children, nieces and nephews of many who walked down the aisle in mock solemnity when they were youngsters, are sprinkled throughout the cast of 78.

Tom Thumb weddings have been staged at Glenwood every five or six years since the first one in 1934.

Public is invited to attend the "wedding" and the reception that will follow. More than 300 are expected at the event.

The cast of Junior Church members includes, Cindy Smith, bride; Mark Curtis, bridegroom; David Buchanan, preacher; Kim Adams, Joellen Brown, Linda Smith, Sandra O'Neill and Peggy Jaynes, bridesmaids.

Dawn Curtis, Alice Buchanan and Karen Denney, flower girls; Bob Krueger, David Sink, Jeff Curtis, Steve Clemenons and Kyle Adams, ushers; Kevin Adams, ringbearer, Jeffrey Graham, father of the bride, and master of ceremonies, Roger Rucker.

Others in the wedding party are, Bob Link, Debra Grabill, Rodney Crawford, Lynn Grabill, Craig Cassell, Cheri Jean Lowe, Susan Denney, Mike Leach, Molly Buchanan, Harold Walker, Denise Bard, Jeff Harrison, Cathy Foster, Ronnie Lewis, Judy Holstein, Harold Lewis, Laura McGlone, Richard McKee, Jane Ellen Thacker and Chris Curtis.

See more pictures and story on Mrs. Jhensen on page 8.

HUNDREDS OF VEILS, headpieces and gowns for hundreds of little girls, and little boys' ties in like number have been adjusted by Mrs. Nelson Jhensen, Junior Church leader at Glenwood Methodist and director of Tom Thumb weddings at the church for the past 26 years. She has three grandchildren in this wedding, including Susan Denney, daughter of Daniel Denney, who appeared as Grandpa Thumb in Glenwood's first mock wedding 28 years ago.

GRANDMA AND GRANDPA THUMB, in the first mock wedding held at Glenwood Methodist in 1934. Anyone recognize Susan Johnson, now of Broadway fame, and Daniel Denney, 345 S. Richardson-av? Denney's three children are among the cast of 78 who will appear in the Tom Thumb wedding to be staged at the church this Friday evening.

Citizens' Help Asked To Fight Annexation

Franklin Township Citizens Association president Dave Caperton asked for resident attendance and support at the county commissioners' hearing on the proposed [illegible] tion of 946 acres of the township to the City of Columbus.

The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. Friday, Nov. 16, in the commissioners' hearing room on the first floor of the County Court House, S. High-st at Mound-st (Not in the Franklin Township Firehouse as was erroneously stated last week).

Caperton said that residents must show the commissioners that they are no more interested in having part of the township annexed to Columbus now than they were when they voted down such a proposal in the 1960 fall election.

Representatives from the South-Western City School District will attend the hearing, according to Caperton, regardless of past statements by the commissioners that school district welfare would not be considered in studying annexation issues.

Thomas Applegate, well-known attorney in the central Ohio area for representing annexation opponents will be the spokesman for the township, Caperton said.

He also clarified that Columbus was not being held responsible for the bid to annex this area of the township, but that "real estate concerns who can't get services (water and sewage) because of Columbus' "freeze" are pushing it," even though Columbus does own the largest portion (239 acres) of the area in question.

Caperton's, and others' strongest objection to the bid

Collision Kills 2 West Siders On Clime-rd

A car-truck collision apparently caused by a slippery Clime-rd curve claimed the lives of a West Side couple Nov. 8.

Dead are Max Knox, 45, and his wife, Alice, 41, of 125 Postle-blvd.

The accident occurred in front of where an old barn was removed earlier last week by the City Division of Parks and Forestry, just west of Savannah-dr.

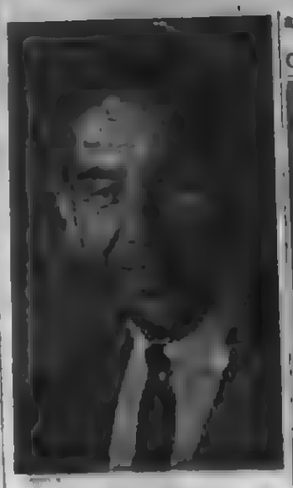
Charles A. Wright, 36, of Mingo Junction, driver of the tractor-trailer, told sheriff's deputies:

"All I could see was this car coming almost sideways down my side of the road."

He said he wheeled his rig onto the berm at the right of the road but the car's right fender slammed into the left fender of the truck.

The station wagon spun into the side of the truck, hooking its tailgate on one of the tandem wheels, then went across the road into a field.

Both occupants were thrown from the wreckage which burst into flame after coming to a stop.



Wright was uninjured.

Neighbors reported that Mrs. Knox, who was apparently driving the car, was taking her husband to work at the Green Gables Central Point Drive-In.

They said she usually took him to work before leaving for her job at Lazarus where she had been employed for 10 years.

Service for the couple was held Monday in Jerry Spears Funeral Home. Interment was at Raymond. Mrs. Knox is survived by sons, William and Gary; sisters, Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. Charles Lambert; mother, Mrs. Jennie Robson, and brother James Sanderson.

Max Knox is survived by sons, William and Gary; parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knox, and two half-sisters.

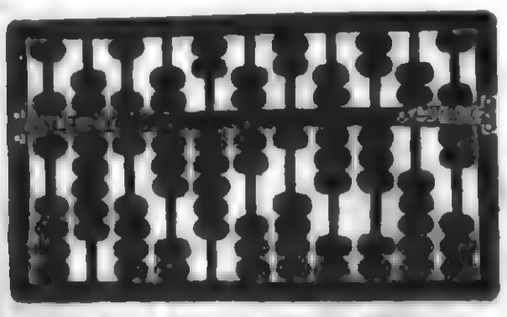
County Extension Bulletins Placed In Libraries

Recently, the librarians in Franklin County have placed in their reference files, copies of many of the County Extension Service bulletins to give their patrons easy access to the information they contain.



According to county agent George B. Ganyard, the Extension service publishes bulletins giving information on subjects related to production and marketing of farm products, home economics and public affairs.

Most of these bulletins are free, some cost a few cents, and all have facts based on research to help the reader who seeks information on the subject.

While these can be had at the County Extension Office in the Old Post Office in Columbus, Ganyard says putting copies in the reference files of the libraries will bring the information close to the people for easy reference.

Almost half of the 40 million ounces of gold worth $1.4 billion, the world produces annually comes from South Africa.

Marine Recruiters Give Welcome Sign To City

Members of the Marine Corps recruiting staff stationed at the Old Post Office building, have been instrumental in constructing a new "Welcome to Columbus" sign on Rt. 40, just six miles west of the city.

Gunnery Sgt. Harry R. Beal helped the recruiters organize the project. Valuable assistance came from Eutenic Welding Co., Columbus Electric Co., Universal Cement, Brown Steel, the Teail Organization and members of the local 178 Naval Reserve Construction Battalion.

Master Sgt. Clark of the S. Ohio Marine Recruiting activity did the detailed artwork and painting assisted and guided by the Columbus Outdoor Advertising Co.

During last week's presentation, Mayor Westlake, Albert Otte and E. G. Stork represented the city. Making the presentation was Major Philip Garn, who also presented framed certificates of appreciation to members of the participating firms.

The sign stands 25 feet high and is 25 feet wide.

Program Deserves Continued Support

More than 800,000 Franklin Countians have had a chance . . .

A chance to make sure about contagious TB since the Tuberculous Society began its mass TB case-detection program in 1944.

Last year alone the Christmas Seal X-ray Cruiser spotted 1499 suspected chest ailments and helped find the 365 new TB cases reported in Columbus and Franklin County.

But the Tuberculosis Society and its big Christmas Seal X-ray Cruiser hasn't done the job alone . . . through annual Christmas Seal contributions the community has helped the TB Society "protect family circles" from TB.

And the society plans an even more ambitious program of service in the year ahead . . . to give us all an even better chance!

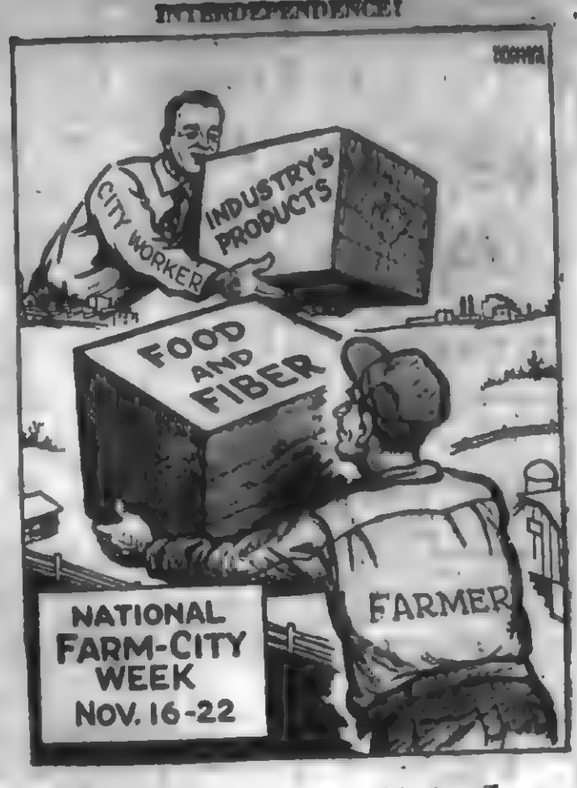
The Tuberculosis Society's aim — to conquer TB — never changes. Its programs are constantly re-directed to make them even more effective.

In 1963, the Society will focus its programs on the relationship of TB to other respiratory diseases (RD).

Many of these respiratory diseases are similar to TB on X-ray and in symptoms. These traits delay prompt diagnosis. Such delay can mean the difference between successful and unsuccessful treatment. Medical authorities agree that we may solve many of the mysteries surrounding TB, if we learn more about such diseases as emphysema, bronchiectasis, silicosis, sarcoidosis, etc.

Next year the TB Society plans:

(1) An estimated 50,000 free "TB-RD" chest X-rays;



(2) More than 20,000 free TB tests for school children;

(3) "TB-RD" health education programs; and

(4) Dramatic research projects to find a drug to kill the TB germ, a vaccine to prevent TB and better diagnostic tools.

Together we can take another step forward in our community fight against a disease which takes the life of one American every 50 minutes; costs an average $15,000 per patient for treatment, loss of income and in welfare aid to families, and requires an average of six-and-one-half months of hospitalization.

The Christmas Seal goal is $212,000, deemed the minimum to carry on these county-wide life-saving programs. The TB Society needs Christmas Seal contributions from every Franklin Countian NOW.

Farm-City Link Vital To All

"I John F. Kennedy, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the week of Nov. 16 through Nov. 22, 1962, as National Farm-City Week; and I call upon our citizens throughout the Nation to participate fully in the observance of that week."

Out of the White House this month came the above Presidential Proclamation. And out across the nation some 10,000 towns and rural areas were busy this week planning joint tours and visits by farmers and businessmen to agricultural and industrial installations . . . to cement farm-city understanding.

The theory of interdependence of city and farm is familiar and basic to United States economics. Today an individual American farm worker can produce food and fiber for himself and 26 others — the greatest farm efficiency ever known to man.

At the same time, the American farmer is ever more dependent on the city worker to supply the machines and power and other tools necessary for this efficient farm production. There has never been a more glaring need for mutual appreciation between producer and consumer, farm hand and factory worker. That understanding is necessary for better distribution of vast agricultural produce, fairer prices, better service, greater efficiency and, generally, for a stabler economy.

We welcome and endorse National Farm-City Week.

One doesn't have to be a philosopher to be conscious of a parallel between visible and invisible things. His mind tells him there is a connection and his mind confirms it.

He sees and feels Nature all about him — earth, sky, heat, cold, light, darkness, and, above all, the sun that governs everything about the earth. This is what the philosophers call empirical experience, knowing by seeing and feeling.

But perhaps more important is one's experience in and of the invisible, the realm where soul and mind have their being beyond the influence of the obvious. This is one's real, inner self. It's where he lives.

It says here . . .

AIM To Stop Hunting Accidents

Hunting Season Closing Dates Staggered

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

With the current upland hunting season, which began Nov. 15, it might be well to take stock of the regulations. Opening were seasons on rabbits, pheasants, quail, Hungarian partridges (almost a rarity now), raccoons, opossums, mink and muskrats. With these popular species available, this is the high point of the hunting and trapping year.

Closing dates are staggered: rabbits Jan. 31; pheasants and partridges Dec. 15 on private land, and Jan. 31 on public land; quail Dec. 15 on state-owned or controlled land, and Jan. 14 on some special public areas; raccoon and opossum Feb. 15; and mink and muskrat Feb. 28.

Several hunting seasons, of course, have already closed for this year. These are squirrel, ducks, woodcock and the so-called shorebirds (rails, gallinules and jacksnipe).

The trend in recent years has been to lengthen hunting seasons, but this has been done gradually and we sometimes forget how much hunting opportunity has been made available. Let's look back 10 years to 1952, to see how the seasons have changed.

The ruffed grouse season opened Nov. 15 that year, and closed on Jan. 1. This year it opened Oct. 15 and runs to Feb. 23, reportedly the longest grouse season in the nation. This is the prime example of an "extended" season, as the biologists call it. The harvest of birds is not raised to the danger point, but the outdoor recreation possibilities are vastly increased.

Back in 1952 there was a statewide squirrel season, Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. This year there were zones. The season opened Sept. 14 statewide, but closed in zone 1 on Nov. 10, and in zone 2 on Oct. 27.

There was a two-week pheasant season 10 years ago, and the present one will last a month on private land—longer on public land. Rabbits were open six week in 1952, and this year we will enjoy enjoy more than 10 weeks of hunting. Quail were on the closed list then.

There was a three-day deer season in 1952, but it was open in only 26 counties and hunters were limited to bucks only. There was no special bow season, except that bows only were allowed in Carroll County. A two-day, statewide, any deer season will be allowed gun hunters this year, and a bow season opened Oct. 15 and runs to Dec. 31.

We tend to think fondly of the "old days." But our fathers could not legally hunt quail, and there were no deer available to hunt nor beaver to trap. Soon, we are told, some strictly controlled wild turkey hunting will become a reality. It is certainly true that the huge kills of rabbits, pheasants and squirrels of a generation ago are no longer possible. But to the true hunter who enjoys the chase more than a heavy hunting coat, more sport is available. With Thanksgiving Day only a week away, this is one of the things I'm thankful for.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

GASMANIA is a very contagious and almost incurable disease of the accelerator. Instant death of the sufferer is the surest and quickest cure. Ten weeks in the hospital has been known to give a temporary relief in a few mild cases. Ninety days "in the cooler" sometimes acts as a pretty good anti-toxin for too much ambition in the right foot.

But, "good morning jobs" beats "Good Morning Judge" and 90 days on the job goes by a whole lot faster than 90 days in the jug. Therefore, alcohol belongs in the radiator, not in the driver. A tight car beats "a tight driver" anytime.

Many a bird who takes his "poison straight" takes the stop streets on the bias because traffic lights don't mean what they say when "the driver is lit too".

Many a poor devil who starts out on foot, winds up on a slab because he got "picked off" instead. It's a whole lot better to have the sheriff "cool 'em off" than to have the coroner "cool 'em out."

Engineering, education, enforcement — these are the formulas recommended by all law officers, but morons can still get a driver's license and half-blind, tired old men still drive automobiles.

If only ladies and gentlemen drove automobiles the traffic mess wouldn't be nearly so messy. What satisfaction is it to all decent drivers who can and will behave under the wheel, if they get clobbered by some bum who has no license, no insurance, and no brains?

Any driver who can't or won't behave himself in his driving of a "guided missile" on any street, ought to be grounded forever. As things are now, he gets off with a pat on the wrist or a short term making big stones littler, and then goes right back on the road to do the whole idiotic mistake all over again.

Questions Efficiency Of School Spending

Now that Madison Local School District bond issue has been defeated and the attempted brain washing of the children didn't work on the parents, I would like to ask some questions:

1. What is happening to the tax money which is increased each time property is appraised?

2. Why is such a large amount needed? Do the students need marble partitions in rest rooms and such luxury items?

3. What educational subjects could be curtailed without causing the school to fall below the state minimum standards?

4. What is the harm of one-half day classes if necessary? Why can't pupils study at home instead of having two or three study periods a day?

5. Doesn't the school receive money for all students living in the school district even though they attend private or parochial schools?

6. Why must we build schools designed for 50 to 100 years at such a high cost when they will be considered obsolete in 20 to 30 years?

7. Why not a better salary for the deserving teachers?

An Interested Taxpayer

Assails Government's Double Standards

Sincerity and common decency have gone out the window as illustrated in so many cases where those in power use their official position to rule the suckers.

The last national presidential conventions of both parties, with straight faces and without any qualifying provisions, informed the world that they would work for legislation that would eliminate the second class citizens of this nation, but in the usual political double talk, they failed to outline just who these second class citizens were, so let me fill in the [illegible].

1. In dealing with war veterans, congress and our government use a 100-cent dollar in estimating costs, but in setting pay of the employes of industry, the retirement pay of generals, admirals, congressmen, presidents and their dependents, they use still another dollar value, the true one, a 43-cent dollar.

2. In the bill just passed to raise the pay of certain federal employes, the retired civil service employes and the disabled federal employes were included in the bill but here is how sincere these two-timers are: In this case, as in most, they show conclusively that they actually don't care what happens to the peasants of this nation by passing an appropriation for pay raises for the able-bodied employee who is still making a decent living, but failed to appropriate any funds to pay the retired and disabled employes. So while they are included under the provisions of the bill, they don't get a thing.

3. While the government pays a pension to the over-aged Chinese soldier on Formosa and, pays $100 a month and over to Cuban refugees in Florida and elsewhere, is it any wonder that we are now on the brink of war when our own government for which many of us fought to keep free and gave up our sons to die on foreign soil, has lost all sense of decency, honesty and fair play in its dealings with our people and the people of the earth?

A retired federal employe who is no longer subject to the provisions of the Hatch Act, due to retirement, Brains—What Are They Coming To?

A sometime nuptial by-product is the ability many husbands develop to make their minds a total blank . . . when necessary.

On occasion — when jarred from such a state of self-induced lethargy by a multi-octave oral blast delivered at close range in the ear by my gentle spouse — I have been sorely tempted to shake this treacherous talent.

McPeek

But in view of the recent startling pronouncement by Dr. William Krogman of the University of Pennsylvania, not only do I intend to retain the habit, but shall attempt to cultivate it to the utmost.

And all who value privacy should do likewise, for according to this noted anthropologist, the day soon may come when telepathy (the ability to communicate via brain waves) will become common usage.

"I foresee the average man of the future with brain waves so powerful he will send and receive mental messages just like a wireless radio," predicts Dr. Krogman.

"For the past 100,000 years man's brain has remained the same size while its power, organization and efficiency have increased tremendously," Dr. Krogman explains, adding: "As a better balance between power and size develops, telepathy will result."

This will be good, according to Dr. Krogman: "It will make war impossible because no secrets will be able to exist between men or nations and peace will come from the psychic status quo."

Doc, I'm no expert on brain power, but let me tell you — if the day ever comes when we go around reading each other's minds, everybody is going to be too busy defending himself from his neighbors and friends to give a hoot about war.

Aside from setting up each of us for a punch in the snozzle practically every time we meet an acquaintance or pass a shapely girl, think of the disruptions it will cause in our present customs and daily routines.

Perhaps the greatest upheavals will come in politics and commerce.

Needless to say, if every politician's mind were open to the public, impeachment petitions would be as common as traffic tickets. Our prisons would have to set aside special cellblocks for politicians.

As for business, salesmen would become as extinct as dodo birds. First to go . . . probably at the hand of lynch mobs — would be used car hucksters.

One could write a novel about the cataclysmic changes that would result if everyone's minds suddenly were to become open books, but what fills me with the greatest apprehension is what it would do on the domestic front.

Marriage would be impossible. Certainly no two people could live together harmoniously if their every thought were known to the other.

So let's all pray that Pennsylvania's noted bone prober is just ribbing us. Besides, I'd hate to think the marvelous expression of innocence I've been forced to develop since marrying may someday become useless.

To Find Your Direction: Forget, Take Time

A grasshopper appears to move with little effort or sense of direction, but its life span is of short duration. We too, like the grasshopper, give the impression that our direction is somewhat difficult to define; but unlike the grasshopper, our life span seems to lengthen with the passing of the years. However, we do not appear to be as casual and as much at ease as does our friend of the field.

Rev. Rose

The Apostle Paul suggests to us that one way we might find our direction more easily would be "to forget the things that are behind . . ." In other words if we would increase our happiness and prolong our life, then forget . . . forget our neighbor's faults. Forget all the slander we have heard. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding, and give a little thought to the cause which provoked it.

Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all gossip you hear. Blot out as far as possible all the disagreeables of life; they will come, but will only grow larger when you remember them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday. Start out with a clean sheet today and write upon it for sweet memory's sake only those things which are lovely and loveable.

Not only can we acquire direction by forgetting, but we also can acquire direction by taking time. Take time to work - - it is the price of success. Take time to think - - it is the source of power. Take time to play - - it is the secret of youth. Take time to read - - it is the foundation of knowledge. Take time to worship - - it is the highway to reverence. Take time for friends - - it is the source of happiness. Take time to love - - it is the sacrament of life. Take time to dream - - it hitches the soul to the stars. Take time to laugh - - it is the singing that helps with life's load. Take time to pray - - it helps to bring God nearer and washes the dust of earth from our eyes.

Then we can say with the Great Apostle, "I press on to the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Jesus Christ."

BENEFIT BAZAAR, sponsored by the Twigs to benefit Children's Hospital, will be staged next Monday at Veterans Memorial Building, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Representatives of the 130 Twigs participating in the affair are, from left, Mrs. Francis R. Marshall, Mrs. Duane Abram, Mrs. Jack Frost, little Pam Sanders and her mother, Mrs. James Sanders. Old favorite Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls, admired by Pam, and the stadium lap robe are among hundreds of items available at the bazaar.

Twigs' Biggest Bazaar Of Them All Slated Next Monday At Veterans Hall

When 3000 women put their collective mind, time, talent and ingenuity to a task, the results can be mighty impressive.

Each November, 130 Twigs of Children's Hospital better their record of the preceding year by producing a bazaar that's bigger and better, and adding its ever-increasing profits to the substantial annual contribution they make to the hospital.

Doors to the bazaar will open this year at 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 19 at Veterans Memorial Building.

The affair traditionally launches the Christmas gift-buying season for a large percentage of Columbus women, who find something for every person on their list among items displayed on nearly 150 tables.

Busy for months on their individual Twig projects, members offer for sale accessories ranging from purses and jewelry to petticoat bags; clothing items from tubs and sweaters to aprons of all sorts and red felt Christmas vests.

There are holiday decorations — for the house, table, packages and tree, needlecraft of all sorts and decorative items and paper products.

The list of pantry goodies includes baked goods and candy, plum puddings and pies, and houses of gingerbread.

And the list of toys is as limitless as a child's imagination.

A tea room and refreshment stands will add to the comfort of shoppers, and an artist will be on hand for on-the-spot sketches in charcoal.

MEN'S FEET

Did you ever eat ice cream real fast? Remember what happened? You usually got a headache. Yet the ice cream that caused it was in your stomach. The scientific explanation is reflex nerve action. Did you ever stop to think that, by this same process, wearing shoes that don't fit you properly may bring on aches and pains far removed from your feet?

Like this man in our store, one day last week. He complained that his heels hurt and his legs ached at night when he was off his feet. His family physician suggested that he have us check his shoes. Turned out that he is a barber, a profession in which you stand with the weight on one foot a lot. His shoes were loose in width but a size and a half short. All of his weight rested on the heel and the ball of the foot, with a resulting strain on his legs.

Shoes with extra support, fitted long enough should solve his problem. Like he said . . . When your feet hurt, you hurt all over.

Mrs. Jhensen Marks 25 Years As Director

Glenwood Junior Church Department's Mrs. Nelson Jhensen has a close kinship with bridal consultants everywhere. She is in sympathetic accord with all their problems . . . to a point.

The common ground is detailed arrangements of every phase of the wedding, from proper bridal attire to how much ice cream should be ordered for the reception.

Mrs. Jhensen's duties differ sharply, however, in the method of executing the plan.

PEGGY JHENSEN, now Mrs. Leddy, and Bob Johnson, son of Mrs. Fern Johnson, secretary at Glenwood Church, were the bride and bridegroom for the Tom Thumb wedding in 1940.

First Tom Thumb wedding was held at Glenwood in 1934, when the church was located on Highland-av. This will be the first to be held in the new building, Valleyview-dr west of Hague-

The elaborate productions are held every five or six years, and Mrs. Jhensen has directed each one since 1940.

Mrs. Jhensen stresses their value as an important emphasis to her philosophy that, "Children learn first by seeing, then by hearing and most of all, by doing."

"In the Tom Thumb wedding they learn how to work well together, and this is important.

"These children are future leaders in the church. Working well together is important for them and for the future of the church."

The "lesson" is a happy one for all concerned.

The children are in their element in a world of dress-up and make-believe, and their parents and friends are treated to an appealing pag-

SUNDAY SALES ACTION LAGS

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The Greater Columbus Sunday Association thought it had won a battle at the polls Nov. 6 but it looks like it had better not take off its boxing gloves.

City officials are climbing in the ring with the association officials in the greater Columbus area and, at present, there seems to be a few long, hard rounds left in the fight.

Voters Nov. 6, by a 3-2 margin, defeated a Sunday Sales amendment which would allow certain items to be sold on Sunday. Actually, citizens weren't voting on stricter enforcement of the present law prohibiting Sunday sales, but many interpret the voters' mandate as an indication that they'd like such enforcement.

As it appears now, it's going to be a long wait.

The mayor of Mansfield recently took swift action and closed down all stores operating on Sunday. Many Columbus residents are wondering why the same thing isn't being done here.

Two main obstacles are Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake and Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling who have taken certain "postponement" actions.

Mayor Moling reported this week that Whitehall councilmen passed a resolution Saturday which is designed to ask the State Legislature (not meeting until Jan., 1963) to clarify the law. Indications were strong from this suburb that no enforcement action would be taken until such clarification is forthcoming.

Safety Director Richard Moling, who reported in his statement of policy when named to the post in February that he did not intend to strictly enforce the law because of "lack of police force manpower" among other reasons, was not available for comment this week.

He did, however, meet Sunday Association representatives and Whitehall's mayor Friday afternoon in a closed meeting.

Mayor Westlake was brought into the picture Tuesday when he met with representatives from various associations, unions and civic groups in the Columbus area.

The mayor said he would issue a statement sometime this week, "possibly before the weekend," but said he couldn't promise.

Gene King, association secretary, said he "has good reasons to believe that the mayor's (Westlake's) statement will not call for strict enforcement of the law."

Religious leaders are rising rapidly in the picture. Holy Spirit pastor, Rev. Robert Harwick, said he is concerned with "the deterioration of my community (Whitehall)."

Rev. Harwick added that he, along with other clergymen, are worried that Sunday work forces will "break up home life" and added, "they (city officials) have a mandate from the voters—what more do they want?"

During Tuesday's meeting with Mayor Westlake, the chief city official said he wanted time to talk the matter over with Safety Director Albert Giles and Police Chief George Scholer. Both of these men were not present at the meeting since they, according to City Attorney Russell Leach, were working on a case involving a policeman.

was that it indicated an attempt "encircle the township" which should not be allowed to develop because it would not be "sensible," because of the geographic relation to Columbus and because such an encircling move could cause "havoc" in servicing the area.

An instance Caperton used to illustrate his point was that Brown-rd, in the proposed annexation area would be intermittently in the city and in the county, which could cause confusion in fire, emergency and police protection.

Broad-Sandusky Issue

Traffic Committee chairman Schneider read a letter from W. C. Cremean, engineer of location and design for the State Department of Highways, pointing out that the state hopes to find a suitable solution to the poor traffic accesses at the Broad-Sandusky-st intersection. This is expected to be part of the engineering required when the West Freeway (north of Broad to West Jefferson) is connected onto Sandusky-st. Sandusky-st probably will be here made two lanes wider when this occurs.

Dry Run Levee

The Health Committee, with chairman Glen Beach reporting, stated that an inspection had been made of the Dry Run Levee. The Health Committee with with Service Director Storks and his engineers last week to discuss what actions the city is pursuing to avoid the recurrence of the flood of 1959. Beach read a letter from the director stating that the flood prevention efforts in the Scioto River area include permanent floodgates at McKinley-av, a levee in the Fisher-rd area and certain parts of Dry Run. The Executive Committee has urged Stork to keep the council informed as plans progress.

Membership-Officers

Claud Jones, chairman of membership, reported that his committee intends to intensify its efforts to interest more West Side people in the council's work.

Stanley Doran, chairman of welfare, reported that two committee projects are under way. A Christmas Care subcommittee has been appointed to work with the various West Side organizations giving Christmas clothing, baskets, and toys to the needy. The group also is working with the State Liquor Control Board to eliminate the granting of additional liquor licenses in the West Side.

Walt Cunningham, council president, appointed the following nominating committee for January, 1963 elections: Fred Staley (chairman), Sam Alford, Frank Schneider, Mrs. Ruth Burke, Mrs. Helen McGuire, Mrs. Martha Steele.

The next meeting of the Executive Committee will be held on Dec. 13 and the next open meeting of council will be held in January.

Two Women Attempt Suicide

Two women, one an inmate of Columbus State Hospital and another from the South Side, attempted suicide from two bridges in the city Friday.

The 39-year-old hospital inmate jumped into the Scioto River from the W. Broad-st bridge. She was spotted by a passerby, and firemen rescued her. She was unhurt with the exception of a headcut. Policemen reported she had become discouraged while job-hunting.

Forty-five minutes later, a twenty-seven-year-old South Side woman was restrained as she tried to jump from the W. Main-st bridge. Patrolman Harvey Miller and passing motorists stopped her. She was also taken to Columbus State Hospital. She blamed domestic troubles.

Gold Cops Seventh Round In Contest

Irving Gold, 337 N. Ardmore-rd edged Richard Scott, 941 S. Burgess-av to win the seventh round in Hartley Newspapers' football contest.

Both contestants missed on only four games, but Gold's guess on the tie-breaker came closest to the final score of the Ohio State game.

Gold guessed 28-7 in favor of OSU, and Scott guessed 41-7. The Buckeyes won the game 10-7.

Following close at the heels of the leaders were, Bill Miller, 3033 Sullivant-av, Herbert Janes, 1477 Watkins-rd, Larry Gerstner, 4350 Dublin-rd, Keith Bush, 593 Reinhard-av, Craig Pentello, 404 N. Brinker-av, Joe Hook, 339 Madison-dr, and Stephen Howard, 3337 Stephen-dr South.

Zanes won the first round of the contest, and Gerstner, a Hilliard high schooler, copped the third round.

The jackpot has now climbed to $200.

Below are 24 more top games to be played on the weekend of No. 24. Fill in the official entry blank and send it to Football Contest Editor, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, O.

Panthers Nab Lions' Title

For the third straight year, coach Bill Cooke's Panthers completed an unbeaten season and were crowned the Hilltop Lions Little League football champions.

The Panthers and Lions fought to a 12-12 deadlock to decide the title, the Lions finishing with a 3-1-1 mark as compared to the Panthers' 4-0-1 record.

PANTHER halfback Mike Jowitt racked up both of the winners' scores, scooting 55 yards in the opening period and racing 35 yards for another TD in the second period to give the Panthers a 12-0 lead.

The Lions fought back to narrow the gap at halftime when Mike Toney dashed 15 yards to paydirt. Toney evened the score in the third period when he capped a Lion drive by bulldozing over from the one.

The Panthers were hampered by penalties which nullified one touchdown and two extra point attempts. Defensive standouts were the Lions' Dennis Nighbert and the Panthers' Dale Estes, Benny Brooks, Mark Mann and Mark Campbell.

'TGFB' Policy Lauded By 'Fearless' Caller

That guy who so fearlessly predicted the high school football games this season left a note on our desk this week, saying that last week's picks left him with a 141-59-9 mark for the season. That's roughly a .700 clip. After Friday night's "sprinklers" we were inclined to go along with the little button he was wearing on his lapel — TGFB (Thank God for Basketball.)

Centers Closing On Turkey Day

Central Wraps Up City Championship

By KENNY ASH

Old King Football showed little favor to his high school subjects Friday evening as he bowed out of the '62 sports picture on 13 rain and wind-swept, muddy area gridirons.

The powerful Central Pirates ended the season with a perfect City League record of 8-0 by swimming over the Eastmoor Warriors on a rain-soaked field, 20-14.

MIDWAY THROUGH the second quarter Eastmoor couldn't make the needed yardage on a fourth and one play and Central took over.

Halfback George Broadnax picked up 16 yards and then Cliff Moxley powered his way between center and left guard and raced 38 yards for the first touchdown of the game.

The Pirates got their second score of the game with 23 seconds remaining in the half when Tom Fullove, Central quarterback, slipped through center and right guard on a trap play and raced 58 yards for the TD, setting the halftime score at 12-0.

IN THE THIRD quarter Eastmoor was forced to punt and when the kicker fumbled the pass from center, Pirate tackle Willie Hoke recovered the ball on the Warrior's 28-yard line.

On the next play, Bill Solomon sliced over right tackle, turned on the speed and slushed his way 30 yards into the end zone. Moxley bulled over for the two-point conversion and Central led, 20-0.

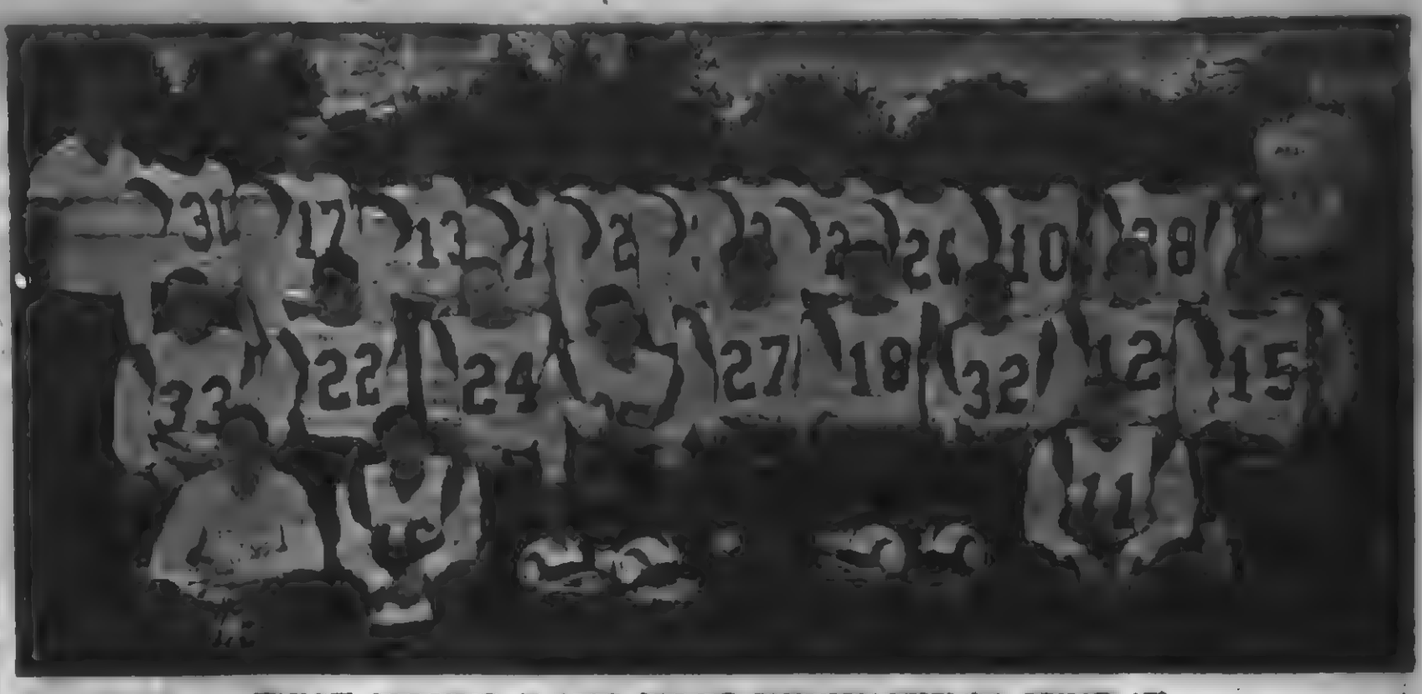
Huddle Muddle

CENTRAL CENTER Kenny Ash almost had a unique experience Friday night when the Pirates played Eastmoor. If you think you had trouble identifying the players with or without a program due to the muddy conditions, you weren't the only one confused. Ash, serving the Pirates as co-captain, was studying a penalty situation when the referee ordered him back to the huddle — Eastmoor's huddle, to be exact. Two of the Warrior players grabbed him and started moving him to their huddle. But being a loyal Central player, Ash politely replied, "I play for Central and if it's all the same with you, I'll just go back to my own huddle." As things turned out, Coach Frank Howe didn't need a 12th player in the Eastmoor huddle as his Pirates wrapped up the City League title with a 20-14 win over the Warriors.

In the fourth quarter the Pirates were stopped on a fourth and one play and the Warriors took over on their own 30. Dean Ishida, Eastmoor halfback, picked up 20 yards and then Van Horn hit end Paul Naumoff with a pass in the end zone to put the Warriors on the scoreboard. Van Horn passed to Ishida for the two-point conversion.

The Pirates fought to Eastmoor's 21-yard line before Dana Van Horn, Warrior end, grabbed Fullove's pitch-out and raced 79 yards to score Eastmoor's second touchdown with 3:14 to go in the game.

Eastmoor attempted an onside kick which was short and Central took over on the Warrior 42 but Frank Shannon, Eastmoor tackle, recovered Fullove's fumble shortly after.



Gibson Hayes then intercepted a pass for the Pirates who ran out the clock to snare their first City League championship since 1949.

AT WEST, the Cowboys wrapped up their '62 season on a winning note with an 8-0 win over South's Bulldogs.

South received the opening kickoff on its first play from scrimmage on the Rebel 28. Lew Coles drove into the end zone several plays later from the five-yard stripe. Rich Neely added the two points on a conversion run.

As the game progressed and playing conditions grew worse, neither team was able to sustain a solid drive and the Cowboys first period TD stood up for the victory.

The win pulled West's City League record up to 4-3-1, good enough for the loop's fifth spot.

Hawks Tie Arlington Share OBFF Title

A never-say-die Arlington eleven scored a TD in the last eight seconds to tie the heavily-favored Westgate Hawks 20-20 in the championship game of the Ohio Boys Football Foundation at Magly Field Sunday afternoon. The Hawks trying for third straight League championship were forced to share the title.

The League's leading scorer, Arlington's Gary Moore, scored three TDs and two extra points.

The Hawks suffered their first defeat in 42 games Saturday night, 6-0, at the hands of the McKeesport, Pa., Little Tigers and traveled all night getting home at 6:30 Sunday morning to play this hard-fought little league football game Sunday afternoon. The McKeesport contest was the Eastern-division Milk Bowl playoff game.

In the closing minutes of the first quarter, Moore ran 15 yards over the left side for his first TD. Then on the first play from scrimmage in the second quarter, Moore ran 25 yards for another TD, Arlington then led 12-0.

But the Hawks came back strong on the brilliant calls of quarterback Gary Henderson and the fine running of fullback, Winnie Dearing. Dearing scored the Hawk's first touchdown on a short center plunge. Later in the second quarter on a fourth down situation Rick Winston ran 61 yards for the Hawks' second TD and the half ended with the score tied 12-12.

The Hawks went ahead by eight points early in the second half when Henderson threw a 15 yard pass to Marty Barnes and then passed to Frank Hanson for the conversion.

Arlington took over the ball on the Hawk 40 with 25 seconds to play in the game. On the second play, quarterback Mike French threw the ball to Moore and interference was called on the three yard line. Moore ran over left guard on the next play and then carried for the extra points to tie the game.

The game saw many standouts on defense. For the Hawks, Larry Leichner and Mike Colegrove, and for Arlington, Nelson Lancione, Tom Trainer and Tom Paoletti played outstanding games.

In the 90 pound division, the Beattty Cubs won the longest football game on record over the Westgate Falcons. Last Sunday's game was called because of darkness with the Cubs leading 6-0. The remaining 5 minutes and 29 seconds was played with no further score, giving the Cubs their second straight undefeated and untied season.

Broadway's Callan Believes In Ol' College Try Here...

Broadway great William Callan will be in Columbus this week to see if there's anything to this business about the ol' college try.

Here's hoping there is, of course, since it's a piece of his work that the college will be trying — St. Mary's Of The Springs College to be specific.

Callan, who is currently appearing on Broadway in "A Man For All Seasons," will be at St. Mary's Sunday, (Nov. 18) for the closing of a two-day stand of Moliere's "Imaginary Invalid."

Callan's interest? It's his adaptation of the play that St. Mary's Merry Masquers are using.

Show time for both Saturday and Sunday is 8:15 p.m. The show is being presented in the Little Theatre of Erskine Hall on the St. Mary campus. Tickets are available by phoning the college at CL. 2-2137.

• Hunt's Cinestage, which changes the bill of fare less often than we change presidents, is giving the heave-ho to "West Side Story" and opening with "The Longest Day" on Friday, Dec. 21.

This will be the exclusive Central Ohio reserved-seat run of Darryl F. Zanuck's $10 million epic of D-Day with a cast of more than two-score top stage and screen personalities.

In fact, Zanuck used so much heavy artillery and actual soldiers in the production that a national magazine jokingly referred to him as ". . . the ninth power of the world."

A few of the stars include John Wayne, Robert Mitchum, Richard Burton, Henry Fonda, Richard Todd, Tommy Sands, Fabian, Edmund O'Brien, Sal Mineo, Red Buttons and many, many others.

LEE REMICK donned this glamour costume for a party on the set of Warner Bros.' "Day Of Wine And Roses" to celebrate completion of the dramatic picture. It'll be in Columbus soon.

Draper Plans Return To Law Office

Hilltopper Robert M. Draper said this week he expects to return to the private practice of law after his term as Common Pleas Court judge expires at the end of this year.

Draper, who has served the court for seven years, lost out to Judge Charles R. Petree in a close race for re-election, Nov. 6.

There has been some speculation that Draper would be offered one of two judgeships —either in the Supreme Court or in Municipal Court—when they are vacated after the first of the year. Governor DiSalle has not indicated who he might appoint to these spots.

Draper said he is not interested in the Municipal Court position.

Newly-elected officers of West Gate Lodge 623, of Masons, will be installed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 17, at West Gate Temple, 2925 W. Broad-st.

James W. Smith, 860 Geneva-av, was named new worshipful master. Other officers-elect are, Fred Fry, senior warden; Howard Minnemeyer, junior warden.

J. Warren Hilbert, treasurer; Kenneth W. Sharadin, secretary; William Allen, senior deacon; Harold Allen, junior deacon, and William Pascoe, tyler.

HilltopperNamed Jury Foreman

Common Pleas Judge Robert M. Draper has named J. W. Melville, a Hilltop contractor, as new foreman of the special grand jury investigating a widely publicized State Liquor Dept. case.

Melville, who resides at 325 Whitethorne-av, replaces J. Craig Wright, attorney, who resigned the foreman's post Tuesday.

Wright's removal was sought by the attorney general who claimed Wright had made indiscret statements regarding the progress of the investigating jury.

The grand jury probe was initiated by Joseph H. Makler, president of Waterfill and Frazier Distillery Co. of Chicago, who claimed that he was forced to make payments to have his liquor products listed in Ohio stores.

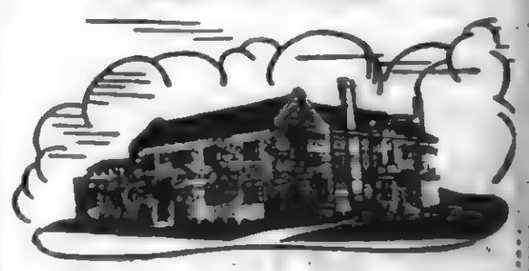
If you study and understand others you will better understand yourself.

Turkey Feast Set At Church

Chicago Avenue Christian Church of Christ 33 Chicago-av, will hold a turkey supper Friday, Nov. 16.

The project is sponsored by three Sunday school classes, and the proceeds will apply on the debt retirement plan.

Public is welcome and tickets are available at the door.



The recently created Cape Cod National Seashore preserves 27,000 acres of cliff-hung beaches and dunes, forests and moors, rivers and pine-fringed ponds.

Telstar is the first of the space objects orbited so far which millions of people can use directly.

Where have the LEAVES Gone?

Trees without their leaves, are like a Church building without the people. The real warmth, friendliness, and welcome atmosphere are created by the people. All of these things are a real aid to worship.

"Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness."

Come, be one among many to share in the joy of worshiping in the Lord's house this Sunday.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

North American Buying Totals $109 Million

North American Aviation's Columbus Division awarded purchase orders totaling more than $100 million during the 1962 fiscal year, John H. Campbell, Director of Material, has announced.

Campbell said the total of $109,193,495 is the Division's highest since 1956 and the first $100 million-plus since 1957. It also represents a 64.4 per cent increase over the value of subcontracts awarded during the previous fiscal year.

Firms located in the state of Ohio were awarded purchase orders totaling $24,046,848, including $8,885,299 awarded to Franklin County businesses.

The Columbus Division, Campbell added, is also actively participating in the government's small business subcontracting program. Small businesses are defined by the government as firms employing fewer than 500 persons.

Altogether, 67,602 purchase orders were issued during the 1962 fiscal year to 4,119 different firms, of which 2,854 were small businesses. More than one-half of the small business firms were very small with fewer than 50 employees.

Man Caught In Burglary Try On West Side

A 24-year-old Monroe-av man was bound to the grand jury of Franklin County on two counts of $2500 each in a hearing Tuesday in Municipal Court.

Bennie C. Collier, 486 S. Monroe-av, admitted staging 34 daylight home burglaries and robbing four elderly women at the point of a toy gun in the past four months, detectives reported Monday.

He was arrested after a witness to a burglary attempt at a Sullivant-av home noted the license number of the getaway car.

Collier is now on five years' federal probation on a charge resulting from alleged mail thefts while he was working as a railway mail clerk two years ago, detectives revealed.

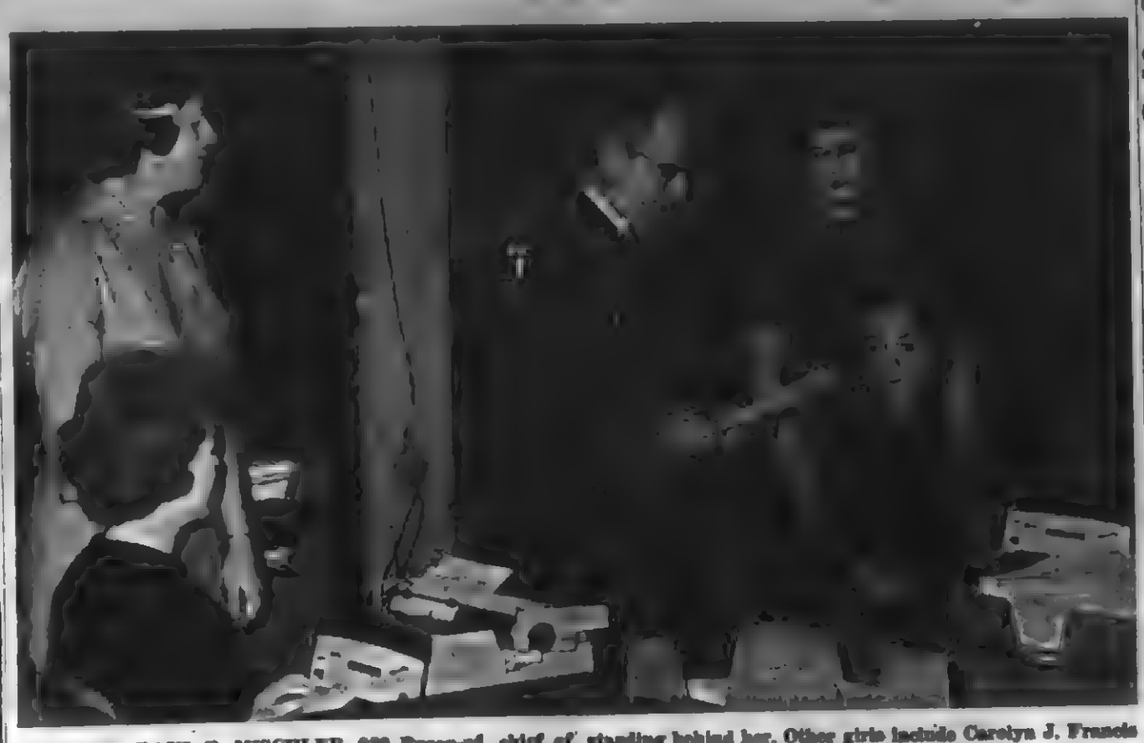
Public Meeting To Stress Better Entertainment



The Interfaith Committee for Better Entertainment will hold a public meeting at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 20, in the YWCA on S. 4th-st. All persons interested in promoting better entertainment in the community are invited to attend.

In the spring of 1958, the Interfaith Committee for Better Entertainment was formed to "do something" about the movies. Cooperating are the United Church Women, the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, and Temple Israel Sisterhood.

The Interfaith Committee, which has received national publicity on its activities, distributes the "Better Entertainment Newsletter" to chairmen of parish or church committees. The newsletter gives information about above-average motion pictures and television shows for general distribution among members of their affiliated organizations.

Records show that Americans between the ages of 21 and 29 have the poorest voting record.

CAPT. PAUL B. MISCHLER, 930 Byron-rd, chief of the Office Services division at the Defense Construction Supply Center here, checks work being done by local high school students. Capt. Mischler is talking to Central High's Ruth Holstein. Ruth's classmate, Betty Jane Young, is standing behind her. Other girls include Carolyn J. Francis (at typewriter) and Delores Miller, both also from Central. All of the girls hope to continue working for the Department of Defense after graduation next June.

Government Works With High Schools

It's serious business on a large scale but area high school students are rising to the occasion while performing valuable tasks for this country's government, besides reaping benefits for themselves.

Much of the thanks goes to the Defense Construction Supply Center located in the West Side of Columbus.

The center has hired part-time high schoolers under the Federal Cooperative Office Education program in a kind of pilot project that is expected to have far-reaching significance in the future.

The office education course is a terminal one during the senior year in Ohio public schools.

It emphasizes the individual skills, knowledges, and attitudes in the stenographic, clerical, and bookkeeping areas. The student goes to school half of the time and works on the job the other half with teacher - employer supervision.

The teacher coordinates the out-of-school work with the in-school classwork to enable the student to become a qualified efficient office employe.

The student must be 16, of good personal qualities, and must have developed marketable office skills prior to entry into the COE Program.

The student is paid for his work in the office and is placed in a training program which will permit him to work in the various areas of the office or sections of the industrial or Government operation. He receives additional business education in the school.

The supply center, which initiated the program early this fall, is the first Federal agency in Ohio to cooperate with local Franklin County high schools in the training program designed to graduate office workers already adjusted to the business world.

The role of the center is to provide the training in an atmosphere that encourages students who do not plan to go to college to make a career of government service in a chosen skill.

Under the program, senior high school students are given temporary appointments limited to 700 hours (afternoons and early evening after successfully completing a civil service examination.

Next spring, prior to completion of the temporary appointment, they will be given the opportunity to compete in a regular Civil Service examination for a competitive appointment in their field.

Those with higher grades will be offered career conditional appointments at the center.

Students who are now participating in the DSCS program are:

WHITEHALL—Karen Rayburn and Sandy Shaefer (both Card Punch operators) and Charles Page (EAM operator).

GROVE CITY — Paul J. Beaumont (EAM operator).

HAMILTON TWP — Marvin L. Notter (EAM operator).

CENTRAL — Kenneth Shaggs (EAM operator), Carolyn Francis, Ruth Holstein, Delores Miller and Betty Jane Young (all typists).

'Animal' Ends Saturday At OSU Theater

Strollers Dramatic Society of Ohio State is presenting "The Male Animal," a comedy by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent, in University Hall. The show ends Saturday, Nov. 17.

Tickets may be purchased for $1.25 at Mershon Auditorium Box Office, reserved by calling Mershon at CY. 3-2354, or purchased at the door.

The play is directed by Robert G. Jones, who is well-known in the Columbus area for his acting over the past 10 years and for his role as director of Worthington Players during the 1960-61 season.

Eagles To Serve Turkey Dinner

The ritual and drill teams of Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. Rich-st, are sponsoring a roast turkey dinner with all the trimmings Saturday, Nov. 17, from 5 to 8 p.m. with a full evening of entertainment to follow starting at 8:45.

The dinner is open to all Eagles and their families and their friends and families. Donations are $1 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years of age.

Plans are being completed for the Aerie No. 297 Cancer Research Fund Frolic to be held on Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 21.

Avoid Trouble: Check License

Thousands of central Ohioans are driving without a valid driver's license, states the Columbus Automobile Club. And that makes an offender, regardless of the fact he has only forgotten to renew, subject to penalty.

ELECTED

CLAIR E. FULTZ, president of the Huntington National Bank, has been elected central district vice-president of the Ohio Chamber of Comerce. He succeeds Leigh Wenzel who was elected chairman of the board of directors.

GIVING THANKS for their new-found friends, home 14; Bobby, eight; Dr. Atkinson, his wife, Dorothy, and and job are Mauricio Montejo, his three-year-old son, Mauri- their daughter, Susan, five. The Atkinsons are working cito and wife Blancha (seated). Standing is the family of with Cuban refugees, such as the Montejos, trying to find Dr. Robert Atkinson, 6028 Dublin-rd, from left, Bill, age them jobs and a new place in their new country.

Their First Thanksgiving Will Be Bittersweet Affair

By ED CHURCHILL

The first Thanksgiving Day celebration for the family of Cuban refugee, Mauricio Montejo, will hold many reasons for thankfulness.

But it will be a bittersweet day, pleasant, but painful.

The Montejos feel that they are much more fortunate than most Cubans and their list of thank-yous is long.

Two years ago, Mauricio, his attractive wife, Blancha, and their year-old son, Mauricito, lived in the Cuban seaport city of Camaquey.

Mauricio was a successful pharmaceuticals salesman; he was also leader of the local underground, bent on overthrowing the tyrannical Fidel Castro.

During the invasion at "The Bay of Pigs" he was captured, escaped and fled to Miami, there to be joined by his wife and son two months later.

After being shuttled about in refugee camps in Miami and an unsuccessful venture in search of a job in a Pennsylvania city, the Montejos found themselves in Columbus.

Here they had relatives and were to meet the people who, on Nov. 22, will head their "thank you" list.

Dr. Julio Sanguilly, medical director at St. Anthony Hospital, a former Cuban resident now living in Whitehall, had spent much effort on trying to help his displaced countrymen.

During his work for his people, Dr. Sanguilly met Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Atkinson of 6028 Dublin-rd, Dublin, whom he describes as "the most generous people I've met in my life."

The Atkinson family had expressed a desire to help Sanguilly in his refugee work, and through the acquaintance, the Atkinsons and Montejos soon met.

Mauricio and his family needed a home. They had been living with Blancha's naturalized sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brad Bell, 3994 Virginia Circle, Whitehall.

Through mutual need, said Mrs. Atkinson, Mauricio, Mauricito and Blancha were invited to live with the Atkinson family in their newly-purchased home on Dublin-rd.

Dr. Atkinson was able to get Mauricio a job as a custodian for the City of Upper Arlington and it was in the close contact of living with the Cubans that he and his wife became more and more interested in the plight of refugees from the forsaken island.

Since last July they have been working with Dr. Sanguilly, mainly trying to find jobs and gathering clothing and household goods for refugees.

There is no official organization in Columbus for such work and the Atkinsons, with Dr. Sanguilly, carry on the large majority of the work that is done.

Mrs. Atkinson denies credit for any accomplishments she and her husband have made saying that they have done "very little" because it is "difficult to do anything along these lines."

She explained their purpose simply: "If we were in a similar situation, we would want help, too. We are only trying to do what we hope some one would do for us, under the same conditions."

Dr. Sanguilly said of the Atkinsons, "They are giving

We Are Proud Of Our Homemakers

For three days last week it was our privilege and a real pleasure to accompany the Hartley Newspapers Suburban Homemakers on a trip to Chicago where they were present for the crowning of the National Suburban Homemaker.

And while it would have been wonderful to have had one of these fine ladies come home with the national award, $5000 in cash, I'm sure each of the four does feel quite rewarded to have made the trip and be honored locally with such recognition.

The Homemaker Contest is one sponsored by large suburban newspapers such as ours from various sections of the country. Fifty-four such newspapers had representative local homemaker winners present at the big party in Chicago.

At a Homemakers Panel discussion on Thursday morning previous to the announcement of the winner, all the ladies appeared on the program with nationally prominent persons conducting the questioning.

To sit in the audience and hear the comments of our local "gals" would have brought delight to the heart of anyone from Columbus. We'll say they were the "greatest."

Next week we will give a more detailed rundown on the conference and some of the bits of wisdom we obtained. And with this we drop the curtain on the 1962

Illinois Mother Of Three Is Selected Suburban Homemaker Of The Year

A 38-year-old Park Forest, Ill., mother of three was honored today as America's Suburban Homemaker of 1962.

Her selection was announced at an all-day National Suburban Homemakers Conference which stressed the growing importance and changing responsibilities of the nation's 21 million suburban homemakers.

Selection of Mrs. Robert V. Haverkamp was announced at an award ceremony which climaxed the conference held in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel under auspices of the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc.

She was chosen from among 54 representative homemakers who were finalists in the search for National Suburban Homemaker of the Year. The search was conducted by the Foundation, which honored Mrs. Haverkamp with a $5,000 grant.

Presentation of the award was made by stage and screen actress Peggy Wood, star of the recent TV series "I Remember Mama."

The winning homemaker was chosen by a distinguished panel of national judges who made their selection on the basis of a professional rating chart which graded each nominee on a point system covering such areas as spiritual and moral strength; mental and physical health and fitness of the family; personal health and fitness; civic and community service; management of family resources; homemaking skills; and effective family life.

Competing for the national honor were homemaker finalists, ranging in age from 30 to 66, who represented suburban communities throughout the country. Fifty of them were present at the award ceremony to make up Mrs. Haverkamp's "Court of Honor."

Earlier in the day, the homemakers took part in a two-hour panel discussion session in which they answered questions on "Practices and Problems in the Suburban Home."

Posing the questions was a panel moderated by Mrs. Peg Kellholz, consumer education consultant and former women's editor of Country Gentleman Magazine.

Panelists included Miss Doris Doland, assistant to the publisher of Look Magazine; Dr. Kenneth Milstead, Federal Food and Drug Administration; Robert V. McCarthy, executive editor, Progress-Advance leader of Penn Hills, Pa.; Mrs. Virginia Habeeb, home equipment editor of American Home Magazine; Mrs. Mary Jane Chinn, KRNT-TV of Des Moines and representative of the Association of Women in Radio and

$175 May Be Split Three Ways

This week's edition contains the tenth and final round of Hartley Newspapers' giant football contest.

If the jackpot, which has been accumulating during the season, is not claimed in the ninth round, the entire bankroll will be split three ways after the tenth round.

The first-place winner will receive 50 percent, the runner-up will get 30 percent, and 20 percent will go to the contestant who finishes third.

The money will not be doubled if the winners are paid subscribers.

However, if a lucky contestant hits the jackpot on the games played on the week end of Nov. 24, the regular rules will prevail.

Committee Will Work For Fairer Distribution Of Christmas Boxes

Stanley Doran, chairman of the Welfare Committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, this week announced the appointment of a Christmas Care Committee.

This sub-committee again this year has been given the responsibility of setting up an overall West Side Christmas care clearing house, involving all West Side donor groups.

Purpose of the committee is to work with these groups to avoid duplication in giving to the needy. The committee will not determine who the needy are, Doran said.

Rev. Al Rose, pastor of the Chicago Avenue Christian Church, will be committee chairman. Other members are Rev. L. L. Young of West Park Methodist Church; Rev. A. E. Bradow of the Lutheran Welfare League, Wendell Manson, Mrs. Helen McGuire, Stanley Doran, Sam Alford and Al Wilder.

The committee will meet Tuesday, Nov. 29, to work out details of coordinating the West Side project with the United Community Council's Christmas Bureau.

Roderick Eckle Dies

Roderick Eckle, superintendent of the London Prison Farm and a former resident of the Hilltop for many years, died of a heart attack at his home Monday night. He was a former assistant warden of Ohio Penitentiary.

Petitioners Withdraw Signatures

Franklin County Commissioners last Friday made Dave Caperton, president of the Township Citizens Association look somewhat like a prophet.

Three weeks ago Caperton predicted the defeat of a bid to annex 946 acres in southeastern Franklin Township to the City of Columbus, and last Friday the commissioners, after being told that 12 of the original 18 petitioners for annexation had "changed their minds," denied the request.

Other issues brought out against the proposal by attorney Thomas Applegate were:

- The large acreage concerned was "undesirable" in itself.
- The area was "too far" from Columbus.
- It projects into the South-Western City School District.
- It isolated the Franklin Township Fire Department facilities in the area.
- Brown-rd would be intermittently in the city and in the township, causing confusion as to servicing and policing.
- The petition was instigated by persons wanting to develop the area for real estate purposes, not by persons in the township "who are against the annexation."
- Annexation of the area would cost the South-Western City School District "a con-

Christmas Guide To Help Local Armchair Shoppers

Effective in today's edition and continuing for the next four editions, Hartley Newspapers will feature a "Christmas Shoppers Guide" to be found on the classified pages.

Aimed at pleasing the "armchair shopper," the guide will include Christmas gift suggestions for mom, dad, the children, and even the family pet.

Each week, names and addresses of 10 persons will be printed between the ads. If the lucky 10 will call us at BR. 4-1155, Hartley Newspapers will send them two guest tickets to the RKO Palace Theater.

Current attraction there is "Gay Purr-ee," featuring the voice of Judy Garland.

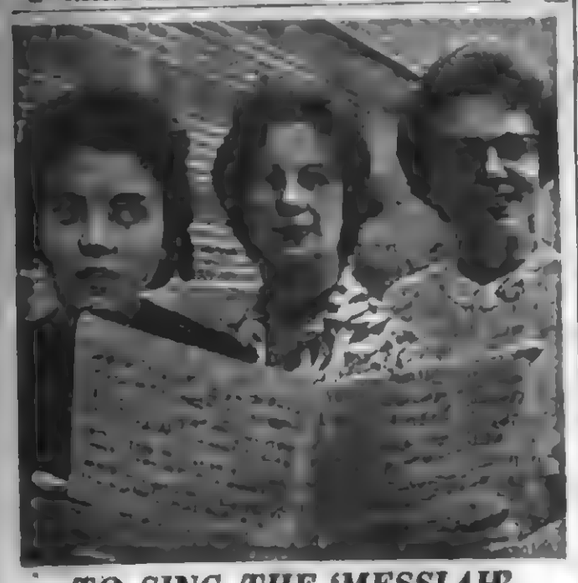
Christmas Lights Will Glow Thursday

Festive Christmas lights are scheduled to be turned on Thanksgiving night along W. Broad-st in the near West Side and on the Hilltop and on Sullivant-av from Wrexham-av to Athens-av.

Installation of the strands of red and white bulbs on street light standards began last week and was expected to be completed by Wednesday.



The candy cane arrangement of lights will glow nightly on the West Side from Starling-st to Central-av until New Year's Eve, according to Bob Miller, chairman of the West Side Board of Trade's street trim committee.

Charles Campbell, in charge of the decorations for Hilltop Business Association, said the same scheduled lighting will be in effect from Lecinea-av to Ogden, three additional blocks west from Eldon-av having been embellished with yule lights this year.

Fatal Home Accident Claims Child

An autopsy has been ordered by Coroner Robert A. Evans to determine the cause of death for James Akison, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Akison, 2449 Symington-dr.

The child apparently strangled to death Monday afternoon when he became entangled in a harness-like holder designed to prevent a child from rolling off the bed.

The accident occurred at the home of Mrs. Patricia Byerly, 565 Hilltonia-av, , who was caring for the baby while his parents worked.

Mrs. Byerly, mother of five, said she had put the child in a regular-size bed about 1:30, and found him shortly after four with the harness wrapped around his neck and upper arms.

Emergency squadmen took the boy to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he died 15 minutes after arrival.

their hearts to the Cuban people. They are most generous."

Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson are equally full of praise for Dr. Sanguilly. "He is a wonderful man, a credit to his people and a godsend to them with the work he is doing."

Mrs. Atkinson explained that some interest has been shown in the area in forming a group to assist in finding jobs for Cuban refugees.

"These are the kind of people who want to live away from charity if they can," she said, "but the language barrier is sometimes almost insurmountable in the problems it presents in trying to find employment."

She added, "People can't really understand the situation of the Cuban until it is explained personally to them by someone directly concerned."

Both Dr. Sanguilly and Dr. Atkinson, through their professions, are able to meet businessmen and seek jobs for the refugees, and Mrs. Atkinson through personal contacts, does what she can, but all three have professed that many more jobs are needed.

Dr. Sanguilly said Cuban professors are working in Miami, scrubbing garbage cans for 60 cents an hour trying to eke out a living, and many others, trained in a profession are working at jobs far below their capacity, just to survive.

The Montejos are more fortunate than most Cuban refugees. But like any people, they and most other Cubans, want to return to their homeland.

They are happy just to be out of Cuba right now, according to Blancha, "and we have much to be thankful for, especially to the Atkinsons and Dr. Sanguilly, but, we do want to go back to Cuba—when Castro is no longer in power."

The Montejos have much to be thankful for, but it will be a bittersweet day for them—Nov. 22.

Television; and Frank R. Neu, educational director, American Dairy Association.

The importance of the national conference and homemaker award was outlined by Chester K. Hayes, executive director of the Suburban Press Foundation, at the conference's opening session.

"The objective of this program is to direct national attention to suburban homemakers as the core of a good community and a sound nation," he explained. "It is designed to call national attention to the importance of family and community living and the vital role of the suburban homemaker in both.

"The conference and award ceremony emphasized and dramatized the importance of the suburban family and suburban homemaking leadership, reflecting the new role and growing importance of the suburban homemaker who is facing new opportunities, unique challenges and changing responsibilities.

"The search for National Suburban Homemaker of the Year was confined to suburban communities because one-third of America now lives in expanding suburban communities and the number still grows, and suburbs are the most significant areas on the American scene with families and communities most representative of American values."

Unlike many "contests," the rules governing the search strictly forbid any charge in fee or kind for nomination or participation. Commercial exploitation of the winner or any contestant is strictly prohibited.

The search was conducted at the local community level by member newspapers of the Suburban Press Foundation. Contestants were nominated by members of their families, relatives, friends, or local organizations. Local winners were chosen by local judges and honored at local award ceremonies. They were then entered in the competition for the national title.

The panel of national judges were:

Dr. Ruth Leverton, assistant administrator, Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture;

Dr. Marie Pfeiffer, chairman, Women's State Committee of Ohio for Public Welfare, Health and Education;

Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, president, League of Women Voters of U.S.;

Judge Clayton W. Rose, president, National Council of Juvenile Court Judges; and

Dr. Janet Wessel, professor of health, physical education and recreation at Michigan State University.

The national judges were present for the award ceremony and highlighted the conference's afternoon session with individual evaluations of the search.

The Suburban Press Foundation, which sponsored the conference and homemaker search as a public venture, is a non-profit research and education endeavor organized by leading publishers of suburban community newspapers in the U.S. It is dedicated to the advancement of suburban journalism and suburban living. National headquarters are in Chicago.

siderable amount of money" in taxable property.

• Annexation motions in the area were "legally correct, but morally wrong."

• And finally, it represented unplanned development of the area.

More than 50 people attended the hearing which lasted only a little more than an hour.

James Albers, attorney for the petitioners, said that no plans have been made to submit another annexation proposal to the commissioners.

Albers denied that real estate developers were behind the petition or that he was representing any such concerns in the hearing.

He also stated that Columbus was not responsible for the petition either, and that the petitioners were "being unfairly put into Columbus' shoes."

After hearing the commissioners' decision on the request, Applegate said that the Board of Commissioners "has recognized the problem of annexation in a community where people are against it."

Fatal Home Accident Claims Child

An autopsy has been ordered by Coroner Robert A. Evans to determine the cause of death for James Akison, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Akison, 2449 Symington-dr.

The child apparently strangled to death Monday afternoon when he became entangled in a harness-like holder designed to prevent a child from rolling off the bed.

The accident occurred at the home of Mrs. Patricia Byerly, 565 Hilltonia-av, who was caring for the baby while his parents worked.

Mrs. Byerly, mother of five, said she had put the child in a regular-size bed about 1:30, and found him shortly after four with the harness wrapped around his neck and upper [illegible].

Emergency squadmen took the boy to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he died 15 minutes after arrival.

their hearts to the Cuban people. They are most generous."

Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson are equally full of praise for Dr. Sanguilly. "He is a wonderful man, a credit to his people and a godsend to them with the work he is doing."

Mrs. Atkinson explained that some interest has been shown in the area in forming a group to assist in finding jobs for Cuban refugees.

"These are the kind of people who want to live away from charity if they can," she said, "but the language barrier is sometimes almost insurmountable in the problems it presents in trying to find employment."

She added, "People can't really understand the situation of the Cuban until it is explained personally to them by someone directly concerned."

Both Dr. Sanguilly and Dr. Atkinson, through their professions, are able to meet businessmen and seek jobs for the refugees, and Mrs. Atkinson through personal contacts, does what she can, but all three have professed that many more jobs are needed.

Dr. Sanguilly said Cuban professors are working in Miami, scrubbing garbage cans for 60 cents an hour trying to eke out a living, and many others, trained in a profession are working at jobs far below their capacity, just to survive.

The Montajos are more fortunate than most Cuban refugees. But like any people, they and most other Cubans, want to return to their homeland.

They are happy just to be out of Cuba right now, according to Blanchs, "and we have much to be thankful for, especially to the Atkinsons and Dr. Sanguilly, but, we do want to go back to Cuba—when Castro is no longer in power."

The Montejos have much to be thankful for, but it will be a bittersweet day for them—Nov. 22.

Homemaker—

Television; and Frank R. Neu, educational director, American Dairy Association.

The importance of the national conference and homemaker award was outlined by Chester K. Hayes, executive director of the Suburban Press Foundation, at the conference's opening session.

"The objective of this program is to direct national attention to suburban homemakers as the core of a good community and a sound nation," he explained. "It is designed to call national attention to the importance of family and community living and the vital role of the suburban homemaker in both.

"The conference and award ceremony emphasized and dramatized the importance of the suburban family and suburban homemaking leadership, reflecting the new role and growing importance of the suburban homemaker who is facing new opportunities, unique challenges and changing responsibilities.

"The search for National Suburban Homemaker of the Year was confined to suburban communities because one-third of America now lives in expanding suburban communities and the number still grows, and suburbs are the most significant areas on the American scene with families and communities most representative of American values."

Unlike many "contests," the rules governing the search strictly forbid any charge in fee or kind for nomination or participation. Commercial exploitation of the winner or any contestant is strictly prohibited.

The search was conducted at the local community level by member newspapers of the Suburban Press Foundation. Contestants were nominated by members of their families, relatives, friends, or local organziations. Local winners were chosen by local judges and honored at local award ceremonies. They were then entered in the competition for the national title.

The panel of national judges were:

Dr. Ruth Leverton, assistant administrator, Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture;

Dr. Marie Pfeiffer, chairman, Women's State Committee of Ohio for Public Welfare, Health and Education;

Mrs. Robert J. Phillips, president, League of Women Voters of U.S.;

Judge Clayton W. Rose, president, National Council of Juvenile Court Judges; and

Dr. Janet Wessel, professor of health, physical education and recreation at Michigan State University.

The national judges were present for the award ceremony and highlighted the conference's afternoon session with individual evaluations of the search.

The Suburban Press Foundation, which sponsored the conference and homemaker search as a public venture, is a non-profit research and education endeavor organized by leading publishers of suburban community newspapers in the U.S. It is dedicated to the advancement of suburban journalism and suburban living. National headquarters are in Chicago.

siderable amount of money" in taxable property.

• Annexation motions in the area were "legally correct, but morally wrong."

• And finally, it represented unplanned development of the area.

More than 50 people attended the hearing which lasted only a little more than an hour.

James Albers, attorney for the petitioners, said that no plans have been made to submit another annexation proposal to the commissioners.

Albers denied that real estate developers were behind the petition or that he was representing any such concerns in the hearing.

He also stated that Columbus was not responsible for the petition either, and that the petitioners were "being unfairly put into Columbus' shoes."

After hearing the commissioners' decision on the request, Applegate said that the Board of Commissioners "has recognized the problem of annexation in a community where people are against it."

Thanksgiving Came Early . .

It's true. We don't appreciate the simple, basic things of life until we stand to lose them.

We even think lightly of life itself until the day it is threatened.

Just one month ago a great crisis gripped our country. For several tense hours we waited, wondering if someone would hair-trigger the Cuban situation off into sudden war.

Then — in those fateful moments — surely most of us placed a new value on the little things about us. The common things, the ordinary, the familiar — they suddenly meant more to us than ever. A family, a job, a comfortable home, — all so precious, yet all could be obliterated in less than 15 minutes in a nuclear war.

On Oct. 23, our country stood firm — and the threat has subsided some. Yet this crisis brought Thanksgiving into our presence a whole month earlier than is our custom.

In years past we gave Cuba so very little attention. It was the place where Dad's after-dinner cigar came from. But today the "insignificant island" poses to us the same form of threat and tyranny that drove the Pilgrim fathers to new destiny in 1620.

If nothing else, it gives us a renewed sense of values, a heart strong for God-like living, and hands humble in a prayer of thanksgiving.

A HOME SIDE THANKSGIVING PRAYER

We thank Thee today, Dear Father
For guiding us this year;

We thank Thee for the moment when
To us You've been so near.

We thank Thee for necessities
Which were provided here;

We thank Thee for our many friends
Who are so very dear.

We thank Thee for the golden harvest
And for keeping us secure.

We thank Thee we can follow Thee
And have hearts which are pure.

So on this day of Thanksgiving
May we more humble be,

And truly now, our precious Lord,
We give our Thanks to Thee.

Amen.

Life In A Seaweed Bungalow Foreseen

Good grief! What is man coming to?

Recently Dr. William Krogman, eminent anthropologist of the University of Pennsylvania, predicted the day soon will come when man's increasing brain power will permit the average guy to communicate with his fellowmen via telepathy, thereby ending all secrets.

McPeek

As if that isn't startling enough in itself, now another equally distinguished scientist, French deep sea explorer Jacques-Yve Cousteau, foresees a new specie of man — homo aequaticus, the Water Man, "who will be born, live and die entirely beneath the sea."

Within 50 years, says Cousteau, man will live in watertight houses in sub-briny communities. An experimental "village," large enough to hold 24 persons, will be submerged 33 feet below the Mediterranean within a few months.

Giving support to Cousteau's prediction is our own National Aeronautics and Space Administration whose scientists are now at work on an artificial gill that will convert man into a fish. The gill, which will fit under the armpit, will allow the user to regenerate his blood with oxygen without breathing.

Won't that be jolly? Perhaps it is as it should be. Man, who since antiquity more often than not has been a sucker (land specie) may end up wiggling in his natural habitat.

Come to think of it, perhaps we had best hurry in our efforts to submerge. Who knows, that may be how man will survive.

Could this be too far-fetched? It's a Friday afternoon in the spring of the year 2062 A.D. Earth, still charred and barren from the Great War, is quiet, except for the wind and the sea . . . and scattered colonies of Martians who have migrated to a new world.

But beneath the waves there are still struggling remnants of the old Earth — a few thousand humans in snug little underwater communities . . . forming political parties and unions and taking out 30-year mortgages on prefab shell-sided bungalows by the shoresea.

Up on shore two passing Martians pause.

"Hi, Xento. How's things going?"

"Great, Zadlus. How you been?"

"Couldn't be better. Say, Xento, if you aren't doing anything tomorrow, how about zipping out to the flats with me to take in the dragrocket handicap finals? There's a couple of hot entries from Venus that promise to burn up track records."

"Sure wish you had said something sooner, Zadlus, but I promised my boy, Kazdow, I'd take him peopling. I hear the suckers are really biting out in the bay. My brother-in-law, Rowkad, caught a 240-pounder last week on a homemade lure."

"Yeah, what kind of lure?"

It was a little miniature people woman. He got the idea from a picture in the Hawaii section of the Museum of Natural Humans. Real clever lure; has a tiny grass skirt and wiggles a lot. Rowkad thinks it's foolproof because the little hands waggle, as if they are telling a message or story."

Frosting On The Cake

By

"UNCLE DOC" MOSS — U.S.A.

"Smarty-pants" kids are a dime a dozen in my book and I know whereof I speak because I was Grade A in that department until I was 10 years of age.

One time my mother and I were up at Rome Center, Mich., visiting my wise old doctor Grampa and Grammy Ross. My mother told me to go out and bring in an armful of wood and fill the water pail. It was raining cats and dogs and I sassed my mother, but good. Grammy heard me and the next instant I learned all about the "atomic bomb." She really gave me the business. It was a long spell before I paid any attention to the weather when they needed wood or water.

Too many parents today start out raising a spoiled brat and by age six they wonder why Mama's darling is a first class Genghis Khan who thinks he is something special and has every right to give any teacher a hard time.

Any six months old born with normal mental years is an expert at psychological warfare, and unless taught to mind, gets away with murder. Any bright kid will play this racket to the limit and it shows up especially at meal time:

"Johnny doesn't like this; Mary doesn't like that" — and getting such kids to eat is a major production three times a day. The pediatricians who know their business try almost futilely to make Mama understand that "a hungry kid will eat" unless he is really sick.

There is a way to lick this situation in any home. Get a wide-spraddled high chair, put it out in the middle of the floor, put Mr. or Miss Bully in it, tie down the shelf tray and let 'em sit.

Any healthy child whose stomach is really churning, will discover mighty fast that food is food, and they can take it or leave it. But too often Mama gets hysterics and Papa gets ulcers about the whole silly business.

Child psychologists are getting rich and Mama is getting grey hairs, way ahead of time. If your doctor tells you there is no pathological trouble with your "dear darling's" digestive machinery, you can lick this nonsense awfully fast. Scolding and spanking are out in any such situation.

No teacher can make a spoiled brat at six over into an angel at age seven. Wise and dedicated teachers do the best they can with whatever raw material parents send them, but that wouldn't be so rough by itself. What drives teachers "off their rocker" is having Mama rush down to school to bawl out any teacher, to-wit: "You make other devils behave, but you leave my child alone."

Horsefeathers!

GRATITUDE

In a downtown store window we once saw a painting of a bearded old man in clean overalls sitting on a kitchen chair before a scrubbed table. On it were half a loaf of dry bread and a glass of water. The old man's head was bowed, thanking God for His bounty.

The first crop of the Pilgrims at Plymouth was a failure. During their first year about half of them died of sickness, exposure, and malnutrition. Their next harvest was not much better, but they united in thanking God for it. That was the first Thanksgiving on American soil.

For about a century we have observed an official Thanksgiving Day in November after the harvest. Many go to church. Others give thanks at home in a more or less formal way. Perhaps a few do neither. Yet, surely, there must be a very few who do not have some sense of gratitude.

Except for Christmas, more kinsmen and friends get together for Thanksgiving than for any other time of the year. People, even the least devout, like to unite in giving thanks, each in his own way.

All this is obvious, but we like to say again. It's good for all of us.

It says here . . . Gratitude is the brightest flower in the garden of good will.

Boycott By Free Men Would Starve Reds

To The Editor:

Now that we have accomplished nothing toward ridding our hemisphere of the Red menace, and have witnessed the inept performance of the United Nations Organization—we are free to return to our uneasiness.

Mr. K. of the Kremlin may or may not still have missiles aimed at our cities with their exposed millions of people, the Russian technicians are still in Cuba, Castro still wears his automatic pistol on his hip—in short, the gang is still in business.

Mr. U Thant was able to visit Cuba, and returned with his message of hope. We do not know what this hopeful message consists of, since our press became strangely silent concerning the actual arrangements being made.

Mr. Stevenson was at his histrionic best in wrangling over "procedure" with a V. Zorin whose bored attitude conveyed the impression that the play was not too important. Subsequent events demonstrate clearly the fact that not one important concession has been forthcoming from the entire performance. I am doubtful that even the Red Cross will soil its hands in meddling in an affair which is so patently of vital concern to America.

We must start now to realize the truth—and the truth is that America can no longer afford to entrust its affairs to those who are not a part of the greatness which is uniquely an attribute of freedom. Americans must grasp the reigns, and put a stop to the dangerous practices which threaten to surrender our greatness to a theory rendered useless by its vulgarity, godlessness, and emptiness.

No communistic system could long endure unless assisted by gifts from free men. Famine alone would end the rule of the Reds—if we would cease to assist any nation whose conduct plainly demonstrates alignment with Russia.

Declares Selfishness Defeated School Issues

Why should people begrudge the children of their community an adequate education?

I for one feel that the motives for voting down the Madison school bond issue and levy were indeed selfish. People want all the modern conveniences, new homes, expensive autos, and all those material things that provide comfort but seem to forget that our minds also need provisions. They pay taxes on these "needs," yet they are not willing to pay one and one-half cents a day to feed the minds of children.

Mankind down through the ages has always striven to make his life more comfortable but starves his mind and soul. May those who so selfishly failed to consider the minds of our future leaders be sorely uneasy in conscience.

Ashamed of my community,
Mrs. Don (Waneta) Weaver

Reader Urges All To Help 'Forgotten Ones'

". . . Search and see if there is not some place where you may invest your humanity. . . ." These are the words of the great humanitarian, Albert Schweitzer. There is no disputing the obvious fact that Albert Schweitzer did a great deal for his fellow man; but all of us are not Albert Schweitzers.

Nevertheless, we are often asked to give to many more "worthy" causes than we can afford, and most of the time we throw in a contribution and promptly forget it. We do not experience much, if any, feeling that we are helping mankind. Probably, we don't know exactly what our contributions are used for; yet through this kind of mechanized, or impersonal giving much good for the sake of mankind has been accomplished.

Would you like to feel that you have truly helped someone?

Christmas, probably the most loved, and certainly the happiest of all Christian holidays, is a very sad occasion for patients at the Columbus State Hospital who hope to hear from someone on the outside, and who find, come Christmas morning, that they have been forgotten. This need not happen; you can make Christmas the joyous day that it should be if you give a few small personal articles or things to eat: fruit drops, candy bars, cookies or chewing gum. Do not gift wrap anything, the hospital volunteers will do that.

Take your gifts to Swan Cleaners or call the Volunteer Service office at the Columbus State Hospital, BR. 4-1171, and take your things directly to the hospital, 1960 W. Broad-st.

These little gifts mean so much.

Grotto Grateful

It is my pleasure and privilege on behalf of Achbar Grotto, the Convention Committee and the Ohio State Grotto Association to commend and thank you and your staff for the fine coverage which your organization gave to the 38th Annual Ohio State Grotto Association Convention at the Deshler-Hilton Hotel, August 16, 17 and 18, 1962.

I have heard nothing but comments and praise for the manner in which the Convention was organized, planned and conducted. A large part of this commendation is the result of the very capable coverage given by your organization.

Humble Word Wields Scripture Challenge

One of the most challenging words of Scripture is the word "therefore."

Here is a word that must be preceded by a setting forth of either meaningful deeds or significant principles. Because of what has been done or because of what has been stated, the "therefore" is in order.

Rev. Langholz

Lincoln is said to have used the word "responsibility" as often as he used the word "freedom." The word "responsibility" echoes a strong "therefore." You are free, therefore face up to your citizenship obligations.

From the ministry of the Lord Jesus, three of His "therefores" come to mind readily.

After setting forth the Heavenly Father's concern for His creatures, He said to those listening to His Sermon on the Mount, "Therefore take no thought saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed"—But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

Another significant "therefore" appears in His encounter with the chief priests and scribes, who were always intent on putting Him on the spot. They tempted Him with the question, "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar, or no?" Perceiving their craftiness, He asked for a coin, and then inquired, "Whose image and superscription hath it?" They could only answer, "Caesar's." He then said, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's." What a tremendous "therefore" that even today reaches down into men's obligations to government and to God!

Still another of our Lord's significant "therefores" is found in His statement about His coming to judgment. Emphasizing the unexpectedness of His coming, He drove home the admonition, "Therefore, be ye also ready: for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of man cometh."

From the words of our Lord's apostle, St. Paul, we have a "therefore" that goes all the way back to Calvary and then confronts us with a continuing obligation of gigantic proportions: "For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's." Here is a "therefore" that requires nothing less than genuine commitment to Him who is the Savior of us all. In somewhat greater detail: You belong to Him, therefore live under Him in His kingdom and serve Him; you are not your own, therefore, instead of living unto self, live unto Him who died for you and rose again.

The divine "therefores" confront us with responsibilities we dare not ignore.

CLIME-RD 'BARN WITH A HISTORY' TOPPLED WITH TUG FROM A TRACTOR

A GLOOMY OLD BARN which stood for years at the curve of Clime-rd, ½ half mile west of Demorest-rd, came to a crashing finish in minutes Nov. 5. Under the direction of the Columbus Division of Parks and Forestry a crew from the City Workhouse removed the building which stood on land to be developed into Clime Road Park. The men hooked a steel guard rail cable to a Caterpillar tractor and circled it around one side of the barn. After snapping the cable twice they tried again and the old building shuddered into a pile of splinters. City officials also found that not all haymows contain hay. This one had a cache of abandoned gambling equipment!

Will Ask Media To Delete Sunday Hours From Ads

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Sunday Sales law proponents are marching down another avenue of attack in attempts to discourage the "seven-day work week."

This time, Greater Columbus Sunday Association officials are knocking on the doors of radio, press and TV executives seeking further support in the crackdown.

Gene King, executive secretary of the association, said Monday that form letters are to be sent out "by the end of the week" to advertising executives and publishers in the media, asking that any copy referring to Sunday store hours be deleted.

"First of all," King said, we think it's an impropriety for the media to continue to accept advertising which publicly proclaims intentions of a particular firm to break the Sunday closing law."

The letter, in essence, will ask executives to adhere to a code of advertising ethics and delete that copy which indicates Sunday openings and which publicly scoffs at the law."

The association is being backed up in this latest move by the Better Business Bureau of Central Ohio.

Edward Hughes, president and general manager of the bureau, said Monday that "as long as you have the law it should be enforced."

Hughes also said:

"In the interest of the private enterprise system, the law must be upheld. I'm sure that the media will feel the same way and will not publish anything helping a violation of the law. The media has this responsibility to fulfill."

The bureau head did indicate, however, that there would be exceptions to this policy.

He pointed out that as long as items within the legal limits of the law were being advertised, it would be "within the right of the media" to advertise Sunday hours.

Robert F. Littlehale, president of the Advertising Club of the Columbus Area of Chamber of Commerce, said that the association is "undeniably trying to give the law a little more strength."

He said, however, that he had not had sufficient time to think about the matter—regarding its ethical merits—but indicated that the Advertising Club "probably" would thrash it out at its next meeting scheduled for Nov. 30.

King issued a further statement that he was "elated" over decisions by Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake and Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling to enforce the law.

Whitehall Safety Director Richard Moling said Monday that enforcement of the law would go into effect Nov. 25 in that suburban city.

"The association stands ready to assist both administrations in any area that they may desire," King added.

The association secretary also commented that letters were sent out this week to mayors in areas surrounding Columbus urging that enforcement steps be taken quickly. "Areas such as Grandview, Arlington and Worthington, however," King added, "aren't big problems. We still have our eye on Bexley, though."

Bexley Mayor William Schneider told his councilmen last week that they will wait until the State Legislature clarifies the law.

Around the state it's reported that "general confusion" prevails as to enforcement of the Blue Law.

Two summons were issued last Sunday to drugstores in Marion, O., while in Mansfield, where city officials said they'd stage an immediate "clampdown" on the law, four major discount houses were open Sunday and no arrests were made.

Maple Heights (a Cleveland suburb) Mayor James V. Shipan is issuing immediate crackdowns and expressed disgust toward other mayors who have done nothing in the matter.

Cincinnati currently is ignoring stores open for business Sunday.

Columbus will start its crackdown next Sunday when a special squad of police will look for violators. The delay, reports indicate, is to allow merchants to close on their own.

Sportiest Days For Hunters Lie Ahead

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Now that the first big push of the upland hunting season is over, how will the hunting be? This is a question that always comes our way along about this time.

Actually, there is one more day when a lot of hunters will be in the field — Thanksgiving Day. But after that the landscape empties of hunters and dogs for the most part.

This is the time that a few hunters like best, and I must include myself in the group. Nothing can replace the excitement of opening day, of course, but after this traditional hunt we can settle down to some leisurely sport.

After the first week or two of hunting it is not so difficult to get permission to hunt from land owners. Most farmers and their immediate friends have been out all they want. The game population definitely has been thinned, and is no longer attractive to a lot of hunters. But there are still enough pheasants and rabbits around to make things interesting—the only question is how to get them.

Now is when a trained hunting dog is most valuable, for with a good dog your days afield last right up to the end of the season. Pheasants quickly learn how to avoid hunters, or else they would have ended in a roasting pan last week. The birds that you will encounter from now on are running birds. You must force them to fly. A single hunter does not have much chance. But with a dog you will see some action.

Two or three hunters can work together to good advantage, by heading off birds at the ends of fields. Of course, this is the accepted practice of hunting pheasants at any time, but watching the ends of fence rows and fields is about the only way to flush birds from now on. One hunter should get into shooting position, and the others drive through the cover toward him.

As the season progresses and wind, rain and snow beat down the cover, game will become more concentrated in thickets and brushy areas. This works to the late season hunter's favor, for the elements have done some driving for him. As the remainder of the standing corn is picked, birds will more and more be found in wood lot edges, shrubby fences and ditches. Some of the best hunting of the year can be had by finding such concentrations late in the season.

Snow is of great assistance, and this is rarely on the ground during the first two weeks of hunting. By tracking pheasants you can flush the runningest cock that was ever hatched. Rabbits are easier to see when there is a snow cover.

Cold weather and snow do not bother wild animals as much as we like to think it does. Rabbits like to run before dogs on a brisk winter day. With the music of beagles drifting over the countryside, you may enjoy quality rabbit hunting from now on. They often do not run well on warm, muggy days. Deep snow can be treacherous to bobwhite quail, but it does not often bother pheasants if food and cover needs are fulfilled.

For those who really like to hunt, good days are ahead. Game bags may not be quite so full, nor shooting quite so fast as opening day, but the challenge is there. Hunters who like to get out with gun and dog will also be there enjoying it. The only sad note is that so many hunters are calling it quits for another year.

Columbus Showbiz Artists, under the leadership of area favorite Buddy Clark, will stage a "Winter Jazz Festival" Sunday, Nov. 25, at Lombardi's on Trabue-rd. Show starts at 8 p.m. and the public is invited.

This is the groups' last show of 1962, Clark informs, and marks the end of the fifth year of the club.

Clark

Clark only asks that the gang dress sharply. Formals and cummerbunds are in order, he says, but not required. "We want this show to have the dignity of the Academy Award dinners.

Admission is $1 per couple for members and $2 per couple for others. "Everybody who's a somebody in local showbiz is expected to be on hand," he says.

• Paramount Pictures informs that Bob Donner has been signed to make his film debut as a college undergrad in Jerry Lewis' "The Nutty Professor," in which Lewis stars and also directs.

• Zsa Zsa Gabor, who was in Columbus two seasons ago with the Kenley Players, has been signed for the top comedy role of a flashy Parisienne fashion expert who dresses better than her models in Melville Shavelson's "Samantha," a Paramount release starring Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward and Thelma Ritter.

"SHOE DOGS"

Old time shoe-fitters were called "shoe dogs." And I, for one, don't like the title since I saw my friend's dog perform the little trick he taught him. He takes an old pair of shoes and hides one, then, he lets the dog sniff at the other one, and the smart pooch digs out and brings back the other shoe. Reminds me too much of some lazy shoe salesman who take off your old shoe, peer around in it until they find out what size it was, and then, bring you a new shoe the same size. To deserve the title of shoe-fitter, the trained, interested man finds out for himself what you should have, not what you were wearing. In our store he makes pedo-graph foot-prints of your feet, measures both feet under weight bearing and then tries both shoes on. When he is through, he knows what you need.

Glenwood Methodist Mincemeat-Makers Pack 30 Years' Experience In Product

THESE EXPERT HANDS cut and chopped select ingredients, measured, mixed and packed 500 quarts of mincemeat in Glenwood Methodist Church kitchen on "M-Day, 1962." In addition to those pictured in the other photos, the crew included, above, Mrs. Gertrude Gifford, 2377 W. Broad-st; Mrs. C. A. Cobara, 224 S. Westmoor; Mrs. Glenn Hamilton, 4741 Hayden Falls-blvd; Mrs. Bessie Growdon, 5132 Fisher-rd; Mrs. Hary Emrick, 233 S. Huron-av; Mrs. Earl Skidmore, 895 S. Burgess-av, and Mrs. Graham Prior, 101 Eldon-av.

By Jane Robinson

The 65 women in the CIC Sunday School Class of the Glenwood Church have accomplished the impossible — they have kept a secret for 30 years.

Back in the early thirties a member of their class brought them a treasured recipe for old fashioned mincemeat from her home state of New York. Thus armed the women went into the mincemeat-making business, and this fall they were still at it.

Each September, members of the class start taking orders for quarts of mincemeat to be delivered in time for Thanksgiving pies.

Sales are no problem, according to Mrs. Julian LeRoy, 743 Euclaire, who is this year's chairman, as the fame of this very special mincemeat is known not only around the Hilltop, but in Arlington, Bexley, Grandview and Columbus, generally. The only problem is making enough to fill the orders.

This year, Mrs. LeRoy started early to place orders for the ingredients.

She made arrangements with a local orchard to deliver 18 bushels of fine Jonathan apples, and to make fresh cider no more than a couple of days before it was to be used.

Grocers were asked to order the special raisins. Pounds and pounds of beef chuck were engaged. White sugar, brown sugar, spices — all of these started pouring into the church kitchen.

How much of each? That is the secret, and not one of the ladies is even going to drop a hint.

Seven women appeared at the church and started the preparations for "M-Day." The apples were washed, raisins put to soak, the beef cooked and all the ingredients measured.

Next morning everyone who possibly could converged into the kitchen as early as 7 a.m.

Soon the kitchen was really bustling. At either end of a long table two apple peelers were continually turning, hour after hour. Then after being "touched up" and quartered, they were passed along to the choppers, and from there to the mixers.

Two huge wash tubs were used, one for the ground meat, and the other for the actual mixing.

Two women, literally up to their elbows in mincemeat, stood and mixed while two women sat beside them and packed the mixture into the cartons in which they are sold. One other woman was kept busy all day merely with the job of lidding.

By 5:30 they had over 500 quarts of mincemeat to sell, and a kitchen that showed it.

Even with the job of cleaning up, these industrious women were still in the best of humor. "We've had a lot of fun with our work," Mrs. LeRoy smiled.

Proceeds of the annual sale provide the class with funds for much of its work.

They annually donate $100 to the church building fund. Every child who passes from the primary department to the junior department is presented with a Bible through the use of this money.

Needy families at Christmas and Thanksgiving are aided, and the South Side Settlement House receives a gift every year from the CIC Class in honor of the memory of their former teacher, Mrs. Ella Phalon.

The women, although they really work, obviously enjoy it, the money accomplishes a great deal of good, and a lot of people in Columbus have the opportunity to taste the mincemeat that many people believe is "the best ever."

Glen Eagle Wins 8th Football Round

Without a doubt, S. L. Pidock, 3656 Seabrook-av, is the unluckiest man in the Columbus area.

Three times in the past seven weeks Pidock has failed to win Hartley Newspapers' giant football contest by a whisker.

Last week Glenn E. Eagle, 132 Williams-rd, and Pidock missed only five of the 24 games, but Eagle's guess on the tie-breaker was closest to the exact score of the OSU-Oregon game.

Eagle guessed 21-7 in favor of the Bucks. Pidock predicted the game would end in a 14-14 deadlock. The Bucks won the game 28-7.

Final Round

Listed below in the ads are 24 more top college and professional games to be played on the weekend of Dec. 1. These games represent the tenth and final round in the contest.

If no one hits the jackpot on the ninth round, to be played on the weekend of Nov. 24, the accumulated jackpot will be awarded to the top three contestants in the tenth round.

First place winner will receive 50 per cent, second place runner-up will get 30 per cent, and 20 per cent will go to the contestant who finishes third.

PIRATES ACCEPT TROPHY

Hawks Announce Raffle Winners

The Westgate Hawks Booster Club announced winners of their recent raffle Saturday at the YMCA.

The console hi-fi set went to Press Atwood of Plain City, the portable TV went to Jay Liggett of Amlin and the AM-FM radio was won by Rupert Marinto, 2281 S. High-st.

Plans were completed for the awards night to be held tomorrow night at the Fairgrounds Youth Center and the club also laid groundwork arrangements for the annual banquet set for Dec. 1.

Pirates Honor 26 Gridders

Central High School honored its 1962 City League championship football team last week in an assembly at the school.

Highlight of the award ceremonies was the presentation of the Chic Harley Trophy, which rotates to the league champion each season.

..THE TROPHY was presented by Frank Shannon and Dean Ishida, co-captains of Eastmoor's '61 championship team and accepted by Central co-captains Kenny Ash and Mike Grady.

West Hi-Y Purchases Projector

The West High School Senior Hi-Y has recently purchased a projector for the school. The circular projector shows slides in regular intervals, and can be operated either manually or automatically.

If the slides are projected automatically, a timer control may be set for five, 10 or 20-second intervals; while if operated manually (which may be done by remote control), the slides may be shown for any desired length of time.

The projector was purchased as the result of a request by Principal David Randall, who felt that there was a need for a continuously operating 35mm slide projector.

The Hi-Y Club, under the co-advisorship of Mr. Dodds and Mr. Drury, purchased the projector for $150 at the end of October, and it was promptly put into use by projecting the slides of the students who received all A's on the first grading period.

It is anticipated that the projector will provide an assist to classroom teachers in their various courses. Any organizations or teachers may borrow the projector, which will probably be kept in the Audio-Visual Club's possession, under the advisorship of Gerald O'Cock.

This year's Hi-Y officers are, Bill Johannes, president; Tim Weisert, vice-president; Rick Finke, secretary; Bob Lynch, treasurer, and Joel Eichenberger, chaplain.

Everybody in the church is excited over our money raising idea. They're all going to help us save bottle caps from Whistle, 3-V Cola and Hires Root Beer. Inexperience Heads Buc Cage Problems

The loss of three starters from a successful '61-'62 City League cage team is the major problem facing Central head basketball coach Wayne Rittenhouse this season.

Only five lettermen are back to bolster the Pirate squad which compiled a fine 16-5 record last season. Two of the five are returning starters.

RITTENHOUSE will be banking on repeat performances from 6-2 senior Dave Roberts and 5-11 senior Tom Fullove as the Bucs prepare for the upcoming season which finds Linden seeking its third straight City League championship.

Fullove is one of the only two players selected from the Central Ohio area by Dell Basketball in charting the nation's top 600 high school cage [illegible].

The other three returning lettermen that gives the Central club a bare amount of experienced hoopsters are 6-3 senior Ray Revels, 6-0 senior Cliff Moxley and 6-0 junior George Broadnax.

LISTED AS possible additions to the Pirate varsity are these six cagers up from the reserve squad: Ronnie Bell, Don Bell, Ken Mitchell, Mel Williams, Harold Winton and LeRoy Collins.

Two welcome additions to the Buc squad are Willie Elby and George Roberts — transfers from Franklin Heights — where they played last season.

Rittenhouse, who has approximately 70 players trying out for the varsity and reserve squads this season, lists East as the power team of the City League this season.

Here is the '62-'63 Central basketball schedule:

Bucs Dominate All-City Picks

Central, the newly-crowned City League champion, dominated the loop's all-league selections this week, placing six members of its club on the 22-man team.

West's Rich Neely, 175-pound senior, was named to an offensive halfback position while 185-pound senior guard John Valentine and 170-pound senior halfback Mike Welling both from Aquinas, were placed on the defensive team.

Honorable mention awards went to Central's Mel Williams, Bill Solomon, Paul Frasure, Willie Hoke, John Thomas and Gibson Hayes, West's Chuck Castle, Jim Hughes, Bill Wells and Larry More and Aquinas' Mark Marchi, Tom Verhoff, Ray Highfield and Tom Kusen.

Rams Upset Kentucky Club

The West Mound Rams, led by a three-touchdown performance by Ken Jackson, upset the undefeated Dayton, Ky., Little League football entry, 32-0, Sunday at Hilltonia Park.

The Rams, an 110-pound club in Ohio Boys Football Foundation, left the field at halftime with a 12-0 lead and scored twice in the third period to sew up the win.

JACKSON SCORED on runs of 91 and seven yards and tallied on a 37-yard pass play from Bob Rasor. Ken Coleman scored on a 56-yard run and Steve Thompson hit pay dirt on a 30-yarder to wrap up the Ram scoring.

The Ram's 90-pound team was also victorious, downing Our Lady of Perpetual Help's Grove City entry, 20-6.

Countdowns, No-Names Lead Glenwood Gals

The Silhouettes defeated the Goof-Off's in Glenwood Recreation Center's intermediate girls' basketball league action, 20-16. The loss knocked the Goof-Off's out of a tie for first place. The high scorer for the game was the Silhouettes' Ming Smith with eight points.

The league standing is as follows: Countdowns, 3-1; Silhouettes, 2-1, and the Hi-Fi's and Goof-Off's 1-2.

The league's top scorer is Cheryl Holt with an average of 10 points a game. She is followed by Ruth Castle with an average of eight points a game. Both girls play for the Countdowns.

DONNA WOOD of the No-Names scored the winning basket to down the Mafia, 19-17, in the girls' senior basketball league. Pat Dieli was high scorer in the game with six points for the Mafia.

The league standings are: No-Names, (3-0; Defenders, 3-1; Matadors, 2-2; Panthers, 1-1; Mafia and Zeros, 1-2, and Pirates, 0-3.

Cavaliers' Win Tops Glenwood Cage Play

Dick Colvin and Ken Bowman netted 10 points each as the Penguins edged the Cavaliers, 44-42, in the senior boys basketball league at Glenwood Recreation Center. Steve Conrad scored 11 points for the losers.

Dick Moore's 15 points paced the Untouchables to a 40-36 win over the Commodores. Bill Baseman scored 13 for the losers.

Carl Ruzicka's 19-point performance coupled with the rebounding of Bill Karn earned the Knights a 62-53 win over the Satins. Phil Tucker dropped in 13 for the losers.

Retired Missionary To Speak At Brookshire Methodist

Rev. and Mrs. Keller

All former members of old Gift Street Methodist Church are especially invited to hear Rev. and Mrs. Fred Keller, retired missionary, speak at Brookshire Methodist Sunday evening, Nov. 18.

Rev. Keller, recently retired after 40 years' service in Algeria, made his decision to enter the ministry as a boy attending Gift Street.

Among the Kellers accomplishments in Algeria were the establishment of a boys school in Algiers, and translating the church literature into the language.

Rev. Keller served as district superintendent for 14 years there.

The couple will show color films and will have a table display of handcraft.

A casserole supper at 5 p.m. will precede the program at 7. The public is invited.

West Broad Church Plans Gospel Series

A gospel meeting will be held Dec. 3 to 14 at the West Broad Church of Christ, 3361 W. Broad. Preaching at 7:30 p.m. and at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday will be L. J. Nicklas of Akron.

Nicklas helped establish churches of Christ in Springfield, Washington Court House and Xenia. Before his conversion he studied commercial art and now uses his artistic skill to create charts and blackboard illustrations which add to his sermons.

Though he preached in 11 different states and in many cities surrounding Columbus, this will be his first meeting here.

Paul K. Williams, evangelist for the West Broad Church, stresses that all are welcome at these services. For free transportation call TR. 8-6318.

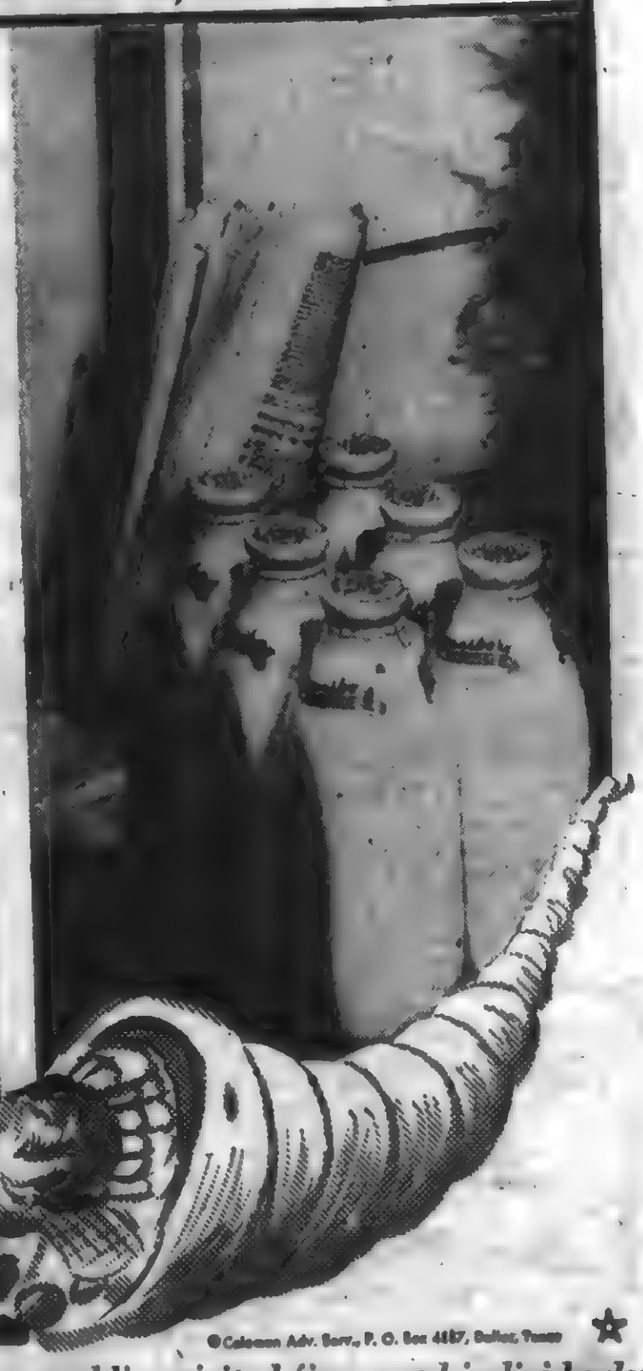
Give Thanks on this Special Day



FOR A LAND OF PLENTY

America, America, God shed His grace on thee . . . A nation truly flowing with milk and honey.

The news and milk delivered right to your doorstep. For these and numerous other conveniences give special thanks to the Lord by attending Church.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

This Little Boy Is Everybody's Little Boy!

He Is The 1962 Christmas Seal Boy

Marlon Burton and his brother, Darrell, two, are pictured on the Tuberculosis Society's Christmas Seal appeal letter delivered last week to 225,000 Columbus and Franklin County residents.

Last April, Marlon and and his father entered Benjamin Franklin (TB) Hospital for treatment. Marlon's mother and Darrell remained well, and at home, 1009 26th Ave.

Thanks to Christmas Seal research which has improved treatment methods and shortened hospitalization periods, the Burtons can look forward to being a united family again.

"There were 365 new cases of tuberculosis of all kinds reported in Columbus and Franklin County last year," John Nippert, president of the Board of Directors of the Tuberculosis Society, reported today. "Many of these cases were first reported from free Christmas Seal X-rays and school tuberculin tests," he said. "The Burtons are typical of families separated by contagious tuberculosis."

Goal in the Tuberculosis Society's once-a-year Christmas Seal campaign is $212,000. Mr. Harold H. Eibling, Superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, is general chairman.

"The TB Society's aim — to protect family circles by eradicating contagious TB — never changes," Nippert pointed out. "In 1963, our programs will be re-directed to make them even more effective. They will focus on other lesser-known respiratory diseases which often delay diagnosis and treatment of TB."

Next year Christmas Seal dollars alone will provide an estimated 50,000 free TB-RD chest X-rays and 20,000 school tuberculin tests; concentrated projects to find all tuberculosis infection in given high incidence groups; health education and dramatic research projects aimed at finding better diagnostic tools, a drug to kill the TB germ and a vaccine to prevent TB.

Indian Guide Longhouse Session Slated At YMCA

The Hilltop YMCA Indian Guide Longhouse will hold a promotional session Thursday, Nov. 29 at 7:15 p.m. in the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr. The "Y" Indian Guide program is for boys from six to nine years of age and their fathers.

Extension committee chairman, Russ Crawford, will be assisted in the promotion by Longhouse chief, Al Stephens, and sub-chief, Mel Senerius. A promotion film, developed by the Longhouse during the past year, will be shown to familiarize those in attendance with some typical Indian guide activities. A question and answer period will follow after which future big braves will be organized into tribes by neighborhoods.

A tribe consists of about six dads and their boys. Each tribe meets twice a month in the homes of the tribal members. Various activities include Camp Willson campouts, Southside "Y" Park campout, match box derby, miniature golf tourney, Hilltop nation pow wows, crafts, games, movies, trips, nature lore and any ideas participants might have.

Aims of the "Y" Indian guides are to be clean in body and pure in heart, to be pals forever with my dad or son, to love the sacred circle of my family, to be attentive while others speak, to love my neighbor as myself, to seek and preserve the beauty of the Great Spirit's work in forest, field and stream.

To be eligible for participation in this program, dads must have adult membership and boys youth memberships in the Hilltop YMCA. There is a fee of $3 charged for the kit which includes two headbands, one manual, one pin and one patch.

Further information is available by calling the Hilltop "Y" office at BR. 6-5906.

Thanksgiving Also Named 'Cancer Day'

Traditional observance of Thanksgiving will also mark Cancer Research Day throughout Ohio.

The American Cancer Society's Franklin County Unit will turn over to its national offices a total of $37,570 for cancer research.

Of this amount $1,000 was earmarked by two organizations for a research project at Children's Hospital. The remainder, representing 25 per cent of the county's crusade total of last spring, will go to support cancer research across the nation in leading laboratories.

The society is underwriting this year research projects totaling $16,552,000 — and of this amount $102,400 has been allocated in projects in Columbus.

Dr. Jack Miles, president of the Franklin County Unit; noted that much of the society's income is derived from memorials when a loved one, a friend or co-worker dies of cancer, These can be mailed to the society at 2300 W. Mound-st, and the family of the deceased is notified immediately.

West Hi-Y Has Charge Of Assembly

The West Senior Hi-Y Club was in charge of the Thanksgiving program held in the school auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 21.

Hi-Y President Bill Johannes was master of ceremonies, and started the program with the senior choir singing "Faith of Our Fathers."

The advisors of the club, Mr. Drury and Mr. Dodds, followed the hymn with the Pledge of Allegiance and a Thanksgiving prayer.

Kathy Hitte, a sophomore, sang The Lord's Prayer and Rick Finke, Hi-Y secretary, issued a Thanksgiving proclamation.

Following an orchestral selection, vice-president of the Hi-Y, Tim Weisert, introduced the speaker for the program, West Principal David Randall.

Closing the program was the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by the senior choir, joined by the audience. Chaplain Joel Eichenberger read the benediction as the program closed.

Second Lt. Dennis P. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Martin of 352 S. Eureka-av, has been reassigned to Donaldson AFB, S.C., following his graduation from the flying training course for C-118 pilots at Tinker AFB, Okla.

Lutherans Collecting Used Clothing

The annual Thanksgiving appeal for used clothing for overseas relief is being conducted by the Columbus Area Lutheran Pastors' Conference.

Deadline for leaving articles at most Lutheran churches is Sunday, Nov. 25. The churches will take boxed clothing to the B and O Railroad siding, Fourth-st at Naghten-st, Tuesday, Nov. 27, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Clothing and bedding should be clean and usable. Items will be bailed for shipment overseas to needy spots such as Chile, Taiwan, Greece, Brazil, Korea and Bolivia.

Articles that cannot be used are hats, neckties, bulky bedding and ladies' shoes that are open-toed, backless, high-heeled or narrow width.

Welcome Wagon Receives Two New Hostesses

Mrs. Leota Hartley, 424 Weymouth-ln, and Mrs. May Wise, 2134 Frank-rd, have returned from Memphis, Tenn., where they completed a course of training preparing them for Welcome Wagon hostesses in the Hilltop area.

Thomas W. Briggs is the founder and president of Welcome Wagon, which is now in its 35th year.

Mrs. Evelyn Jones and Mrs. Ethel Coffman supervise the West area Welcome Wagon service.

Dr. Dutt Will Speak At Glenwood

Kiwanians Proud Of FHA Cow-Pig Project

A FARM-CITY chain of friendship, started in 1958 by the West Side Kiwanis Club, is still growing. The club gave a pig and a calf to the Pleasantview Chapter of Future Farmers of America and each year one offspring from the animals is passed on to another farm youth. David Kunz, 2360 Kunz-rd, (at right, top picture) shows his heifer to Kiwanians Ralph Oberleitner and Ted Kleats. In the other picture the men, together with FFA Advisor Richard Dyer and Jerry Riebel, 6200 Johnson-rd, inspect a third-generation Hampshire owned by Jerry. Jerry will turn one of the sow's daughters over to Sonny McGill.

Burglary Suspect Pleads Innocent

Bennie Collier, 24, of 486 S. Monroe-av, pleaded innocent to house breaking and robbery charges in Municipal Court Nov. 14.

Judge Alan E. Schwartzwalder bound him to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

Police revealed Collier admitted staging 34 daylight home burglaries and robbing four elderly women in the past four months.

He was arrested after a witness to a burglary attempt at a Sullivant-av home noted the license number of the getaway car.

"I Took A Trip Into The Future"

says John Cameron Swayze, noted news commentator

Four years ago, I reported on a new community in Florida that was just beginning. I've just returned from my third visit to this community, and it truly was a "trip into the future." Four years ago it was raw land with a few hundred homes. Today it is a young city of nearly 10,000 residents who are experiencing a new way of life. And tomorrow, (plans have already been made) it will be a "city in the country" perhaps ten times its present size. This exciting new city is Port Charlotte, a General Development community on Florida's southwest Gulf Coast. Look into it. It will be worth your while.

STORK SEEKING SITE TO RELOCATE FACILITY

City Park May Be Developed On Police Auto Pound Grounds

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The days of the Police Auto Pound on Whittier-st seem definitely numbered with the Parks and Forestry Commission marking off the calendar at a feverish pitch.

The [illegible] wants to develop the area into another municipal park and this presents a main problem for Service Director Ernest Stork who's wondering where he can relocate the auto pound.

Bill Walton, assistant parks superintendent, originally made public the commission's intention recently during a Council of South Side Organizations meeting.

At that time, Walton told the CSSO members of the commission's plans to improve, what he termed, the "picturesque location."

The commission has even gone as far as making preliminary studies of the grounds and report that the area would lend itself well to another city park.

One of the main reasons for this is the fish and wildlife interest in the neighborhood. Bordering on the Scioto River, Walton says that it's a favorite spot for fishermen.

The Parks Commissioners doesn't want to stop with the auto pound location, though. They've got plans to incorporate a portion of what was once Scioto-blvd on the west bank, immediately adjacent to the new Fire Department Training facilities.

"This all embraces the same body of water," said Walton, "and we'd like to develop both sides."

There's also a heliport in operation in the Whittier Street Park which the commission feels "may leave the scene" and could possibly be turned into the same type development.

However, both Jack Bolton of the Airport Commission and Stork testified that the heliport stays, since it was opened Sept. 1 on legislation enacted by Columbus City Council.

The auto pound is a different story.

It went into operation with the understanding that it would be a tentative thing.

"It's hard telling when we'll move the pound," said Stork thoughtfully. "We'll have to first find a suitable place to relocate it before we could take it out of there."

The Parks Commission has already received an okay from council to install $6,175 worth of toilet facilities in the north section of the park, off Whittier-st. And, too, the commission will do some landscaping work in the park area to reduce the size of the cinder parking lot which Walton termed as an "ideal spot for kids to hot-rod."

Plans to improve the boat launching facility are also being discussed.

As soon as the auto pound is moved, there should be no time wasted appropriating money to improve the area. Walton said that the commission still has $95,000 approved by a 1960 bond issue that would go to the development of the site.

To Close Or Not To Close . . . The Question

Our processes of government have been undergoing some real tests since the recent election in which the Sunday opening amendment was defeated. This was expected.

We have long contended that all laws should be either enforced or taken off the books. Until the law is removed from the books it would appear that public officials have an obligation to enforce it.

In the meantime there seems to be much concern over just what kind of a mandate the defeat of the amendment really was. Did it mean that people don't want business places open on Sunday or did it mean that they just didn't want an amendment that make it possible for a select few to stay open?

And then too, just what part did the church people of Ohio play in the defeat of this amendment? And just what are all the factors behind this whole situation?

Our belief is that church people as well as many other groups had a pronounced part in the matter and were aiming at retention of Sunday as such . . . a family day. We believe our people are fearful of the consequences of an around the board seven day week for business operation and that all the leisure time we have gained may end up in just more doubling up in jobs and extensive commercialism on Sunday.

We have long contended that there is no language that speaks as emphatically as that of the pocketbook, and that the answer to this whole matter is to make Sunday operation unprofitable.

It remains a fact that no new business is created on Sunday. It is merely an advantage that some operators have over others.

It is a similar situation to that of trading stamps. No honest business man can truthfully say that trading stamps have been good for our economy and 95 per cent of those giving stamps out today recognize that they merely have a yoke around their necks which they can't throw off.

Sunday operation of business can be made unprofitable and stores will revert to six day operations when those people who do not want Sunday operations will religiously follow this program: Do not buy from the store that is open on Sunday . . . anytime . . . Sunday.

MAPPING EFFECTIVENESS of the defensive blue forces in the mock war to be conducted by the 37th Infantry Division Dec. 8 and 9 are members of the 166th Infantry, stationed at the Sullivant-av Armory. M/Sgt. Alfred DeLeon, right, regular army advisor to the 166th, of 4167 Sullivant-av, is explaining proposed troop movements to M/Sgt. Walter Donough, sergeant major of the 166th, of 3380 Fairmoor.

Columbus To Host European 'Invasion'

By TED BEARDSHEAR

If it looks like an Army invasion the weekend of Dec. 8, Columbusites will be right. Except the army is here to play something like—chess not invade the city.

More than 900 officers and men of the Ohio's 37th Infantry Division will be here for the maneuver. Units will come from all over the state.

According to Col. Spain, executive officer of the 166th Infantry, a Hilltop unit, it is a "free map maneuver exercise; a vehicle to teach commanders and unit staffs the principles and techniques of operations."

The only thing missing from this "war" will be the sound of guns, bombs, shells and die-hard infantry-men digging foxholes in the backyard. But they'll all be there on paper.

Maj. Gen. Loren K. Windom, commander of the 37th and Ohio adjutant general, will direct the continuous 24-hour battle from his headquarters at Fort Hayes. Two other National Guard armories in Columbus—Sullivant-av and Howey-rd—also will be used as battle headquarters for the opposing divisions.

Apparent at the three posts will be personnel, trucks carrying the latest Army radios and wire field phones. Inside, there will be a flurry of activities around the maps and teletypes. Commercial phones will be used to convey information from post to post.

"This is no canned exercise—we could lose this war," said M-Sgt. Walter Donough.

COORDINATING by teletype the mock movements of troops of the 166th Infantry who will participate in the gigantic Army exercise Dec. 8 and 9 are operators, left M/Sgt. James Merwine, Hillridge-rd, Reynoldsburg and Daniel Mitchell, 4169 Sullivant-av.

Seek To Halt Confusion In Traffic Change Plan

By MARCUS ORR

An apparent mixup in signals in City Hall has, for the time being, stalled the traffic commission's plan to convert Town, Rich and Belle-sts to one-way traffic, between Starling-st and Central-av.

Seeking to find the reasons why, West Side Neighborhood Council representatives have gotten only spotty answers. Best local guesses, however, are that Safety Director Albert Giles was irked at Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher's "premature" announcement Nov. 14 that the major traffic changes would take place the following Sunday — before Giles was given a chance to review the plan.

Gallagher released the information soon after the City Traffic Commission okayed the one-ways, Nov. 13. The commission acts in an advisory capacity to the safety director, who is empowered by City Council to make traffic changes. The director usually follows the recommendations of the commission.

Giles was out of town Tuesday but his deputy, John Clark, said the director is concerned over some objections to the one-ways which he had received from West Siders. He declined to state how many. Gallagher said he got several phone calls in opposition. The Neighborhood Council received one.

"A lot of the opposition seems to be coming from people who live father west and who use Town-st to come to and from work," said Frank Schneider, chairman of the WSNC traffic committee.

Giles last week said others think the one-way routes should be reversed — that Town-st traffic should go east. Gallagher said he thinks the service roads at the Town and Rich Interchanges are better suited to westbound movement on Town.

Meanwhile, Gallagher said he sent maps and detailed drawings of the plan to Giles Monday. He said the director has been informed of the progress of the one-way street project regularly "through our

Mrs. Garrison To Mark 103rd Birthday Dec. 1

One hundred and three candles will grace the birthday cake of Mrs. Virginia Garrison Saturday, Dec. 1.

A resident of 313 Dana-av for most of 20 years, Mrs. Garrison has made her home at the Bellview Rest Home, 241 Woodland-av, since January.

MRS. GARRISON

Twenty-five patients at Bellview will help Mrs. Garrison celebrate her birthday Saturday with a party arranged by a daughter, Mrs. Clotilde Hecox of Urbana.

Mrs. Garrison, still active and alert, is an avid reader and watches television news broadcasts regularly, discussing world affairs and her own definite opinions of politics with understanding.

Born Dec. 1, 1859, in rural Kentucky, she delights her guests with lively conversation and stories, remembered with surprising clarity, of her childhood days and her father's farm, worked by slaves.

Many memories of the past, the affairs of the present and plans for the future fill her days.

Although the eldest resident at Bellview, she visits other patients less active than she each morning. She takes extra time and gives special attention to those who are ill.

Mrs. Garrison takes meticulous care of her possessions, keeping them in perfect order, and does her own handsewing, such as a slip that needs shortening.

She also corresponds regularly with her widely-scattered family of children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. She writes semi-monthly minutes and agendas, and some casual conversation."

Al Wilder, field worker for the neighborhood council, said he hopes to arrange a meeting this week with Giles "to straighten this thing out."

"Not Instigated Here"

Wilder said he and Schneider are especially concerned because "we did not know of the disagreement that appears to exist in the departments of City Hall . . . and we find ourselves in the middle, without any intention of being there."

Both said they want to clear up another misunderstanding that the West Side Neighborhood Council instigated the one-way street idea. "Actually," they said, "we did the leg work at the request of the traffic engineering office more than a year ago." Gallagher confirmed this Tuesday. He said the city considered the West Side then as the first of a three-part long-range plan to bring one-ways into the inner part of the city.

"The council was asked to feel out public opinion," Schneider said, "and this we did in a series of neighborhood meetings. There was very little opposition to one-ways then, and we think there is comparatively little now."

Mayor Westlake has privately expressed doubt that the changes are necessary . . . and that Rich-st isn't built to carry heavy truck traffic. Council worker Wilder said he understood the one-ways would be part of a plan to eliminate many of the trucks and "give the streets back to the residents."

sergeant-major of the 166th Infantry.

The exercise is reported to be the first of this type ever conducted by a reserve component division.

Using its top staff officers and non-coms, the Ohio National Guard division will split into two mythical divisions. The "Red" divisions will be the agressors. The "Blue" divisions will be the defenders who purpose is to "make a river crossing and to prevent the agressors from withdrawing."

The field of operations is not Columbus. Rather the maps are of a European nation.

The players will be placed in the situation with a briefing, the requirements will be outlined and the maneuver will begin Saturday afternoon.

From that point on, the commanders of the imaginary forces wil devise plans, issue orders and make sound decisions in an effort to accomplish their respective division's missions.

Gibson Heads 'Umpires'

Umpires, headed by Brig. Gen. Oliver H. Gibson, assistant adjutant general of Ohio, numbering over 100 will decide questions arising during the maneuver. For instance, when contact is made between the two divisions, the umpires will decide whether either force is able to advance. They will paint the battle conditions.

Simulated atomic attacks will be used to impress on commanders and their staffs the magnitude of the weapons and their effect.

The umpires will use dice to determine the effectiveness of the weapons and the "computors" will take into consideration maneuvering and the exposure of troops in the target area.

The map war will provide as realistic an approach to combat conditions as can be obtained in a classroom. Only the blood and sound will be missing.

Sunshine Recreation Center's boxing room will be open Monday through Friday from 6-10 p.m. Preteen boys are instructed and coached from 6-7. Teen boys may workout from 7-10.

As we know business people we can well believe that this will concern them far more than any threat of law enforcement.

This is the language of the pocketbook. This is the language business people understand. Nothing so much disturbs them as a complaint from a customer. If those who want action on this matter . . . the church people, the union people, etc., will organize their campaign along these lines we predict a solution of the problem.

The present efforts to bring about wide-open Sunday operation appears to be a matter of some groups merely jockeying for position. But if the matter comes to a place where no store has an advantage over the other, then the economy of the situation comes to a place like that of trading stamps . . . a yoke around the necks of business and in the end the consumer pays.

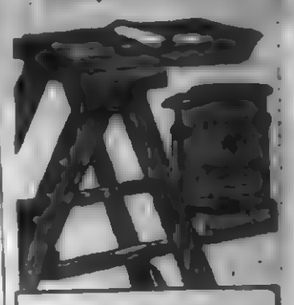
Confessed Killer Hearing Delayed

Municipal Court Judge Alan Schwartzwalder Tuesday postponed the preliminary hearing for confessed slayer Frank T. Clark until 3 p.m. Thursday.

Postponement was granted at the request of public defender John Francis, who said he wanted a stenographer present to record the hearing procedure and also wanted to check out a legal technicality.



Clark admitted the Nov. 12 slaying of 22-year-old David E. Mason of Newark and is being held in county jail on a first degree murder charge.

He was arrested in Homer, N.Y., by Franklin County Sheriff's officers.

The Bigger They Are . . . .

No man ever lived and got to be somebody, as the world measures success, without making his share of boo-boos. Few of them were actually disastrous, but such fumbles always cost too much in the general public mind.

The most recent instance, now vividly in the mind of the entire literate population of this beloved land, was Howard K. Smith's lamebrain use of Alger Hiss on his nationwide TV program.

The very title of that presentation, as announced in advance, was immediately evaluated by millions as a gratuitous insult to an honorable and dedicated public personality. It appears to have been more than an intended smear job; it was a deliberate attempted assassination blast against the Nixon image.

Despite the fact that millions of Nixon's admirers deplored his final "swan-song" fumble, decent people still resent vigorously any deliberate blast that can only be interpreted as "kicking a man when he is down".

Since that disgraceful deviation from common decency, and in light of the futile attempts by everyone, including Haggerty, to rationalize this monstrous breach of good sense and good manners, millions of thoughtful and informed citizens recognize the whole mess as being deliberated by some top level minds in advance. Then came the aftercap and the whole disgraceful event has served a fine and salubrious purpose.

It is difficult to conceive how the American people can be made to laugh this one off. We hope the air waves will not be so cluttered up again in the future.

Cites Judd Report In Support Of UNICEF

To The Publisher:

Thank you for the space afforded on Oct. 25, to a letter from Mr. G. Weir Hartman, Executive Director, Columbus Area Council of Churches, in praise of UNICEF.

Side by side with this well documented communication another one appeared, by Miss Hazel M. Mann, which calls for a few rectifications.

According to Miss Mann, the United States "carry about 80 per cent of the burden" of contributing to UNICEF.

A report delivered to the House of Representatives on Aug. 14 by Walter H. Judd, a Republican Congressman for 20 years, states:

"In 1961 contributions to the central account of UNICEF totaled $22,959,796, of which the United States contributed $12 million subject to the condition that the U.S. contribution should not exceed 46 per cent of the total government contributions. Governments other than the United States contributed $10,959,796 to the central account and in addition $2,393,189 (mostly in convertible currencies) toward the implementation of UNICEF-aided projects and $921,743 for local administrative and related costs of UNICEF field offices . . ."

Miss Mann's opinion about the limited help UNICEF is giving to children and mothers is contradicted by another section of the Judd report:

"During the first 15 years of UNICEF's operation, over 148 million children and young adults were vaccinated against tuberculosis in programs aided by UNICEF; over 17 million mothers and children were cured of yaws; almost 9.7 million mothers and children, victims of trachoma and acute conjunctivitis, were saved from possible blindness; almost 700,000 children and mothers were treated for leprosy; in 1961 alone, about 30 million mothers and children were protected from malaria, and 5.5 million children benefited from supplementary feeding programs. In addition many millions of children benefited from the 160 dairies and milk drying plants and the over 19,000 maternal and child health centers which UNICEF has thus far helped to equip."

Miss Mann's statement that "Communist dictatorships" and their friends "Receive a large portion" of UNICEF's aid is refuted by the Judd report:

"During the period of its emergency operation, from 1947 to 1950, UNICEF, in accordance with its mandate, concentrated on aiding children of war-ravaged countries, mainly in Europe. In 1950 UNICEF began to shift its main emphasis to programs of long-range benefit for children in economically underdeveloped countries. From 1961 to date, European countries which have received aid from UNICEF have been: Austria, Finland, Germany, Greece, Italy, Poland, and Yugoslavia. UNICEF aid is currently reaching millions of needy mothers and children in over 100 countries without discrimination because of race, creed, nationality status or political belief in Africa, Asia, the Middle East, Europe, and Latin America."

Miss Mann's opinion of UNICEF Greeting Cards does not coincide with Mr. Judd's:

"Sold all year round in over 100 countries for the benefit of the Children's Fund. UNICEF greeting cards reflect the ethical and spiritual values of the many people who make up the United Nations. Their designs are chosen solely on artistic merit, and are donated by well-known artists. UNICEF cards seek to maintain a universal appeal, and to express a sharing of human aspirations-which is the basic spirit of the Judeo-Christian teachings."

Congressional Record reprints of the Judd report are at your readers' disposal.

Old Mr. Barn Owl Proves He's Farmer's Best Trap

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

A few days ago I received a call from a man who had found a monkey-faced owl in a field that had apparently been shot by a hunter. He had no proof, of course, that it was shot, and I explained that barn owls hunt fields for rats and mice and that it could have died from natural causes.

In any case, the farmer who loses a barn owl, commonly called monkey-faced owl, has lost the best mouse trap that was ever built. These are perhaps the most beneficial birds of prey. Several studies have confirmed that 99 per cent of the diet of these birds is rats and mice.

Barn owls often take up residence in farm buildings, church belfries and the like. They fly on silent wings at night, and rarely are humans aware of their feathered neighbors.

Nests of barn owls are unusual affairs, for they are made out of the bones and fur of rats and mice—the remains of past feasts. You see, when an owl eats a rat or a mou it does not just chew off the m and throw away the fur and bones. It generally swallows mice whole and large sections of rats whole, and strong juices digest the meat. The fur and bones are formed into little balls called pellets, which the owls cough up or regurgitate. Digestion is complete and the pellets break down to form rather soft nest material. The few nests that I have examined have all been made of these pellets.

Pellets are also important in helping scientists determine the food habits of owls. The tiny bones, usually skulls, of the prey animals are sorted out and identified. This is fairly easy for a trained biologist, and all the species of mice can be identifed by portions of their skeletons. Birds, reptiles and other animals can also be so identified should they occur in the pellets. Other kinds of owls have a much more varied diet than barn owls.

Strangely enough, we do a lot of owl watching on summer evenings. Lights at our window attract large moths and other flying insects. Several times we have seen screech owls fly out of the night and strike at a moth. It is all done so quickly that it is not usually possible to tell if they catch any or not. But usually the big moth does not return to the window, and we assume that the screech owl is dining.

Winter is the best time to see owls. With the leaves gone, you can often see them flush from hiding places in forests. I have even seen them out hunting on a clear moonlight night when there is a snow cover on the ground. Under these conditions you can see very well, and owls fly not swiftly but silently. When you see one drift out of the shadows, it makes you glad you're not a mouse.

Leftovers . . .

by John McPeek

The trouble with too many of us parents is we aren't fit to have children.

It's relatively easy to become a father or mother, but darn few of us, in the true sense of the word, become parents.

McPeek

Nurturing a child along the path to adulthood so that he develops fully all his inherent faculties —honor, integrity, intelligence, respect and perserverance — is a demanding, never-ending, full-time duty.

Most of us, at best, seldom come close to meeting this responsibility fully.

If it were not for our school teachers, Sunday school instructors, Boy Scout leaders, 4-H leaders, etc., taking up much of the slack in our parental obligations, the population of our already over-crowded penal institutions would be double or more.

I am no exception. Too often, much to my shame in moments of awareness, I fail as a parent. Frequently I impatiently brush aside my childrens' demands for attention—an attention which I could convert into moments of instruction and guidance.

I have no valid excuse. Laziness? Selfish with my time? Those are not excuses.

Like many, I'm big on lip service to education and self-improvement, but too often fall flat when it comes to action on behalf of my children.

Perhaps if all parents were to emulate the characteristics of Jewish and Chinese families we would do better by our children.

Both of those races, although dissimiliar physically and in cultural heritage, share a strong family trait —mutual respect between parent and child.

From infancy the children of our Jewish and Chinese Americans are taught to have unswerving respect and devotion for their parents. This is returned equally strong by the parents, who give maximum attention to the development of their children.

They imbue their children with a reverent love of learning and an intense, life-lasting dedication to the pursuit of self-improvement.

Perhaps that partly is why we often subject both of these groups to persecution—their superiority as parents probably make many of us uncomfortably aware of our shortcomings—and rather than attempting to erase these shortcomings we find it easier to castigate those who do better.

If by chance any bigots are reading this and are afraid to face the truth (all bigots are), take a look at the roster sheets of our penitentiaries—you'll find hardly enough Jews or Chinese in all of them to populate one cellblock.

On the other hand, it is not a secret that most of our institutions of higher learning have an unwritten rule to limit issuance of general academic scholarships for Jews because brilliant Jewish students are so numerous. Colleges and universities in areas which have heavy Chinese populations practice similar rules.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Freeze-Drying Of Food Moves Ahead

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Citrus fruits, apples, Emperor grapes, cranberries.

Vegetables — Yams, broccoli, salad greens, cabbage, celery, winter squash.

Meats, poultry — Pork loin roast, Boston butts, bulk sausage, beef specials, fryers and turkeys.

By 1970 a $2 billion annual business in freeze-dried foods is forecast by members of the food industry, as reported in "Food Engineering" for 1962. This amount would be the equivalent of four billion pounds of raw products, assuming an average price of 50 cents a pound.

Freeze-dried foods are enjoying a promising start in the market place, chiefly because they require no refrigeration and weigh only one-third to one-tenth their original weight. Because of this, the distribution costs are lower than for frozen or canned foods. This partially explains why freeze-dried foods probably will find a permanent place on the shelves of our grocery stores.

These convenience foods that do not require refrigeration likely will be accepted by the homemaker. However, she is not the only consumer of freeze-dried foods. The outdoorsmen, such as hunters, campers, fishermen and hikers, like freeze-dried foods because they are light in weight and of high quality. It is possible to have chops in the wildest of wilds with freeze-dried foods.

The institutional market includes hotels, hospitals, restaurants, rail, air, and steamship lines, and vending machines for in-plant feeding. This large market needs the uniform, high quality, convenient storage and low preparation costs offered by freeze-dried foods. Today, chicken, beef, shrimp, crab meat and mushrooms are being used in freeze-dried form by hotels and restaurants.

These foods are also used by the military for individual and multiple field servings in balanced menus. Adaptable for tropic as well as polar conditions, freeze-dried foods will probably play an important part in future space travel.

For the present, the use of these foods in the home will be limited to prepared dishes, such as casseroles, stews, soups and gourmet foods. This is partially because of the universal use of home freezers. However, this convenience represents a great attraction to our European neighbors who have less refrigeration.

We can be sure that we are going to see more freeze-dried foods on the shelves of our grocery stores. Just how fast they gain a share of your food dollar depends on how much processors are able to lower cost of production and how much consumers are willing to pay for the added convenience. You will cast your vote regardless of whether you do or do not purchase freeze-dried foods.

This is not real poetry. It's just a harmless jingle. Nor is it intended as a slap at retail merchants. It is merely an attempt to describe the instinctive, first reactions of a prospective buyer to current advertising.

Retailers are in business to make an honest living, as are other professional people. But they are also giving an indispensable public service. They are a necessary part of the modern picture. Retail stores are the only logical outlet for the fruits of free enterprise.

Despite an occasional feeling that one has been taken, so many merchants are honest and so few dishonest, that most sales are satisfactory to both parties. Remember, we buyers could be wrong, too, once in a while.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

What millions of Americans need right now is to have their souls lifted and leave their faces alone. The longer I live the more amazed I am at the large number of "sad sack" people I meet.

What a tragedy it is for people who are better off right here in this yet-free and great country not to have sense enough to know it. They go around with the corners of their mouths turned down, their souls out of joint and their dispositions in deep freeze.

Truly wise people know that if you are "alive and walking" any morning it is a fine day rain or shine. Be alive every minute of every day.

Inner illumination is that magic and priceless something that puts colors in the rainbow instead of "bunions on the soul." With all thy getting, get understanding, saith the Lord.

I can remember a thousand times at least, where I went into a strange store to get something I wanted and needed right now and encountered a total lack of interest in trying to do a little business.

Anything that inspires confidence in the integrity of a business is priceless and people will do business persistently with a dependable and agreeable institution.

Lazy and ill-mannered sales people never build up any business; they just "ride the payroll."

There are just two kinds of employes in any business. Those who are "on the way up" and those who are on the way out.

The wrongers never blame themselves. They always blame the boss. Then when their "roof falls in," they think the world is agin 'em. It always will be until they get the clinkers out of their mind and souls.

Mr. Kennedy is constantly begging all of us to "get this country going." There is a way to do it. Go to work with a song in your soul instead of "a pain in your sawdust."

Guest Pulpit . . .

'Trust Your Neighbor' Should Be Way Of Life

We have often heard the words, "Love Thy Neighbor" but we have not so often heard or put into practice the implication of this command, "Trust your neighbor." For if we truly love our neighbor we shall also carry out love to its logical conclusion so that we can be trustful to the place that true neighborliness exists between ourselves and all other people.

Rev. Buckley

In the Gospel according to Luke, chapter 10, verses 25 through 29 "a certain lawyer stood up and made trial of him saying, Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life? And He said unto him, What is written in the law? How readest thou? And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind: AND THY NEIGHBOR AS THYSELF. And he said unto him, Thou hast answered right; this do and thou shalt live. Be he, desiring to justify himself, said unto Jesus, AND WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?"

Jesus answered the question of the lawyer by the parable of the Good Samaritan. The implications of this parable are that the true neighbor, the man who truly loves God and his neighbor is the one who trusts him. A priest went by and saw the man beaten by the robbers lying there but he failed to trust him enough to even stop and say a kind word to him. The Levite did the same thing, seeing the man in evident need, simply passed by on the other side.

But happily this is not the end of the story. Along came the Samaritan, just a common person not very high up in the social scale, and he didn't stop to think about what might happen to him, he had eyes only for the man in great need. And he ministered to him, went the "second mile." Jesus answered the question of the lawyer by asking him a question then, "Which of these three, thinkest thou, proved neighbor unto him that fell among robbers?" And he said, "He that showed mercy on him." Then Jesus said, "Go, and do thou likewise."

If you love your neighbor, you will trust him is the logical conclusion one must draw from this great passage from life given to us by Jesus.

Most people in our community and in our world are to be trusted and are worthy of our trust. There are far more good, honest people than there are the kind not to be trusted. If this were not the case our police force and law enforcement officers would never be able to keep evil from taking over.

Facts and practicality prove the truth of the parable that most people are worthy of our trust. We occasionally hear of a hitch-hiker who has violated a trust of someone who has tried to be a Good Samaritan to them. Fortunately these incidents are not so common. There are many, many more acts of trustworthiness that cause us to feel humanity is worthy of our trust than not as we go about daily living.

How much better it is to live in the trustful manner and always ready to be the Good Samaritan.

Homemakers 'Speak Their Minds' At Chicago Conference

CHICAGO — The growing importance and changing responsibilities of America's 21 million suburban homemakers were stressed here last week at a National Suburban Homemakers Conference.

More than 200 persons met in the Sheraton-Blackstone hotel to hear 54 representative homemakers, finalists in the search for National Suburban Homemaker of 192, frankly discuss the "Changing Patterns of Living as They Affect the American Homemaker." The national conference was sponsored by the Suburban Press Foundation, Inc. (Hartley Newspapers are members of the foundation).

Topics covered in the two-hour discussion session ranged from supermarkets and shopping habits to home design, Communists and TV commercials.

Here are some of the comments, conclusions and suggestions of the nation's top suburban homemakers.

—"We need more recipe and cooking information on packages." . . . . I like the variety to be found in the 9000 items stocked by the typical supermarket but I find it overwhelming." "Food needs to be packaged in larger quantities, both for economy and to save time with fewer trips to the store." "Candy displays at checkout counters pose problems for children. Can't they be eliminated or placed out of reach?"

—Appliance manufactures need to perfect their products, reduce service and maintenance problems.

—"If consumers are dissatisfied, it is up to them to let industry know it and express their wishes. We are homemakers and consumers and must get through to industry. We haven't told them how we feel."

—Kitchen appliances, particularly dishwashers and garbage disposals, often pose safety hazards for small children. "I would like control knobs on back panel and some precaution made to make it impossible for children to operate disposal.

—Most new homes have insufficient work space in the kitchens.

—"We're worried about safe foods, preservatives, bug sprays, insecticides. How can we be sure foods we buy are safe for our families?"

On the press and TV:

—"With respect to magazines reproducing classic masterpieces in nude art, art is in the eyes of the beholder. If children have been introduced to this type of thing through going to art museums and parents have taken care to teach them the fine arts, there should be no reason for them not to see such photos. Anything that God created is beautiful."

—"Editors and publishers must realize their tremendous responsibility to the public. The press sometimes dramatizes sex so much that they must think it is the most important thing in life."

—"There is a lot of bad TV, and I'm concerned about it. But the kind of censorship to be imposed must come from the parents. When a bad show comes on, I shut off the set and get a book for my children to read."

—"We need more educational programming, baby and child care shows on TV."

—All the homemakers stressed they had a lot of faith in their suburban hometown newspapers because they "know the reporters and publishers who take an active part in the community and therefore are more accurate and more apt to tell the truth than the city dailies which don't have to be responsible to the local readership. The suburban paper is personal and brings people together."

—They were nearly unanimous in protesting the Christmas toy commercials on television. "They are getting completely out of hand."

Eagles To Hold Benefit Dinner

Boy Scout Troop 297 of Columbus Aerie No. 297 Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, is sponsoring a fried chicken dinner Saturday, Dec. 1, from 5 till 8 p.m.

Rodenfels Is Building Truck Service Center

A major expansion of its service department is under way at Rodenfels Chevrolet Company, 555 W. Broad-st, according to an announcement today by Richard R. Rodenfels, president.

Plans call for the erection of a new building on land recently acquired to the rear of the present property. This building will house the new Truck Service Center where trucks of all makes will be serviced.

Rodenfels plans to add 18 additional mechanics to accommodate the firms' growing service volume. "Since all truck service will be handled in the new facility, passenger car service in the present service department will be greatly speeded up," Rodenfels said.

The new facility will be ready for busin. in early 1963. Krause and Pagura is new structure.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the new Rodenfels Chevrolet Truck Service Center were held recently at the site of the new location—rear of 555 W. Broad. The Center, which will employ 18 additional mechanics, will open in early 1963. From left are: William G. Dennis, service manager, Donald B. Sulser, truck manager; Joseph Schuman, Chevrolet district manager; Howard C. Lloyd, general sales manager; Richard R. Rodenfels, president, and William Krause of Krause and Pagura, contractors.

Heaping Measure Of Pride Goes To 'Our Homemakers'

By "MIDGE" DeWITT

Ever wonder how Cinderella felt after the ball?

Hartley Newspapers had a good chance to check the reactions of four Cinderellas this past week. Our Suburban Homemakers, Mrs. Kedron Heckner, Mrs. L. T. McKinley, Mrs. Philip Wagner and Mrs. Oliver Tallman, returned from Chicago with nothing but words of praise about the contest. And even though they didn't get the princely gift of $5,000, all four suburban homemakers were aglow with pride for the profession in which they serve.

The airplane trip was a first for Emma Wagner and she admits that the 40 minutes the plane circled Columbus attempting to land gave her "a few anxious moments." But the greeting, complete with oversize signs "Welcome Home Suburban Homemaker of the Year," tambourines and other noisemakers in the hands of friends, which the stewardess told the ladies awaited them on the ground quickly allayed all fears.

They were greeted by their loyal subjects: husbands, children, neighbors and friends. The largest delegation of 20 was led by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Green of Reynoldsburg. Mr. Greene, owner of Davidson-Greene Volkswagen, is Mr. Heckner's employer.

The queens agreed that the fact that all four husbands and 16 children left behind them had missed them was the greatest prize they could have won. The three days in Chicago was the longest time that June Tallman had ever been away from her family.

Old Friends Rediscovered

Midge McKinley says she has rediscovered many old friends and made many new ones as a result of the contest. Mrs. Wagner's mother, who lives in Lithopolis where Emma grew up, was "flooded with phone calls" about her famous daughter. One call came from a 95-year-old cousin who just called to say she was proud of Cousin Emma.

Several bon voyage parties were held for the candidates before they took off for Chicago. A luncheon was held in Mrs. McKinley's honor by her husband's employer, Ernest G. Fritsche, and there was a nice gift of money which Midge "immediately spent on clothes for the trip."

The adult church choir which Mrs. Wagner directs saw that she had just the right costume jewelry for her trip.

When the Girl Scouts held their first meeting at Mrs. Tallman's home after her return, one of the girls, who, like every good Scout, had taken an oath of bravery, just couldn't hold back the tears when told that her troop leader had not been elected national winner.

Mrs. Tallman also treasures a surprise letter of congratulations from her children's first grade school teacher now living in New York.

An after-the-ball party was held by a dozen or so of Mrs. Tallman's friends and each lady entered the house waving a copy of June's favorite recipe clipped from the pages of the special Homemaker Section. For many years she had served her caramel party pie to her friends but had kept the recipe a carefully guarded secret.

Midge McKinley confides that she made a discovery because of her part in the contest — "how wonderful people are and how pleased they can be at the good fortune of someone else."

All four homemakers agreed that when asked by friends, "How did you come out?" they could never say, "We lost." They felt they had won much — a new adventure in Chicago, new ideas from the panel discussions that were a part of the Suburban Homemaker Conference, a new sense of pride in their "trade," and above all, they still had their own special kingdom over which to reign.

Long live our four queens!

GOOD NEWS FOR COLUMBUS

The new facility will employ 18 additional mechanics. Trucks will be serviced in the new addition which will free up space and man power for passenger cars in our present Service Department. CRASHES KEEP POLICE STEPPING

SULLIVANT-AV was jinxed as far as motorists were concerned Saturday. Two head-on crashes only a block apart kept traffic in a tangle for about 45 minutes. This scene was snapped at Richardson-av as a policeman arrived. A station wagon and an auto collided there, while two cars did the same at Terrace and Sullivant. Police were somewhat undermanned because of the Ohio State-Michigan game at OSU.

Hilltop Youths Return Wallet

Two Hilltop youths, Patrick Nelson, 12, of 617 Whitethorne-av, and Michael Taynor, 15, of 52 Midland-av, proved that honesty still exists when they returned a wallet containing $200 to its owner Saturday afternoon.

James Seeger, of 499 Powder Mill-la, Lincoln Village, had lost billfold in Clarendon and Sullivant-av vicinity.

Mr. Seeger, who had thought Christmas would not be so merry this year, said, "It was worth the scare to meet such fine parents and to know of such honest youngsters."

Mrs. Paul Nelson, Patrick's mother, had notified Mrs. Seeger of the boys' find.

Patrick is a student at St. Agnes Elementary and Michael at Aquinas High School.

Trucking Partnership Announced

Edwin C. Brown, president of the Brown Van and Storage Co., 879 McKinley-av, has announced the newly-formed partnership of the company with Joseph E. Ward, 3886 Snouffer-rd. In the new partnership Ward will be general manager of the company.

Prior to his affiliation with the Brown Van & Storage Co., Ward has been associated with other major Columbus moving and storage companies.

The company is an agent for National Van Lines, Inc., which provides national and world-wide moving services.

In Pre-Flight School

Naval Aviation Cadet John J. Luebbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Luebbe, Sr., of 2690 St. Patrick-rd, attended the Naval School of Pre-Flight at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. The 18-month flight training program leads to a commission as an officer and designation as a naval aviator.

Life expectancy at birth is shorter in India than in any other country in the world.

Girl Scout News

News Of Ashgrove Neighborhood

On Nov. 19 at 9:30 a.m., Ashgrove Neighborhood held its monthly meeting in the John Burroughs School with Mrs. Kenneth Adams, chairman, presiding.

She announced that Mrs. O. L. Tallman, secretary, had been selected Homemaker of the Year from the area covered by the Hilltop Record and had gone on to compete in the national contest held in Chicago.

Mrs. Joseph Gentry, council delegate, reported on the council meeting held in Circleville Oct. 23.

Discussion followed concerning a program change in Scouting and a new name for the extended Girl Scout Council.

It was also pointed out that there will be only three bus stops per neighborhood for the children and adults attending Day Camp this coming summer.

The highlight of the meeting was an interesting talk on the progress of Girl Scouting by Miss Ann Hitze, district advisor. Miss Hitze first joined the organization in 1918 and had many amusing recollections of her early meetings and experiences in Girl Scouts. Her devotion to her work and her popularity in this area are among the reasons her initials, A.S.H., were chosen to form the first part of the new name, Ashgrove, for the former John Burroughs Neighborhood. The letters in the last part stand for "Girls Represent Our Values Eternal."

Miss Hitze told of drill teams, captains and lieutenants in the troops when Girl Scouts were more military. She has seen many changes in the Scouting program through the years and pointed out that changes are always necessary to keep in step with changing times.

Newsies Will Open Drive For Clothing

Parents and guardians of needy children in Columbus and Franklin County may now apply for clothing at the Charity Newsies headquarters, 716 S. High-st. The office, under the direction of Ed Brinkman, opened Monday and will remain open until the latter part of February.

The service is made possible by the sales of newspapers to the public in a drive Dec. 15 by 155 active newsies led by Robert Dienst. Started over a half-century ago, the Newsies, who provided clothing for 6441 boys and girls last year, expect hundreds of applications. Each application is investigated before the children receive the clothing.

One parent or guardian from each family should enter the back door of the High-st office any time between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturday. Children should not accompany the adults.

Bogus Civil Service Schools Are Denounced

Joseph A. Connor, regional director of the Chicago Region, U.S. Civil Service Commission, announced that complaints have been received from persons living in the vicinity of Franklin County regarding salesmen representing so-called "civil-service schools."

Connor stated that no "civil-service" course is required to take a civil service examination or to learn about job opportunities. No "civil-service" course can guarantee a person can pass the written tests often required for Federal jobs. For many jobs, persons need specific training or experience in the particular field of work.

Connor also announced that information about examinations for positions in the Federal Government may be obtained, without cost, from the civil service representative at many of the larger post offices, or from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C., and from regional offices of the commission.

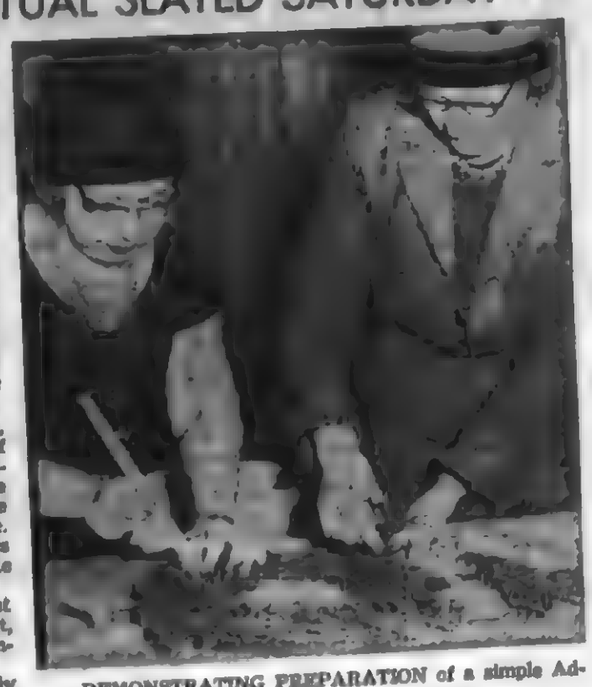
ADVENT RITUAL SLATED SATURDAY

A public blessing of the Advent Wreath will be performed by Msgr. Francis Schwendeman, pastor of St. Leo's Church, Saturday, Dec. 1, 3 p.m. Sponsored by the Christmas Is Christ's Birthday committee, the event may be seen at the Columbus Public Library Grant at State, lower level.

Originating in Germany centuries ago, this custom is becoming a cherished one throughout our country. Many homes where the family is trying to "put Christ back into Christmas" have adopted the Advent Wreath.

Four low candle holders, surrounded by any circle of Christmas greenery, are placed on the dining table. In the holders are set three purple candles and one rose one. Though the colored candles are customary, four white ones may be substituted.

These candles represent the four weeks of Advent, and each Sunday an additional candle is lighted.



Traditionally, the family gathers around the table at the evening meal daily, and the proper number of candles are lighted. The prayer of the week is said, further stressing the religious rather than the material side of Christmas.

At the ceremony Saturday, leaflets explaining completely the customs of Advent will be available, according to Mrs. Robert Fitzsimons, chairman of the committee sponsoring the event.

Miss Mary Boland, 2246 N. Fourth-st, is chairman of the hospitality committee. Assisting her are: Mrs. Raymond Capretta, 127 Haldy-rd; Mrs. W. H. Cline, 3263 Evans-dr; Grove City; Mrs. Jean Humphrey, 121 N. Princeton-av; Mrs. Howard Huntzinger, 4415 Rosemary-pkwy.

Mrs. Thomas Kenny, 371 N. Virginia Lee-rd; Mrs. Charles W. Lingo, 310 S. Broadleigh-rd; Mrs. Emanuel Lombardi, Rt. 1, Lockbourne, and Mrs. Robert Prindle, Rt. 2, Orient.

The United Council of Church Women of Columbus and Franklin County, and the Columbus Diocesan Councils of Catholic Men, Women and Youth, in 1952 formed Christmas Is Christ's Birthday Committee. Purpose was to bring public attention to the true meaning of Christian observance of Christmas.

DEMONSTRATING PREPARATION of a simple Advent Wreath are Mrs. Robert Capretta, 211 Guernsey-av, at left, and Mrs. Robert Fitzsimons, 433 Morrison-av. Mrs. Capretta is chairman of the Christmas Is Christ's Birthday Committee for the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. Mrs. Fitzsimons is in charge of the Advent Wreath blessing to be held Saturday, Dec. 1, 3 p.m. at the Columbus Public Library, Grant at State, lower level.

The church was originally organized in the home of Henry and Elizabeth Goetschius by Rev. Austin and Rev. Sims of the Methodist Church, in 1822.

Soon after, a log church was built on land provided by Jacob and Elizabeth White, and when the brick edifice was built to replace the log structure, Jacob White made a deed to the trustees of the Methodist Church for the land.

The brick church, built in 1844, was adjacent to the Union Cemetery on Frank-rd, and still remains as a pioneer landmark.

The present church on Harrisburg-pk, was constructed at the turn of the century, and dedicated on Apr. 5, 1902. The bell for the tower was purchased along with a light plant by the board of trustees on July 18, 1902.

Anniversary services will begin with the church school at 9:30. Sunday School was organized on May 15, 1864. The morning worship services will be at 10:45 with Dr. Wolter as the minister, assisted by former ministers.

A basket dinner at noon will recall basket dinners formerly served in the grove surrounding Union Church on Scioto Big Run, now known as Frank-rd.

Afternoon service will begin at 2 and former ministers, men who have gone into the ministry from the Briggsdale Church and other friends will bring or send greetings.

According to the pastor, Rev. Raymond S. Daniel, this is the second Methodist organization in Central Ohio. The first was the Old Town Street Methodist Church, now First Methodist Church of Columbus.

Many pioneer celebrations were observed in the Briggsdale church. All former residents and descendants are invited to share in this anniversary occasion.

Pirates Bop Gunners In St. Louis Match

A sleepy band of Westside Pirates arrived in Columbus early Monday morning after an all-night bus ride from St. Louis but the Bearcat Association champions brought back a win over the Huskie Gunners with them.

The Pirates were convincing with their 33-0 victory over the heavier St. Louis area little league champions when they got their scoring machine gassed up after a slow start.

THE WESTSIDE club tried unsuccessfully to drive through the Gunner line, averaging 150 pounds through a scoreless first period. Finding the going difficult, the Pirates resorted to end sweeps and a passing game, taking a 7-0 lead at halftime, thanks to Darnell Thomas' 12-yard end sweep in the second quarter.

Quarterback Jim Bell teamed up with halfback Bob Arnett to give the Pirates their second touchdown in the third period on a 30-yard pass play.

The Pirates broke the game wide open in the final stanza with Bell and Arnett clicking for two more scores. Bell tossed to Arnett for a 20-yard TD and then the pair switched jobs with Arnett doing the throwing and Bell the receiving on a 48-yard score.

Bell added the final touchdown on a 36-yard run to paydirt late in the game.

THE PIRATES arrived in St. Louis 6:30 Saturday morning and were greeted by a police escort that led them to the Lions Club where they were greeted by about 75 people and ate breakfast.

After a sightseeing tour of the city Saturday afternoon, the Pirates were feted at a banquet in the evening and were presented with a football by the Gunner team. A party for the adults closed out the Saturday activities.

After the game Sunday afternoon, the Pirates returned to the YMCA where they slept Saturday night and enjoyed a swim before eating supper and departing for Columbus at 9 p.m.

THE WESTSIDE party arrived here at 8:30 Monday morning and were greeted by a crowd of about 200 well-wishers, including mayor's aide, George Smith.

The St. Louis match closed out the Pirate season of 10 games in which the Westside club scored 251 points to their opponents' 20.

The Gunners extended a return invitation to the Pirates but also expressed their desire to come to Columbus next year. The Pirates extended the invitation but details will be worked out later as to who goes where.

Basketball Lore For Women Only

Have you ever sat at a basketball game and looked over to see some poor soul sitting there with a confused look on his face?

You probably have or if you haven't you were most likely to engrossed in the action to notice.

STRANGE AS it might seem to the rabid cage fan, there are some people who come out to the game to watch junior play, cheer their lungs out but really never know what it's all about.

So — come on, mom. Let those dishes soak for a moment in that new washday discovery you're using and take a look here. This might be of interest to you.

It would be too large a job to explain everything about that head-spinning game called basketball but here are a few things on which you might nudge pop and display your knowledge next time that official blows that infernal whistle on the hardwood court.

DISCOUNTING FOULS for the moment, your team might hand over the ball to the opposition on any one of these four rule infractions or several timing goofs.

The No. 1 culprit is probably "traveling" (or in the old days, "steps"). This infraction occurs when a player in possession moves both his feet when he is not "dribbling" (bouncing) the ball. One foot must remain stationary.

The next most common infraction is "double dribble." That occurs when a player in possession stops bouncing the ball and then resumes his dribbling without exchanging the ball first with another player. This infraction can also occur if the player touches the ball with both hands while dribbling.

ANOTHER INFRACTION is known as "over and back." This occurs when the ball is returned back over the center line after a player has crossed the line moving toward his basket.

"Palming the ball" is another infraction which is usually hard to catch. This occurs when a player in possession (while dribbling) takes a step with the palm of his hand under the ball.

Two timing rules when not observed also result in the loss of possession. The first involves the team in possession getting the ball over the center line after an out-of-bounds play. If the offensive team does not get the ball over the center line in 10 seconds, it loses possession.

THE SECOND major timing violation occurs when an offensive player remains stationary in the six-foot line beneath his basket, for a period of longer than three seconds.

The other major understanding of basketball revolves around "fouling."

There are two types of fouls — personal and technical.

Technical fouls are for the most part rare and are not often called.

A technical foul might be called for excessive bench coaching, player, fan or coach harassing of an official or on a player hassle.

PERSONAL FOULS are are much more frequent—too frequent, as most coaches and students of the game will tell you.

Basically a personal foul is called when a player makes bodily contact with an opposing player, often causing the loss of possession or interference with an intended shot at the basket.

There are offensive and defensive fouls but the most common is the defensive foul which results in the foul shot.

Defensive fouls can be called for a number of reasons but most common is contact involved when a defensive player attempts to "steal" the ball, resulting in bodily contact, interfering contact on shot attempts, excessive contact made on rebounds.

THE MOST common offensive foul is "charging" which occurs when a player in possession makes bodily contact with a defensive player who is stationary.

Each player, (except in professional basketball games) is allowed five fouls before he is out of the game. A player fouled in the act of shooting is awarded two free shots at the basket from the foul line, each shot counting one point. Regular play baskets are worth two points.

If a player is fouled while not in the act of shooting at the basket, he is given one shot until the opposition accumulates a total of five team fouls in a half.

AT THIS point, the player fouled is given one shot and an option. If he makes the first shot, he may shoot a second time.

The foul shot, incidentally, must hit the steel rim of the basket. If it does not, the ball is ruled dead and the opposition takes possession.

Those are a few basics. Here are a few words you might hear at a basketball game: "freezing" the ball—when the team in possession attempts to run out the clock by maintaining possession and not shooting at the basket; goal tending — when a defensive player interferes with the ball on its downward flight toward the basket or touches the net when the ball is in flight; fast break—when a team attempts to move the ball down the floor quickly, usually with several long passes before the opposition can set up his defenses; center jump — when the two opposing centers jump to tip the ball to a teammate at the start of each of four quarters; tip in — when a player scores a basket after the ball has been initially shot and is bouncing off the rim or backboard; rebounding — securing possession of the ball after a shot; turnover — loss of possession before a team can make a shot at the basket; jump ball— when two opposing players maintain equal possession of the ball at the same time.

And that, sport fans, is basically basketball — in a very large nutshell.

Central Wins Cage Tourney

Central's Pirates assumed a contender tag in the upcoming City League title race Saturday by topping South, 58-45, to win the Capital City Invitational cage tournament.

Senior Tom Fullove paced the Buc attack with 16 points as Central jumped off to an early lead and were never headed.

..WHETSTONE HARASSED Marion-Franklin with a tight defense, downing the Red Devils, 55-41, in the consolation game.

Friday night's opening games saw South edge Marion-Franklin, 51-49, and Central wallop Whetstone, 60-40, to set up the playoff match.

Sophomore Joe Middendorf settled the nip-and-tuck Bulldog-Devil game with two straight baskets, the last one coming with 59 seconds remaining.

Middendorf led South scorers with 15 points while Ted Ayres dropping in 12 markers for the losers. George Broadnax paced Central's win over Whetstone with 14 points. The Pirates led only 14-12 at the end of the first period but gradually pulled away.

FIVE OTHER Jacobs cagers hit the double column with Walt Stewart (20 points), Herman Reeves (18), Ken Fowler (17), Al Washington (16) and Ray Stokes (12) hitting with accuracy in supporting roles.

Jacobs, evening its record at 2-2 with the win, still is winless in league competition but will attempt to remedy that with a match this week against Gam Beer.

West Downs Newark, 58-41

Jerry Carter, a 6-0 junior, was the "center" of attraction Friday night as the West pivot man scored 20 points to pace the Cowboys to a 58-41 opening game win over Newark.

The Wildcats, trailing 23-17 at intermission, made a strong comeback in the final period to shave a 17-point Cowboy lead down to 44-37.

WEST FOUND the range again, however, and put the game out of reach late in the quarter. Rich Neely backed up Carter's performance with 14 points, 10 of them coming in the second half.

The Cowboy success didn't extend to their reserves as they bowed to Newark, 46-35.

Weekend cage action finds West traveling to Zanesville for a Friday night match.

SECOND ANNUAL Fund-Raising Turkey Shoot Planned By 'Y'

Central Ohioans will have the opportunity Dec. 2 and Dec. 9 to sharpen their shooting eye while, at the same time, helping support the youth program of the South Side YMCA during the second fund-raising turkey shoot to be sponsored by the Right Angle Club.

The event, for shotguns only, will be held from 1 p.m. until dark each of the two Sunday afternoons at the South Side Y-Park grounds on Rohr-rd, according to Dave Wilson, President of the Right Angle Club.

"Features of the contest include 10-men firing lines shooting for turkeys and various other prizes in both card and pattern shoots," Wilson said. "We plan to award prizes in sporting goods and other outdoor equipment in advance of the Christmas season."

"We intend to furnish a room in the new South Side YMCA Building with the proceeds to provide youngsters the opportunity to participate in the Branch's program," Wilson added.

Shooters should bring their own shotguns to see if their shot comes closest to the "X" center on a card shoot, or to see if they can get the most pellets inside a circle in a pattern shoot.

Shells will be furnished by the Right Angle Club.

Wilson said the Right Angle Club is a service group of community leaders serving the Y-Park through various projects such as cabin building and teaching youth to plant trees.

Irish Five Experienced

Aquinas Coach Jerry Connor has a setup this year most coaches wish they could run into in their first season as head basketball coach.

Connor, who will taking over the Terrier reins for the '62-'63 edition of Irish basketball, has seven returning lettermen to build around in an attempt to make Aquinas a City League contender.

THE TERRIERS finished with an 8-12 mark last season for a sixth place loop standing but seven senior returnees should help the Irish to a better finish this time around.

Guards Mike McGrath, (5-10), Pat Purcell (5-10 and Pat Mentel (5-8) should provide the Irish with good outside shooting. Mentel was selected to the All-City League second team last year.

Mike Welling (5-10), Gary Mangini (5-10), Tom Woodward (5-10) and Tom Hartman (6-1) give the Terriers plenty of experience at the forward position. Welling was an honorable mention selection on the All-League team.

Aquinas opens its City League season Dec. 4 at Whetstone.

Police Tighten Area Regulations

Police Chief George Scholer has announced increased enforcement of laws concerning stop signs and speed from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. at Spring and Sandusky-sts.

He also stressed enforcement of laws concerning stop signs and changing lanes without signal from 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. on Sullivant-av from Wayne to Harris-av.

Pirates Bop Gunners In St. Louis Match

A sleepy band of Westside Pirates arrived in Columbus early Monday morning after an all-night bus ride from St. Louis but the Bearcat Asociation champions brought back a win over the Huskie Gunners with them.

The Pirates were convincing with their 33-0 victory over the heavier St. Louis area little league champions when they got their scoring machine gassed up after a slow start.

THE WESTSIDE club tried unsuccessfully to drive through the Gunner line, averaging 150 pounds through a scoreless first period. Finding the going difficult, the Pirates resorted to end sweeps and a passing game, taking a 7-0 lead at halftime, thanks to Darnell Thomas' 12-yard end sweep in the second quarter.

Quarterback Jim Bell teamed up with halfback Bob Arnett to give the Pirates their second touchdown in the third period on a 30-yard pass play.

The Pirates broke the game wide open in the final stanza with Bell and Arnett clicking for two more scores. Bell tossed to Arnett for a 20-yard TD and then the pair switched jobs with Arnett doing the throwing and Bell the receiving on a 48-yard score.

Bell added the final touchdown on a 36-yard run to paydirt late in the game.

THE PIRATES arrived in St. Louis 6:30 Saturday morning and were greeted by a police escort that led them to the Lions Club where they were greeted by about 75 people and ate breakfast.

After a sightseeing tour of the city Saturday afternoon, the Pirates were feted at a banquet in the evening and were presented with a football by the Gunner team. A party for the adults closed out the Saturday activities.

After the game Sunday afternoon, the Pirates returned to the YMCA where they slept Saturday night and enjoyed a swim before eating supper and departing for Columbus at 9 p.m.

THE WESTSIDE party arrived here at 8:30 Monday morning and were greeted by a crowd of about 200 well-wishers, including mayor's aide, George Smith.

The St. Louis match closed out the Pirate season of 10 games in which the Westside club scored 251 points to their opponents' 20.

The Gunners extended a return invitation to the Pirates but also expressed their deside to come to Columbus next year. The Pirates extended the invitation but details will be worked out later as to who goes where.

Basketball Lore For Women Only

Have you ever sat at a basketball game and looked over to see some poor soul sitting there with a confused look on his face?

You probably have or if you haven't you were most likely to engrossed in the action to notice.

STRANGE AS it might seem to the rabid cage fan, there are some people who come out to the game to watch junior play, cheer their lungs out but really never know what it's all about.

So — come on, mom. Let those dishes soak for a moment in that new washday discovery you're using and take a look here. This might be of interest to you.

It would be too large a job to explain everything about that head-spinning game called basketball but here are a few things on which you might nudge pop and display your knowledge next time that official blows that infernal whistle on the hardwood court.

DISCOUNTING FOULS for the moment, your team might hand over the ball to the opposition on any one of these four rule infractions or several timing goofs.

The No. 1 culprit is probably "traveling" (or in the old days, "steps"). This infraction occurs when a player in possession moves both his feet when he is not "dribbling" (bouncing) the ball. One foot must remain stationary.

The next most common infraction is "double dribble." That occurs when a player in possession stops bouncing the ball and then resumes his dribbling without exchanging the ball first with another player. This infraction can also occur if the player touches the ball with both hands while dribbling.

ANOTHER INFRACTION is known as "over and back." This occurs when the ball is returned back over the center line after a player has crossed the line moving toward his basket.

"Palming the ball" is another infraction which is usually hard to catch. This occurs when a player in possession (while dribbling) takes a step with the palm of his hand under the ball.

Two timing rules when not observed also result in the loss of possession. The first involves the team in possession getting the ball over the center line after an out-of-bounds play. If the offensive team does not get the ball over the center line in 10 seconds, it loses possession.

THE SECOND major timing violation occurs when an offensive player remains stationary in the six-foot line beneath his basket, for a period of longer than three seconds.

The other major understanding of basketball revolves around "fouling."

There are two types of fouls — personal and technical. Technical fouls are for the most part rare and are not often called.

A technical foul might be called for excessive bench coaching, player, fan or coach harassing of an official or on a player hassle.

PERSONAL FOULS are are much more frequent—too frequent, as most coaches and students of the game will tell you.

Basically a personal foul is called when a player makes bodily contact with an opposing player, often causing the loss of possession or interference with an intended shot at the basket.

There are offensive and defensive fouls but the most common is the defensive foul which results in the foul shot.

Defensive fouls can be called for a number of reasons but most common is contact involved when a defensive player attempts to "steal" the ball, resulting in bodily contact, interfering contact on shot attempts, excessive contact made on rebounds.

THE MOST common offensive foul is "charging" which occurs when a player in possession makes bodily contact with a defensive player who is stationary.

Each player, (except in professional basketball games) is allowed five fouls before he is out of the game. A player fouled in the act of shooting is awarded two free shots at the basket from the foul line, each shot counting one point. Regular play baskets are worth two points.

If a player is fouled while not in the act of shooting at the basket, he is given one shot until the opposition accumulates a total of five team fouls in a half.

AT THIS point, the player fouled is given one shot and an option. If he makes the first shot, he may shoot a second time.

The foul shot, incidentally, must hit the steel rim of the basket. If it does not, the ball is ruled dead and the opposition takes possession.

Those are a few basics. Here are a few words you might hear at a basketball game: "freezing" the ball—when the team in possession attempts to run out the clock by maintaining possession and not shooting at the basket; goal tending — when a defensive player interferes with the ball on its downward flight toward the basket or touches the net when the ball is in flight; fast break—when a team attempts to move the ball down the floor quickly, usually with several long passes before the opposition can set up his defenses; center jump — when the two opposing centers jump to tip the ball to a teammate at the start of each of four quarters; tip in — when a player scores a basket after the ball has been initially shot and is bouncing off the rim or backboard; rebounding — securing possession of the ball after a shot; turnover — loss of possession before a team can make a shot at the basket; jump ball— when two opposing players maintain equal possession of the ball at the same time.

And that, sport fans, is basically basketball — in a very large nutshell.

SECOND ANNUAL

Fund-Raising Turkey Shoot Planned By 'Y'

Central Ohioans will have the opportunity Dec. 2 and Dec. 9 to sharpen their shooting eye while, at the same time, helping support the youth program of the South Side YMCA during the second fund-raising turkey shoot to be sponsored by the Right Angle Club.

The event, for shotguns only, will be held from 1 p.m. until dark each of the two Sunday afternoons at the South Side Y-Park grounds on Rohr-rd, according to Dave Wilson, President of the Right Angle Club.

"Features of the contest include 10-man firing lines shooting for turkeys and various other prizes in both card and pattern shoots," Wilson said. "We plan to award prizes in sporting goods and other outdoor equipment in advance of the Christmas season."

"We intend to furnish a room in the new South Side YMCA Building with the proceeds to provide youngsters the opportunity to participate in the Branch's program," Wilson added.

Shooters should bring their own shotguns to see if their shot comes closest to the "X" center on a card shoot, or to see if they can get the most pellets inside a circle in a pattern shoot.

Shells will be furnished by the Right Angle Club.

Wilson said the Right Angle Club is a service group of community leaders serving the Y-Park through various projects such as cabin building and teaching youth to plant trees.

Irish Five Experienced

Aquinas Coach Jerry Connor has a setup this year most coaches wish they could run into in their first season as head basketball coach.

Connor, who will taking over the Terrier reins for the '62-'63 edition of Irish basketball, has seven returning lettermen to build around in an attempt to make Aquinas a City League contender.

THE TERRIERS finished with an 8-12 mark last season for a sixth place loop standing but seven senior returnees should help the Irish to a better finish this time around.

Guards Mike McGrath (5-10), Pat Purcell (5-10 and Pat Mentel (5-8) should provide the Irish with good outside shooting. Mentel was selected to the All-City League second team last year.

Mike Welling (5-10), Gary Mangini (5-10), Tom Woodward (5-10) and Tom Hartman (6-1) give the Terriers plenty of experience at the forward position. Welling was an honorable mention selection on the All-League team.

Aquinas opens its City League season Dec. 4 at Whet-[illegible]

Stork Asks Repainting Of Standards

City Service Director Ernest Stork has asked that light standards on the city's expressway system be painted aluminum instead of a dark green as a safety measure.

Stork requested the State Highway Department to consider the change. Repainting the standards with an aluminum paint, he said, "will add to the brilliancy of the lighting, make the freeways more attractive, and better outline the curves and roadways for night driving."

If the Highway Department complies it will mean the repainting of 1415 light standards.

EUB Men Sponsor '62 Burgess Pageant

For the fourth consecutive year, Burgess Avenue Evangelical Brethren Church will present "The Christmas Story," Tuesday, Dec. 11, 8 p.m., in the spacious auditorium of Hilltonia Junior High School, 2345 W. Mound-st.

This Christmas Pageant is sponsored by the Evangelical United Brethren Men, comprising 25 EUB Churches of Columbus and surrounding areas.

The invitation for Burgess to give the pageant was given last June, and the offer was accepted in September at a county-wide meeting held in Whitehall EUB Church.

Rev. Irvin H. Lane, pastor of Burgess Avenue, is an active member of the Men's Movement.

The acting cast includes nearly 75, comprising an organist; a narrator, 19 persons with acting parts, vocalists, an angel choir, and an ensemble.

The fully costumed cast presents the complete Christmas story dating from the earliest prophetic utterance concerning the coming of Christ to the safely guided flight of the Christ Child into Egypt.

A narrator will keep the pageant moving during scene changes and acting parts, with Scriptures.

The entire program takes one and one-half hours, with an early one-half hour of Christmas music by the organist at 7:30.

There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering

Advent Music Series Is Planned At Church

The traditional "Round-the-Table" musical feast Sunday, Dec. 2 at 5 and 8 p.m. will begin with the annual Advent series at the First Congregational Church, 444 E. Broad-st. Edward Johe is minister of music.

The "menu" will feature glees, canons, rounds and carols. Christmas pudding is the one non-musical course that is served.

The feast will be held in the parish hall where the chancel choir will be seated around a large banquet table, and guests surround the choir in the fashion of a theater-in-the-round.

An old English greathouse motif will be carried out in the decorations and the illusion of medieval times enhanced by illumination from candles, costumed pages and a "master of the hall."

Rev. Chalmers Coe will be the "master."

The second in this series of three services will be Dec. 9, 4 p.m., will be a vespers service of two cantatas and other music of special interest.

Included in the service is "The Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi, presented by the chancel choir and soloists, and "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by the contemporary German-American composer Harald Rohlig.

In this cantata the chancel choir and soloist will be accompanied by pipe organ and three trumpets.

The high school choir of the church will present "In Dulci Jubilo" by Buxtehude and will be accompanied by organ and strings, and the Pilgrim Bell Choir will play "Changes" on two carols.

On Dec. 16, 4 p.m., the third and final service in the series, also a vespers, will be held.

The festival of "Nine Lessons and Carols" will be sung by two children's choirs, the chancel choir and soloists, with scriptures read by laymen of the church.

The music is drawn from both ancient and modern sources, and the service is patterned after one originated in England many generations

The public is invited to join in all three of the Advent music services.

Mommie ...They want me to come to church."

Yes, Mommie, they do want her in church, for in the church, they have a place for all ages. No child is too young to learn. This also provides you an opportunity to worship and give undivided attention to church services.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Limbo Dancers Please At Ciro Club

AMUSEMENTS

BEACH ADVENTURE

EDGAR BUCHANAN, in the title role of the episode "Good Old Uncle Walt," enjoys the company of Stacy King (left) and Theona Bryant, who portray Florida beauties on NBC-TV's "Wide Country" series which will be shown on WLW-C, TV-4, on Thursday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. Buchanan portrays a "confidence" man.

The supper club that first brought the "twist" to Columbus has done it again—this time it's the limbo.

That club is Ciro's on E. Main-st, and the limber limboers call themselves Lord Fish Ray Limbo Dancers and Calypso Quintette. They opened Nov. 21 and the management expects to keep them around for some time.

That's considerable, too, when you see how this group delights Ciro customers. Lord Fish and his boys share the spotlight with "Little Bekeeta," a fire dancer who tip-toes barefoot through fire and then ignites her arms and legs.

If that's not enough to make you choke on your martini olive, toothpick et al, there's still more. Namely, vocalist Little Foxy and witty Chico.

Chico, you'll find out, is the group's mouth-piece. He plays the maracas when he's not talking and adds that welcome zest and variety to the act.

One point that might astonish you is the fact that our hero, Lord Fish, is 55 years old. That's a lot of age to tote around on the rugged night club circuit, but he appears to be holding up well.

LORD FISH RAY

Limbo, they say, was originally a burial rites when natives danced under a coffin. If the coffin was touched by the dancers, then the deceased was in trouble.

Naturally, a coffin wouldn't lend itself well to a night club act (guys would be swearin' off right and left likened to seeing pink elephants) so some of the sharper limboers substituted a rod which can be raised and lowered, depending on their own agility.

The audience gets into the act, too. In fact, that's one of the big drawing factors—teaching the limbo to the audience and inviting the customers to try it themselves.

Lord Fish and his boys are originally from Nassau, Bahamas and have appeared in three movies, "Bop Girl," "Go Calypso" and "Calypso Joe." They've played the leading hotels in Miami Beach.

Music for dancing (this is worth the price of admission) starts at 9 o'clock nightly with floor shows at 10 and midnight.

—John Auble, Jr.

LAST DAY

THURSDAY, Nov. 29, is the last day to see Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans perform "A Program For Two Players" at Mershon Auditorium. They're singing a two-night stand. Showtime is 8 p.m.

OSU Theater Sets Season

Arthur Miller's "The Crucible" will hold down the University Theatre fort until Dec. 1 (it opened Nov. 26) but just in case you like to look ahead, here's what to expect:

Feb. 26 to Mar. 2 — Ben Johnson's "Volpone" or "The Fox" which is one of the most famous comedies in the history of the theater.

Apr. 2 to 6—Harold Painter's "The Caretaker" which was produced in New York only last fall.

May 22 to 25 — Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story," a sensation wherever it's performed.

Experiment '63, the off-Broadway musical "The Fantasticks" and 12 film classics are additional events of the season.

Tonight On 10

Wayne Byers, Channel 10 newsman, will host and moderate the show. Two prominent authorities — one on labor and one on management — will participate as panelists on the program.

THE BIG TEN . . .

"What Kind Of Fool Am I" leads the WVKO Fabulous 50 Tunedex this week. The Sammy Davis, Jr., ballad has been rapidly growing since first played by the Good Guys at the station. Others include:

2. "Go Away Little Girl" (Steve Lawrence); 3, "I Left My Heart In San Francisco" (Tony Bennett); 4, "Keep Your Hands Off My Baby" (Little Eva); 5, "That's Life" Gabriel and The Angels); 6, "I'll Bring It On Home To You" (Carla Thomas); 7, "You Are My Sunshine" (Ray Charles); 8, "Rumors" (Johnny Crawford); 9, "Ride" (Dee Dee Sharp); 10, "Release Me" (Little Esther).

Pretty Tresses Will Always Stop The Printing Presses

Dear Boss:

After long-run jealousy cringing over natty Nick Adams and his big stories on "Saints And Sinners" I've come up with the solution to all our problems:

What we need around here is a good, high-class copy boy. Take, for instance, Sharon Farrell. Now there's a copy boy's copy boy!

With something like her around, how can a reporter help but be successful? Inspiration . . . that's the key. Gulping down Toll House Cookies and Early American sandwiches for lunch to stay by the phone for that BIG story just doesn't work.

You see, chief, Sharon plays Polly Holloran on the show. It's a program about us newspaper people (on Monday nights, TV-4, at 8:30 p.m. in case you want to take a peek for yourself).

What she's done for Adams and the New York Bulletin she could do for us. Right?

You'll find my requisition sheet for same in the company suggestion box. Meanwhile, slinky Sharon will be spurring journalistic greatness in her most recent episode entitled "Judith Was A Lady." That goes on Monday, Dec. 3.

In this show, Adams discovers that fellow reporter Everett Harper (guest star Arthur Franz) embellishes the facts of a murder case to make his story more colorful and causes a million-dollar libel suit.

How's that for action. That even tops the time crazy-old Marmee waltzed into the office and proclaimed he was the world's only left-handed turban-shaper.

On second thought, as sweet as it may be, maybe we better do without Miss Farrell's services for awhile. After all, it would get awfully crowded around here with TV cameras moving in and out.

And, too, those close-ups would be murder, to say nothing of the explaining I'd have to do to my winsome wife everytime I hollered "Copy Boy!"

Minister Says Litterbugging Is Sin

By Rev. Fred L. Wollerman
West High graduate — 1949
Director of Larger Parish of Hilltop Presbyterian

In August, 1961, my wife and I were leaving Independence Hall, while on vacation in Philadelphia. I had taken several flash pictures in the rooms where the Declaration of Independence was signed and where our first supreme court convened. I had a handful of "dead" flashbulbs, and as we crossed the street I was looking for a place to discard them. On the corner a huge trash barrel had a sign which read, "Hey there, you with the trash in your hand." I almost said aloud, "Who, me?" It was the only time I can ever remember feeling guilty and happy at the same time. I knew at once that I was the man they were looking for, and I was happy to find a place to unload.

As we come to the beginning of another vacation season, when we'll all be traveling more and picnicking and eating more out-of-doors, I want to speak to you about the "spiritual aspects of trash disposal" and what I chose to call the "Sins of Litterbugging."

I know we preachers have a reputation for "straining at gnats," and for making "mountains out of molehills." Some will, no doubt, feel I am doing just that when I label the careless discarding of candy wrappers as a "moral vice." But I believe it is the task of the preacher to apply the Gospel to every facet of life. I further believe that we Children of God have not dealt seriously enough with the preservation of the beauty of God's countryside.

Naturally, there is a patriotic and legal aspect to litterbugging. Frequently we see along the roads of our land signs forbidding the dumping of refuse, and threats of fines against those who toss trash on the right-of-way. This does not seem to adequately retard the practice, and it is difficult to enforce. Unfortunately, the quantity of junk and blowing paper exceeds the quantity of warnings. Trash is abundant along the roadsides, while the receptacles provided by the Highway Department are often nearly empty.

This mar on the beauty of the land is a sad reflection upon the patriotism of the American people and their sense of culture. Is it not hypocritical for a people to sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "O Beautiful For Spacious Skies . . . Amber Waves of Grain . . . Purple Mountains' Majesty" and then proceed to deface the "Land of the Pilgrims' Pride" by throwing cigaret and candy wrappers on its waysides? Does not this practice speak of contempt for our land? And does it not label us as less-that-cultured?

Not all people of the world use their trash weapons against national treasure. Not all people are so devoid of national pride and culture. David Dietz, writing some years ago in his column in the Cleveland Press, told of visiting Tivoli, the fabulous amusement park at Copenhagen, Denmark. He described the beautiful buildings, the fine restaurants and the entertainment ranging from opera to acrobatics. He concluded thus:

"We attended Tivoli the first time on a Sunday night and the park closed at midnight with a fireworks display. The place was jammed with people. As they thronged out there was no pushing or crowding . . .

"But the most amazing thing was that the whole park was as immaculate as when it opened in the morning. There wasn't an empty cigaret package or a paper bag or any other piece of rubbish anywhere on the ground.

"Most important — and most difficult to describe — is the spirit of the people. Everybody in Tivoli is having the time of their lives and you can tell it the minute you look at them.

"Tivoli is the amusement park of a civilized people who have learned how to enjoy life."

What does that say to us about our national care of beaches, parks and highways?

Of course, there is the matter of cost. I read that in a recent year it cost the taxpayers—that's us — over four million dollars to clean up the trash from the national major highways alone. What a waste!

But what about the spiritual aspects of public neatness, and the so-called "sins of litterbugging?"

In the first place, the indiscriminate tossing of trash is a sin against beauty. As such it is a crime against God's creation, and thus a sin against God. How beautiful the wild flowers are when they push up through beds of fallen leaves. But what an ugly sight when they must compete with old newspapers and broken bottles. The flowers may beautify the junk, but the junk certainly detracts from the flowers.

Are we not outraged when we read that some vandal has gone into a park and rooted up the beautiful flowers and shrubs, or thrown paint on the statuary? Are we not outraged when we hear of a maniac who has entered an art gallery and slashed priceless canvasses? These are crimes against beauty.

And must not God the Creator be outraged when we deface his beautiful handiwork in the hills, valleys, forests, beaches and waysides of the open country? Indeed He must be! And must He not feel that His creatures who thus show contempt for His handiwork certainly must have contempt for Him?

How often I have had my joy and pride turned into sorrow and shame, when I have taken visiting friends out for a drive to show them the countryside beauty, then to come upon pile after pile of cans and bottles, and some places the roadside more white with paper than green with grass. Must not God be similarly embarrassed?

I believe that throwing our pop bottles, candy papers and sandwich wrappers out on God's green pastures is no less contemptuous of Him than would be wiping our feet on His divine garments. "Whoever says he loves God and throws trash on His creation is a liar . . ." to paraphrase I John.

Furthermore, litterbugging is a sin against man. This, too, has a spiritual dimension. Every man has a right to enjoy beauty, especially the out-of-doors. (We deprive only incarcerated criminals of this God-given right.) But when we discard our trash in the paths of others, when we toss our litter into their view, we display not only our thoughtlessness, but our contempt: our contempt for other people as persons, and our contempt for their right to enjoy the beauty of nature. "Whoever says he loves his brother, and throws trash on the highway, is a liar."

We often see signs telling us: "Prevent Forest Fires," and "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires." Perhaps we need some other signs: "Preserve the Beauty." "Only You Can Prevent the Desecration of the Beauty," and "Others Want to Enjoy the Beauty Also."

Jesus said, "Do not cast your pearls before swine." Neither should we cast our trash before [illegible].

Finally, litterbugging is a sin against God in the sense that it is a violation of our stewardship, a violation of our sacred trust as the keepers of God's garden. Genesis says God created man and put him in the garden to care for it. Read that passage carefully. It does not say that God put man in the garden to abuse it or to desecrate it with ice cream wrappers and cigaret packages.

Not only is there the poor stewardship of the millions of dollars we spend to clean up after our own carelessness, but there are the much more basic issues of the care of that which God has put here for ALL men to enjoy, and the task God put us here to do, namely, to care for His creation.

How much easier it would be to keep a basket, box, or sack in the car (you can even buy a litter basket to match the upholstery) and put all our trash in it. How easy it is to empty this in a trash drum at a roadside park, at home, or at a service station. And how much better we would care for God's creation if we did so!

"Whoever says he loves God's creation and still dumps litter along the road is a liar." We talk about conservation. Let's practice it with the proper disposal of litter.

Of course none of US is guilty of this sin! It's always the other fellow, the other car!

Or if we are guilty, it's only a gum wrapper or two. But there's the rub! Whether it's a gum wrapper or all the litter from a picnic, there is the matter of our attitude. And our children are so quick to learn that attitude from us. Is that attitude contempt or stewardship? Desecration or consecration?

Litterbugging is a sin. It is the adulteration of beauty, the trespassing on others' rights, the setting up of the most ugly graven images right where God is to be honored.

Let us repent from this sin and ask God's forgiveness. Let us begin NOW, to show reverence for beauty; to observe reverence for the rights of other persons; to practice reverence for the handiwork of God—His creation of which we are the stewards.

Women, As Well As Men, Helped Build A Capital

First Club Organized To Aid City's Needy

Leisure was the rarest luxury of all for pioneer women of early Columbus. Raising large families and doing most of their own housework under primitive conditions left few idle hours.

These women found the time always, though, to help someone less fortunate than themselves.

There was little social distinction in the village life and residents were mutually helpful, familiar with sorrow, sympathetic and quick to respond to a nighbor's need.

Columbus was one year old when its women joined to form the first organized philanthropic group, designed to systematically assist the poor, and the widows and orphans from the cholera year of 1833.

The Columbus Female Benevolent Society was organized Jan. 5, 1835 at the old Town Street Methodist Church. One hundred and seven members were on hand to adopt the constitution, drawn up by Mrs. John Patterson.

Mrs. James Hoge was the first president; Mrs. E. W. Sehon, vice-president; Mrs. Noah H. Swayne, treasurer, and Mary Kelly, later to become Mrs. James L. Bates, secretary.

Board of managers included Mrs. William M. Awl, Mrs. Demas Adams, Mrs. Ralph Osborn, Mrs. Moses Jewett, Mrs. Samuel Crosby, Mrs. John Bailhache, Mrs. Benjamin Blake, Mrs. Joseph Ridgeway, Jr., Mrs. D. Woodbury and Mrs. A. Van Horn.

At the first business meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Demas Adams, visiting committees for each of the city's three wards were appointed. Mrs. John Patterson and Mrs. N. H. Swayne were named to the purchasing committee, to buy cloth to be fashioned into clothing for distribution to the poor.

Incorporated by an act of the legislature Mar. 5, 1838, the society is still actively engaged in its original purpose of assisting orphans, and women and children in need.

The need for a free education for orphans and children of the poor was apparent the first year the society was in operation, and an auxiliary group was formed for that purpose a 1836.

The following year Alfred Kelley donated a lot for a schoolhouse on the east side of Fourth-st, between Oak and State-sts, later the site of the YWCA residence hall.

A brick building was constructed on the location and the first free school in Columbus was operated there until it was replaced by public schools. The land and building was later sold for $500 and the money invested with interest for the society's benefit.

The Industrial School, organized by the Hannah Neil Mission in 1855, was transferred to the Benevolent Society in 1870. The school was for poor children conducted each Saturday morning with lessons in plain sewing, morals, cleanliness and manners, given by volunteer teachers. Lessons were accompanied by gifts of shoes or clothing.

Another branch, the Dorcas Committee, was organized in 1876, to collect and distribute used and new clothing, and furniture to families recommended by the society's visitors.

Both activities were discontinued when other organizations took over the work, and domestic science became a part of public school curriculum.

William G. Deshler, Jan. 5, 1887, in remembrance of his mother, established the Betsy Green Deshler Fund to aid widows and spinsters with a gift of $1000.

And Sept. 26 of the same year he established the Kate Deshler Hunter Fund with a gift of $33,000 "to aid women in the perils of childbirth," as a memorial for his daughter who had died in childbirth at 33 years.

Under provisions of the trust, $1000 from the fund's income was to be added to the principal every year until the fund reached $100,000.

This committee of the society is still active, providing layettes and, in some cases, help with hospitalization and milk. Chairman is now Mrs. Robert M. Inglis.

After the death of Mrs. Hunter's only child, Deshler Hunter, William Deshler again established a fund of $17,000 to aid crippled children. The fund was to be increased by $500 every year until it reached $50,000.

Income from this is still used for that purpose. A committee now headed by Mrs. R. J. Woodward distributed aid to handicapped children from birth to age 14.

Other gifts to the Benevolent Society have been invested to provide funds for the group's projects.

William Deshler, the society's most generous patron, gave the society its fourth deed of trust in 1894, when an addition of $25,000 was made to the Betsy Green Deshler fund. Of this, $10,000 was to be used for the purchase of a site and the construction of a home for the society.

And the next year, on the society's 40th anniversary, its present home at 40 S. Washington-av, was opened.

Mrs. Calvin C. Lyon is now president of the society.

The original Central High School, which was located at Broad and Sixth-sts, was opened in 1841.

First Darbydale School Built In 1838 For $77.75

Darbyhill Schoolhouse, the first of three schools to be built at the northeast corner of Norton and London-Lockbourne-rd, was built by residents of Darbydale in 1838.

The sum of $77.75, unbelievably inadequate by today's building cost standards, was raised for the school's construction.

A homemade, paper-backed book, Board of Education meeting minutes, contains information on the school's founding and notes on its equipment.

The book, now in the possession of Mrs. Parmer Norton, 9175 London-Lockbourne-rd, was preserved by Mary Norton, aunt of the late Parmer Norton.

The board contracted on Sept. 8, 1838, with Thomas Borland, also referred to as "Thomas Bollan" in the book, to furnish materials and build a schoolhouse 18 by 20 feet of hewn white oak logs.

It was to front on London-Lockbourne-rd, have a lap shingle roof and four 12-light windows. The building was to be completed by Dec. 1 of the same year.

It was not until April, 1839, however that the little paper-backed book notes that Borland was paid the $77.75 for his work.

James W. Booker, hired Dec. 3, 1838, to teach the school, contracted to teach for three months, five days a week, 22 days a month for the sum of $20 a month.

Three-month school terms, taught by the same teacher, were held in 1839 and 1840.

School board members were Thomas Borland (or Bollan), James Lukens and treasurer, Joseph Morgan, and clerk, Jonathon Norton, grandfather of the late Palmer Norton.

Many of the early settlers of "Little Pennsylvania," as Darbydale was known until the late 1920s, came from Bucks County or Montgomery County in Pennsylvania.

The official count taken by the school board of Darbydale or Pennsylvania School as it was sometimes called, varied from was "18 males and 19 fe- "males" eligible for the school. Contributions or taxes for the school, which Mrs. Palmer surmisses may have been determined by the amount of land a man owned, varied from 50 cents to $30, averaging about $1.50.

Items of expenditure in the treasured little book include "Paid to James Lukens for work at school house and finding blackboard — $2.50;" "62 cents for recording the deed at the beginning of that first school year in December, 1838, and 94 cents for bucket and ladle."

FRANKLINTON CEMETERY on McKinley-av is distinguished by a memorial marker.

Cemetery Still Stands As Pioneers' Shrine

Enclosed by a rough stone wall and distinguished only by a memorial shaft and the remaining few crumbling sandstone markers, Franklinton's first cemetery passes almost unnoticed in busy Columbus.

The two and a half acre tract on McKinley-av, west of Sandusky-st was the gift of Lucas Sullivant to Franklinton for a church and burial ground in 1811.

Pioneers in the settlement came by horseback to attend church services on Sunday, and to bury their dead.

Today, the 200 graves, most of them indistinguishable from their surroundings, are encircled by an abandoned railroad bed, industry and decay.

Lucas Sullivant was among the town's settlers who were buried in the plot. He and many others were later removed to Greenlawn Cemetery.

Some of the remaining gravestones have been washed blank by time and weather.

A few of the poetic epitaphs are still visible.

The marker of a niece of Col. Robert and Elizabeth Culbertson is inscribed with "Why, lovely friend, indulge that tear? Why, trembling, view my dark abode? Though you with me must molder here; yet faith can wing the soul to God."

The two daughters of the Culbertsons, Kezia Brotherton who died in 1811 and Margaret Keller still have readable gravestones.

The gravestone of Mrs. Rebecca Smith, daughter of Andrew and Esther Culbertson, records she was born Sept. 28, 1798 and died Feb. 7, 1828.

Others markers are for Irvin Domigan, William and [illegible] Domigan's son, who died at the age of one year, seven months, 17 days, and James W., son of J. R. and R. A. O'Harra, who died Feb. 10, 1852, age 14 years.

Another marker names Margaret, wife of Bartley Boyd O'Harra and daughter of Jas. O'Harra. Died July 18, 1749, age 41 years. Her birthdate, 1708, is the earliest of all the remaining gravestones.

Soldiers of the War of 1812 are probably buried in the plot. Six of the soldiers of Gen. William Henry Harrison, stationed in Franklinton in the summer of 1813 before their march to Ft. Meigs near Toledo, died in the settlement and are believed to be buried in Franklinton Cemetery.

By Civil War days Franklinton was headed into disuse as an active burial plot. The memorial shaft was erected by the West Side Board of Trades in 1931.

The shrine to the pioneers is open for anyone to visit.

1812 WAR CASUALTIES

In the 72 battles and skirmishes of the War of 1812 fought 150 years ago, 05 American officers and nearly 2,000 enlisted men were killed in action.

Harrisburg Is Founded In 1836

Harrisburg, founded in 1836 by Joseph Chenoweth, was from the beginning a bustling community of about 30 families. The village boasted two taverns, four stores, two doctors and a Methodist Church.

The settlement was originally Darby Cross Roads, and already had a postoffice. When Harrisburg was established the name of the postoffice was changed to correspond.

First postmaster, in 1828, [illegible] John Haines, who served until 1833 when he was succeeded by George Geiger. Abram Buckles followed in 1836, and Dr. T. Thompson in 1838.

In 1841, Henry Miller was appointed postmaster. He served for a short while, was replaced by J. Goelschius, and then Miller was re-appointed, all in the same year. He continued as postmaster until 1800.

Trustees, elected under an act of legislature in 1850-51, were Henry Miller, J. Chenoweth, O. T. Curry, L. W. Seifert and George W. Helmick.

J. Helmick, first mayor of the village from 1851 to 1854, was succeeded by J. Seeders in 1855, and Helmick once more in 1856. George W. Helmick was mayor of Harrisburg in 1857-58.

Present County Lines Set In '51

Originally, Franklin County extended from Lake Erie to the northern limits of what is now Cross County, and contained the land on which Toledo is built.

By deductions due to the forming of counties and by some additions, its present boundaries were determined in 1851.

OHIO GLASS

From 1815, the last year of the War of 1812, until the Civil War, Ohio glass, blown or molded in Mantua, Ravenna, Kent and Zanesville, became popular American household wares.

Rival Towns Join To Form Groveport

Two rival villages, one on the east bank of the canal and the other on the west bank, were consolidated into Groveport in 1846-47.

The western portion was laid out as a town by Jacob B. Wert in 1843, and named Wert's Grove. And in February of the following year, the eastern section was laid out and named Rarey's Port by William Rarey.

The Hocking Branch of the Ohio Canal divided the two until visitors and residents, protesting the bother and bewilderment, insisted on a consolidation.

Grove Port, last half of the two names, was selected, and Legislature incorporated the town.

Groveport was a business center during the ten years from 1848 to 1858, with several stores, groceries and shops, four or five churches and three doctors.

Its population in 1850 was 438.

First Councilmen after the town was incorporated were Samuel Sharp, E. M. Dutton, J. P. Bywaters, C. J. Stevenson and William Mitchell.

A. Shoemaker was first mayor of the town in 1847, and others following were, Henry Long, 1848 to '49; A. P. Thompson, 1850 to '51; E. W. Edwards, 1852.

Jeremiah White, 1853 to 1854; T. P. Thompson, 1855 to 1856; N. Steel, 1857 and L. Sarber, 1858.

Jacob B. Wert, one of the rival founders, became the first postmaster when the post office was established, and held the post for four years.

Edward Gares served as postmaster until 1854, and Samuel Sharp until 1858.

Hard, Creative Tasks Part Of Homemaking

The phrase, ". . . women's work is never done," might well have been coined in early Franklinton.

And in addition to plenty of hard work, pioneer homemaking called for courage — enough to rout wild animals out of their home and live in constant dread of Indians, the strength to live in lonely isolation, an unbounded faith in a dream of the future, and a goodly portion of common sense.

Many of the brides who, with their husbands, came to the wilderness to found a city, were mere girls, 20 and under. Some were gentlewomen from comfortable, even luxurious homes, schooled in fine needlework, music and the arts.

Here they found no roads or bridges, no doctor, no school or church, and no postal system.

The homesick bride had to join with others to pay someone to carry their mail by horseback to Chillicothe. And postage was not prepaid, so if there was no ready cash to pay the carrier for the mail he brought back, the precious letters had to be forfeited.

Their homes were rude houses of tree trunks, their beds were poles with mattresses of wild grasses, and their furniture, stationary tables and benches.

Round logs were notched and chinked with wooden blocks and stone for the cabins, and the chimney was constructed of crossed wooden strips daubed with clay, forming a large fireplace at the base.

The roof was of clapboards five or six feet long, held with stones or poles since there were no nails. Deerskin scraped thin or greased paper was used for windows.

Women's lives, difficult and demanding, were filled with the necessary absorbing, creative occupations now forever a part of the past.

Since even the most necessary items of daily living were made scarce and expensive by tedious, slow transportation from as far away as Pittsburgh, a woman's family was entirely dependent upon her efforts and ingenuity for their health, food, clothing and general well-being.

Every step in the preparation of food and clothing from raw materials, soap-making, candle-making and nursing, making a home and raising a family were hers.

Flax fiber was spun, woven and bleached, and made into sewing thread and linen.

Sheep's wool was washed, picked, carded, spun, scoured and woven, for flannel and linsey, blankets and yarn.

Dyes were made from the bark and hulls of butternuts, Walnut trees and herbs.

And all this before garments were cut and sewn by hand!

Deerskins were laboriously prepared, washed, smoked and finally colored with ochre rubbed in with a pumice. The leather was used for buckskin suits, gloves and moccasins.

A buckskin suit over a flax shirt was the usual dress for man. The hunting shirt was made with a cape around the shoulders and a skirt nearly to the knees, fringed and belted.

Women's gowns were of linsey woolsey, or a mixture of linen and cotton striped with copperas, butternut and indigo, and worn with a homespun belt and cowhide shoes.

The spinning wheel was in constant use. As late as 1820 there were only two cotton factories in the entire state. But there were more than 10,000 private looms and hundreds of spindles.

And in these days of packaged, pre-cooked and frozen food, it taxes the imagination to picture pioneer cooking. Even salt was scarce and expensive and, with the nearest mill as far away as Chillicothe, corn had to be boiled whole or ground in a hand mill. Soda was made at home as well as butter and cheese.

Baking was done by spreading dough on a clean board and placing it in front of the fireplace.

But game was abundant, and turkeys, geese and ducks as well as whole pigs were hung before the fire and roasted. Chickens and smaller fowls, dipped in butter, were broiled on a grid over the coals.

And homey delicacies included a pudding sauce of thick cream, sweetened with maple syrup.

Food was not preserved by canning, so fruit was dried in the hot summer sun for use during winter months.

And as the years brought a few refinements to the settlement—stores, a school and a minister, doctors and the beginning of roads and postal service, these indomitable women turned their attention to community projects.

The establishment of the churches, the organization of societies to aid those less fortunate than themselves, and the introduction of arts and cultural interests to the town captured their creative efforts.

Fisher's Sawmill Supplied Lumber For Early Homes

The immense trees of oak, walnut, beech, sycamore, chestnut, ash, gum and many others, found by Franklin County settlers on the upland and especially in the river and creek valleys, were the source of timber for their homes.

A sawmill on the east river bank, operated by Michael Fisher, supplied much of this lumber.

Fisher, one of the pioneer settlers on the west bank, south of the forks of the Scioto and Whetstone (Olentangy) came to Ohio in 1799 from Hardy County, Va.

He and his wife, Sarah Petty Fisher, located first at the bend on the west side of the river, and later bought 600 acres across the Scioto from John Dill.

In order to best utilize the timber on his tract, Fisher purchased a sawmill, located it close to the river bank and for many years cut and sawed lumber for the construction of homes.

When the feeder canal from Columbus to Lockbourne was built, the sawmill had to give way to make room for the canal bed.

A frequent candidate for office, Fisher was an early justice of the peace in Hamilton Township.

He died at his home in 1824, and his wife died in 1843.

Media Quiet Over Sunday Sales Ad Control Attempts

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Silence may be golden, but to Gene King and the Greater Columbus Sunday Association, it's having about the same impact as a lead balloon.

King expressed concern this week over "seemingly total disregard" to a recent association plea to all media executives to delete Sunday hours from advertising copy.

Letters were sent out last week to executives of press, radio and TV in the area urging the deletion on the basis that it was "publicly proclaiming intentions of a particular firm to break the Sunday closing laws."

Spot checks by this newspaper received "no comments" from area publishers and station managers over the issue.

King reported that similiar requests are being made by other Sunday Associations throughout the state. And, similiarly, they are being met with silence.

"They can't continue to ignore it," King said. "And yet, so far, we have received no official response from any media regarding the matter."

King said that he has been informed that Dayton newspaper publishers are "collaborating" with the publishers of a daily Columbus newspaper in efforts to devise a "unified front" on the question.

"We realize that it's a matter of economics here," King said. "Most of the media receive a considerable amount of advertising space from stores opening on Sunday and this move would put them into quite a bind.

"Even so, we feel we must urge an adherence to a code of advertising ethics and delete that copy which indicates Sunday openings and which publicly scoffs at the law."

The association secretary said that "follow-up" letters would be sent out at the end of this week in an effort to generate further action.

It was emphasized by the association that this wouldn't apply to stores selling accepted "necessities" on Sunday.

This latest move received the backing of the Central Ohio Better Business Bureau when the matter was first brought up last week.

$225 GOES IN FINAL

Eastside Housewife Wins Ninth Round

Perhaps it is not a man's world after all.

Despite heavy competition from the male football enthusiasts, Stella Katula, 101 Fairway-av, won the ninth round in Hartley Newspapers gigantic football contest.

Mrs. Katula nosed-out Bill Robinson, West Jefferson, and Betsy Bossert, 380 N. Virginia Lee-rd to win the $25 prize.

All three missed on only six of the 24 games played last weekend, but Mrs. Katula's guess on the tie-breaker was closest to the exact score of the Ohio State-Michigan game.

OSU won 28-0. Mrs. Katula guessed 40-7, Robinson 20-13, and Miss Bossert picked Michigan 20-12.

Entries currently are flooding in for the 10th and final round of the contest. Since no one claimed the bonus jackpot over the nine weeks by picking all 24 games correctly, $225 will be split three ways in the final round.

The contestant who finishes first will receive 50 percent of the pot. The second place runner-up will receive 30 percent, and 20 percent will be awarded to the contestant who finishes third.

The final money will not be doubled if the winners are paid subscribers.

Community Tree Rites At Glenwood Sunday

The season of Christmas will officially come to the Hilltop this Sunday evening, Dec. 9, when a 16-foot community tree will be lighted and becomes part of the glittering W. Broad-st yule decor.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake will join fellow Hilltoppers at 6:30 p.m. at the tree on Broad-st hill, in front of Glenwood Recreation Center, 1925 W. Broad-st. Following greetings from Pete Block, president of Hilltop Community Council, and music by students from Westmoor and Hilltonia junior highs, the mayor will light the tree.

Next will be a community sing, "Joy to the World" and the Christmas message by Rev. Irvin Lane, pastor of Burgess Avenue EUB Church.

This will be followed by "Carol of the Bells," by Westmoor Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Dolores Blankenship, and "While Shepherds Watch," by the Hilltonia Choir, under the direction of Miss Barbara Johnson.

The benediction will be offered by Rev. Sydney C. G. Everson, pastor of Westgate Methodist Church. Group singing of "Silent Night" will conclude the program. Refreshments will be served later in the game room of Glenwood Center by Hilltop Council School PTA's.

Boy Scouts of Troop 45 will be ushers at the program and Glenwood Advisory Council will be hosts. The tree, donated by the Highland Garden Club in 1960, is being decorated by Hilltop Neighborhood Girl Scouts.

EYES ARE POPPIN' as Ricky Bethel, 794 Joyful-av, joyfully prepares to dig in to a stack of pancakes in a preview of the Hilltop Lions Club second annual pancake day which will be held from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 8, at the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr. Helping the eager eater are two of the 25 Lions who will be on duty (left) John Garber and (right) Bert Korte.

Aunt Jemima To Supervise Lions' Pancake Day, Dec. 8

"We hope to stack-em sky high Saturday," said Galvy Gordon, president of the Hilltop Lions. Gordon was talking about the stacks and stacks of pancakes the Lions will turn out for their Second Annual Pancake Day, Saturday, Dec. 8, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA, 2879 Valleyview-dr.

More than 3000 people were served last year. "We expect nearly 5000 this year," said Bob Bethel, 794 Joyful-st, general chairman of the project.

Purpose of the program is to help finance the Lions sight conservation program which provides glasses for under-privileged children.

The menu includes orange juice, Aunt Jemima Pancakes with syrup (all you can eat) and coffee. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the group, or at the "Y" door," said Bob Foster, 501 N. Powell-av, ticket chairman.

Music will be furnished all day and as an added attraction Aunt Jemima herself will be present to supervise the cooking.

Ladies last year found time away from home cooking was put to good use for other duties such as shopping, community activities and clubs, Gordon reported.

There will be 25 Lions with their ladies on duty throughout the day.

A Tribute To Arbutus Walker

A saddened community in the area of Clark, Woodbury and Larcomb-avs from Sullivant to Mound, as well as in the Oakley-av area, turned out this past Thursday to pay final respects to Arbutus Walker, for many years the mailman in that area.

Walker was far more than just an ordinary mailman as is attested by the many complimentary remarks following his death. But it did not take death to make this friendship evident.

For many years residents of the area would remember him in many ways with tokens of appreciation and he was perhaps his own best customer since he received so much mail, greetings and cards from these friends from whatever area of the world they would be traveling.

When a collection for flowers was started these friends found their cup running over. Everyone wanted to contribute and everyone was saddened by the news.

Grace E. Smith, for many years a teacher at John Burroughs School, has submitted the following poem by Robert W. Service, which perhaps will best convey a tribute from a grateful community:

Master, I've filled my contract
Wrought in Thy many lands
Nor by sins wilt Thou judge me
But by the works of my hands.
Master, I've done Thy bidding
And the light is low in the west
And the long, long shift is over
Master, I've earned it REST.

Kiwanis Club Distributing 15,000 Papers Here Thursday

Don't worry that your newsboy has taken too many hormones. That big fellow peddling Christmas newspapers on your doorstep Thursday night, Dec. 6, will be a Hilltop Kiwanian.

He and about 200 others will try to ring every Hilltop and Valleyview doorbell that day to give citizens a chance to share in the club's community service work during 1963.

According to incoming president Les Swinford donations for the papers will keep alive several annual scholarships to high school youngsters, will aid underprivileged children and their families, help with work with the children at Franklin Village, Friends Rescue Home, the State School and Hospital and all local schools. Some of the funds are directed to the YMCA swimming pool project, and many other causes, Swinford said. Loss of former revenue from sales tax stamp redemptions has made the paper sale even more important to the club, he added.

"The papers themselves tell the story of Kiwanis' many accomplishments of the past year," Miller said. "We hope every public-spirited citizen will donate generously for his copy and read the review of our work. The papers also carry the greetings of hundreds of business and professional people.

Bob Miller, sale chairman, said activities will get under way Thursday noon with an

A Columbus area couple who probably have more interest than anyone else here in the Navy's newly converted missile carrier, the U.S.S. Columbus, didn't get to see its recommissioning last Saturday at Bremerton, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nixon, 3272 Fisher-rd, are the parents of the only Columbusite assigned to the ship, Seaman Apprentice Roger Nixon. Because of this they had an invitation to the ceremony—but no way to get there.

Yet, 37 Columbus city officials and other dignitaries scrambled for seats in the only Navy plane making the trip—and apparently left a waiting list.

The young sailor's father said he received an invitation postmarked Nov. 14. Having read that a local delegation was going, Nixon decided to check on a means of transportation. He went to Mayor Westlake's office, the Chamber of Commerce and the Navy recruiting office before learning that all the seats were taken and that there was a waiting list. The Navy had turned its reservation list over to the city to be filled. The local delegates left Wednesday and stayed through the weekend.

Young Nixon later told his parents by phone that he would have liked to have seen them. He said he was greeted by Clyde McBee from the Chamber of Commerce but didn't get to talk to Mayor

86 Families To Be Greeted At Defense Construction Center

Columbus, already one of the fastest growing cities in the nation, will get a booster shot this week when 86 families from the Deep South join the ranks of government employes at the Defense Construction Supply Center, 52 Starling-st.

The new families are moving to Columbus from the Air Materiel Area at Mobile, Ala., under Civil Service transfer rights executed when certain management functions and repair parts responsibility were transferred to the local supply center from Brookley Air Force Base at Mobile.

These employes and their families will mean approximately 300 new citizens for Columbus, and will increase the DCSC payroll by approximately $523,530 annually.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, Col. Harry D. Hoskins, Jr., the center's commander, and other prominent Columbusites will participate in a special program to be held Friday, Dec. 7, at the center.

The program will start at 1 p.m. in Conference Room "A", fourth floor, Defense Construction Supply Center.

The Chamber of Commerce, Columbus Board of Realtors and the Welcome Wagon will be represented.

READY BY SUMMER

$250,000 Swim Pool To Be Built On Sullivant-av

The Hilltop is slated to get a new $250,000 swimming pool in time for the splash season next summer.

City council gave final approval to the project Monday.

The Westview Swim Club will be located on the south side of Sullivant-av between Wedgewood-dr and Holly Hill-dr. It will face Sullivant.

According to Thomas Tully, architect, the pool is to be regulation Olympic size—164.2 feet long and 75.2 feet wide. A diving area measures 40 foot square and depth of the entire pool runs from three to 12½ feet.

The contract for construction will be let Dec. 15.

Richard Trapp and Raymond Jacobs, 280 S. Virginia Lee-rd, are partners in the venture.

Trapp and Jacobs are local businessmen who have had recreational experience.

Mrs. Trapp is a former Hilltopper and her father, Arthur Buchanan, a West High teacher, resides at 145 N. Chase-av.

The pool will contain about 525,000 gallons of water which will be kept fresh by circulation and filtration, the management stated.

A separate wading pool will be available for the kids and will measure 20 by 40 feet.

Other facilities include a club house and snack shack which will be constructed of cement block with white stucco and trim of redwood. A white cupola will top the club house's black roof.

An eating area will separate the clubhouse from the snack shack and the sunning area will have basketball and volleyball courts.

There will be parking space for 250 cars and bicycle racks will be provided.

Activities planned will be Red Cross instruction in the morning and swim meets with other pools.

The pool will be operated on the family membership plan to be offered shortly after the first of the year.

ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION of the Westview Swim Club which is slated to be open for business this summer shows the rectangular construction of the pool. It is to be regulation Olympic size. The pool will be located on the south side of Sullivant-av between Wedgewood-dr and Holly Hill-dr.

Holroyd Heads Valleyview Meet

Newly appointed mayor Harry Holroyd presided at the Valleyview Council session Monday night, which saw the authorization of manhole raising on Diblee-av in preparation for paving of as much of the street as funds allow. Paving will be done some time next summer.

Trucking Executive Honored

James R. Riley, president of Suburban Motor Freight, Inc., 1100 King-av, will be the recipient of the Free Enterprise Awards Association's 1962 American Success Story award, Dec. 11.

Riley

Riley, a veteran of WW 1, was a hog-raiser and an auctioneer before entering the trucking business as a milk hauler. He began his one-truck operation in the 1920s and today he heads a firm which is ranked in the nation's top 75 trucking companies.

Suburban Motor Freight operates 30 terminals, owns 725 trucks, and employs 1000 persons. The company serves more than 5000 cities in the mid-west, and its trucks travel nine million miles a year.

Riley founded the Columbus Boys Choir, helped establish the Columbus Town Meeting of the Air, and currently serves as trustee of Baldwin-Wallace College and of Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Eakin-rd Survey Called Routine

Howard Edwards, city engineer in charge of new street construction, indicated survey crews seen last week working near the Eakin-rd bridge, just west of Clarendon-av near the city limits, "are merely making a survey map for the area so studies can be made at a later date."

He pointed out the survey was routine with his department and did not mean construction is being planned at this time.

Three Westsiders Cop Final Football Round; Split $225

E. C. Heater, Jr., 4640 Annhurst-rd, Richard H. Wiener, 249 S. Warren-av, and Robert Moon, 49 Deraorest-rd finished one-two-three in the final round of Hartley Newspapers giant football contest.

Heater won $112.50 for his first place finish, correctly picking 22 of the 24 games. Wiener and Moon tied for second, each hitting on 21 of the 24 games.

Wiener's guess on the score of the Army-Navy game was a trifle closer than Moon's. Wiener picked Navy to win 23-17, and Moon predicted a 14-14 tie. Navy won the game 34-14.

Other contestants who missed only three of the 24 games are; Lee Wollam, Reynoldsburg, Rosalie Ladyon, 62 N. Westgate-av, Winona Harshbarger, 751 Erickson-av, Rudolph Maynard, 541 Elsmere-st, and Janice Kerscher, 573 Frebis.

Enrollment Outpaces Funds In County Schools

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Voters in two major sections of Franklin County will go to the polls again Tuesday, Dec. 11, to reconsider school levy issues which failed to pass in November.

Washington Local District (Dublin area) voters again face an operational levy consisting of five mills renewal and four mills new.

Madison Local District (Groveport area) is asking for 2.5 mills additional to meet increased enrollment demands. This operational levy, accompanied by a 3.1-mill bond issue request, failed in the November election. Next Tuesday the bond issue will not appear on the ballot. By law it cannot be resubmitted again this calendar year.

Because the election is of vital importance to many citizens, Hartley Newspapers has published many letters and stories pertaining to it—and this week has invited County School Supt. Thomas A. Quick to present his viewpoint.

BY THOMAS J. QUICK
Supt., Franklin County Schools

All school districts in Franklin County, a fast growing metropolitan area, are facing the greatest challenge of their existence. Each of the past six years has seen a 10 per cent growth in enrollment of the Franklin County School System. This past year, 1,700 additional students were enrolled in the nine districts.

The classrooms for these students can only be provided through bond issues voted by the people of the various districts. No additional aid from state or federal government is available until after the local district has voted bonds to nine per cent of its ability and then only when such funds are available.

Supt. Quick

This problem is well known to school officials, board members and others of the communities who regularly keep in touch with their schools. The schools have a difficult time communicating this information to all the people without running the risk of seeming to be threatening or twisting their arms.

The superintendents of the local schools and board members have this information, their meetings are open to the public and they are willing to meet with groups or individuals to answer questions.

The money for operating any public school comes from three sources. (1) Taxes on property in the district, (2) state foundation money by formula based upon the number of pupils attending school and the valuation of the school district, (3) federal government grants for students whose parents work on federal projects. The school receives local tax money in accordance with the amount of millage voted by the people. This money provides educational programs for the students who attend the schools. State money is provided by formula based upon the number of students who attend the schools and the valuation of the school district.

These monies are carefully budgeted and appropriated for certain purposes as determined by the board of education and school administration. Records of all transactions are carefully kept by the clerk of the board whose books are examined by the state auditors once each 18 to 24 months, insuring accurate business methods.

A public hearing on the budget is held each July after public notice is made in the newspapers. A financial statement of all receipts and expenditures is published in the newspapers following the close of each financial year, Dec. 31.

The total valuation of any school district times the number of mills taxes voted determines the amount of income from the local source. The valuation of the Madison Local School District in 1957 was $19,474,511 with 1,300 students in school. The valuation in 1962 is $21,040,730 with 1,700 students in school. A gain of nine per cent in valuation but a gain of 16 per cent in students in the same five-year period of time.

The valuation of the Washington Local School District in 1057 was $8,994,479 with 877 students in school. The valuation in 1962 is $13,852,830 with 1,206 students in school. A gain of 54 per cent in valuation and a gain of 37 per cent in students in the same five-year period of time.

The average increase in valuation for all Franklin County schools from 1957 to 1962 was 56 per cent. The valuation is not keeping up with the needs — the millage must therefore be increased to supply a very apparent need.

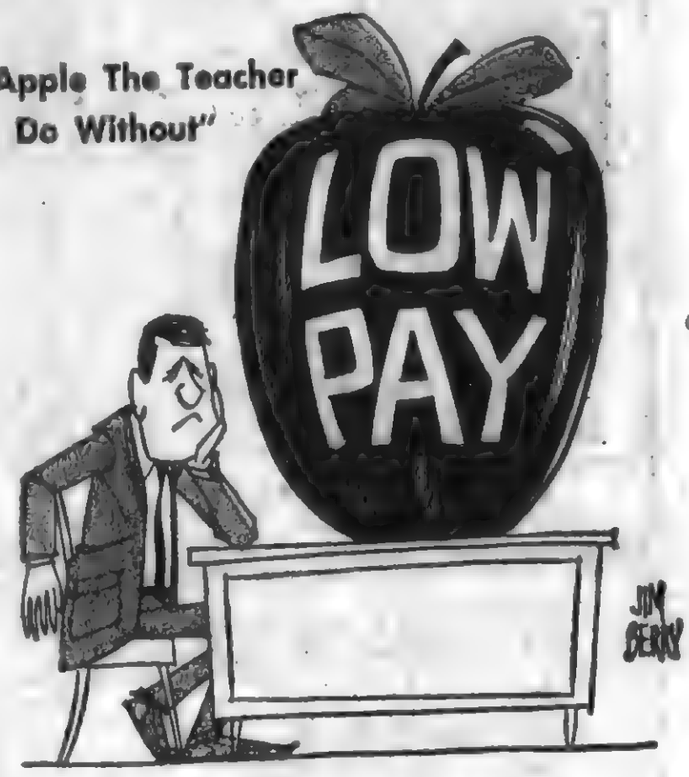
When a reappraisal of property is made for tax adjustment purposes, the schools gain very little because the millage rates outside the 10-mill limitation are reduced so as to return the same amount of money as before the reappraisal.

The year following reappraisal the schools will lose state money because the new and higher valuation is used as the local responsibility factor in the state foundation program formula resulting in less money from the state.

All school buildings must meet certain state requirements as to construction, size, safety, etc. All being built with local funds are constructed very economically and usually do not contain some desirable features because of lack of money. Buildings built with federal government help must meet certain standards which are higher and which evidence themselves when comparisons are made.

The present Madison Local school buildings are loaded to capacity. With the present increase of 120 pupils per year being upped to 300 or 500 per year because of many housing projects under way, many more school rooms are needed immediately. (It takes from one to two years after a bond issue is passed to have rooms ready for occupancy.)

The average increase per year in the four fastest growing districts of the Franklin County School System is 363 (Reynoldsburg, 399; Jefferson, 224; Hamilton, 448; Scioto-Darby, 381).



As to curriculum — there are no subjects offered in any of the Franklin County schools not listed in the Minimum Standards for Ohio High Schools. In fact, the curriculum does not offer several subjects recommended to make it broad enough to meet the needs of all the students.

Half-day sessions simply shorten the day and narrow the curriculum available to the students thus denying them the opportunity of a broad educational program.

Study halls serve two purposes: 1. a scheduled time when students can study and make preparations for reporting and reciting, 2. a programming device whereby the daily periods, the students and the teachers can be brought together in the most effective and economical manner.

According to figures released by the State Department of Education for the school year 1960-61 (latest available) the Madison Local Schools spent $336.76 per student and the Washington Local Schools spent $347.70 per student. The state average for all local schools was $355.05 per student. The Franklin County average was $335.06 per student. Of the amount spent per student, Madison spent 66.4 per cent and Washington spent 64.6 per cent for instructional costs. The county average was 66.8 per cent and the state average was 71.7 per cent.

The schools are most anxious to communicate with the school patrons at all times. We want to keep our people informed. Schools are the biggest "business" in any community. The number of students is growing by leaps and bounds, the resources to offer them an educational opportunity equal to the demands of the times must be greatly increased.

Says County Neglecting Needs Of Children

Our county commissioners seem to put Franklin Village at the bottom of the list. Why?

Pray tell me how the people of Franklin County can enjoy this festive holiday season knowing full well that Franklin Village (county children's home) is out of money.

The plain facts are: "The food the children will eat for the rest of this year is in cans and boxes in their storeroom. Balanced meals will not be possible, except for milk and a sparse smattering of meat and fresh fruits. It is not a rumor to say that the children may have "gruel" for Christmas; except that the gruel may be cornflakes or bean soup." The above quote comes direct from a bulletin published by a citizens advisory committee to the Child Welfare Board.

I feel sure many people will read this and other articles and the village will be swamped with donations for Christmas, but what will happen in January and the months to follow?

With all the great organizations in this county who really want to do worthwhile welfare work, why can't they get together and select a coordinator and pool their funds for the greatest good?

Since our county commissioners see fit to spend most of their limited funds on improved roads, new sewers, professional health services, etc., there seems to be only two answers; either we band together and take care of our problem or send more dollars to Washington and get back nickels in exchange, due to the tremendous cost of federal aid.

Reynoldsburg Schools Thank Public For Aid

Prior to the recent elections, the Reynoldsburg Board of Education asked the citizens of the school district to continue their support of the local schools by approving the renewal of a three-mill operating levy. The voters responded by giving one of the largest majority approvals given to any school issue in Franklin County at this election.

We want to thank the residents of the Reynoldsburg school district for their approval of this levy as it is only through public support that we may continue to build and improve our school program in a growing community.

We also want to express our appreciation to the local newspapers, Parent-Teacher associations, and all individuals who helped in the publicity and distribution of information on the issue. We shall continue in our attempt to provide the best possible school program within our means for the children in the Reynoldsburg school district, with the hope that our efforts may merit the continued support of the community.

R. P. Heischman, Executive Head
Reynoldsburg Board of Education

Refugee Aid Exists

I want to call your attention to a mistake in a story appearing in some of your papers. It was in the story by Ed Churchill concerning Cuban refugees.

In this article was a statement as follows: "There is no official organization in Columbus for such work . . .". The reference was to work with refugees.

The Catholic Welfare Bureau of the Diocese has had a program for the resettlement of refugees since 1949, and since then has assisted over 600. In addition, many unaccompanied Cuban children have been placed in this area.

The Welfare Bureau receives requests for settlement of Cuban refugees through Catholic Relief Services — National Catholic Welfare Conference, which maintains an office in Miami. Any local home or job possibilities are filled by asking this organization to select a family to send here.

I am sure that there are other local organizations with national affiliations who operate in this field as we do.

Frequent references to this program are found in "The Catholic Times."

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" Zuss — U.S.A.

Only hungry minds ever become educated. Such minds become educated whether or not they go to school. There is a vast difference between "schooling" and education.

No schoolmaster can make brains out of custard pie in any skull, and unless people are born with "food furniture" in their attic, a lot of money can be wasted on "furniture polish."

It's a tragedy that many richly endowed minds are born into an unfriendly environment where the greatest American right is to be born dumb and stay that way.

The brightest fact about education is that many highly equipped kids, born into stupid environments, do manage to survive every negative influence and then the age-old adage proves itself again, namely "one more beautiful rose has bloomed in a dung hill."

The real beginning of the whole learning process is good mental furniture. Then someone gives that mind a real "smell of fire." Then the spark of inspiration has a chance because the main draft of hungry [illegible] is drawing like any draft or flue should draw.

Every good mind becomes a superb fanning mill that sorts the wheat from the chaff — meaning a good "forgettery" is just as essential as a trained memory.

So much of so-called education is rubbish and trivia, and so little is eternal truth that always works. The greatest debt any mind owes to itself is to have as nearly as possible a "good watchman" at the gate of his five senses. The unlearning process is the other half of all genuine education.

College Grads Being 'Short Changed'

Nuts to education!

Why should parents be so concerned with the education of their children? What do they want to do, deprive them of the "good things" in life—the split-level home, the $4000 chrome-plated car?

Perhaps it would be best if we encourage our children to quit school as soon as the law permits. Then they all can become apprentices to carpenters, plumbers, plasterers, toolmakers, bricklayers, etc.

McPeek

By the time their foolish companions who remained in the classrooms are taking initiation pledges to college fraternities, the dropouts will be craftsmen earning between $4 and $6 per hour . . . with time-and-a-half for overtime.

And what does the future hold for the college graduate? If he's a teacher and devotes three or four extra summers to acquiring a master's degree he eventually may earn as much as $6000 or $7000 a year.

Of course, that doesn't measure up to the carpenter's or bricklayer's $10,000 or $12,000, but if the teacher foregoes having children and sends his wife out to find a job, he too may acquire a split-level home.

The story, according to recent government figures, is much the same for accountants (average annual income of $7000 to $8000), lawyers (about the same), journalists (about equal to teachers' pay), etc.

The irony is that in hypocritical Russia -- which touts itself as being the workers Utopia -- the blue collar and white-collar employes are rewarded substantially more than are craftsmen.

But here in America, where self-advancement and achievement are rightly glorified under our free enterprise system, it appears the crafts and trades rapidly are taking the forefront.

Don't misunderstand, I'm four-square in favor of fair wages for everyone. God knows the "working class" was much exploited in the early industrial days of our country, but, and you may call it sour grapes if you wish, I firmly believe that education and the effort to improve one's position should be justly rewarded.

If a carpenter is paid $5 an hour, I think the teacher, the lawyer, the accountant, etc., should be paid substantially more.

But it isn't likely this will be so. We have too many fat-headed nincompoops in Washington enamored with the "labor vote" who will see to that.

Such as the other day when the Pentagon put the squeeze on Lockheed Aircraft. No one will deny the critical necessity of advancing our missile production, but it's a sad state when the government knocks the props out from under a strike-threatened corporation that already pays one of the highest wage rates in industry.

Perhaps the political vote seekers wish to develop a mess on the West Coast similar to what they permitted at Cape Canaveral, where missile project electricians and other crafts workers and laborers have earned as much as $30,000 and $40,000 a year.

If this is the case, let me repeat: to hell with education.

Christ Presents Challenge To Every Age

We are living in a challenging age.

It is an age that demands the best in man to reveal the best for humanity. This is not an age for pessimism, nor for dispair, nor for defeatism. This is an age of challenge.

Among the many and inspiring challenges given to mankind is the one by Jesus Christ. During His last days on earth, He said, "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you." Three significant things are revealed in His challenge for every age.

Dr. Belcastro

First, he challenges every man to be an internationalist. Jesus was the first true internationalist. He belongs to all of humanity. He challenges His followers to win the world to one humanity. We are living in an age when we must rise above provincialism and nationalism to internationalism. Today, we are forced by the rise of events to choose between one world or chaos. He challenges us to choose one world.

Second, He challenges every man to be redemptive. Jesus came into the world to transform the inner life of hate, selfishness and unbelief in man into a life of love through a full fellowship with God as He has revealed His fullness in history. There are many people who are in need of transformation, redemption and personality plus. Today we are forced to live with and among people of hate or of love, of sin or of righteousness. He challenges us to lead people to experience love and righteousness through the fullness of God.

Third, He challenges every man to be a social builder. Society lives on ideas. The character of any society is not determined by its armies, nor its buildings, but its ideas. Jesus revealed the eternal ideas of a true society, especially in His Sermon on the Mount. He challenges us to be reformers, pioneers, dreamers and builders of a society whose ideas enrich the cultural environment of humanity.

It is great to be alive. No age is so dark that one cannot see the stars. Let us rise and permit the challenge of Christ to lead us forward toward a better tomorrow.

—Dr. Joe Belcastro

EVENTIDE

Since dawn a great, creative sun has pressed the kiss of life upon responding earth
while we have toiled the hours.
Come, now, my love,
in this brief intertime, before we rest upon the breast of earth, let us be one while nature's vespers, like a benediction, fill the heights and depths of earth and sky.
This magic time shall pass, but briefly now its glory fills our hearts and it shall be a token of our blessed memory.

There is something about eventide that goes deep into minds and souls. For most, twilight is a time for gathering up odds and ends of the day to be stored for another time while they seek the haven that is home, there to rest and be refreshed, and to commune once again with kinsmen of blood and love.

We remember the day, sort out its adventures, and try to bind the wounds of mind and spirit. Perhaps before we were astir, first light and the bright star of morning spread like sentinels across the land.

At noontime, with heaven's light diffused over hill and stream and wood and over men's structures of steel and concrete, we may have wondered just what was reality or dream.

But at eventide, as we approach the love and light and warmth of home, we see the man in the moon with that astonished look on his face, or Tannhauser's evening star already glowing like celestial candlelight against the growing darkness.

Columbus To Auction School Site

Columbus Board of Education has approved the sale at auction of nine acres of land in Lincoln Village South to the South-Western School District, Wednesday, Jan. 9.

The land was purchased by the Columbus Board of Education for $44,000 in August, 1961, to assure a future school site in the rapidly developing subdivision. At the time, South-Western District was without funds for the purchase.

By its purchase, Columbus Board reserved a location for a school when the need for one was evident, by the South-Western School District or, in the event of annexation, by Columbus.

State law, however, does not permit one school district to negotiate directly with another school district for the sale of real estate. One means of permitting the conveyance of the nine-acre property is at a public auction.

Paul Hayes, superintendent of the South-Western City School District, has informed Columbus Superintendent Harold H. Eibling that South-Western will be in a position to let bids to build on the site within the next two months.

The auction will be held at 10 a.m., Jan. 9 in the Columbus Board of Education Building at 270 E. State-st.

Jay Cees Wives Slate Yule Auction

Blue Law Men Are Pleased

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Greater Columbus Sunday Association officials are pointing with pride this week to Cincinnati and citing that city as the "model" area throughout the state as far as enforcement of the Sunday Sales law is concerned.

Gene King, association secretary, is envious of the Queen City but, more important, he says he knows why Cincinnati is outstanding in the fight, and these reasons are disturbing him.

Positive law enforcement by Cincinnati officals was leading King's list. Secondly, the secretary feels that that city's merchants have "excellent support for the concept of Sunday observance from labor and religious leaders."

Here in Columbus, the story is far from a bright one.

King says he is "certainly pleased" with the amount of affidavits being filed in and around greater Columbus but he is far from satisfied.

Turning to Cincinnati once again, King pointed out that none of the major national discount department stores that have maintained a policy of opening seven days a week are open on Sundays in that Ohio city.

He mentioned Ariana and Shoppers' Fair—two discount stores operating there and in Columbus.

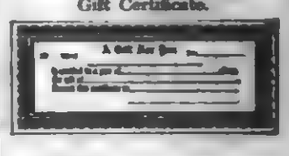
Both of the discount stores have been operating here on Sunday, King said, while they remain closed in Cincinnati.

As far as King sees it now, greater Columbus is the area that's falling behind the most in Ohio.

Strict enforcement of Ohio's blue laws is expected to start in Lancaster next Sunday, for example. That Fairfield County city's mayor, J. Harvey Weis, has decided to enforce the statute despite refusal by his council members.

Whitehall is taking big strides toward more vigorous enforcement and so was Reynoldsburg until that suburban city's council decided Monday night to abandon action.

Regardless of temporary setbacks resulting from halts of surrounding communities to give enforcement, King said "we are still going to roll full steam ahead — and, we hope, even at a greater rate than before."



The complexion of the Sunday sales story is an ever-changing one since voters indicated that the law should stand as it is. But, right now in Columbus, King and other association officials, see it as anemic whi[illegible]

Future "vitamin pills" by the association should pep things up, however.

Liquor Dept. Notifies West Side Council

Stanley Doran, chairman of the Welfare Committee of the West Side Neighborhood Council, stated he had received a reply from George Dick, director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control, regarding recent inquiries by the council of permit applications in the near West Side area.

The Liquor Department, wrote Dick, has turned the application of Genevieve Burns and Lucille Hopkins to transfer a D-2 permit (allows high-powered beer and wine consumption) to 517 Harmon-av from 148 W. Long-st over to the hearing section of the department.

The West Side Council will be notified of the hearing date.

Dick also stated that a D-2 permit request by James Zaharias for 1180 W. Broad-st has been cancelled by the applicant and, therefore, will not be set for a hearing, as the council committee had requested.

The Welfare Committee, according to Doran, is trying to work out a plan with the Liquor Control Department whereby the WSNC would be notified of every application within the near West Side.

The committee was formed last Thursday and is headed by Rev. Al Rose. Other members are Wendell Manson, Rev. L. L. Young, Rev. A. E. Bradow, Mrs. Helen McGuire, Stanley Doran, Sam Alford, Walt Cunningham and Al Wilder.

WESTINGHOUSE CHOIR TO SING THIS SUNDAY

WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC CHORAL group will sing Sunday, Dec. 9, 7:30 o.m. on the steps of the Capitol in front of the Nativity Scene. The 40 voice mixed chorus performs at numerous civic functions. Formed four years ago, they sing sacred, secular, and light popular music, under the direction of Herb Yenser, director of vocal music at Upper Arlington High School. Yenser has studied for six summers with Fred Waring and company. The chorus meets each Tuesday for an hour and half of practice. It is one of several industrial choruses in the city. The program will be in cooperation with the Christmas in Capitol Square project. Schools, churches and other groups also sing in conjunction with the project from now until Christmas. The presentation will include selections "Joy To The World," "Silent Night" "Let There Be Peace," "Silver Bells" and "Ring Those Christmas Bells."

166th Infantry Recruiting; New Program Is offered

Enlistment in the 166th Infantry, 37th Infantry Division, Ohio National Guard, located at Haubrich Armory, 4094 Sullivant-av, provides a young man at the age of 17 years or older who is a high school graduate or in his senior year and who has had no prior military service an opportunity to fulfill all of his reserve military service obligation right at home, with the exception of his attendance at the required month active duty training program.

New Program

A man 17 years or older without prior service could enlist for a period of six years (period of military obligation). This enlistee can be assured that after satisfactory service during the first three years of his six years enlistment, he then can be transferred to the inactive national guard to serve out the remaining years of his enlistment if he so desires.

This arrangement can also assure him that in event of general mobilization, he could serve with his home unit rather than be placed into a strange unit.

According to Lt. Col. John W. Spain, executive officer of 166th Infantry, enlistment in the 166th Infantry Ohio National Guard provides a young man with many benefits, a few of which are:

1. Immediate entrance into the six-month active duty program is now possible.

2. Enlisting exempts a young man from being selected to serve two years on active duty through the Selective Service.

3. The 166th Infantry provides many jobs. If he is mechanically minded, the array of equipment in this organization will offer all young men a challenge. If he likes administration, the available job titles in this are are abundant. He will be kept informed of all the new developments in weaponry—even rocketry.

The 166th Infantry does everything possible to develop men with high ideals and strong character.

Visits Welcome

The people at Haubrich Armory, 4094 Sullivant-av, are available every day and will take personal interest in any young man who is interested in serving their country with the Ohio National Guard.

Call Lt. Col. John W. Spain or Master Sergeant Walter G. Donaugh at BR. 6-1166 or visit these people at the armory and permit them to explain in detail what the Ohio National Guard has to offer.

Alum Crest Patients 'Shop' Free At Holiday Gift Store

The Womens Committee, now celebrating its tenth year, opened the Holiday Gift Shop at Alum Crest Hospital Tuesday, Dec. 4.

When the shop closed Dec. 6, the 225 patients at the hospital had had the opportunity of doing their Christmas shopping under ideal conditions.

They were met in their rooms by Crest or Women's Committee members with a wheel chair or a steady arm to take them to the Holiday Shop, where they were assisted in making selection of a gift to give and one for themselves.

Packages were gift wrapped and mailed by members of the Committee.

A gift cart was taken to the bedside of those who could not come to the shop.

Gifts were displayed in a typical Christmas setting, with decorations changed from year to year. Traditional, however, was the Nativity scene.

When shopping was finished, patients stopped for a cup of tea and homemade Christmas cookies in the occupational therapy room across from the Gift Shop. Christmas carols were played on the portable organ.

The shop, free to the patients, made possible through the inspiration of the Women's Committee's first president, Mrs. Raymond Spohr.

Funds to provide merchandise for the shop are made available to the Committee from contributions made by interested individuals, organizations, business and industrial groups.

Chairmen, named by Mrs. Norman Vick, president of the Women's Committee, for the 1962 Holiday Gift Shop are, Mrs. Louis Shofner, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Toepfner and Mrs. Jack Kull, purchasing; Mrs. Douglas Dobson, collections of individual gifts; Mrs. Byron Hartle, shop assistants; Mrs. Paul Falter, gift wrapping and mailing; Mrs. Oscar Ruffing and Mrs. Fred Gierhart, music and tea table, and Mrs. Clark Pritchett, publicity.

20 Garden Clubs Slate Gallery Show

The Columbus Region, Garden Club of Ohio, will hold a flower show in cooperation with the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 8 and 9, at the Gallery.

The show, "Christmas Magic," will be focused on holiday decorations and arrangements, and classes approach the theme from every angle of design and interpretation.

Show judging will take place Saturday from 12-2. It will then be open to the public from 3-9, and on Sunday noon to 4.

One of the show highlights is a class for interpreting through plant materials a Madonna of Holy Family picture selected by the exhibitor from the permanent collection at the gallery.

Another interesting class, "Santa's Surprise," requires the exhibitor to bring a gift suitable for a man or woman at the Franklin County Home, in original gift wrapping. Gifts will be placed under a large tree decorated by Art Gallery children.

Columbus Region, Garden Club of Ohio, comprises 20 garden clubs in Central Ohio. All will be competing in the show.

Many of the clubs have prepared unusual Christmas decorations and arrangements to be offered for sale at the show include bunches of "grapes" of buckeyes and chestnuts, containers designed by flower arrangers, ornaments, dry plant materials for arrangements, gardening and flower arranging books, and birdhouses.

Flower show chairman is Mrs. W. C. Harrison of Franklin Garden Club, vice president of Garden Club of Ohio.

Huge 'Households', 'Families' Too Confront Professional Housekeepers

The art of housekeeping a home—keeping a family happy by making their surroundings clean, comfortable and inviting is the profession of many women, and quite a few men.

Creating a "home away from home" in hospitals and hotels, motels and inns, college dormitories and clubs, is the trust of executive housekeepers; their "families" are patients and guests.

Housekeeping in a large department store, historical home or club is also the job for a skilled executive.

Management of even a small household is a demanding job, and the professional's problems are multiplied many fold—by the number of rooms in her care, the number of occupants whose comfort is her concern.

And what makes an executive housekeeper?

A lot of know-how, plenty of experience in directing a large crew of workers, a touch of artistry in the arrangement of a room, judgment and financial ability in purchase and supply, poise in the face of the unexpected emergencies that crop up in any well-run "household," a large measure of good common sense and, of course, the ability to be everywhere at once.

Individual demands of their jobs are as varied as the "households" of the 60 housekeeping directors and assistants who are members of Columbus Chapter, National Executive Housekeepers Association. Each has its personalized problems; each calls for different planning and administration.

Even the needs of patients vary from general to specialized hospitalized, as do hotel guests—from travelers to residents. And clubs and department stores present a still different situation.

Hotel rooms, tastefully decorated and sparkling clean for each new guest, suggest no clue of the planning and activity that made them so. Supervision of maids and porters, purchase and maintenance of linen and cleaning supplies, draperies and slipcovers, are but one phase of the housekeeper's [illegible].

And in hospitals there is the added need for sterile cleanliness of operating rooms, emergency rooms and treatment centers. All this, as well as the patients' rooms, corridors and offices are the housekeeper's responsibility.

There is a beehive of activity behind the scenes of a large department store, with tons of merchandise received, dispatched to receiving centers, and from there to departments. Clean up of this chaos is the role of the store's directors of house keeping.

At F and R Lazarus, cartons and paper go into the huge hopper, are "chewed up," blown through a cyclone machine, and finally emerge in small pieces, where they are baled. As many as 50 to 500 bales in a day are disposed of in this manner.

A crew of nearly 100 under the direction of the store's executive housekeeper, keep the floors of the stores clean and inviting, operate passenger freight elevators and take charge of emergencies.

Many of today's housekeeping executives were trained in the school of experience, their on the job know-how, developed further by educational monthly meetings of the National Executive Housekeeping Association, and quarterly meetings with the Ohio Hospital Association.

There are also training schools at the University of Kentucky, Kellog Center in Lansing, Mich., and a two-months' course in Washington, D. C.

Ohio State University has followed the lead of other universities throughout the country, and will soon offer a course leading to a degree in executive housekeeping.

Included will be a study of basic social sciences, personnel management, budgeting and purchasing, interior design, maintenance controls, safety and sanitation.

Columbus Chapter, NEHA, one of 45 chapters of the organization, has done a great deal towards developing the profession. Originally organized in 1932, soon after the founding the national organization it disbanded after a short period.

The chapter was reactivated in 1942, and since then has grown steadily.

This year's officers are, Mrs. Maude Chaney, executive housekeeper at Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital, president; Mrs. Maud Kinkhead, Doctor's Hospital, vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Taylor, University Hospital, recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Long, Bradley Hall, OSU, corresponding secretary, and Miss Edna Pfaltzgraf, University Hospital, treasurer.

THESE ARE THE HOUSES THEY KEEP—The Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital and University Hospital are the "households" of these housekeepers. From left are, Mrs. Mary Hoffman, 382 Thurman-av, night executive housekeeper of University Hospital; Mrs. Luella Broerman, 1269 Lancaster-av, executive housekeeper of the Ohio Rehabilitation Center, and Mrs. Catherine Hawkins, 2189 Summit-st, executive assistant at the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital.

NERVE-CENTER of housekeeping of F and R Lazarus and Co. is the office of James W. Mahaffey of 6320 Creon-dr, Reynoldsburg, at left.

Figures Show Need For More Catholic Sisters

A colorful, illustrated booklet titled "Where Do Sisters Come From?" is being distributed this week to all adults attending mass in the Catholic churches of the area.

The booklet points out that 10 years ago in the Diocese of Columbus, there was a total of 18,444 Catholic students, and 468 sisters to teach them. Today, there are 32,787 Catholic students, and 617 teaching sisters, representing an increase of 78 per cent in students, but only eight per cent increase in teaching sisters.

Ten years ago in this area there were 97 nursing sisters in seven Catholic hospitals, caring for 85,020 patients of all races and creeds. Today, in six expanded Catholic hospitals, there are only 60 nursing sisters, caring for 130,959 patients.

"Where Do Sisters Come From?" is the fourth in a series of monthly booklets which comprise the Adult Education Program for Vocations, being sponsored by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, and directed by Msgr. Paul J. O'Dea, director of vocations for the diocese.

NATIVITY SCENE with hand-made stables and tan imported figures are the Christmas-gift project of the Bergman family, 809 Binns-blvd. Started three years ago proceeds from the annual project are given to their children's school, St. Mary Magdalene. From left are Joseph, three; Michael, eight; Mr. and Mrs. William Bergman, baby Jane, one and a half, and six-year-old June.

Family Contributes Their Christmas Project Proceeds To St. Mary Magdalene School

Christmas is for giving . . . and the Bergman family has employed their time, talent and hands to make this spirit of the season live in their home.

The household at 809 Binns-blvd is busy, long before December, with plans and preparations for their annual giving project.

Two years ago, when their oldest child started to school, the Bergmans searched for a way to give a Christmas present to the school.

Wishing that every family might have a large, handsome Nativity scene in their home, they chose this as their combined project.

Each member has a hand in the production . . . making the stables, choosing the figures, assembling them into sets, taking orders and making deliveries.

And proceeds from the sales are the Bergmans' gift to the school.

About 30 sets were sold the first year, but sales are expected to at least double this Christmas.

Two friends have volunteered to lend a hand as stable carpenters this year. John Ezzo and Frank Mehling have joined the Bergmans in constructing the sets.

Orders for the Nativity scenes, at $6 each, may be placed by calling Mrs. Bergman, BR. 9-3012.

'GOLD RUSH' FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Park Federal West Sets Grand Opening

The grand opening of Park Federal Savings and Loan Association's new branch office for the West Side will be celebrated Friday and Saturday, Dec. 7 and 8, Carl Fergus, the president and a director of Park Federal, announced today. Known as Park Federal West, the office is located at 4770 W. Broad-st, in Lincoln Village next to Big Bear.

Hours for the two special grand opening days are, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

Opening of Park Federal West comes during the well-known Columbus financial institution's 72nd year of progress. The public is invited to attend the gala event and to inspect the facilities. Souvenirs will be distributed.

An exciting "Gold Rush" will highlight grand opening days. Every person who visits the new branch office on Friday and Saturday will have the opportunity to "prospect for gold" in a "gold mine" in the lobby. A mined nugget that glows brilliantly when tested at an "assay office" will bring its "prospector" a prize.

"Gold Rush" prizes include shish kabob grill, electric popcorn poppers, silver water pitchers, silver casseroles, chip 'n dip dish, and Better Homes and Gardens Holiday Cook Book. Officials stated that any adult, or child accompanied by an adult, may try once on each of the two opening days, and that prizes would be limited to one per person.

The two grand opening days will usher in a special get-acquainted period at Park Federal West, featuring the awarding of free gifts for thrift. During this period, those persons who open a savings account of $100 or more may select as their free gift either a large Panda Bear or a "Tanner 50" double holster set by Mattel. The get-acquainted offer is at Park Federal West only, and is limited to one free gift per person.

The new office is open six days a week, officials stated. Regular business hours are 12 noon to 6 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday; 12 noon to 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday; and 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Opening of the branch in Lincoln Village brings the number of Park Federal offices in Greater Columbus to four. Main office is located at 20 E. Long-st in downtown Columbus, Northwest office at 1885 Northwest-blvd, and the Worthington office at 777 High-st on Worthington's square. The association permits business to be transacted at any of its offices regardless of where the savings account or home loan account is located.

The new branch makes Park Federal facilities particularly convenient for thousands of families throughout the West Side, Fergus said.

"Our newest branch provides main-office service with neighborhood convenience," the Park Federal president stated. "It offers the twofold opportunity for safe, high-dividend savings and sound home financing. And in addition to modern home loans and savings accounts, Park Federal West provides many other financial services.

'Among these other services are investment certificates, home improvement loans, night depository, travelers' checks, money orders, loans on savings accounts, free parking, and selling and redeeming U. S. Savings Bonds."

Park Federal's new branch office for the West Side combines pleasing modern design with functional planning. It provides maximum efficiency in savings and home loan service and the utmost in customer comfort.

Harry Hewson

The exterior features a distinctive granite mosaic that comes from Cold Springs, Minn.

Interior of the office is of gum wood. The service counter, made of gum wood with an aluminum frame, is curved and contains four teller stations. Office areas are carpeted. Wall panels are covered with cork paper imported from Spain.

Resident manager of Park Federal West will be Harry Hewson, a graduate of the school of Business Administration of Franklin University. Hewson, who was formerly with the City Attorney's office in the department of Land Acquisition, lives with his wife and three children at 735 Holly Hill-dr.

President Fergus pointed out that assets of the association today total over $32,000,000.

Park Federal is a member of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation which insures all savings accounts up to ten thousand dollars. Membership is also maintained in the Federal Home Loan Bank System, the National Savings and Loan League, and the Columbus Savings and Loan League.

Besides President Fergus, other Park Federal officers include Jacob C. Bass, vice-president and director; H. W. Brinker, vice-president and director; Jack W. Chilcote, secretary; T. F. Hambleton, treasurer; John C. Fergus, attorney and director; William F. Meyer, assistant treasurer; James D. MacAulay, assistant attorney; and James E. Boudrie, manager Property Improvement Loan Department.

Rounding out the association's directors are Richard C. Addison, Frank T. Sayers, Dr. Charles W. Harding, and Walter E. Barr.

GM Gives Living Cost Allowance

General Motors today announced an upward revision of one cent an hour in its cost-of-living allowance to hourly-rate employes and a comparable increase to salaried workers.

The revision becomes effective with the first pay period beginning after Dec. 1, and will apply to Ternstedt employes here.

GM wages are reviewed quarterly and adjusted in line with the consumer price index of the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The next review will be in February, based on the January BLS index.

Santa To Visit Humane Society Animal Shelter

Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Humane Society, announced that Santa Claus in full regalia will visit the Humane Society's animal shelter at 10 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 13. Santa Claus will make his annual distribution of Christmas goodies to the puppies, dogs, kittens, and cats which are the temporary "guests" of the animal shelter while waiting to be adopted.

The public is invited to take their boys and girls to the animal shelter to see Santa Claus. Invitations also are extended to institutions, children's organizations, nurseries, and kindergartens to be in attendance.

Justice said there are many pets of all sizes and types available at the shelter for adoption and would make wonderful Christmas presents.

This event is sponsored by the KEN-L-Treats Division of the Quaker Oats Company. Santa Claus will be represented by Russ Baldwin.

WEST'S RON McDaniels (23) outjumps a pair of Zanesville cagers to drop in two points for the Cowboys in Friday night's game. McDaniels shot and additional seven points wasn't quite enough to offset the Zanesville quintet's torrid late game scoring as they topped West, 71-67, in an overtime. (Photo by Craig Weaver).

AQUINAS WINS PAIR

West Edged, 71-67, Ready, Family Bow

By BOB LYNCH

The West High Cowboys basketeers made their second appearance of the season at Zanesville Friday night, but met with little success, as they were defeated in an overtime by the host Blue Devils, 72-67.

Lead in the game changed hands and the score was knotted many times before the 65-65 tie which necessitated the overtime period.

THE COWBOYS jumped out to two and three point leads as the game began, but the Blue Devils quickly overcame them and ran up an 18-10 first quarter advantage.

However, the Cowboys were not down and out yet, as they scrapped their way to only a two-point halftime deficit, 34-32. Six foot center Jerry Carter and guard Rich Neely contributed 10 first-half points.

The second half continued the Cowboy burst, as they roared to a 53-47 third-quarter lead. Plagued by cold shooting, however, the Cowboys were unable to sustain their advantage and fell behind during the hectic fourth quarter push by the Blue Devils.

THE COWBOYS owned a 59-55 lead with approximately four minutes remaining, but then inexplicably went into a stall, which proved to be their downfall. They were unable to delay effectively, and the Blue Devils managed to knot the score at 65-all, to the delight of the Zanesville fans.

The Blue Devils opened the scoring in the overtime period, totaling seven points on two field goals and three free throws. The Cowboys' lone tally came on a fielder by Lew Coles.

Jerry Carter and Rich Neely led the Cowboys' scoring attack with 16 points, with Lew Coles one behind. Charlie Castle was the only other Cowboy in double figures. For the host Zanesville squad, Ron Tibbs led the scoring with 22 points.

The defeat evened the Cowboys record at 1-1.

SHORT BUT vet-loaded Aquinas racked up a pair of wins over the weekend — a 52-45 verdict over St. Charles and a 53-46 win over Hartley's Hawks.

The Terriers showed consistency in two respects in the double win. Tom Woodward paced the Irish scoring attack both nights, dropping in 22 points against the Carolians and 18 versus the Hawks.

In both games, Aquinas pulled away in the second half for its victories. The Terriers were tied with the Cards, 34-34, after three quarters Friday night and trailed Hartley, 25-24, at halftime Saturday evening.

IN OTHER area play, Bishop Ready suffered two losses and Holy Family one over the [illegible].

The Silver Knights bowed, 69-33, to a strong Zanesville Rosecrans quintet Friday night before dropping a 52-51 overtime decision to Monroe Township Saturday.

Dave Grundell's 10 points led Ready against Zanesville while Jay Kubin's 23-point effort wasn't enough to prevent Monroe from posting its fourth straight victory.

HOLY FAMILY swapped leads with Rosary throughout the first period and then slowly fell behind to suffer its third straight loss, 47-40, at the hands of the Crusaders.

Dick Getz was high for the Raiders with 19 points while teammate Roger McKendry popped in 13 more.

Weekend play finds Marion-Franklin visiting West Friday night and Arlington's Golden Bears dropping in on the Cowboys Saturday. Ready visits New Albany Saturday night.

Prestige Worrying Is Latest Indoor Sport

Last week we had turned our weary attention away from the remindants of the Cuban crisis and those other bizarre details that seem to clutter up 90 per cent of the front page these days and had buried ourselves in the tranquility of the sports pages.

There was always some good news there we knew and we were beginning to convince ourselves that maybe everything in the world wasn' tas bad as we thought.

WE WERE convinced, that is, until a friend of ours walked in to talk a little sports.

We were explaining how lucky we thought we were in reporting sports instead of the woes of the world these days.

Somehow the conversation got around to prestige or maybe the lack of it and this guy began to point out that it wasn't political prestige we had to worry about today but rather our increasing reverses in the world of sports.

"WE DON'T think we have much to worry about," we said, sure that American sports prestige was moving toward new frontiers.

"Nope," he said, frowning. "It's been a long time coming but remember that day at the Olympics when (John) Thomas couldn't make it over the bar. That was the beginning."

"Well, yes—but—"

"And how about our increasing reverses in the other Olympic contests to say nothing about the Japanese situation."

"The Japanese situation?", we asked.

"WELL, SURE," he said. "The Detroit Tigers didn't win all their games against the Japanese All-Stars a couple of weeks ago. And how about all these American baseball players considering joining this new Japanese league."

"Well, we've still got football," we said, growing a little [illegible].

"Nope. All the good college players are going to Canada."

"Basketball?"

"The Russian teams that are touring the country are winning too many games."

"Tennis?"

"The Australians."

"Hockey?"

"The Canadians again."

NOW WE WERE beginning to feel that big knot in our stomach, usually reserved for reading the front page.

"And if all that isn't bad enough," he said, "how about this Swede who's heavyweight champion of the world."

"Well, now there's where we've got 'em," we said proudly. "The current champion is Sonny Liston and he's an American."

"Liston? You mean that gangster is the world champion now?"

"Gangster? Liston's no gangster. He might have had some kind of an unforunate past but—"

"Yes sir, don't worry about our political prestige. It's the ground we've lost in the sports world that you should worry about."

"Oh well," he said, "there's always the comics. But then —"

We pushed him out the door and poured a big glass of milk. We're afraid we're getting ulcers.

BITS OF WIT(T) — WLW-C has solved the problem of a Jerry Lucas-less Ohio State cage team this season. The OSU All-American will appear on a post-game show, following six of the Channel 4 telecasts of the Ohio State basketball games this season.

We were happy to note that there are still a few colleges that don't put the entire emphasis on winning football. Kansas State might have set a precedent last week when it unanimously suggested the rehiring of grid coach Doug Weaver to another three-year contract. Weaver's won-loss mark over the past three seasons stands at 3-27.

Explorer Club Moves Indoors

With the coming of winter, the Columbus Underwater Explorers Club is beginning its indoor skindiving instruction program for new members.

The instructions cover the basic principles of both Skin and Scuba Diving. The diving course will begin with the student exhibiting his knowledge of basic swimming and will progress until the final checkout dive is held outdoors in early spring at Clark's Lake.

WHEN the student passes all of his or her qualification tests, he is awarded a certificate of Basic Diving Proficiency. Strict membership rules plus stiff safety procedures are observed at all times and make Underwater Explorers Club a safe and enjoyable way to participate in the sport.

Anyone interested in more information on either the club or the sport itself are asked to call Ed Lawson at BE. 7-6476 or Herb Gregory at CL. 8-3176.

Five Returnees Bolster Cowboy Wrestling Hopes

West High's varsity wrestling coach, John Butler, has high hopes for this year's edition of the Cowboy wrestling squad.

With five returning lettermen on the squad, Coach Butler feels that West's chances in the City League will be much improved. Two of these boys, Jim Pennington and Doug Byerly, were City League champions in their respective weight classes last season. The other three returning wrestlers are Gordon Brooks, Larry Moore and Art Clemmer.

IN OUTLINING this year's program for West wrestling, Coach Butler remarked, "High school wrestling is strictly scientific; it requires extensive training and much sacrifice. We are looking for the boy who wants to be a champion."

Varsity awards in wrestling are given in accordance with a point system. In order to qualify for a varsity award, a wrestler must average two points in each meet or be the best in his weight class for three-fourths of the season or place in the City or District Meet. Reserve awards will be made to all other boys who maintain their team membership throughout the season.

AMUSEMENTS

'Sound Of Music' Will Open Week's Engagement At Vets

One of the most popular musicals touring the country, "The Sound Of Music," will open in Columbus at Vets Memorial on Monday, Dec. 31, according to Mrs. Robert F. Boda of the Hartman Theater.

The bright musical is another in the presentations by the Theatre Guild subscription series which, most recently, brought "Mary, Mary" to the Hartman.

The masterpiece will run until Saturday, Jan. 5, with evening performances at 8:30 p.m. and matinees on Tuesday (New Year's Day) and Saturday at 2 p.m.

Richard Rodgers' happy melodies and the buoyant lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein 2nd give the show a "singing spirit."

This is a story about a family of singers — the Trapp family — and there could be no abler talents to tell it than Rodgers and Hammerstein.

Songs include "Do Re Mi," "The Sound of Music," "The Lonely Goatherd," "My Favorite Things" and "So Long, Farewell."

Starring in the smash musical hit will be Barbara Meister and John Myhers, along with Beatrice Krebs, Jack Collins and Martha Errolle.

The entire show is directed by Vincent J. Donehue.

Mail orders are being accepted now. Checks should be payable to the Hartman Box Office and accompanied by self-addressed, stamped return envelope. Alternate dates should be given.

"THE SOUND OF MUSIC" will fill the Columbus air for one week when it opens Monday, Dec. 31, at Veterans Memorial. The show stars Barbara Meister and John Myhers shown here singing one of the many beautiful Richard Rodgers melodies from the show. It runs here until Jan. 5 with a matinee on New Year's Day.

Cap Choir Dedicates Concert To Germans

The Capital University Chapel Choir Christmas concerts in Veterans Memorial Auditorium Sunday, Dec. 9, will be dedicated to the oppressed people of Eastern Germany.

The special dedication concerts were proposed by the choir members who sang behind the "Iron Curtain" last summer. Over 2,000 East Berliners heard the Capital University traveling choir.

Under the direction of Dr. Ellis E. Snyder, the Chapel Choir will sing at 3 and 8:30 p.m.

Kurt Meyers, student ticket manager, said all reserved tickets for both concerts are gone. However, as the tickets are issued free of charge, Meyers said he anticipates will not be claimed and will not be claimed and will be made available five minutes prior to each concert.

Players Club Will Premier Mystery-Melo

The Columbus premier of "Write Me a Murder," by Frederick ("Dial 'M' for Murder") Knott, opened at Players Club, 549 Franklinav, Wednesday, Dec. 5, at 8:30 p.m. and will run through Dec. 9.

Featured in this mystery-melodrama are Harry Graham, Margaret Ilg, Annie Sidesinger, Lew Gray, Noble Parrish, John Taylor and Sam McClintic.

This will be the 196th production of Players Club, now celebrating its fortieth anniversary.

Ferg's Sleeping A Little Later Now With New Show

In the days of WTVN-TV's "Morning Show," durable Frayshr Ferguson had to get up mighty early to flex his muscles and promote physical fitness around these parts.

He's sleeping a little later now, since the "Morning Show" bit left the air Dec. 1, 1961, and instead of arriving at the WTVN-TV studio at 7:30 a.m., he's getting there around 9:30 a.m. just on Saturday mornings and doing his "one-two-three bends" for the entire family.

Ferguson began his own show designed for "family participation" Dec. 1 of this year, and is concentrating heavily on the physical fitness of the youth of the community and the correct methods of exercise.

His show's called "Fitness by Ferg" and, although less than a month old now, has been receiving good response from the health hunters. Even the non-yugurt fans are tuning him in with good results.

That 7:30 a.m. grind of the old days must've been rough. This writer worked at the station then and can remember how we yawned good mornings to him and didn't envy him a bit having to put on the tights and do the deep breathing before breakfast.

Ferguson is also athletic director of the Columbus Athletic Club and is featuring weekly guests on his program, such as prominent athletes from the Columbus area, as well as outstanding youngsters from the Columbus Recreation Department and Public Schools.

He's doing an important job. Even I, who thought that enough stamina to change the ribbon on my Remington would suffice, am tuning him in.

OWU Dating 'Messiah' On December 16

Advance tickets are going out this weekend for the Dec. 16 presentation of Handel's "Messiah," by the Ohio Wesleyan University music department with three great artists.

The tickets will be distributed free of charge. Ticketholders will be admitted first to the two performances and those without tickets will be admitted to Gray Chapel 10 minutes before start of each performance.

Identical concerts will be given at 3 and 8 p.m. on Dec. 16, because of the popularity of the Christmas concert.

Participating in the performance of "The Messiah" will be the Ohio Wesleyan Symphony, Men's Glee Club, Women's Chorale, A Cappella Choir and the following soloists: Maude Nosler, Chicago, soprano; Evelyn Reynolds, visiting artist, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., alto; Robert Price, Riverside Church, New York, tenor, and Gordon Almstead, Ohio Wesleyan music department, bass.

Conducting will be Rexford Keller, chairman of the OWU music department.

Brief Bits . . .

The Ohio State basketball games are preempting a few good "Saturday Night at the Movies" episodes on WLW-C TV-4, but something tells me Central Ohio fans aren't objecting.

Just so you'll know what you missed, the Dec. 8 film, "No Down Payment" with Sheree North and Tony Randall has been bounced.

The station will be carrying "Desiree" in lilted Jean color Dec. 15, however. This stars Jean Simmons in the title role and Marlon Brando as Napoleon. Desiree was the merchant's daughter whom Napoleon jilted to marry Josephine.

Air-time is 9 p.m.

Speaking of things being bounced. Channel 4 reports that the network is dropping both "Saints and Sinners" and "It's a Man's World" as of Feb. 4.

Both shows, which fell short in the ratings, are going to be replaced by "Monday Night at the Movies" which will feature late 20th Century Fox releases from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

TB On TV 4

"Let's Live" at 11:30 a.m., Sunday, Dec. 9 on TV 4 will have as the subject "TB Control." Discussing this topic will be Gerald D. Fry, executive director of the Columbus and Franklin County TB Society; Dr. Harold I. Humphrey, superintendent of Benjamin Franklin Hospital; Dr. Ollie Goodloe, City of Columbus Health Commissioner; Dr. Joseph R. Boyle, medical director of Benjamin Franklin Clinic, and John Dickey, registrar of Franklin County TB Registry.

'Requiem' Seemed To Be Better Television Show

By JACK WITTENMEIER

The attempt to stuff a 90-minute television special into a feature length movie falls a bit short in "Requiem for a Heavyweight" now appearing at the World Theater.

The dramatic road to the bottom of a heavyweight contender which was one of writer Rod Serling's early claims to fame, allows the viewers to slip through the films' emotional grasp at too many spots.

Fight fans, who come to see a bevy of fistic action, better not miss the pre-credit sequence which affords the movie's lone ring scene with excellent camera effects.

Jackie Gleason, playing the role of the villianous manager of an aging boxer who's finished as a serious contender, is adequate but it's strictly Anthony Quinn's 'baby' as Mountain Rivera, the fighter.

"Requiem for a Heavyweight, despite its apparent padding to work in more scenes for Gleason and Rooney, is still a fine motion picture which doesn't pull any punches in portraying all the emotional conflict involved when a man finds he no longer has a dream to nurture.

'Council' Wins In Y Cage Play

The Hilltop YMCA's Junior League continues to show different varieties of basketball.

In the first game, the Jr. Hi-Y "Council" won their second in a row over the Hilltop Church of God by a 36-25 score. Curt Vollmuth led his team to victory by hitting the nets for 14 points. Bill Holt also helped the cause with nine. Bill Rexer had 15 points for the losers.

The second game was just short of a riot. Hoge Memorial, with a height advantage of six inches per man, completely demolished the Jr. Hi-Y "Scrubs" 46-6. Jan Snedecor led Hoge with 16 points. Don Cooke and Jim Anderson each added 12 to the winning cause.

WEST PARK Methodist found the range late in the last half, scoring seven straight points to tie Glenwood Methodist, 38-38, at the end of the regulation game. In the overtime, West Park broke away to win, 45-41. Terry Breckenridge led his team to victory with 20 points. Dick Brown and Tom Schoener each added seven points. Don Evans led Glenwood in scoring with 12 points. John Grashel and Ken Wells each added 10.

In the nightcap, Burgess EUB nioped Hillcrest Baptist 49-43. The lead had changed hands on each basket until the last few minutes of the game. Burgess was led in scoring by Jack Husch, who tallied 27 markers. Steve Pennell added 16 points. Hillcrest's Mike George had 20 points and Ed Aufderheide added 10 more points for the losers.

Karn Sparks Knights' Win

With one second showing on the clock, Bill Karn of the Knights, standing under the opponents basket, threw the ball the length of the court and through the basket for two points and a 44-42 win over the Penquins in the senior boys' basketball league at Glenwood Recreation Center. Karn led the winners with 18 points. Denny Moyer paced the losers with 12.

The Satins won their first league game last week by defeating the Commodores, 54-51. Hershal Newman and Phil Tucker were high for the winners with 22 and 18 points, respectively. Norman Counce tallied 17 for the losers.

The Untouchables stopped the Cavaliers, 51-49, with Bill Wells hitting for 14 points for the winners. Richard Moore, who was strong on defense for the Untouchables, contributed 12. Steve Conrad hit 22 for the losers.

The Playboys are leading in the intermediate boys' basketball league at Glenwood. The Playboys, who haven't lost in league play, defeated the Browns, 61-22, last week. Capital Wins Opener

Capital University opened its '62-63 cage season on a successful note Saturday night by dumping Franklin University of Indiana, 78-64.

Although outshot from the field, the Whitey Regan-coached Lutherans had a hot hand at the free throw line, dropping in 32 of 41 charity tosses to make the difference.

Cap depended on a tight zone that forced the visitors to shoot from the outside all evening. Dave Mamau paced the Purple and White scoring attack with 24 markers.

No Tournament Here

Canton has replaced Columbus as the site of the AA basketball tournament next March.

The tourney, which pits district winners from the Central, Eastern, Southeastern and one from the Canton sector against each other, will be switched to the Canton site since the Columbus facilities will not be available this year.

Briggsdale Church Marks 140th Year

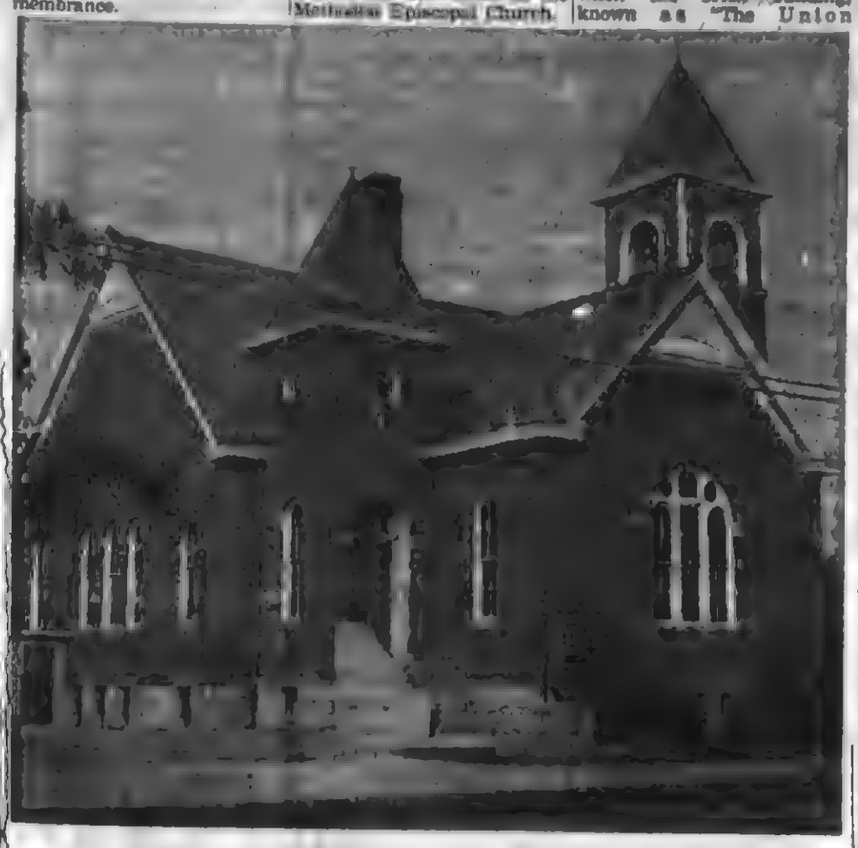
The congregation of Briggsdale Methodist celebrated the church's 140th anniversary Sunday, Dec. 2 with special services of worship and remembrance.

In the autumn of 1822 a pioneer class began meeting regularly in the home of Henry Goetschius, led by Rev. Austin and Rev. Sims of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Soon after a log meeting house was built on the Scioto Big Run, and this continued to serve as a church until 1844 when the brick building, known as "The Union Church," was constructed on the same site.

The present building was completed in 1902, and dedicated that fall. Rev. J. I. Tyler was pastor.

Among first pastors of the old brick Union Church was Rev. Jacob Young, a blind minister.

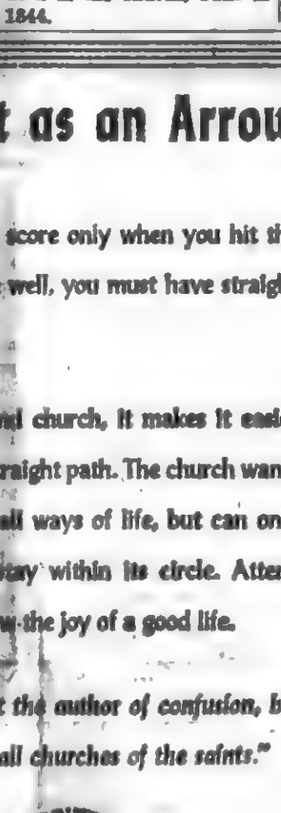


Others serving during the 1822 to 1875 period were Rev. Peter Cartright, early pioneer circuit rider; Michael Halm, Samuel Tippett, John Q. Gibson, W. W. Martin, William Anderson, Levi Cunningham, Rev. Pruden, W. W. Cherrington, David Smith, Harrison Adams and Rev. Gunsaliis.

During 1876 to 1900, the changing years following the Civil War, ministers serving the circuit that included Briggsdale were, Steven Framton, Robert G. Morgan, I. J. Nourse, J. K. Argo, E. N. Nichols, James M. Adams, Robert H. Callaghan, I. B. Bradrick and George H. Creamer.

Rev. J. I. Tyler was pastor during the building of the present church, and those following since 1903 were, Rev. George Creamer, for a second appointment; Rev. William B. Warren, Rev. Straley, Rev. Frank H. Smiley.

Rev. J. V. Stone, Rev. C. Lloyd Strecker, Rev. John M. Chandler, Rev. Elashua A. Harper, Rev. Henry J. Wharton, Rev. C. Freeman Prior, Rev. William R. Dudley, Rev. Simon Boyer, Rev. Samuel J. Bishop, Rev. A. L. Brokaw, Rev. Ralph Simister, Rev. George Hughes, Rev. A. A. Turner, Rev. Harry F. Stafford, Rev. Archie Lung, Rev. J. A. Shirer.



Rev. Edwin Jones, Rev. Harry Bright, Rev. Robert Immelt, Mrs. James Lyons, Rev. Raymond Himes and Rev. Raymond S. Daniels.

BRIGGSDALE METHODIST members have worshipped in their present building since its completion in 1902. Plans have been approved and construction will start soon on the first phase of the proposed new Briggsdale Methodist.

THE "UNION CHURCH" of the Briggsdale Methodist congregation was built in 1844. The building remained as a landmark on Frank-rd for many years. Remnants of the pioneer cemetery adjoining the church still remain.

REV. RAYMOND S. Daniels has been pastor of Briggsdale since 1960. The pulpit over 100 years old, was first used in the church, built in 1844.

Sept. 24, 1869, efforts by Fish and Gould to corner gold touched off a Black Friday financial panic in Wall Street.

Because there is a lack of beauty aids in Russia, Soviet newspaper supplement Nedelya, printed the following: "There is an old saying to the effect that if a woman wants to be beautiful, she must suffer. And this applies to our day."

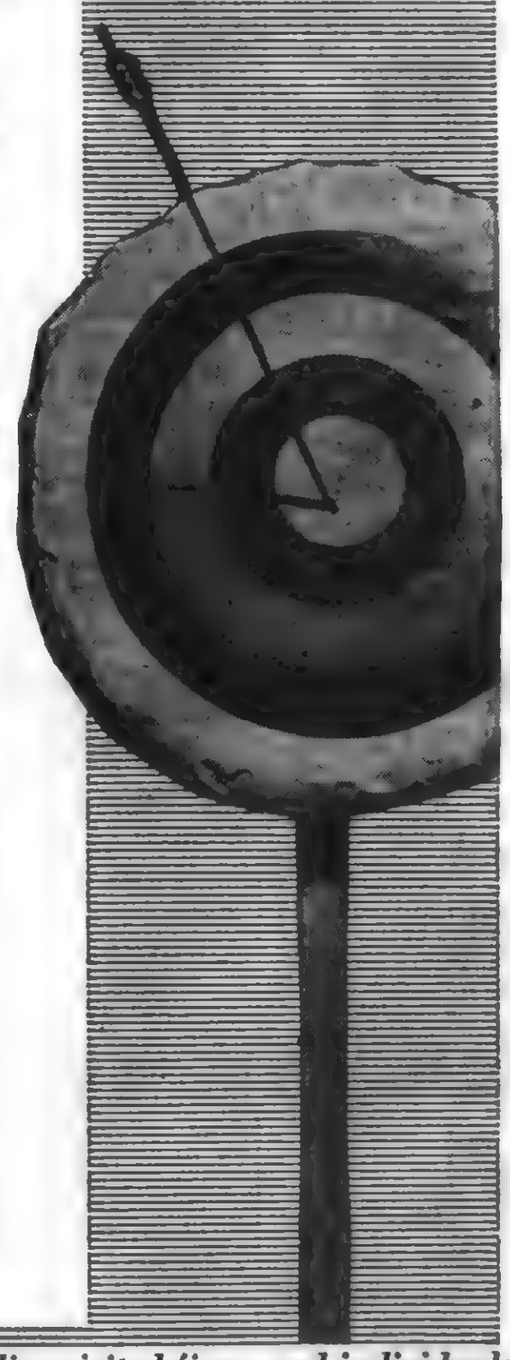
Straight as an Arrow

In Archery you score only when you hit the target. To score well, you must have straight arrows.



When you attend church, it makes it easier to stay on the straight path. The church wants to help you in all ways of life, but can only do so, if you stay within its circle. Attend church and know the joy of a good life.

"For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as in all churches of the saints."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government, or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Your Youth

By Hilltop YMCA Staff

The Saturday morning program to be offered this week for all youth members six years and older, will be a feature length movie at 10 a.m. in the Youth Center. There will not be an "All Day at the 'Y'" program this month. On the following Saturday, game room activities and crafts will be available to the youngsters coming to the "Y".

A revised schedule for the Hilltop YMCA teenage dances is now in force: There will be no dance this Friday, Dec. 7. The next regular dance will be held Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Plans are now being made for a dress up Christmas dance Saturday, Dec. 22 from 7 to 10:30 p.m. These record hops are supervised by members of the Hilltop YMCA staff.

The Hilltop Nation of "Y" Indian Guides will hold its annual Christmas Pow Wow Friday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. All big and little braves are invited. There will be caroling, a visit from Santa Claus, refreshments and a show to be presented by a magician and a clown.

Both Junior Hi-Y and Senior Hi-Y clubs are planning Christmas community projects. The Junior Hi-Y clubs are planning a gift exchanges. After the exchange all gifts will go to needy children in the community.

The Senior Hi-Y Club is planning a "can" party. Each member's admission is cans of vegetables, fruits, etc., to be distributed for Christmas.

Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo first sighted the California mainland Sept. 28, 1542.

LOOKING OVER a new shipment of Scotch Pine, White Pine and Balsam Christmas trees for the Hilltop Y's Club's annual Christmas tree sale to be held Friday, Dec. 7, at the Hilltop YMCA are Y's Men Don Dodson, Bill Nelson and Roy Agin.

Tree Sale Scheduled By Y's Men's Club

The Hilltop Y's Men's Club will begin its annual Christmas tree sale Friday, Dec. 7 at the Hilltop YMCA.

A large selection of Scotch Pine, White Pine, and Balsam trees will be on hand. All proceeds from this annual sale are used for furthering the program of the Hilltop YMCA.

Some items for which this money has been used in past years has been the development of two ball diamonds on the "Y" property, putting acoustical tile on the basement ceiling and tiling the floor in the Youth Center.

Other projects sponsored throughout the year by the club include Gra-Y Relays, Gra-Y "Club of the Year", "Boy of the Month", talent show, bunny hunt and Indian Guide Match Box Derby.

Two divisions are being used in this year's sale. Heading up procurement and processing section are Roy Agin, John Scott, and Don Dodson while Vic Carl, Bud Morrison, and John Clay will be assuming major responsibilities in the sales division.

Other committees include lights: Bill Nelson, Stan Ruoff, Dan Gregory, John Hutchinson, Dewey Parris and Carl Stephan; posts and wire: Don Ehman, George Hughes, Harold Buchanan, Roger Chrisman, George Matson and Harry Grashel; office set-up: Lewis Proper, Chris Glaros, Howard Reber and Charles Shute; transportation: Charles Martin, Harry Miller and Bob Dent; publicity: Ralph Murphey and Bert Korte.

The officers for this year's club are: president, Dr. James A. Hardie; vice-president, John R. Scott, Jr.; secretary, Don Ehman; treasurer, Chris Glaros; assistant secretary-treasurer, Don Dodson.

Vic Karl is the immediate past president.

Slogan for this year's sale will once more be "Buy a Tree and Build a Boy."

Giles Fails To Unravel Street Plan

Staff worker Al Wilder and Staff worker Al Wilder of the West Side Neighborhood Council and Columbus Safety Director Albert Giles met last week in an attempt to unravel the Town and Rich one-way plan.

"During the course of the discussion," Wilder said, "Giles acknowledged that these streets were part of a 1958 traffic plan for conversion to one way." Giles also had some questions about the placement of traffic control lights and no parking strips.

The safety director stated he plans to meet with Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher and the City Traffic Commission to clarify some points and work out a solution to this matter. Frank Schneider, traffic committee chairman of the West Side Neighborhood Council, says his committee will wait for further developments before moving on this matter.

Wireless telegraph communication was established between the U.S. and Japan Sept. 24, 1914.

Requirements Set For Street Tree Planting

The semi-annual city street tree planting program is underway, according to the Division of Parks and Forestry.

Individual property owners may plant their own street trees providing a free planting permit be obtained through Parks and Forestry, the tree be of a variety selected by the city and the location and number of trees per frontage be determined by the city.

These controls are necessary because after the tree is planted it technically becomes the responsibility of the city.

The division will welcome calls for further information about tree planting programs. The number is CL. 2-2115.

Widening Of Sullivant-av Not Planned

In the face of growing development on Sullivant-av, west of Demorest-rd, city officials have stated there is nothing in the planning stage for the widening of the street.

The merchants and residents of the area have been talking the situation over, especially since a new swimming pool will open in the area this summer. The stretch includes a bowling alley and the armory and the bus line presently does not serve this part of Sullivant.

City officials said the Capital Improvements Program does not mention the area.

West Hi-Y Holds Induction Meet

The West Senior Hi-Y Club held its annual induction of officers and members Nov. 29 at the Hilltop YMCA.

John Drury officiated. Drury is one of the advisors.

Rev. Fred Klopfer, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, was the guest speaker.

Officers inducted were: Bill Johannes, president; Tim Weisert, vice-president; Rick Finke, secretary; Bob Lynch, treasurer, and Joel Eichenberger, chaplain.

Joel Eichenberger, chaplain of West Senior Hi-Y Club, was the devotional leader for the opening session of the Ohio-West Virginia Area Physical Education Council meeting held at the Hilltop "Y" Dec. 1. About 130 men and women members of physical education committees and physical directors of YMCA's throughout Ohio and West Virginia were present.

Polarized light, best known for its use in sunglasses, has proved successful in office buildings and school rooms and is now seen as a possibility for homes. The common method of producing it is with glass-flake panels that screen light as it is transmitted from ordinary ceiling lamps. It cuts reflected glare.

Community Christmas Tree — And Parties, Parties, Parties — Announce Yule Season

THE NORTH WIND blew fiercely against West Broad Street Hill last Saturday as determined Girl Scouts and their leaders trimmed the community Christmas tree. Here, Mrs. Lowell Garverick of Troop 1048 fastens on some unique decorations—they're tin can lids.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TEAMS worked to beautify the tree in front of Glenwood Recreation Center which was dedicated a day later by Mayor Westhale and other dignitaries. Seen here are Mrs. Harley Groom, 3068 W. Mound-st, assistant leader, and Roberta Groom, member of Troop 1063.

A FACE WREATHED with a smile and a homemade Christmas ornament beams a vision of Christmas from Girl Scout Cheryl Decker. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Decker, 640 Crescent-dr, she is a pupil at Hilltonia Junior High School.

WEARING THE WARMEST wig she could find, Mrs. Robert Duncan, committeewoman of Troop 668, perches precariously on a ladder so she can attach tinsel to the highest boughs of the tree.

City Winding Up Land Buys For Park Along Clime Road

Massive Clime Road Park — growing in "creeks and grounds" in West Columbus — should reach its full maturity next Monday night at City Council.

Richard Lawwill, Parks and Forestry superintendent, reports that the final parcel of land to be requisitioned for the rolling, picturesque municipal development "should be" approved by city lawmakers Monday.

This a 20-acre piece of land, known as the Ryan tract and an internal park area, is expected to be the last purchase in the entire 270-acre recreation site — the largest of its kind belonging to the city.

Most recently, council authorized Thompson tract last Monday at a cost of $40,300. The Ryan land has been valued at between $45,000 and $48,000.

The city has purchased, Lawwill says, some "10 or 12" such parcels at an approximate cost of $2000 per acre.

Developer Ed Tonti has proposed that the Parks Commission buy his parcel of land along the south border of the park — about 10 acres — but

Have A Heart, Buy A Paper

We know when the Christmas season has arrived in full bloom — when the Charity Newsies take to the streets to sell their papers this Saturday.

You will be doing a lot of good for a lot of people when you buy a paper from the man with the big red heart on his paper bag.

No welfare organization does any better job than the Newsies.

So have a heart — buy a paper!

Briefly Told

Del Bodey, editor and publisher of The Linden News, was recently re-elected president of the Accredited Home Newspapers of America.

A survey shows there are 1,845,006 retail establishments of all kinds in the U.S., or about one for every 100 people. A few years ago we were campaigning for a chicken in every pot. Now it won't be long till everyone will have his own retail store.

Charity Newsies Ready For Sale

Baby Derby Set

Again this year Hartley Newspapers will sponsor its Baby Derby saluting the first child born in the community after midnight Dec. 31.

Valuable gifts of merchandise and services await the newcomer and his family.

Hartley Newspapers will not assume responsibility for finding the first infant born in 1963 — parents, relatives or friends must notify us of the new arrival no later than 7 a.m. Jan. 2.

Society Editor Betty Daft, in charge of the Derby, said the winner's parents must reside in an area regularly covered by this newspaper.

The baby's birth, date, time of arrival, and address must be certified in writing by the attending physician and deposited in Hartley Newspapers' mail slot, 2465 W. Broad-st, by 7 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Complete rules of the Derby will appear in next week's edition.

Water Main Break Perils Most Of City

A state of emergency existed throughout most of Columbus since pre-dawn hours today because of no water pressure in the downtown area.

On the coldest morning of the year — one below zero — a major artery ruptured near the Dublin Road Pumping Station, cutting off vital water supplies. Only the Hilltop, areas east of Alum Creek and north of Morse-rd were spared.

Nearly all schools were closed, industries shut down and persons were advised to stay out of the downtown area.

The threat of fire was a major concern and extra crews were called in to double up forces at local fire stations. Even though the Hilltop had water because of its two reserve tanks, the pressure dipped to 18 pounds at 10 a.m. Normal readings are 55 pounds. The West Side had slightly higher pressures.

Residents were warned not to continue to drain hot water tanks if water pressure ceased.

The water main break caused a large ice ball to block the north lanes of Dublin-rd shutting off traffic. Eastbound traffic was maintained.

Shoppers' Guide May Reveal Reader Rewards

For the fourth consecutive week, 10 readers of the Hartley Newspapers' Classified Ad section may find their names and addresses printed between the helpful gift suggestions in the Christmas Shoppers Guide.

These readers may receive two guest tickets to the RKO Palace's current attraction, "Son of Samson." There is nothing to do, buy or write.

Palace manager Ed McGlone describes the film as being "loaded with adventure and romance."

Check the Shoppers Guide now. Your name may appear along with timely ideas to complete your Christmas shopping. Call BR. 4-1155 immediately if you find your name.

And here's a chance to do your friends a favor—if you see the name of an acquaintance, let him know about it.

IN WEST SIDE

Hundred Men To Help Kiwanis Canvass

Come hail or high snow drifts, about 100 West Side Kiwanians and their friends will be out in force Friday night selling their seventh annual Christmas newspapers.

They expect to sell 5,500 copies, door-to-door on every major West Side street and at Central Point Shopping Center.

Said Chairman George Weber, who is also next year's Kiwanis president: "We're counting heavily on a good response from our friends and neighbors . . . we know they'll donate whatever they can, just as they have in past years."

Weber declared that the Kiwanis club is budgeting every cent of the newspaper donations back into community service for 1963. "If the sale succeeds, Weber said, "we plan to spend $1,760 alone on work with boys and girls. This includes money for camps, a scholarship, aid to unfortunate families, parties for school patrols, etc.

About $200 is to go for support of churches here, and a special allotment will help establish the Senior Citizens in their new center near Sunshine Park.

The Kiwanis Christmas newspapers should appeal to the whole family, Weber added. "Besides telling about Kiwanis work here, it also has a prize coloring contest for the kiddies, a Christmas story, recipes and a host of greetings from local business people."

Auction Held Today

Activity got under way at noon today when Kiwanis members and their friends bid on first editions of the newspapers. An auction was held at Chicago Avenue Christian Church. Thursday night, a group of men will gather at Gladden Community House to sack the papers.

At 6 a.m. Friday the volunteers will return for the canvass. They'll eat a buffet supper, then hurry on to their routes. They hope to finish the job in three hours. Chairman Weber said residents can give a special welcome to the men

On the left is Jerry Wolfe, who purchased the first paper and on the right is Roger Strauss, another of the top bidders. The auction netted over $1,600 and that evening some 300 Kiwanians and friends collected another $3,100 from street sales. All net proceeds will go to community activities. A good sized check will be presented to the Hilltop YMCA swimming pool fund.

The Central Point Center, W. Mound-st at Central-av, with 36 stores, is braced for this pre-Christmas bottleneck by loading the shelves with "everything for everybody for Christmas."

In keeping with the holiday theme, the center is heavily decorated and lighted. The center of attraction at Central Point is the tallest Christmas tree in Columbus, according to center spokesmen, who call Central Point a veritable "Santa City."

Renovations Under Way At Mt. Carmel

Good news for next summer's patients at Mt. Carmel Hospital was announced during the winter's most static weather.

Complete air-conditioning of the 450-bed hospital is already under way, along with other renovations and improvements, and is expected to be completed by mid-summer.

Sister M. Lolita, C.S.C., hospital administrator, announced the $190,000 improvement program would also include the installation of a new heating plant and complete renovation of bathroom facilities in the north wing.

An independent telephone system already has been installed at each nursing station throughout the hospital, completely separated from the hospital switchboard and used for internal calls.

Addition of the system clears the main switchboard of many calls, enabling better service on calls coming into and going out of the hospital.

A new maintenance plant is also being constructed on the hospital grounds.

Dan Carmichael is the architect for the remodeling program, and contractor is Altman-Coady Co.

Winter Months Most Lethal To Drivers At Rail Crossings

Railroad grade crossing crashes occur throughout the nation more often during December and January than any other time of the year, according to the traffic surveys. Ohio's 1961 statistical reports bear out that December, 1961 and January, 1962 with totals of 40 and 53 traffic accidents respectively involving trains, constitute the highs of a 12-month period.

This serves to warn motorists that in snow belts this increase is due to poor visibility, inadequate traction on snowy and icy streets, tightly closed cars, the distracting noises of heaters and radios, and carelessness due to holiday hurry.

Ohio Highway Safety Director Grant Keys urges an all-out effort during December and January and every month to prevent this kind of needless tragedy and to help stop the upward swing in all traffic deaths, now up nine per cent over last year. Keys postscripted his statement with the note that prior to 1961, from the year 1957, accidents in this area were on the downturn.

The Columbus area has more than its share of dangerous crossings. The record of fatalities at these has not been pleasant to look at. It's up to we motorists to change the picture for the better.

Christmas Affirms Meaning Of 'Emmanuel'

Matthew 1:23 He shall be called Emmanuel, a name which means, "God is with us."

One of the terrifying aspects of the Christmas story is the great number of people who did not know what was happening on that night Christ was born.

Joseph and Mary were but two of hundreds of travelers who jammed the roads leading to Bethlehem, each one intent on his own weariness and need. When the angels sang only a few shepherds on the hill heard the song or saw the light. There was no stir in the little homes of Bethlehem. The travelers in the inn slept undisturbed. The wondrous star appeared, but was noted only by a few Persian astrologers.

Rev. Bright

In like manner, how many are there today who are conscious of the real meaning of Christmas, even though we have had 2,000 years of proclamation and witness? We busy ourselves with the material and external trappings of the season, but the real wonder and joy of it escapes our hearts. We are not better people, nor is this a better world because of it. What a shame!

What is the real meaning of Christmas? Perhaps Matthew caught the heart of it in his account of the annunciation to Joseph . . "A child shall be born . . and his name shall be called Emmanuel, meaning "God is with us." "God is with us," He is not an absentee God but one who is involved in human affairs. He created the world, but He did not then abandon it. His creative power continues to bring His own purposes to pass among men.

He is with us as a judge. The Supreme Ruler of the universe surely cannot permit His purposes to be thwarted by the blunderings of His own created subjects. God's system of rewards and consequences are written into the character of the universe in which we live.

But God is with us as a redeemer, also. This is the characteristic which makes Christmas such a time of joy and gladness. God sees His children caught in the web of their own sins and wilfulness, but He does not leave them there. "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

Just as in Judea, long ago, humanity today is as yet unawakened and indifferent to the wonderful thing which Christmas affirms — "God is with us." His purposes are yet to be fulfilled, but His presence and power are all about us to make life as wonderful and good as He intended it to be. It is our privilege, through Christ, to make it a reality if we pay attention to the Christmas message.

Glenwood Methodist Church

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek
Duke Keeping Watch On The Rhino

Personally, I have nothing against the rhinoceros.

To the best of my knowledge, I have never been done ill by a rhinoceros, and I am quite sure I have never consciously done anything to disturb them—aside from the time I ricocheted a peanut off the sleeping snout of one at the zoo on a recent summer Sunday afternoon. (What right did he have to snooze on the zoo's biggest day of the week?)

McPeek

But, and again let me say there is nothing personal in it, I for one am quite unconcerned that the rhino population is rapidly dwindling.

So when I read that the Duke of Edinburgh, who fancies himself quite a sportsman, is rushing about frantically urging immediate action to halt the decimation of the world's rhino herds, my first thought is a wish that he would keep his royal trap buttoned.

The Duke's agitation stems from growing reports that poachers are pushing the rhino toward extinction.

It is natural that sportsmen, and especially one of such dedication as Queen Elizabeth's spouse, would become deeply upset by any peril that threatened to crimp their fun. But, face it, fellows, fireplaces already are passe, and, I ask you, what's a trophy without a fireplace?

The raiders are not collecting live rhinos for zoos or dead ones for meat. (Not even Betty Crocker has come up with a palatable recipe for pate-de-rhino.) What the poachers want is the rhino's horn.

For centuries powdered rhino horn has been highly prized as a love potion in China. Perhaps the Duke was right when he muttered "you might as well grind up old chair legs for all the good it does," but still there has to be some reason why China is overrun with millions of Chinese.

So why take chances? The sooner the supply of powdered rhino horn is used up, the better off we may be.

Perhaps then the mushrooming Chinese population will level off and the world's fears about the "Great Yellow Menace" can relax.

Superstition aside, look at it from the positive angle. If there really is something to this love potion "nonsense," and should the powdered horn supply become exhausted bringing with it a subtraction in the number of Chinese, the extinct rhino would get all the credit.

He would be glorified through the ages for his contribution to humanity, perhaps even replacing the dove as a symbol of peace.

The way I see it, a self-respecting rhino should regret that he has but one horn to give for his world.

Furthermore, in regard to the Duke's crack about ground up chair legs, it's quite unlikely a romantically inclined old Chinese gentleman willingly would give up his cherished rhino powder for a mess of sawdust — not even if it came from a Chinese elm.

You'll Have To Be Mighty Quick On The Trigger To Snag Deer This Year

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROB COCHRAN

After a closed season last year, Ohio hunters were granted a two-day gun season this year. It opens and closes this week—Dec. 13 and 14. The archery season is a long one, Oct. 15 to Dec. 31. But, the opportunities for gun hunters, using shotguns with ball or rifled slug, are limited.

It will take skill to get your deer this year. Lady luck always plays a part in deer hunting, but the chances of a knowledgeable hunter taking a deer are much greater than for a novice.

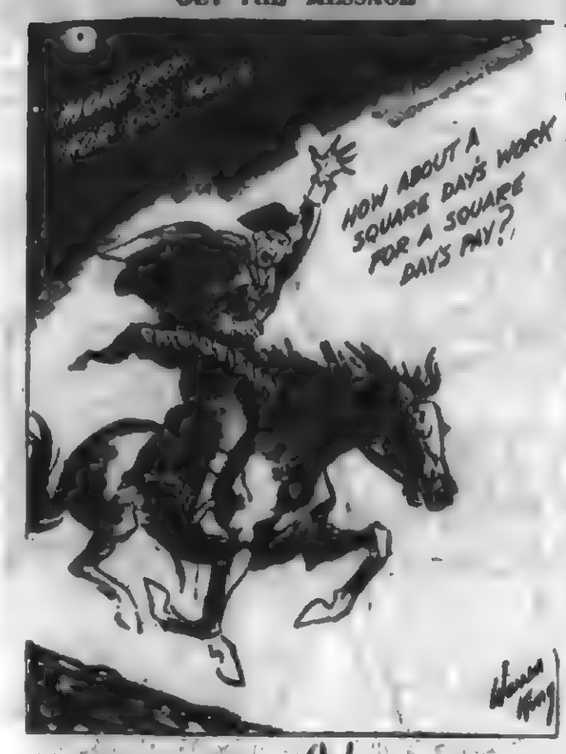
If you really mean business, your deer hunt should have started a month or two ago. You should have some deer located by this time, and know something of their movements. Many hunters use squirrel and grouse hunting jaunts as excuses to prospect for deer sign. You are lucky if you have a friend or relative in some of the better deer territory who can give you the information.

After you have located an area that deer frequent, and have obtained permission from landowners to hunt, then you should move slowly and quietly in the field. Your clothing should blend into the landscape, however an article of yellow, orange or red should be worn for safety's sake. Sharp eyes are a necessity, even more so than in squirrel hunting.

A cloudy or overcast day is perhaps best for deer hunting. I believe that a deer is more difficult to see in sunshine that casts many shadows in the woods.

Stop frequently. Stand quietly and look around. The hurry-up hunter will walk right by deer without seeing them. I remember well an experience I had deer hunting several years ago in Maryland. A drive was under way by a party of hunters, and I could see the whole thing from the top of a small hill. The drivers were attempting to push deer out of a tangled woods between two hunters at the other end. Six or eight drivers were stationed about 20 yards apart and were not trying to remain quiet.

Two does were pushed out for the shooters, which they missed. But three bucks did not move from briar tangles, and the drivers did not see them. Those deer taught me a valuable lesson.



If you are stalking deer you must keep low and in cover so as to not be outlined against the sky. Also, stay out of clearings and fields.

When hunting on a stand, that is waiting for deer to pass you, the strategy is to remain absolutely still. You should hide in a windfall or beside a tree downwind from the expected approach of the deer.

In some states, hiding up in trees is popular. But I do not believe many hunters do it here, and staying on a deer stand for hours is uncomfortable enough without trying to make like a bird. The best times to take a stand are mornings and evenings, because deer move around more then. But with a two-day season enough hunters will be out to keep them moving all day.

Good luck!

Are You A Square?

A Madison Avenue advertising agency president (of all people) has come out foursquare to restore a six-letter word to its proper place in everyday talk. The word is "square." We think he's got hold of something.

Adman Charles H. Brower reminds us that back in Mark Twain's day, "square" was one of the best darn words in the language . . . you gave a man a square deal if you were honest. And Brower continues:

"You gave him a square meal when he was hungry. When you got out of debt, you were square with the world. And that was when you could look your fellow man square in the eye."

Then a lot of characters ran down the word. Result: "A square today is a man who never learned to get away with it; a Joe who gets his kick from trying to do something better than anyone else can; a boob who gets lost in his work."

"This country was discovered, put together, fought for and saved by squares — Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin" . . .

Brower dares us to get with it — get back to this nation's old beliefs in such things as "ideas, pride, patriotism, loyalty, devotion — even hard work."

How about joining the club?

Cites Miraculous Escapes From OSU Blast

To The Editor:

The explosion at the new dining facility at Ohio State University has the flavor of "who is looking over my shoulder."

To those of us who are close to this construction job, we were no less than startled at the timing of this difficulty. Although the word tragedy can be measured in dollars there was a miracle which touched many persons working at this facility.

The construction work during the hours of 7:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 12 noon to 4 p.m. would find 50 to 60 workmen in the near vicinity of the explosion. The actual time was 11:45 a.m., the middle of lunch hour.

One particular instance in our own company disclosed one workman who went to a restaurant with another worker leaving his lunch bucket in his truck, probably the first time he had ever deviated from the normal procedure. When he returned the building end he would have been in or near was strewn over a large area. Other similar stories were heard with no less amazement. Those who were injured, but apparently not seriously, are probably thankful of the slight consequence.

With the advent season upon us it would be an excellent time to take inventory of the spiritual givings which are flourished upon us by our God. This material tragedy of a few bricks, glass and steel are put in shadow by the non loss of life.

Urges Off-Street Parking, Not One-Ways

(Copy of a letter to Albert Giles, Columbus safety director.)

Before a final decision is made and I become a victim of the spread of the one-way street mess, as our honorable mayor has so aptly termed it, please consider my suggestion.

One day the City of Columbus will be faced with the expense of opening dead-end streets to accommodate traffic movement just as Cleveland, Cincinnati and many other cities have had to do.

Columbus has more alleys parallel to residential streets than any other city to my knowledge.

Properly used they can overcome the problems that confront us in this close-in section of the West Side.

Hundreds of garages facing these alleys are not used from one year's end to the next. Why? Because it is easier to park on the street. Off-street parking should be a must.

Therefore:

Eliminate all one-way streets.

Prohibit parking on one side of each street.

Lay white lines dividing the remaining two lanes for traffic.

If necessary, place time limits on parking.

Eventually the foregoing will come to pass—whether you and I live that long remains to be seen.

McPeek Article Praised

The article by John McPeek on your editorial page of Dec. 6 titled "College Grads Being Shortchanged" is one of the finest, most direct articles we have read in a long time. McPeek says in a few words what others find themselves unable to express. We appreciate your printing this article.

May I also take this opportunity to express the appreciation of the staff of the South-Western City School System for the splendid support which you gave to our School Bond Issue. The successful passage of this issue was due in no little part to information which you helped to get into the hands of our patrons.

Frosting On The Cake
By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

We have so many "professional minders of other people's business" anymore that the whole nation is developing a terrible and dangerous mass-mind psychosis of fear and self-consciousness. Longhairs who have "studied psychology" and know nothing about man as a biological animal are now doing their double-darnedest to inject this morbid curiosity into the most intimate and private affairs of every family that still has school age children under their authority.

Recent off-side questionnaire "sneak sheets" have even been put into many school systems under empirical fiat authority and young, green as grass, wholly unsophisticated children have been quizzed to the point of psychological hazard by nosy "specialists" who must have a state of mind that resembles a [redacted].

My two lovely daughters, now both graduated with honors from the University of Michigan and mothers of fine and well mannered children of their own, got proper instruction about "the facts of life" at home as growing children, at a time when sane indications showed a need for such instruction. The professional library that I have been accumulating for 40 years was always available to them when their natural curiosity had reached a proper biological age. Any able and wise and kindly old family doctor knows how to handle such situations, therefore, I see nothing but 'buttinsky" nonsense in such out-of-bounds curiosity of these so-called specialists.

As life develops into understanding in any normal child's mind, professional aid is available from legitimate sources as and when the conscientious parent requests it. Books written by recognized experts, who document their conclusions with years of clinical exposure to life, are available in any decent library.

There are signs of returning sanity in many things all about us. One of these days, politics will be fumigated. Education will be on the target of the art and science of happy and successful living. And men and women who are students and rational members of our society, will discover all over again that the most Christian thing any one can do is to mind strictly his own business in regard to the private affairs of other folks.

I AM FREEDOM

Remember now and ever,
My children of the Western lands,
I am Freedom.
I knew your fathers when they fled the yoke
Of tyranny and dared the great
And unknown perils of strange lands and seas.
I stood beside the bridge at Concord town.
I heard the prayer of men at Valley Forge.
I saw men die on Cemetery Ridge.
I felt the heat and flame in Normandie.
I tasted bitter wine at old Bataan.
I smelled the battle smoke on Pork Chop Hill.
I am Freedom.
I bid you now, forsake me not.
Partake your comforts, but remember still
Your priceless heritage.
Build up your commonwealth, extend your hand
Of amity to all the lands of earth.
Rebuild earth's Eden, strive and hope and pray.
Remember now and always, I am Freedom.

Almost two centuries ago a small, brave band of farmers and villagers stood, some to die, defiant of the marshalled might of the British. Knowing the probable, almost certain cost, they had decided which side to take in the issue of freedom versus tyranny. Whatever the cost, however long the time, they had chosen freedom as their only viable way of life.

Since then, millions of Americans have been of like mind and spirit, more than one million giving their lives to prove it.

Now we are trustees of the heritage. May we never betray the trust.

It says here . . . . . Freedom is not free. It has to be earned.

Franklin will receive $315,-903, Fairfield gets $28,461, Madison $12,504 and Pickaway $21,354. The money comes from the 1.65 percent excise tax paid by public utilities since 1933 for poor relief. In all, $5 million will be sent to Ohio counties.

State Hospital Power Failure Blamed On Coal

According to State Purchasing Agent John U. Hull, coal that would not burn last Friday at Columbus State Hospital has been used successfully in other state institutions.

Some patients at the hospital were inconvenienced because boilers would not work. Power and heat in some buildings was limited from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Until last week, we have had no complaints about the coal," said Hull.

He pointed out that if coal does not meet guaranteed analysis, the firm could be penalized.

Fortieth anniversary meeting of the Ohio State Mothers' Club was held Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1:30 p.m. in the Ohio Union, conference room.

Accomplishments and serious and humorous events of the past 40 years were discussed by a panel. Mrs. Jacob Yavitch, music chairman, presented Judith Booth Fisher, clarinetist, from the School of Music.

The club has grown from 145 members in 1922 to 1005 in 1962, with 24 individual groups in the Columbus area. Membership is open to any mother of a student or former student at Ohio State.

The group annually awards two medical scholarships, two music scholarships and the Belva Jones Scholarship to a student from Franklin County.

In addition, the club maintains a student aid fund, administered by the Office of Student Financial Aids; members volunteer their time each Thursday at University Hospital, and substantial gifts are given to cooperative houses on the campus.

The organization inspired the formation of similar clubs in the state in 1936, and there are now 15 member clubs of the state-wide organization.

Past presidents of the club, honored at the anniversary Wednesday, are Mrs. J. T. Kirk, Mrs. Elizabeth Howe, Mrs. R. P. Barthalow, Mrs. A. B. Braden, Mrs. Neil McTeague, Mrs. Walter Wagner, Mrs. H. Park–

Lawwill says, "I'm still undecided about this."

The Thompson tract, located generally south of Climeerd, along Demorest-rd, will provide an entrance to the park off of Demorest, Lawwill stated. He added that there will be "two, maybe three" entrances to the rolling development along Big Run.

To Retain Rustic Features

Lawwill is still uncertain because a master plan of the park is still under study by the Parks Commission. Very little is certain as to how the city will finally decide to develop the area.

"We do know," Lawwill said, "that we'll make every effort possible to keep the area "woodsy" looking. We're mainly seeking to include hiking trails, camping and picnic areas. We feel that the land is too beautiful to require any major developing."

Of course, baseball diamonds and some other limited active sports areas are included in the master plan.

"We're evaluating the situation in terms of total development that will be taking place in that area," he said. "For instance, we know we're going to get a sewer through there . . . and a freeway. There are also some remnants in the location right now that we can add to the overall rustic look."

PRODUCTS of Orean "Pete" Tucker's hobby (tobacco growing) are seen here. The leaves on the stick hang in a shed behind "Pete's" house to dry and cure.

Pipe Smoking Ex-Kentuckian Grows Own Tobacco As Hobby

Local smokers can take a lesson in lowering the cost of living from Orean "Pete" Tucker, 1370 Wilson-rd.

"Pete's" hobby for the summer was growing tobacco, which he said should make "mighty good smokin' this winter."

An old Kentucky tobacco-growing veteran, gone north, "Pete" raised 17 of the big-leafed plants in his garden during the summer, planting them on May 30.

The plants (as evidenced by the above picture) grew well and turned out every good leaves, good enough in fact that "Pete" wished he'd had "about 2,500 pounds of them to sell in Kentucky."

Growing tobacco is just a hobby for him now, but for more than 30 years, since he was "big enough to handle a hoe," he grew tobacco for a living near Paris, Ky., and in Brown County, O.

Right now the tobacco is curing in a shed behind "Pete's" house and he says he intends to smoke it this winter.

The tobacco is "a little bit strong," according to Pete, "but still makes mighty good smokin'."

silence you can be sure her telephone is out of order."

A new book, "I Believe in the American Way" by Dr. James H. Jauncey, who became a citizen of this country, is a challenging bit of guidance that points to our need for remembering the stars that shine in the heavens at night and also the stars in Old Glory.

And then there was the man who never bought life insurance because he wanted the day he died to be a sad one for everyone.

This is the season when women don't really mind the yule buying — they just charge ahead.

A limited number of copies of the 1963 "Gay Philosopher" calendars are available to the public at the offices of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st.

This is the latest in the series of "Gay Philosopher" calendars distributed by our newspapers during the holiday season for many years.

The calendar reproduces another likeness of the popular rascal entitled "Shoot the Works," and depicting him preparing to hit a golf ball from a water hazard.

He describes the game of golf in his own inimitable, whimsical version of the King's English, and recalls that ". . . when I was a kid we called it 'pasture pool'."

Since the Gay Philosopher's picture won a popularity contest years ago, he has appeared often on the American scene. Rough, rugged and "genteel," he amuses and amazes folks with his cracker-barrel philosophy and good-natured pokes at modern goings-on.

For example, "The impossible just takes a little longer."

The Gay Philosopher Says: "We have realised that we must choose between Peace on Earth or earth in pieces."

Legislators To 'Clarify' Sunday Sales Law? Maybe Not

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A word to those who are asking the State Legislature to "clarify" the Sunday Sales law in Ohio:

"Don't expect miracles."

A Hartley Newspaper poll of area legislators indicates that they are nearly as confused as everybody else over the question which, basically, is to determine whether or not stores can operate on Sundays.

Two studies are being carried on by legislative groups in preparation for the General Assembly meeting in January, but the feeling is strong that they'll fall far short of adequacy.

There is even speculation that the lawmakers may repeal outright the 131-year-old law. Regardless, it's a pretty safe bet that little concrete action will be taken during this session.

Comments by some of the legislators include:

LYTLE ZUBER—"I haven't researched this thing . . . it's going to be a rough session, though, and that's about all I can say."

CHALMERS WYLIE—"I think anything we do will be based on these two studies being made. There is a lot of confusion as a result of the last election and I'm sure we should make some effort to clarify the law. I, myself, haven't made any definite decisions."

KLINE ROBERTS—"It should develop into a battle over semantics. I'm sure that everyone wants to settle the controversy but this is one of those things that you can't tell about until you sit around and talk with the legislators. I do feel that most of the people don't want to make Sunday a work day."

ROGER CLOUD (House Speaker)—"This is not a new subject. My guess is that the membership will not want to repeal the law entirely . . . but, we are going to have trouble finding the proper definitions."

EDMUND JAMES—"We're heading in the right direction."

ARCHER REILLY, JR.—"I feel that outside studies will be sufficient to enable us to render a decision."

ROBERT HOLMES—"I have no idea in the world how it might come out. I've heard as many different ideas of what we should do as people I've talked to. It's easy to say 'let the legislators do it' but doing it's another matter. The law does need clarifying, though."

Other comments went along these general lines. All of the above men are Republicans and all except Cloud (Logan County) and James (Noble County) are from the Franklin County area where the Greater Columbus Sunday Association recently aided in winning a vote at the polls Nov. 6 against a Lawson's Milk Co. amendment.

The feeling is also strong that much of the decision will hinge on the aforementioned studies. One is being made by the Legislative Services Commission under direction of Loren Blosser and the other by Representative James of the Ohio Judiciary Committee at the direction of House Speaker Cloud.

Blosser reported that his group doesn't have the available staff needed to completely research the question. "We're merely doing a thorough analysis of the present law and of the court decisions rendered so far. We're not doing a survey or extensive study.

Somebody should do some research on economic pressures," Blosser hinted, "and how the public feels with respect for the Sabbath. These two questions aren't well defined—rather like our gambling laws."

James' survey is, perhaps, probing a bit deeper. "We're progressing well with it," he said in a telephone interview. "We want to set ourselves up so that when the issue is presented, we'll have some advanced knowledge. If we don't, we'll consume most of the time doing our 'homework.' "

James didn't give any indications as to what his survey was revealing. He did say, though, that he was "trying to determine the popular mandate."

Many of Ohio's lawmakers feel that the voters already have issued their "mandate" by repealing the Lawson amendment, indicating they would like stricter enforcement of the Sunday Blue Laws.

The general opinion among the legislators is that the matter will be brought up at this coming session. This is based, mainly, on the fact that two strong lobby groups, the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants and the AFL-CIO, are preparing petitions.

One of the most interesting views came from George Hammond, executive director of the Retail Merchants' group. He opined that law enforcement officials should continue "cracking down" on the law as it stands now in order to get various court decisions on the matter.

"This will give us a 'body-case law' and give us some guideposts to work with," said Hammond, who further pointed out two major problems in attempting a law change.

"First," he said, "is, of course, getting 166 men from all walks of life throughout the state to agree on Sunday sales. Secondly, is the situation that will result if any substitute change is made in the statute."

He feels that in the case of a change, there'll be a "two to four-year" period when the law is challenged in courts. "During that period," he added, "the law enforcement officials who don't really want to enforce the statute —along with Sunday operators—will have a ready-made excuse."

Perhaps Representative Zuber summed it up best: "It's going to be a rough session," he sighed.

You can count on that.

Residents Petition City To Grade Steep Ditch

City Council has promised to look into a complaint by 20 Hilltop residents concerning ditches left open by contractors building six apartments near Roys Circle.

The petition was presented to City Council Monday night. It was spearheaded by Edward Paas of 198 N. Powell-av. The Roys Circle ditch which is behind the apartments was described as 70 to 80 feet long, about six feet wide and from four to eight feet deep. Paas said the steep walls of the ditch presented a hazard to children playing in the area.

Petitioners asked the ditch be properly graded, seeded and restored. Also included in the complaint was the request to restore to original condition a ditch running from Hague-av to the alley.

City Council referred the petition to City Attorney Russell Leach to see what could be done.

On Oct. 10, 1960, the city vacated a part of Roys Circle so that the sixth in the present series of apartments could be built.

Wistner Hits Junk Order

Common Pleas Court should refuse to stop enforcement of an order reducing the size of the used and junk car lot of Howard Westhee, 2244 Stringtown-rd, Assistant County Prosecutor Robert N. Wistner said in a brief filed Dec. 7.

County Building Inspector Eber Neds had ordered Westhee to remove all but 18 cars from his lot, the number that was there at the time a zoning ordinance went into effect in Jackson Township in 19[illegible].

Westhee obtained a temporary injunction forbidding enforcement of the order. It is estimated that he has some 400 cars on the 3.9-acre lot.

S. E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president, predicts 1963 will be a 7-million car year.

Miss McClary was reported to have head and pelvic injuries, and Miss Ross to be suffering from head, shoulder and knee injuries at St. Anthony Hospital.

Nash, an airman who was home on leave from Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, is at Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital. He was cited by police with failure to yield to a left turn.

Paratroop Game Fatal To Boy, 3

Service for David White, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. White of 212 N. Powell-av, will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 13, in Jerry Spears Funeral Home. Interment will be in Eastlawn Cemetery.

David suffocated Monday night while playing "paratrooper" in his home. The idea came from a television show.

David used a "prop" in place of imagination and jumped into the air from the living room hassock with his sister's bathing cap over his head.

His father, who was in another room changing materials in a fish aquarium, heard a noise in the living room and rushed in to find the boy lying on the floor with the bathing cap over his face.

White gave his son mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and an emergency squad continued the procedure as they took the boy to Children's Hospital, but he was pronounced dead on arrival.

David's mother had gone shopping. His sister Luann was studying in another room.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, corner, indicated death was caused by suffocation but ordered an autopsy because he hadn't ruled out the possibility of skull fracture.

David is also survived by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hoopman and Mr. and Mrs. Albert White.

Cowboys Split Pair, Central Wins Third

By BOB LYNCH

The West High Cowboy basketeers opened their 1962-63 City League season last Friday on their home court with a thrilling 76-72 over-time victory over Marion-Franklin.

The game saw the Broncos shoot off to a quick 18-12 first quarter lead on the strength of a united team effort.

However, the second quarter did not prove so successful as the visiting Red Devils hit a hot streak right after the period began by scoring eight points in succession before the Cowboys could recover and manage a tally with 5:50 left in the half.

THE RED DEVILS led, 32-27 with only twenty seconds left, but the Cowboys managed to tally five more points before the halftime break to even the score at 32-32.

The second half started out just as the first had; as the Broncos poured in 28 third-quarter points while holding the Red Devils to 17, effecting a 60-49 third-quarter bulge for the Cowboys.

But the fourth and final quarter was to provide the fireworks for the evening. The Cowboys pulled to a twelve-point advantage with 5:27 left, and appeared to be easily on their way to their second win of the season.

BUT THE visiting Red Devils had other ideas. Led by sharpshooting Steve Jackson, who fired in three fielders from close to the out of bounds line, the Red Devils had evened the score again, at 69-69, as regulation play ended.

However, in the following overtime, the Cowboys pulled away as Lew Coles scored a fielder and a free throw, and Charlie Castle and Karl Smith popped in two-pointers.

THE FOLLOWING night, the Cowboys hosted Upper Arlington, in a non-league encounter, but were defeated 68-56. The visiting Golden Bears dominated play in the game, as they jumped out to an 18-10 first quarter lead, and were never behind throughout the contest. Ron Michaels led the home squad by tallying 17 points.

GEORGE BROADNAX'S only points of the game, coming in the last minute of play, provided Central's Pirates with their third straight win of the season—a 48-47 comeback win over Zanesville Saturday night.

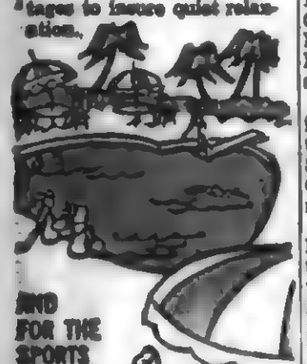
The Pirates took an early lead but the Devils moved ahead and led by six points as late as the start of the final period.

Tom Fullove paced the Central offense with 13 points but Broadnax's drive-in goal in the final seconds settled the issue.

THE SNOW AND ice conditions forced the cancellation of a pair of games over the weekend with Ready postponing tilts with New Lexington tSt. Aloysius Friday and New Albany Saturday.

Weekend area action finds West (2-2) visiting North (2-1) and Aquinas (2-0) hosting East (2-0) on Friday night with Franklin Heights (1-4) at West, Central (3-0) at Newark and Delaware St. Marys at Ready (0-2) (7 p.m.) set for Saturday night play.

THE BIG REACH — The Cowboys' Ron McDaniel (30) reaches high to battle an Arlington eager for possession of a rebound during West's battle with the Golden Bears Saturday night. McDaniel didn't get the rebound but he did score 17 points in the Cowboy's loss.



TWO POINTS COMING UP — West Jerry's Carter (with ball) sets his sights on the basket as he arches a shot over the reach of an Arlington defender for two points against the Golden Bears Saturday night. The Cowboys finished up on the short end of a 68-56 score. (Photos by Craig Weaver).

Christopher Columbus was not the first white man to see the New World. Rodrigo de Triana, a lookout on the Pinta in Columbus' fleet, was the first to sight land Oct. 12, 1492.

Physical Softness — Blame Or Remedy?

You can't get really deep into a sports conversation these days without somebody bringing up the subject of physical fitness.

The big fuss seems to revolve around the complaint that our nation's youth is a bunch of "softies."

SOMETIMES WE feel this mass condemnation is a bit unfair. The number of youngsters competing in athletics today is still large enough to keep civic leaders scrambling for increased facilities to supply the demand for basketball courts, baseball fields, etc.

But these aren't the kids President Kennedy and his physical fitness committees have in mind when they express their concern about the lack of muscular activity performed by the nation's youth.

It's the fellow who doesn't make the team or just isn't interested in banging into a 200-pound tackle who needs that little push toward some extra exercise above and beyond opening the garage doors.

EVERYBODY ISN'T a Jimmy Brown or a Mickey Mantle but that's no excuse for growing physically soft.

One of the finest articles we've seen on the subject of physical fitness appeared in the "Columbus Health Bulletin" under the heading "What's Become of Muscle?"

The fault doesn't lie with the schools, which have provided ample physical testing and have encouraged youngsters who failed to pass the average tests to improve themselves.

MAYBE THE basic difficulties can be handed to our society in general. As the Health Bulletin points out, "technological development" has greatly contributed to easing the once-ordinary, everyday tasks of living.

"No longer do we have to split our fire wood or carry water. No more do we feed coal into the furnace or clean out the ashes . . . the hard work, in both home and factory, is done by machines."

Anyone who has ever been to Europe can easily see the reason for that continent's superiority in physical fitness. (We aren't that rich that we can tour Europe. The U.S. Air Force footed the bill).

EUROPEAN YOUTH, on the whole, don't have automobiles to drive to school or down to the corner drugstore. They don't have many TV sets to lure them away from physical exercise.

They walk, they hike and they ride bicycles. But we have better athletes, you argue, and Europeans would drive to school if they could afford an automobile.

Correct in both cases.

We're concerned about the nation as a whole and "ifs" have never yet solved anything.

WE DISAGREE with the article in one paragraph which points out the abuse of outdoor school facilities after classes and during the summer time. We have received numerous complaints that adequate facilities just aren't available to satisfy the need.

We feel that the experts are perhaps missing the boat. Too much emphasis has been put on the BLAME and not enough on the REMEDY.

You don't have to "cry over spilled milk," but you don't have to let it drip on the floor either.

Well, what can I do? We're not suggesting that you put the split-level up for sale and move out to a log cabin so Junior will be forced out of his dormancy.

That's like the fellow who moved out in the woods and lived closer to nature than a yellow-throated warbler. He was the image of Steve Reeves as he lay in his coffin, a victim of pneumonia.

BUT THERE are plenty of simple exercises that can be done right in the home without causing Mom to fret about falling plaster from heavy barbells.

You don't have to leave the house to shape a trim physique. Pushups, situps and knee-bends can work wonders if done regularly. On the other hand, most schools and YMCA's have excellent setups.

And by the way, Pop, it might not hurt you to run through a few simple exercises with Junior now that Old Man Winter is about the only one teeing off on number ——.

And Junior — you'd be amazed at those bulging muscles in your frame that were just waiting there for the chance to stand out and be counted.

WHAT WE'RE trying to say is that all our nation's youths need to get on the physical fitness bandwagon is a little parental encouragement.

We still believe that the male of the species is naturally attracted to the physical. By nature, he enjoys the rough and tumble way of living. Traditionally, American boys like to be thought of as strong and fearless.

As the Health Bulletin points out, "We desperately need something to get our boys off the seat of their pants and the muscles rippling in their arms and legs."

You might be pleasantly surprised at what a little subtle suggestion can do and how far a little encouragement can go to set our nation's youth back on the trail to physical fitness.

Michigan's rivers and streams cover some 36,350 miles or almost one and one-half times the distance around the world.

DOOR OPENERS

Keys and churches are door openers. In both cases, each require you to put forth some effort. The key you must insert in the lock and turn. Our Lord made the way to heaven even easier, for all that you have to do is present yourself and believe.

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works lest any man should boast: For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Popular Christmas Plants Take Much Personal Care

There's more to raising poinsettias than simply planting the stock, watering it and waiting for the colorful flowers, according to Mrs. Hazel Roberts, owner of Yost Florists, 303 Belvidere-av.

These delicate flowers arrive here in April from California. The stock resembles dry tree twigs. After being placed in propagating beds and watered every hour, the plants take root and are placed in individual pots in about three weeks.

Poinsettias begin to show color in mid-November, but it takes a great deal of care to be sure the plants will be just the right color for the holiday season. Mrs. Roberts said plants must not be exposed to temperatures less than 60 or more than 70 degrees.

The fragile flowers cannot be exposed to sunlight, Mrs. Roberts said. In fact, even artificial light will make the poinsettias bloom too early.

Increasing interest in poinsettias as a holiday gift is being shown in the United States. Mrs. Roberts said persons who receive them as gifts may keep them as healthy flowers for up to five months with proper attention.

The plants must not be placed in extreme temperatures, and should not be exposed to direct drafts or hot air from furnaces. They never should be allowed in direct sunlight.

Mrs. Roberts is assisted in her business by E. H. Day, 351 Belvidere-av.

MRS. HAZEL ROBERTS, owner of Yost Florists, 303 Belvidere-av, is seen here with hundreds of poinsettias ready for holiday distribution. Mrs. Roberts has owned the greenhouse since 1936.

RENEW HOLIDAY TOGS

ROGER CHRISMAN, president of Liles Laundry, 1011 W. Rich-st (left), and Dwight Bridge (right), examine dry cleaned garments as they are removed from a new dry tumbler. The laundry offers complete laundry and diaper service, and presently is specializing in dry cleaning for the holidays. Chrisman said most people like to have their formals and evening wear given special attention at this time of year. The owner said the mark of a professional cleaner is not only to remove a few spots, but also to "refresh" the entire fabric. Liles' hours are 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. week days, and from 7 to 1:30 Saturdays.

Judge Raises Schrader's Bond

Municipal Court Judge Fred Shoemaker raised the bond of accused slayer Joseph Schrader, 24, of 71 Euclid-av from $1000 to $5000 because of "new facts" in the case.

Schrader pleaded innocent to a second regree murder charge in the shotgun slaying of Edward Loring, 19, of 272 S. Yale-av.

Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner" was published Sept. 21, 1814, in the Baltimore American Daily Advertiser.

Louis Boehringer and Paul Boyer, owners of Time TV, have announced the firm has moved to a new location at 3436 Sullivant-av. It formerly was located at 1436 Sullivant-av, for eight years.

In the television business for 13 years, the owners said the move was necessary because of a recent expansion program. Originally specializing in repair work, Time TV with quadrupled floor space now carries a complete line of Admiral and Zenith radios and TV's.

The new firm also features a special color TV display area, Boyer said free coffee is always available for persons who wish to come in and browse around the store.

Man Burned At Shoe Firm

Aaron Canter, 59, of 2119 Sullivant-av, was burned on the face, scalp and left arm when a spark ignited lacquer on a rack of baby shoes at Bron Shoe Co., 269 E. Broad-st, Saturday, firemen reported.

He was taken to Grant Hospital for treatment of first degree burns.

Assistant Fire Chief Earl Wedemeyer said a short circuit in a spray gun caused the spark which set off the blaze. The lacquer was being used on recently bronzed baby shoes.

Other employes extinguished the fire before firemen arrived.

Broom Closet In Church Is Niche For Philosopher

By TED BEARDSHEAR

Coffee-houses, classrooms and fraternities are locations for philosophers these days, but Jay Dickinson, 70, of 304 Midland-av, uses a broom closet in the Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Jay is employed as a part-time custodian at the church after retiring from the Post Office in 1955.

Friends are ushered to his "office" for informal discussions of topics which range from art to juvenile delinquency.

Jay enjoys talking with people but it was not that way in his youth. Reared in a family of seven brothers and a sister, a slight hearing defect made him self-conscious about questioning his brothers and sister.

Introspection produced a philosopher, a man who has thought, read and lived his convictions.

Jay enjoys poetry which he writes for his friends. A child asked him how he wrote his verse.

"I told her to first have good thoughts and then later perhaps she could put them into rhyme. Rhyme without good thoughts is empty."

This recalled his college experience. After World War I in which he served, Jay attended Ohio State University for a year. He worked full time at night at the Columbus Power and Light Co. At school, he was attracted to English literature.

"I would have liked to have read more, especially poetry. My favorite poem is "An Elegy In A Country Church Yard" by Thomas Gray. He paused and then began:

"Can storied urn or animated bust Back to its mansion call the fleeting breath?"

"Man tries so hard to out do God and falls so short of it," he added.

"The biggest thing in life is individuality and it's being ruined. People conform to what is custom. They are afraid to be different, afraid even to think different. Everyone now is expected to go along with custom.

"If a man is by himself, he can do what he pleases. Law is a necessary evil. As population increases, individuality decreases."

Jay laughed when he was asked how individuality is achieved in a populous and complex society.

"It is next to impossible. My individuality is living my convictions. If I make a mistake, it's me, and that's my individuality."

Jay thinks the best period of his life was around 1914.

"There was more peace and happiness than at any other time in history. If you notice pictures of the same age group then and now, you will find that people then were happy, while now they look apprehensive."

Jay was asked about speed reading.

"A person must dwell on something before he retains it. One must give the mind time to absorb it to have it for life. Then the idea is buried in the memory.

"It is important to absorb the good out of life, because if you absorb the good, you'll be good. If you absorb the bad, you'll be bad. A boy is like a sponge. You put him in a bad group, he will absorb bad things. One naturally absorbs things. If one is surrounded by desirable things, then that is what will become a part of him."

This statement led to juvenile delinquency and related ills of society.

"People do not take their citizenship seriously," Jay commented. "One should conduct himself in the way he wants the community. A community is made up of individuals. Individuals are important. If people act like they are in a slum, that is what it will become."

Jay's enjoyments are simple. He especially likes drives in the country, even though he observed wryly that country is getting hard to find.

"I never have enjoyed the things that man has made like the big cities. I have always enjoyed the things of God, the natural things like the wind and rain and growing crops."

Jay carries paper and pencil with him at all times. He likes to record his thoughts and at his leisure put them together in poems. As he goes about his duties, he will occasionally stop and make a notation in his book.

The setting for such serenity is a church.

It is fitting.

EXPLAINING his views to reporter Ted Beardshear is Jay Dickinson, 70, of 304 Midland-av. They are seated in the broom closet of Hillcrest Baptist Church which Jay refers to as his "office."

The first fixed bathtub was installed in the White House by President Fillmore in 1851.

They had a STAR

"Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east and are come to worship him."

Yes, they had a star . . . Today we have churches to guide us to our Saviour. Come worship the Lord in his house.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of his demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

MERRY CHRISTMAS

As the bells ring out in jubilant acclamation of another Christmas, let us hark in our hearts to the inspiring message of hope and affirmation that they convey . . . let us rejoice anew in the blessed Birth of our Saviour with which it all began. Let us find our courage re-fortified, our spiritual strength renewed, as we reverently recall the Divine Promise of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men" that is the shining wonder of Christmas.

Our Times Have Changed— Christmas Once Was Illegal

Celebration of Christmas — the most widely observed religious holiday of the modern world — was at one time illegal in early American history.

Colonial New England did not celebrate Christmas, the Compton's Encyclopedia people tell us, because the stern Puritan colonists believed that such activities were wholly pagan and forbade them by law. Christmas came to the American colonies while it was the subject of strenuous controversy in England. English Puritans condemned it as "popish" and the secular celebration as a "wanton Bacchanalian feast."

Opposition of the English Puritans to festivals culminated in an act of Parliament in 1647 which abolished the observance of Christmas, Easter and Whitesuntide. This was echoed in the American colonies in 1659 when Puritans enacted a law in the general court of Massachusetts to punish those who "kept Christmas."

The law read "Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forebearing of labor, feasting, or in any other way . . . shall be subject to a fine of five shillings."

The law was repealed in 1681 but many of the Puritans were not reconciled to this action. Secular reveling at Christmas had often interferred with religious devotions and offended the Puritans' moral sense. This intensified their sectarian hostility to the religious observance of Christmas — an attitude they maintained for the better part of two centuries in parts of New England.

The fun-loving Dutch colonists of New Amsterdam, however, celebrated Christmas as their chief holiday. They brought the old customs from their homeland, especially the Christmas stocking and observance of the feast day of St. Nicholas.

In the Southern colonies, the planters celebrated the yuletide with feasting, singing, and dancing. On many plantations slaves were given a holiday as long as the great yule log burned.

The latter half of the Eighteenth Century saw a swing of attention to the realm of economics and politics and religious controversies became of less importance. The fact that English and Hessian troops celebrated Christmas during the Revolutionary War may have added a patriotic note to the denominational controversy.

General Washington crossed the Delaware River on the night of Dec. 25, 1776, to surprise and defeat the Hessian troops stationed at Trenton, N. J. In the opinion of one writer, Washington's bold venture succeeded because the Hessians were enjoying their customary Christmas revels and failed to maintain the usual watch and patrols.

However, denominational opposition to the ecclesiastic observance of Christmas continued into the second half of the Nineteenth Century. An account in the New York Daily Times for Dec. 26, 1855 read:

"The churches of the Presbyterians, Baptists, and Methodists were not open on Dec. 25 except where some mission schools had a celebration. They do not accept the day as a Holy One, but the Episcopalian, Catholic and German Churches were all open. Inside they were decked with evergreens."

In the Twentieth Century, all denominations have embraced Christmas widely both as a religious and as a social celebration. Today, men, women and children in every Christian land crowd into churches to give their thanks. More than one fourth of the world's population — about 800 million people profess some form of Christian faith.

The splendor and beauty of Christmas observances is very different from the humble stable in Bethlehem where Christ was born; but the message He brought to the world is the same — "Glory be to God in the highest; and on earth peace, good will toward men."

A CHRISTMAS GREETING

On this our Blessed Savior's natal day
This wish we send you, near or far away:
For you and yours, the faith, the hopes, the wings
Of joyful praise the Host Angelic sings
As once again, across the miles, the years,
The Good News conquers time and doubts and fears
While kings and shepherds wonder and adore,
May this day's peace be with you, evermore.

Perhaps no other phrase in any language on earth has been repeated more often than the simple greeting, "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." Nor has any wish ever meant more.

Beyond, or rather supplementing the advent of Christianity as a religious doctrine is its meaning as the most important event in human history.

Besides bringing the means of redemption and salvation, Christianity for the first time (and only) on earth introduces the only viable code of ethics and conduct by which the race could live in prosperity and true peace. Because all men and nations are sinners, few have conformed entirely and all have suffered.

The first Christmas and its remembrance bring a profound meaning to most minds and hearts, and leave few untouched. The observance brings a renewed vision of love, compassion and innocence, and a new hope that true peace and justice may even yet be established and that God's will may yet be done on earth as it is in Heaven.

It says here . . . simply . . .
Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Should Say 'No' To Communist Made Goods

To The Editor:

How the communist slave masters must have smiled as they watched their oppressed peoples produce wooden coat hangers, folding chairs, stools, folding hat racks, handbags, and ornaments to be sold in America during the holiday season!

Is economics, a weapon in the Cold War, to be used only by the enemy? Cannot we homemakers refuse to purchase these communist imports, thus loosening the chains that bind the poor slaves to their masters?

Contrary to what our State Department advises, and our government encourages, I believe assisting communist regimes in any way is morally wrong.

Let us all examine our purchases carefully and proudly say 'no" to those who wish to sell us articles made elsewhere than in the free world.

Mrs. William E. Williams

Christmas Is Time To Clear Air Of Strife

Christmas is essentially a time of joy for all of us, and joy is best expressed in music. The world is imbued with the spirit of "peace on earth, good will to men" when church chimes ring out familiar melodies of the Christmas carols.

The warmth of universal kindness and friendliness is expressed in every gentle word and generous act. People are as they were meant to be. If this spirit of love and good will could be kept aglow every day throughout the year, a closer kinship of all human beings would prevail in our modern scheme of civilization.

A hopeful, constructive, friendly attitude is a requisite in bringing order to world chaos.

The international whirlpool did not start with material things. Nuclear bombs do not fire themselves. Wars and threats of war are started in the jumbled minds of men and women and confusion stops only when a mutual understanding can be reached.

Christmas Gift Tips For Sportsmen's Wives

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The popular cartoon conception of a fisherman or hunter is one that shows Mr. Sportsman loaded down with tackle and gear. It is true that we are collectors and the limit to the stuff we collect is bounded only by money and storage space. And on Christmas Day next week, the lucky sportsman will be the one who gets a badly needed item of fishing tackle or hunting equipment.

To be fair, however, you need more than one rod and reel to fish in central Ohio. Bluegills and bass are just not caught consistently on the same tackle. If you add a few trips a year to Lake Erie, and an annual vacation to Canada or Florida, more tackle is needed. The same is true with hunting — one set of gear for duck hunting, another for pheasants.

Christmas shopping for sportsmen is usually dreaded by wives, but they have some Santa's helpers handy in the clerks at sporting goods stores. By describing the type of hunting and fishing done, the clerks in a reliable store can be most helpful.

To get down to specifics, there is a very wide price range — you can start with a yacht and work your way down to a 50 cent compass. Most sportsmen, however, look forward to the purchase of a $100 flyrod or a $250 shotgun as a once-in-a-lifetime occasion, and would not want to be deprived of the fun of picking them out. For Christmas surprises, I would recommend presents from $1 to $20. All the sportsmen I know, I believe, would appreciate a gift certificate for higher items.

For fishermen there are: rods and reels, lines, flies, plugs, hip boots or waders, landing nets, stringers, fish knives, creels, hook disgorgers, fish skinners, sun glasses, tackle boxes (some will float), minnow buckets, gaff hooks, fishing lanterns and scales for weighing fish.

The list for hunters is as long and varied: cap, wool socks, hunting boots (leather or rubber), gun case, decoys, sweat shirts, game calls, archery equipment — bow, arrows or quiver, shooting glove, hunting gloves, hand warmer, rifle waterproof match box, jacket or coat, brush pants, quilted underwear, gun cleaning kit, gun rack, compass and hand trap for throwing clay birds.

Boaters need even more equipment: life jackets, fire extinguisher, anchor, buoyant cushions, horn, tools and oars.

For campers there are: sleeping bags, axes, lanterns, thermos jugs, air mattresses, duffel bags, cooking utensils, camp stove, refrigerator chest, camp cots, camp stools and mess kit.

Now you see why economists say that outdoor recreation is big business, and the expensive items are not even included here. Happy shopping.

Song Lifts Us Above Cares Of World

Christendom's love of religious singing is well known, and it is a joy to everyone who participates therein. Music is the voice of the heart, just as much as prayer is the voice of soul.

Rev. Alexander

The prophet Zephaniah in speaking of the restoration of Israel said, "The Lord thy God . . . will joy over thee with singing." In the 38th chapter of Job, the Lord asked Job, "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? . . . When the morning star sang together, And all the sons of God shouted for joy?" When the singing God created the earth there was harmony, there was music, in His universe.

In the song of every bird, in the symmetry of every flower, in the rustling of leaves in the treetops, in the lapping of the waves against the shore of the ocean there is the music and harmony of God. The brook tumbles down the mountainside, singing as its goes. Yes, our God is a God of music, a God of harmony.

After the children of Israel had crossed the Red Sea, they sang, praising God for deliverance. When Jesus was born in Bethlehem a chorus of angels sang the first Christmas carol, "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace among men of good will." And I especially like to think of that incident, when after the rendezvous with His apostles in the upper room, our Lord joined them in the singing of a hymn before going out into the garden of Gethsemane.

The early Christians were a singing people.Jerome wrote of them, "You could not go into the fields, but you might hear the plowman at his hallelujahs, the mower at his hymns, and the vinedresser singing David's psalms." Who can forget that even in prison in the middle of night "Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns unto God."

And so we sing. Paul tells us that the songs of Christian worship are to be "psalms and hymns and spiritual songs." "Spiritual songs" are songs with a Christian message, the words and music of which lift the soul toward God. On the wings of song we rise above the world and are lifted nearer to God. Praise be unto Him for a religion of song!

Washington Local School Board Says Thanks

On behalf of the Board of Education of the Washington Local Schools, I wish to express our appreciation for the wonderful support by the Rural-Urban News in our recent levy campaign.

Mr. Ed Churchhill has been most understanding and cooperative in these very trying times. His columns were factual and to the point, but at the same time reflecting an unusual understanding of school problems.

We feel the Rural-Urban News provided a valuable community service as a medium of communications. This community is now very well informed on school management.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Florida Freeze Losses Will Be Felt Here

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Bananas, apples, tangerines, grapefruit, oranges, cranberries, grapes.

Vegetables — Carrots, potatoes, yams, salad greens, peppers.

Protein Foods — Turkeys, chuck roasts, pork loin roasts, hams, eggs.

The extreme cold weather we had last week in Ohio also reached Florida. Sub-freezing temperatures hit citrus groves and vegetable fields. The exact extent of damage is not yet known but it is estimated that approximately 75 per cent of the Florida citrus crop is grown in the area covered by these temperatures.

Mrs. Franks

What does this mean to you, the consumer? Chances are great that you will see higher prices on citrus fruits in the weeks to come. The extent prices will increase cannot be determined until a final estimate of damage is made. It normally takes two to three weeks to make an accurate estimate.

We are fortunate in that the Florida orange crop prior to the freeze was estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture to be the largest on record, at 118 million boxes. Therefore, the effect of the freeze will not be as great as if it had occurred in a year when the crop was smaller.

Federal marketing orders will keep heavily damaged oranges off the market. Many of the oranges will be diverted to juice. Depending on the number of oranges diverted, you may find even lower prices on frozen concentrates than we are presently enjoying.

You will find California navel oranges on the market, however, most of the orange supply is presently from Florida.

Florida vegetables that have been affected include: tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, squash and corn. The extent that the damage will be felt in local markets in reduced supplies and higher prices cannot be determined at this time. You, as a shopper, should become even more price and quality conscious.

It's Life Of Adjustment, Readjustment

It's getting to be that nearly everybody these days is making an effort to alter their personality, size or shape — be it a visit to the psychiatrist, a crash diet or a change in the color of their hair.

McPeek

The drive toward "adjustability" is based on a multitude of reasons, ranging from health to vanity, from beauty to realignment of their natural endowments and the environments surrounding them.

The vogue in switches now is hair. The tinting and dyeing of one's locks has given way to wigs. One can now change with the speed of a jet from a glamorous blonde to a saucy redhead, or from a beehive to a Cleopatra look.

Once eyeglasses were designed to correct defective vision. The contact lenses came into being for those engaged in contact sports, show business and those who were self-conscious wearing eyeglasses in public. Now, if you look closely, the girl with eyes of blue might be wearing contact lenses whose orbs may be brown or green.

One of the popular "adjustments" toward developing a good smile is recapping or straightening of teeth. What was once a virtual monopoly by budding Hollywood starlets is now a trend that has reached into every American hamlet harboring an orthodontist.

For the aged, the road to maintenance of beauty is the face-lift. And the reshaping of the nose via plastic surgery is another element in the current era of adjustment. Surgical augmenting of the bosom is an even more recent — and more ambitious "adjustment."

For the man who aspires to reach greater heights, the answer lies in adjustment or elevator shoes. The little woman has always been able to keep her romance aglow by donning three-inch spikes or shunning taller escorts.

This world of adjustability has taken strong root on the American scene and can be found in a wide range of subjects, from cosmetics that permit the average woman to slant her eyes or develop kewpie-doll lips to foundation garments that accentuate the postive and eliminate the negative.

Even taxes are adjustable but the adjustment is generally upward. Perhaps the only thing not adjustable is the ability of the diplomats in Geneva to reach an agreement on disarmament.

Motto: This problem, when solved, will be simple.

Health Officials Agree On Sabin Type III's Safety

Sabin Type III oral polio vaccine—held up from a Dec. 9 debut in the Greater Columbus area due to some controversy—has been given a clean bill of health by men who know.

Columbus Health Commissioner Dr. Ollie Goodloe announced that it was the "unanimous opinion" of his local expert medical committee that officials proceed with Type III for adults and children.

The serum will be administered — much in the same way and at the same places as Types I and II — on Sunday, Jan. 6.

Medical authorities have finally calculated that a person is 30 times more likely to contract polio Type III by NOT taking the vaccine than by taking it. Also, without the vaccine, a person will continue to be a potential polio carrier.

This inoculation was considered controversial because it was reported that certain persons in other parts of the U.S. and Canada had contracted polio after taking the vaccine during the summer months.

The fact is that 14 million persons have been immunized with Type III and that only 15 cases have been associated with the vaccine. These cases are still being studied to prove or disprove a direct relationship.

Health officials here report that approximately 3,000,000 doses of Type III have already been given in Ohio. Out of this number, two cases of polio were reported and both of these are also under study.

The Wyeth Co., manufacturer of the vaccine to be used in Franklin County, reports only one suspected case in 4,000,000 doses.

Numerically, according to medical men, the Sabin risk is far smaller than the risk taken with medicines for prevention of whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, measles, smallpox or rabies.

Doctors further report that Sabin III is, in fact, among the safest of all preventive medicines — especially when administered in cold weather months when the risk is virtually non-existent.

Dr. Fred Dierker, president of the Columbus Board of Health, stated that the board "is aware of its responsibility to promulgate the best available public health measures.

"The possibility of permitting polio to ravage this community by neglecting to carry out a medical program already two-thirds completed," Dr. Dierker added, "is a heavy responsibility. The evidence demands the continuation of the Sabin program."

The records show that 56 per cent of the polio threat has been removed from Franklin County since Type I virus causes 55 per cent of all polio cases and the Type II virus, one per cent. However, 44 per cent of the danger still remains.

The Sabin on Sunday program is jointly organized under the direction of the Academies of Medicine and Pharmacy and the Columbus and Franklin County Board of Health.

Food And Fun For Fitness, Family's Total Well-Being

With the spotlight these days focused sharply on physical fitness, the care and feeding of the American family becomes increasingly important. Hand in hand with the stress on eat well, exercise more, feel better, goes the more practical problem of how best to attain these goals.

One refreshing note injecting itself into not only family feeding, but all aspects of family living is fun. Dinner parties, birthdays, holiday gatherings, luncheons, barbecues and even refreshment time at meetings, contribute to our most festive and pleasant moments.

Besides those special occasions we all enjoy, mealtime at home offers daily opportunities for family fun. Planning menus for fitness with a festive wink presents few problems these days.

The U. S. government recommends certain daily nutrients for everyone, including protein for growth, minerals and vitamins for keeping the body functioning properly, and fats and carbohydrates for energy. Each group offers so many choices the clever homemaker has no trouble planning meals of varied interest.

The important meat group, for instance, offers not only red meats, poultry and fish, but a favorite for all youngsters up to the age of 100, peanut butter.

In the bakery department, a tempting array of cake and pies supplementing breads and cereals. Daily fruit and vegetables requirements may be met by any one of a variety of favorites from citrus fruits to cantaloupe and cabbages.

Dairy products offer endless possibilities. Chocolate milk always rates a round of applause from the youngsters while ice cream turns the plainest of fare into a festive fete.

In addition to keeping a weather eye on family eating habits during the holidays, the gal in charge must keep a close watch on the family social schedule.

It's easy to get overly tired, and it's hard to get caught up once you've fallen behind. Too many parties in close order break down some of the necessary elements for family fitness.

The holidays offer endless opportunities for festivities and family fun. Enjoy them to the fullest by carefully planning meals and social activities around a program of equal time for rest and relaxation.

Take Time On Highways States AAA

Allow extra driving time over the holidays to get to your destination, suggests Russell H. Campbell of the Columbus Automobile Club.

With many offices and industries also closed on the eve of both holidays, many persons will have four-day periods in which to travel," notes the AAA club official.

Motorists should allow an extra hour for every two hours of driving time a trip would take in good weather during a non-holiday period.

There are only 900,000 Protestants in France today.

Gift For Doggy Is Suggested

The perfect Christmas present for a dog is his 1963 license, reminds the Humane Society of Columbus.

Proper identification will increase the pet's chances of being returned if he is lost or stolen, the organization says.

Licenses may be obtained either at the County Auditor's Office in Court House or at the Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk. A license may also be obtained by sending a description (breed, age, color, sex, long or short hair) to the county auditor with the fee of $2 and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All dogs over three months of age must be immunized against rabies. Re-immunization every twelve months is required in Columbus, Upper Arlington and Grandview Heights.

The Story Of 'Silent Night'

The words of the beautiful carol, "Silent Night," were born over a hundred years ago in the village of Arnsdorf, Austria.

It happened on the night before Christmas Eve. The parish priest, Father Joseph Mohr, was troubled. The old organ in the little church was broken. He thought of the Christmas Eve service. If only there could be some special music!

Coming home from a visit to a parishioner, Father Mohr found himself on the heights overlooking the little village, where a few lights glimmered in the silent darkness. So it must have been in Bethlehem on that silent, holy night when Christ was born. Silent night, holy night! Words came to him. He hastened home and put them down. He began to sing, and those who listened knew the song would be immortal.

There was no organ music in the church on Christmas Eve. But, as Father Mohr sang, with Franz Gruber accompanying him on the guitar, the congregation listened in wonder to the first rendition of a song that was to be a Christmas gift to all the world—"Silent Night."

1962 Christmas Joy!

May all the joys of Christmastime be yours this holiday.

Christmas SOUTH OF THE BORDER

In Mexico, the posada celebrates the Holy Family's journey to Bethlehem. The procession is led by children carrying a litter with figures of Mary, Joseph and an angel.

Bearing candles, the procession moves from door to door, asking through the medium of litanies, or songs, for lodging for the night. From inside each house, they are answered, also in song, but the doors do not open—until they reach the chosen house, where the doors are thrown open and lodging, or posada is granted.

There are refreshments, much rejoicing, and the high point of the evening is when the pinata appears. The pinata is an earthenware vessel filled with candies and sweets and then decorated gaily in the shape of some animal—an elephant, duck, rabbit, pony, etc. The pinata is suspended from the ceiling. Each guest is blindfolded in turn and given a stout pole with which to break open the pinata — while the other guests attempt to keep the pinata swinging out of reach. The person lucky enough to break the pinata is showered with all the sweets and goodies inside the clay jug.

In the spirit of the season, the goodies from the pinata are shared with other guests.

Cuban Refugee Tells Of Christmas In Her Land

By PRISCILLA LENOX

Christmas in Cuba?

It might surprise you. Here's a report through the eyes of a youngster, Auni Alonso, a Cuban refugee who's now living at 951 Woodhill-rd in Grandview:

She was, of course, eager to tell of the Christmas holiday and how it was celebrated in her native land. She won't be home for the festive season this year, but she has fond memories of Christmases past.

She said that few Cuban families go along with the Santa Claus legend. The day of gift-giving and exchanging there is Jan. 6.

The children do not receive their presents from Santa Claus, but from the 'Three Kings.'

The type of presents are the same, however.

Christmas trees are there, though.

What foods are apt to be eaten? The Cubans eat rice as avaidly as the Chinese. Other items that appear often at mealtime are black beans, pork, guava paste and some unknown confection that has no American counterpart.

She naturally had never seen snow until she came to Columbus, and found it fun to play in, even though she found cold weather here the only unpleasant feature about being a refugee.

She laughed when she remembered that Cubans thing it cold if it is chilly enough to wear a sweater. The youngster would like to return to Havana, but enjoys living in this country and appreciates the fact that she and her family are fortunate to be here.

Her family had to leave the Communist dominated country in sections, as the Cuban officials were reluctant to give them permission to depart from their native land.

That's all behind them now. What's ahead? Christmas 1962 — American-style and it should be the merriest one yet to the Alonso family.

City In Turkey Linked With Virgin Mary

A ruined city in Turkey has been linked to the Virgin Mary.

Ephesus, a ghost city, lies some 35 miles from Izmir, Turkey, near the Aegean Sea. It is a meeting place of archeologists, chiefly interested in the Temple of Diana, one of the Seven Wonders of the World. In recent years, however, Christian pilgrims come in increasing numbers, drawn by the old tradition that Mary spent her final years there, cared for by St. John the Apostle.

Here, amid the tumbled ruins of the sixth century Church of St. John a tiny chapel is believed by many to stand over the site of Mary's home. Local tradition says that both Mary and John died in Ephesus, but their tombs were never discovered.

Though Goths destroyed Ephesus in A.D. 262, the Christianized city revived and was the seat of two of the most important councils in Roman Catholic history. Later invasions by Arabs, Turks and Mongols completed its ruin. The harbor silted up, and Ephesus sank into oblivion.

At present, St. John's Church is being restored in an American-Turkish project inspired and led by a Lima, O., businessman.

BARGAIN BUCKS ABOUND

Money Sales Boom Is Seasonal Event

By JANE ROBINSON

Money is on sale right before Christmas, and some of it at bargain prices.

Each year the local banks order either from each other or their parent Federal Reserve large amounts of silver dollars for holiday giving.

It is the policy of the Reserve System to fill the orders with circulated coins as long as they are available. This year, however, shiny new silver dollars have been dug from the vaults, and with amazing results. Suddenly around several of the metropolitan areas 1902-O silver bucks began to show up. The "have" collectors collectively shuddered The "have-nots" were delighted, though equally astonished.

It was believed that all but the new in numimatists's hands had been melted into bullion during World War I. (The Pittman Act of 1918 provided that silver coins in the vaults be so treated to send to foreign allies to allow them to mint their own hard money.

When the sealed mint bags which do not identify their contents other than by denomination were found to include the 1902-O's, the collector who in November had a $1500 asset found himself with a deflation problem. The 1902-O was now valued at $12.

Sad news that this may be to the collectors, it is still an attractive bargain to anyone who may discover one in coins he thought worth merely 100 inflated United States cents.

The City National Bank reported that though they usually order a couple thousand to anticipate demands, this year double the number were needed. Clayton Boyd, assistant cashier at City National, stated that newsboys often are repicients of the "cart wheels." He also recalled that a local firm commemorated its silver anniversary with distribution of a couple to each employe.

According to Col. William Ong, vice-president of the Canal Winchester Bank, only $40 remains of the $600 obtained for Christmas. Most of these were bought, he believes, by grandparents to give to their grandchildren and for Christmas remembrances for the milkmen.

The Peoples Bank, Groveport Branch spokesman, Chester Babbert, commented that they do not augment their customary level of a couple hundred, because "they all come back in the day after Christmas."

The people of Ashville are more interested in crisp green ten dollar bills, Claud Kraft of the Ashville Bank stated. Unable to get uncirculated coins through regular channels the Ashville bank did in recent years fill an order for the "clean" iron men through Philadelphia.

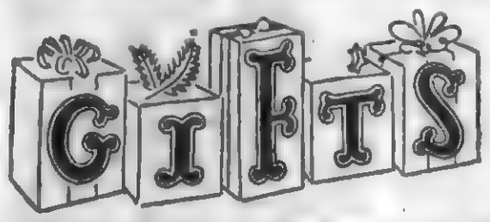
The businessmen who traditionally go through the homes sheltering young boys, distributing a dollar to each boy, add to the demand, according to Harry W. Hewson, resident manager of the new Federal Building and Loan Association on West Broad. His company, which ordinarily, isn't called upon for large sums of currency or coins, anticipated the Christmas need in appreciation, not in anticipation.

Noting that leading newspapers and trade publications this year have reported that the volume of business gift giving will reach record proportions, the Council points out the value for well-chosen gifts, correctly delivered, as goodwill builders. To help businessmen in the often complicated task of setting up an effective gift program, BGAC lists these suggesions for successful business gift giving:

1. Keep your gift of modest value in relation to the importance of each recipient as an employee, prospect or customer. Extravagant gifts smack of bribery.

2. Choose your gifts individually, considering the tastes of each group of recipients.

3. Choose only high quality gifts that are useful, durable and dependable.



4. Personalize each gift, if possible, with the recipient's name or initials.

5. Package each gift attractively and securely.

6. Accompany each package with a personal note, greeting card or at least a special gift label.

7. Deliver each gift with a flair, if possible—personally or by special messenger—preferably to each recipient's home rather than to his office.

ABOUT BUSINESS

Christmas business gifts, which by "guilt-by association" tactics have been linked with payola and bribes, are proper practice, reports Business Goodwill Advisory Council, the non-profit research and information organization of the specialty advertising industry.

Citing a published legal opinion by the New York law firm of Dewey, Ballantine, Bushby, Palmer and Wood, the council emphasizes that there is a distinctive difference between legitimate Christmas business gifts on the one hand and unsavory practices such as bribes, kickbacks, secret commissions and the like, on the other hand. As far as Christmas presents are concerned, the legal document reads: "It is difficult to see any reasonable likelihood that even the largest gifts involved here, such as clocks, cameras, and the like, would influence a top management executive to favor the donor of the gift at the expense of the Corporation."

"The gifts, in addition to being small, appear to be part of a widespread pattern of Christmas giving," the legal document continues. It further states, "The Agency Restatement points out that even where gifts are received in connection with the principal's business, the duty to account for them may be negated by usage or custom. . . . A custom as universal as the distribution of business gifts at Christmas makes this rule applicable here."

In addition, the Business Goodwill Advisory Council notes that businessmen should have little trouble to distinguish what constitutes a legitimate business gift if they adopt the BGAC "golden rule for business gift giving." a legitimate business gift is modest in value and is given and is ready for the business of "selling money."

Though no silver dollars have been minted since 1935 the demand is evidenced in the report from the director of the mint, Eva Adams, that 33 million were released during the past fiscal year.

Wagner Firm Sponsoring Children's Yule Dinner

The party is being sponsored by August Wagner Breweries, Inc., 605 S. Front-st, which will contribute $50 to each settlement house for establishment of a summer camp scholarship fund.

Ohio Fuel Engineer Is Assigned

Russell E. Fenner, 1450 W. Rich-st, an engineer trainee for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., has been assigned as a junior engineer in Ohio Fuel's Southeastern Pipelines District in Athens, it was announced today.

Fenner started with Ohio Fuel last July in the company's engineering training program.

Born in Millington, Mich., Fenner was graduated from Waterford Township High School in 1957 and received his Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering from Michigan College of Mining and Technology last June.

Second Branch Office To Open

Approved Finance, Inc., will open its second branch office in Columbus on Monday, Dec. 17, at 777 Neil-av, in the new Thurber Village Shopping Center.

In another move later this month, the company's other local branch will be moved into new quarters at 14 E. Chestnut-st. For the past seven years the office has been located at 39 E. Chestnut-st in a building that soon will be razed to clear ground for the seven-story addition to the Nationwide Insurance building.

Still Selling Yule Decorations

The Franklin Heights Lions are still selling their pine cone Christmas decorations and will be until Dec. 24. If a Lion doesn't call at your door, you can order one of the Christmas-tree like decorations from Franklin Heights High School Principal William Rogers or Lester Yerian, club president.

Caroling, Mass Are Traditional

In the mountain regions of Western Anstria, entire villages join in carol singing on Christmas Eve. Beginning with the family living farthest from the village church, torch-bearing carolers form a procession. At each house along the way greetings of "Froehliche Weihnachten" are exchanged, and the inhabitants fall in line. Eventually, the whole population is part of the parade as it arrives at the church steps in time for Midnight Mass.

Christmas Eve carol-singing and Midnight Mass are also a part of the British holiday tradition. The custom of hanging up mistletoe dates back to the Druids, who used the plant in their religious rites. Burning the Yule log is another custom borrowed by the British from the Vikings, who first burned it in honor of their god Thor.

SAFE HOLIDAY

If your holiday plans include travel by automobile, be sure to start early and drive carefully. Road conditions are unpredictable at this time of year and extreme caution is advised. It will be much better to arrive at your destination a few minutes late than not to arrive at all.

Consider Comfort Planning Party For New Year

Here are a few tips for a successful New Year's Eve Party.

Don't invite more people than you can comfortably serve. It's a nice idea to invite but parties should be given in comfort!

Keep plenty of ash trays handy, and keep them clean. A discarded cigarette may start a smoke screen coming from a tray of piled-up cigarette butts. Have plenty of clean ash trays handy and you may not discover a cigarette burn in your new rug after the party is over.

Don't serve gooey food — unless you enjoy playing a guessing game when your rug cleaner asks you to identify various spots on your carpet. Nuts, cheese cubes, cold cuts are perfect for a New ear's Eve party.

MAY USE 'QUO WARRANTO' WRIT AGAINST LARGE CORPORATIONS

Attorney General To Issue Statement On Sunday Closing

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Ohio's attorney general, Mark McElroy, is expected to take a giant Sunday Closing law step at the end of this week and observers close to the situation are viewing it as an entirely new approach to Blue Law enforcement here.

According to Ted Saker, first assistant to the attorney general, McElroy "will issue" a statement of policy Thursday afternoon. A reported attempt to institute a "quo warranto" writ against large corporations should be involved.

The writ, which is action against major corporations allegedly engaged in illegal sales activity, is considered by lawmakers as an "extraordinary remedy" to the Sunday sales problem.

Saker reported that McElroy and a "small staff" have been working on the idea for "several weeks" but have been "interrupted from time to time."

Basically, a quo warranto action would cause large corporations operating on Sunday to loose their charter for any operations at all.

This move against traders of heavy merchandise does not particularly concern what has been termed "gray areas" in the Sunday Sales enforcement struggle; that is, the corner grocery and drug store.

The Greater Columbus Sunday Association reports that it is "delighted that the attorney general is considering this move" and that "we certainly support it as strongly as we can."

McElroy's statement will be the first policy move on the subject since the issue has been mauled over in Ohio.

A quo warranto proceeding will generally decide if certain corporations can do business in Ohio and the attack is expected to be launched mainly against "flagrant violators."

Saker emphasized that McElroy had, as of Tuesday afternoon, made "no specific decision" on whether or not to take this action. The first assistant added, however, that "there are several who are studying and researching" the question in an effort to give McElroy grounds to make his decision.

Large corporations which are expected to be hit first by the writ are the various discount houses in Ohio, termed by the Sunday association as "flagrant violators."

Secretary of State Ted Brown, of course, franchises all corporations in Ohio and has the main jurisdiction over their operations. If any action by McElroy is upheld by Ohio's Supreme Court, the corporate charter of violators could be revoked.

In the event that a writ is issued, the attorney general will then go to court and challenge the responsibility of these large-scale violators to completely carry out this civil action.

Any action McElroy will take, it is reported, will be in the spirit in which the law was amended by the Ohio Supreme Court in 1959.

Writ action is expected to get the approval of the Ohio Council of Churches, the AFL-CIO and other groups throughout the state.

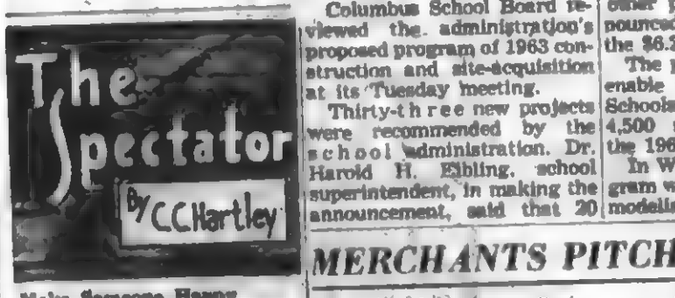
REMODELING, ADDITIONS ASKED ON HILLTOP

School Needs Total Millions

Columbus School Board reviewed the administration's proposed program of 1963 construction and site-acquisition at its Tuesday meeting.

Thirty-three new projects were recommended by the school administration. Dr. Harold H. Eibling, school superintendent, in making the announcement, said that 20 other projects previously announced would be included in the $6.25 million program.



The program is designed to enable Columbus Public Schools to educate at least 4,500 more children during the 1963-64 school year.

In West Columbus, the program will include extensive remodeling of West High School with emphasis on improved lighting and science facilities, and John Burroughs Elementary School.

Additions are also proposed for Eakin Elementary and Hilltonia Junior High School, and site expansion for Highland Elementary.

Enrollment in the far west section of the city has jumped from 3,400 in 1956 to more than 5,200 this fall. Enrollment on the secondary level has increased during the same period from 2,600 to 3,800.

Funds for the 1963 program will come from the $29,850,000 bond issue Columbus voters approved in 1959 to finance a five-year building program. Funds from the '59 bond issue will be exhausted during 1964, Dr. Eibling said.

...to Someone Happy for Many Years

The greatest gift that can come to a giver is the knowledge that his gift has done some good . . . that it will be enjoyed for a long time.

Such a gift would be a contribution to the Hilltop YMCA Swimming Pool fund at this time. It would bring lasting joy and good to many for many years to come.

The pool will be realized when enough people step forward with encouragement in the form of contributions to make it possible. A fund has been started and is growing.

Why not give a wonderful gift to this fine community this Christmas? Just address it to the Hilltop Y Swimming Pool Fund, c/o the Hilltop YMCA, Valleyview Dr., Columbus 4, or call the Y office and a representative will visit you.

Anything in the form of a gift this year may be deducted from this year's income tax.

The council referred the matter to the city attorney. A representative called Pass who suggested the Sewer and Drainage Division be consulted. RESERVISTS PARTICIPATE IN EXERCISE

THREE OFFICERS of the 87th Infantry Division discuss strategy and maneuvers during the two-day command post exercise held here recently. The exercise, similar to playing chess, trains leaders in giving commands to units in the field, but only with large military groups. From left are CWO James E. Weiseling, 1097 Afton-rd; CWO Ray E. Swerlein, 1792 Bostwick-rd; Capt. Joseph E. Anderson, 985 Chestershire-rd.

NEW COMMANDER of the Defense Construction Supply Center, Brigadier General Walter A. Huntsberry, left, presents a commendation to Colonel Harry D. Hoskins, Jr., whom he succeeds. Hoskins will resume his previous post as deputy commander.

DCSC presently occupies office space both at 52 Starling-st and at the Army Depot. The Center will consolidate its activities at the Depot in the next year.

In his expanded role, Gen. Hunstberry will command all Defense Supply Agency activities in Columbus, with over 4500 Civil Servior employees, and over 100 military personnel.

State Hospital Power Failure Blamed On Coal

According to State Purchasing Agent John U. Hull, coal that would not burn last Friday at Columbus State Hospital has been used successfully in other state institutions.

Some patients at the hospital were inconvenienced because boilers would not work. Power and heat in some buildings was limited from 1 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"Until last week, we have had no complaints about the coal," said Hull.

He pointed out that if coal does not meet guaranteed analysis, the firm could be penalized.

'Burning Plane' Proves To Be Railroad Flare

A burning railroad flare suspended from a helium filled plastic bag created a lot of excitement for West Side residents last week.

Police received several calls reporting everything from a meteor to a burning airplane in the area round W. Broad-st and Central-av.

When police found the bag and burned out flare near W. Rich-st and Avondale-av it was attributed to the work of pot-ups with a scientific bend.

HOBBY MAKES HUBBY HAPPY... TEACHER CONCOCTS OWN RECIPES

Making up a batch of cookies from a new recipe of her very own, or perfecting and adjusting a recipe she concocted in the past is the hobby and pastime of Mrs. Patsy Buckley, 755 Stelzer-rd, and the delight of her friends.

The kindergarten teacher at East Columbus School, who cooks for the sheer love of it, spends evenings in the kitchen while her husband, Thomas, a veterinary medicine student at Ohio State, is busy with his books.

And her husband and neighbors, friends and teachers at East Columbus, are happy to volunteer as tasters when she is devising and perfecting a new recipe.

Christmas making, her project for the past few weeks, is nearly completed, and the results will become gifts for the couple's friends and family.

They were married in their hometown of Lewisburg, W. Va., in June and come to Columbus soon after. "Columbus is so different from home," she said, "and at first was hard to get used to. But we've made a lot of friends and really enjoy it here now.

"I started cooking on my own while still a child," she explained, "and have made it my hobby. I enjoy baking—for gifts to friends and to serve when we entertain.

"And," she continued, thoughtfully, "devising recipes of your very own is even more interesting. "It's a means of self-expression."

Her recipe for a summer dessert has been a prize winner in competition and at the state fair. And she has taken preliminary steps to enter the next national bake-off competition by entering an original coffee cake recipe.

As a Christmas gift to new neighbors in Columbus, Mrs. Buckely has offered the following recipes, most of them originals:

For Christmas Baking

SNOW FLAKES

2¼ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup butter
1 three ounce package cream cheese
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind

Mix all together. Use in cookie press or wax paper funnel. Bake at 375° for 10 minutes.

EGGNOG PECAN DESSERT

1 cup pecans
3 tablespoons plain gelatin
½ cup milk
1 quart eggnog
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
½ teaspoons salt
2½ teaspoons brandy flavoring or ½ cup brandy
¾ cup heavy cream (whipped)

Drop pecans in boiling water for 3 minutes, drain. Toast till crisp. Chop. Soak gelatin in milk. Stir in eggnog. Heat—do not boil. Add salt and brandy.

Cool until mixture begins to thincken. Fold in egg whites and cream and walnuts. Pour into mold and chill several hours. Top with caramel sauce, or fruit sauce.

COFFEE CAKE

½ cup sugar
½ cup margarine
1 egg
⅔ cup milk (scald, then cool to luke warm)
1 cake yeast
4 to 6 cups flour

Cream sugar and margarine. Dissolve yeast in ¼ cup luke warm water. Beat egg fluffy, then add yeast. Sift flour. Place in greased bowl, cover, keep warm. Let rise twice size, then place back in bowl — let rise again. Roll out on flat surface. Add ½ box raisins and ½ cup citron. Roll up as jelly roll. Let rise again. Bake 375° until golden brown.

Glaze with 2 cups confectioner's sugar, ¼ cup milk. Decorate with red and green cherries.

WHITE LEMON FRUIT CAKE

1 pound butter
2½ cups sugar
6 eggs
3 ounces lemon extract
4 cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ pound candied cherries (whole)
½ pound pineapple (cut up)
¼ pound white raisins
1 pound nuts (whole)

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs and beat. Blend in lemon extract. Put in dry fruit and beat. Put 4 layers wax paper around pan. Put pan of water under the cake while baking. Bake in 250° oven for 3½ hours.

LEMON GLAZED DATE STICKS

1¼ cup cake flour
1¼ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Mix and add:

2 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup (cake flour)
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon hot water

Mix and add:

1 cup white sugar
½ cup nuts chopped

Stir in dates. Add flour. Stir in 2 cups chopped dates. Fill 2 greased 8x8x2 pans. Bake 30 to 35 minutes at 325 degrees.

Glaze: Heat 3 tablespoons milk with 2 tablespoons butter in bowl, mix 2 cups sifted conf. sugar. Add 1 teaspoon rind of lemon and 3 tablespoon lemon juice. Cut sticks and then spread on glaze. Let it run down sides.

CHRISTMAS GOODIES from the kitchen of Mrs. Patsy Buckley are truly her handiwork—even the recipes are her own. The white fruit cake she perfected with the assistance of her mother, and her original recipe for coffee cake is entered in the national bake-off competition.

THE HOBBY of Mrs. Patsy Buckley, kindergarten teacher at East Columbus, is as pleasing to her friends as to herself. It is they who are called upon to taste-test when she is perfecting a new, original recipe.

SANTA CLAUS

"He was dressed all in furs from his head to his foot and his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot—he was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, and I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself."

These words from Clement Clark Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas" gave to the world the popular image of Santa Claus. For appearance sake, we presume, Santa's clothes are now pictured a clean, bright red, but he's still "a jolly old elf."

Holiday Hazardous

A common hazard to rugs and carpets during the holidays is cranberry stains.

According to cleaning experts the juice of cranberries produces a staining action on most rugs and carpet fibers which the housewife will find impossible to remove unless she consults a professional rug cleaner.

Homemakers Are Honored At Luncheon

The four Suburban Homemakers, selected to represent Hartley Newspapers in the national competition held in Chicago Nov. 14, 15 and 16, were guests at a luncheon held at the home of the publisher Friday, Dec. 14.

Mrs. C. Carlton Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd, was hostess to Mrs. Oliver Tallman, the Hilltop Record and West Side News winner; Mrs. L. T. McKinley, Eastern Review, and Reynoldsburg Record; Mrs. Philip Wagner, South Side Leader and South-East Rural-Urban News.

Also present was Mrs. Richard DeWitt, secretary to the publisher.

Each homemaker was presented with an engraved silver bowl and a certificate.

Following luncheon, the four compared pictures and experiences of their trip to Chicago in November, where they met suburban homemakers from throughout the country.

Winner of the national search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year was Mrs. Robert Haverkamp of Park Forest, Ill.

Bishop Ready Pupils Plan Presentation Of 'Nativity'

As their Christmas gift to families and friends, students of Bishop Ready High School will present their annual Christmas program, "The Nativity," Sunday, Dec. 23, 2 p.m.

In addition to last year's presentation, three new features will enhance the performance — the newly-formed band, a tableau of the Annunciation, and choreography.

Setting the advent motif, the band will play "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," followed by "Silent Night," and "Joy to the World."

Under the direction of Ralph Lupidi of the Musical Arts Center at Broad and Hague, the 35-piece band has been practicing together since Oct. 28. This will be its first public performance.

Thirty boys will give a choral recitation of the Christmas story in a combination of texts from Holy Scripture and "A Woman Wrapped in Silence."

Principal soloists are James Howells, Charles Erdy, and Stephen Carr. Mary Ann Fitzpatrick will portray the Virgin Mary in the tableau, while Joseph Beckwith will act as both the Angel Gabriel and St. Joseph.

Interpreting the role of shepherds and prophets in modern dance will be William Powers, William Paxton and Victor Martenson.

The 100-voice Glee Club of boys and girls will sing throughout "The Nativity," beginning with "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel."

DIRECTING THE WORK of Hilltop Community Council next year will be, from left, Pierson "Pete" Block, president; Terrence Ogden, vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Booth, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Bowles, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William Schultz, treasurer.

HILLTOP COMMUNITY COUNCIL SEATS NEW OFFICERS THURSDAY

St. John Lutheran Church was the scene of the installation last Thursday of the 1963 officers of the Hilltop Community Council.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, guest speaker, was accompanied by Mrs. Westlake. Rev. C. T. Langholz gave the charge of installation.

The new officers are: Pierson "Pete" Block, 3181 Parkside-rd, president; Terrence Ogden, 319 S. Algonquin-av, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Bowles, 3130 Ridge-av, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. C. Booth, 599 S. Brinker-av, recording secretary, and Mrs. William H. Schultz, 234 N. Hague-av, treasurer.

"As our city grows," Mayor Westlake told the group of 40 present, "our neighborhoods become more competitive and community councils serve an important purpose. Our city is great because of the successful blending of many cultural groups.

"A good citizen is a working citizen," the mayor continued, "and our citizens have the best opportunity to do effective work through their community councils. More people should attend these meetings."

The mayor also remarked briefly on the new Westgate Recreation Center, to be dedicated next May. "It, like the new Schiller gym, will turn out physically fit youngsters —it will be the pride of the Hilltop," he declared.

J. Robert Frakes, council president of the past two years, gave addresses of welcome and appreciation. After an acceptance by the new president, group singing of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. Charles L. Shaw. Decorations were by the Highland Garden Club.

Two Seniors Place In State Scholarship Test

Family's Physical, Mental, Emotional Health Depends On Homemaking Heroines

Too often, the typical homemaker is pictured as a busy gal who divides her time between driving the family to and from school, scouts and the station, while masterminding an array of gadgets and appliances carefully designed to "take the drudgery out of housework."

Surprising as it may seem, our gal with the mechanical helpmates generally manages to get in more physical exercise per day than does her husband, (whether white or blue-collared).

Perhaps if they ever invent automatic toy picker-uppers, bed-makers and kiddie-feeders her Olympic style day may slow down a bit, but in the meantime, she has other things to worry about.

She must chart the course for keeping her family physically, mentally and emotionally fit. The fitness programs presented by the government and many private agencies all stress a balance of preventive practices such as regular medical and dental check-ups, exercise, healthy play and recreation, satisfying work, rest — and of course, proper nutrition.

The execution of this program rests in the extremely capable hands of the American homemaker. As chief cook, she must be sure her family's daily meals meet U.S. Department of Agriculture's recommended requirements of meat, milk, bread or cereal and vegetables or fruit.

These foods are essential for everyone including teenage gals struggling to swap baby fat for a svelte shape, athletically active boys who want seconds of everything and two ice cream sundaes for dessert, and the smallest member who may have trouble on the sweet corn because his first teeth are up under the pillow waiting for the good fairy to claim them for cash.

Last but not least, there's father. If he spends the day holding down a chair behind a desk, interrupted only by a two-hour multi-course lunch with clients, he shouldn't face too many additional calories come dinner time.

The lady of the house must also act as catalyst for all emotional problems and tensions, clearing the air before father comes home from a hard day looking forward to an easy evening. Tensions and friction can offer serious obstacles in the pathway to physical and mental fitness.

Our homemaker heroine not only ranks as keeper-of-the-cupboard, she's also commander-in-chief of Operation Physical Fitness — A VIP position in any man's world.

NEWARK EDGES CENTRAL

West Clips Falcons, Ready Wins First

By BOB LYNCH and KENNY ASH

The West High cagers reversed their alternating win-lose pattern last weekend as they dropped Friday night's City League encounter to North, 64-53, but came back strong on the following evening to wallop Franklin Heights, 83-46.

Led by 6-3 junior Woody Fox, the visiting Polar Bears started out slowly against the Cowboys as the two squads ended the game's initial period with the score knotted 10-10. But this was as close as the host Broncos were to come during the entire evening, as the taller visitors completely dominated both backboards.

AT ONE POINT, the Polar Bears managed to launch seven shots at their basket before they were successful. North led 20-17 at halftime.

Fox led all scorers with 27 points. The Cowboys were paced by Charlie Castle, who tallied 20. Jerry Carter was the only other Bronco in double figures, as he netted 11.

Saturday proved more successful for the West aggregation, as they hosted the Falcons in a non-league contest. The Cowboys took their wrath out on the visitors as they stormed to a 22-7 first quarter lead, and continued their rampage throughout the game to an 83-46 win.

Sophomore Steve Barnard and Junior Jerry Carter led the Cowboy offensive attack as they netted 20 and 21 points respectively.

NEWARK PULLED ahead to stay in the closing seconds of the first half, to hand Central its first loss of the season, 57-55, Saturday night.

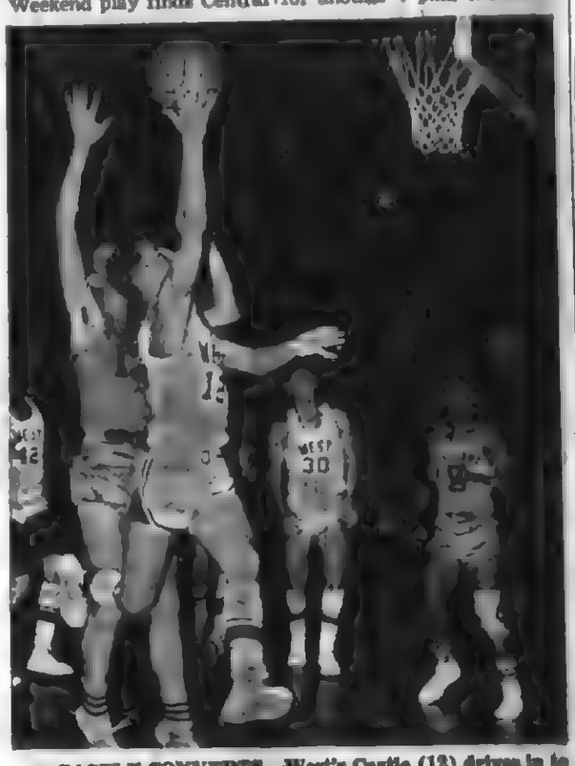
The Pirates, who had won three in a row before the loss to the Wildcats, kept the issue in doubt until the final buzzer.

George Broadnax and Gibson Hayes split the Central scoring honors with 14 points apiece while Tom Fullove contributed 12 markers to the losing cause.

BISHOP READY picked up its first win of the cage season Saturday with a lopsided 73-47 win over Delaware St. Mary's.

The Silver Knights led all the way in snapping a two-game loss streak. Paul Eberts and Hank Martensen split scoring honors for the winners with 12 points apiece.

ELSEWHERE IN the area, Holy Family also picked up its first win of the season with a 64-62 overtime win over Jackson Township.



The Raiders trailed, 37-26, at halftime but packed away determinedly at the Jackson lead, tying the score, 58-58, at the end of regulation play.

The Raiders' scoring honors went to Ralph Holman, with 22 points.

Weekend play finds Central (3-1) at South (1-2) and Linden at West (3-3) for City League competition; Coshocton Sacred Heart visits Ready (1-2) at 7 p.m. and Holy Family (1-2) takes on Brookhaven at Medina Junior High to complete Friday play.

Saturday's only cage offering sends Waterloo to Ready for another 7 p.m. encounter.

Barnett, Ex-Cowboy, Cracks Swim Marks

Terry Barnett, a graduate of West High and now a sophomore at Miami University, recently broke two records at the eighth annual Mid-American Conference relay championships at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Barnett swam the 200 freestyle relay in 22:0 and the 400 relay in 50.8 to set the new marks.

MIAMI HAS HIGH hopes of placing in the NCAA swimming and diving championships to beheld at Raleigh, N. C., in March. Such a feat could very well boost Barnett into All-American candidacy.

Terry, an education major and an active member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity at Miami U., hopes to go into secondary teaching upon graduation from graduate school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Barnett of 1139 Parma-av.

NCAA-AAU Hassle Now Red Hot Issue

Although we would have never suspected it could happen when the whole mess got started, the NCAA-AAU dispute over control of amateur athletics in this country has become a "red-hot" issue on that big desk at 1600 Pennsylvania-av, Washington, D.C.

The sports federation hassle, which has been kicked around the sports area for quite some weeks now, took on a more serious side last week when the President indicated that the lack of "peaceful co-existence" possibly could force the absence of U.S. competition on the Olympic field in '64.

MOREOVER, UNLESS "a summit agreement" is reached soon, JFK hinted that the upcoming Pan-American games might go into the record books without U.S. representation.

The problem in a nutshell revolves around the fact that the NCAA boys are dissatisfied with the AAU's handling of certain sports and have set up their own federation. Conversely, the AAU refuses to recognize the NCAA as a legitimate amateur athletic federation.

It's as simple as that but what isn't simple is the resolution. Neither side seems willing to come down from its original demands.

IN THE MEANTIME all that has happened is the President's warning and an added charge that the fussing federations are placing their own interests ahead of those of the athletes and the country.

Just to point out how far apart the two groups are, both disagreed on the President's charge — the NCAA in agreement, the AAU screaming "foul."

It seems that the whole package can be wrapped up with that old catch-all — healthy, good-ole'-fashioned American competition.

BUT THE PROBLEM is no longer a funny matter if, as the President indicates, our participation in the Olympic games is impaired.

Neither is any situation "healthy" when it curtails athletic competition in what appears to be building up to a selfish, bullheaded standstill.

Makes you wonder what we're coming to when two groups of men who are supposedly working to promote sportsmanship and fair play among nations on the athletic field can't even keep order in their own house.

ANYWAY, THE BOYS are playing with fire now. The Justice Department is involved and the President might be checking some of the small print in the Taft-Hartley Act.

Maybe the best solution could be worked out on the athletic field itself. We can see it now. "The NCAA will play the AAU this afternoon in a touch football game on the White House lawn. The winner will assume control of amateur athletics in the United States. John F. Kennedy will serve as referee with Robert Kennedy serving as field judge."

No-Names Nail Down Glenwood Cage Title

The final league standings are: No-Names, 6-1; Panthers, 5-2; Mafia, 4-2; Defenders, 3-3; Matadors, 2-4; Zeros and Pirates 1-4.

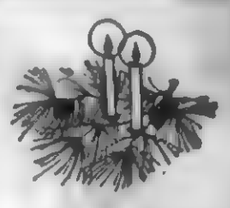
Central Honors City Champions

Central High School honored its 1962 City League football champions Monday night with a banquet at the Florentine Restaurant.

Coach Frank Howe gave a brief resume of the Pirates' season, praising his champions as an "all-business team that never let up" through the entire season.

A TOTAL of 31 gridders were presented with gold footballs and championship patches with All-City trophies going to six Bucs — co-captains Kenny Ash and Mike Grady, Tom Fullove, Stan Horner, Cliff Moxley and George Broadnax.

Howe, who also received a trophy from his Pirate team, pointed out that the '62 Pirates were the first City League team in history to win eight loop games for the championship.



Two of the evening's highlights were a pair of brief comedy sketches — one by the Central coaches and another one on physical fitness, done by Kenny Ash, Willie Eleby, Tom Fullove, Bill Solomon and Willie Williams.

Hilltopper Is Police School Grad

A Hilltop police officer was graduated recently from a 12-week course in police science and administration at the Southern Police Institute at the University of Louisville (Ky.)

Lt. Harry Berkemer of 898 Chestershire-rd, was a member of the class of 32 officers from twelve states, Indonesia, Iran, the Philippines and Thailand.

Berkemer

He is the ninth officer from the Columbus Police Department to attend the institute. The 17-year veteran of the force is presently assigned to the Detective Bureau.

The course covered 300 hours of classroom instruction in criminal law, evidence and procedure, human relations and human behavior and other law enforcement information.

PRESEPIO

In sunny Italy, where the Christmas tree is almost unknown, the presepio, or cheche, plays an important role in the celebration of the birth of Christ, Italian families frequently give over the entire rooms of their homes to the presepio. When completed, it may contain as many as a thousand figures.

Italian youngsters put their shoes by the fireplace on January 6th, the Night of the Epiphany, instead of on Christmas Eve. That date marks the arrival of "Befana," the good witch who comes down the chimney on a broom to fill the shoes left out for her.

Good children receive candy and gifts; the naughty ones find only coal in their shoes.

Final Clime Park Buy Is Approved

Approval was given Monday night by Columbus City Council on the final purchase of 21.4 acres known as the Ryan tract, which now completes the Clime Road Park land buy.

Total cost of this purchase was $48,500 and followed on the heels of an approval given Dec. 10 to buy a similiar parcel.

The Parks Commission is still considering, however, a tract of land to the south of the park which is owned by Ed Tonti, developer. Richard Lawwill, Parks Commissioner, said that he "doubted" if the city would make this extended purchase.

"I have a better idea," he suggested. "You knit to me while I read."

Not Everyone Has 'Merry Christmas' But This Bureau Makes It Come Close

If you think everybody has a "Merry Christmas," just check with Mrs. George Huhta at the Columbus Christmas Bureau, 137 E. State-st.

She — and her staff of two workers — know that it's not true. All Christmases in the greater Columbus area can't be "Merry" for various reasons but, one thing's sure, the Christmas Bureau goes a long way to correct this.

The bureau, Mrs. Huhta reports, is a function of the United Community Council. Through this agency, groups and individuals are urged to give donations to help families during the Yuletide season.

Mrs. Huhta's staff, Mrs. Betty Ogle and Mrs. Lucy Walters, begin work as early as August when the first telephone calls and letters come in requesting help at Christmas time.

However, the agency does not shift into "high gear" until around Nov. 1.

And it's really high gear then.

Last year, for instance, Mrs. Huhta (a three-year veteran as manager of the volunteer bureau) reported that 3822 needy families in the area were on file as being aided.

This aid takes on various shapes. Some families receive just a check, others a basket of food, or clothing, or toys. Sometimes families receive all of these items as the need warrants.

As of Tuesday morning, Dec. 18, the Christmas Bureau had 3560 families listed to receive help.

The bureau is, of course, always interested in getting people to make donations. "This way," Mrs. Huhta says, "the agency can perform its duties more easily."

The list of needy families is getting progressively larger over the years, she reports.

A Holiday Wish

Lots of excitement on your calendar? Christmastime is a happy time in every family. It's a time to give to those we love. It's a time to sit back and give thanks, too, for all the good things this year. We sincerely hope that yours is a happy, Christmas, and a safe holiday. Careful drivers respect everybody's right to enjoy this wonderful season. Merry Christmas!

The public is invited to view a realistic presentation of "The Holy Night" this coming weekend.

The senior and intermediate youth groups of Hilliard Methodist Church will present the live outdoor nativity scene at the church, Scioto-Darby Creek-rd, Hilliard.

Dates and times of the presentation are: Dec. 21, 7 to 9 p.m.; Dec. 22, 4:30 to 8:30 p.m., and Dec. 23, 3 to 5, and 7 to 9 p.m.

Prairie Players To Give 'Picnic'

Jan. 25 and 26 mark the major production of the Prairie Players for the 1962-63 season.

"Picnic," a summer romance, will be directed by Dick Ireland.

Rehearsals are now in progress. The play will be presented at Norton School Friday, Jan. 25, and Saturday, Jan. 26, at 8:30 p.m.

Prairie Players met Dec. 16 and saw a film from Indiana University, "Design for Illusion." It was followed by a workshop on stage design.

Three more productions are to follow "Picnic" this season.

The Prairie Players have a one-act play, "The Other Half," which is available to clubs and organizations for presentation at meetings, banquets or other functions.

Anyone interested in this play may receive more information by calling Dr. Robert Chosy at 878-3586.

Memberships are still available for this season, and more information may be received by calling Mrs. Tom Haydock at 878-3214.

Theodore Roosevelt became 26th President of U.S., Sept. 14, 1901, when President McKinley died from an assassin's bullet.

Independent Plan 'Bells'; Set Auditions

Independent Players of Columbus will present as their spring production "The Bells Are Ringing" at Veterans Memorial Auditorium on Apr. 19 and 20. The book and lyrics were written by Betty Comden and Adolph Green with music by Jule Stein.

Production and dramatic director is George Salisbury; musical director, Paul Morris; production designer and technical director, Bob Stegmiller, and choreographer, Stewart Tallman.

Anyone interested in performing in this production may audition for the casting committee on Jan. 13, at 2 p.m., in the club rooms at 527½ W. Broad-st. An accompanist will be available for anyone trying out for a singing part. Actors will read from the book of the show.

I-71 Project Bid Accepted

W. L. Johnson Construction Co. and Associates' bid for the Franklin-Pickaway County link of I-71, which consists of 3.5 miles from just south of the Franklin-Pickaway County line to the end of existing I-71 near Harrisburg, was accepted Tuesday by the Ohio Department of Highways.

The bid was $3,538,313.84. It was one of 12 bids on State Highway Department projects; the total cost of which was estimated at $42,744,000.

South Is Not Included In Soldier's Wish

A New Year's greeting jotted down in a diary in the year 1863 exempted Southerners.

Sam Smyth, a Union lieutenant fighting in the mud of the Civil War at Holly Springs, Mississippi, made this notation in his journal: "Happy New Year to all the world except our Southern Rebel friends, their aiders and abettors . . ."

Obviously, the entry was made at a time when things were going badly for the North. The entry continued: ". . ." though to speak truly I think the prospect is not such as to warrant and in even hoping that the wish (of a Happy New Year) may be fulfilled . . . I had hoped to see a different state of things, and that we should enter upon the New Year with the bright prospect of a speedy termination of this exhausting conflict."

The journal with human and personalized descriptions of the Civil War, is among the collection of Lincolniana and Civil War materials in the Wyles Collection at Santa Barbara, Calif., College.

BR. 4-1155

Vol. XLVI, No. 37 — The Hilltop, Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, Dec. 26, 1962 — Total No. 2857

Spectacular successes in scientific fields and developments in the Cold War made the most memorable headlines of the year just passing.

John Glenn, in February, raced the sun around the earth three times and won, writing an important first in America's history. Alarming tensions along the Berlin wall and, more recently, the threat from Cuba, were followed by wary relaxation.

And on the home front, expansion and growth marked 1962 in western Columbus, with the community striving to keep pace with the demands of more families, needing more services, merchandise and recreational facilities, more hospital beds for their ill, more churches in which to worship, and improved schools for their children.

The city's success is recorded in the community newspaper during the past 12 months:

F and R Lazarus and Co. opened its first suburban store on W. Broad-st at Georgesville-rd, a new Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge is under construction on W. Broad, and a Big Bear store opened in Lincoln Village.

The Fire Department dedicated its communications-training complex on Greenlawn-av.

The year also saw construction of a nursing and convalescent home on Greenlawn-av, work started on the new Doctors' Hospital in Lincoln Village, extensive improvements at Mt. Carmel Hospital, and the Senior Citizens Center on the near West Side.

The dream of a recreation center in Westgate Park became a reality, and two new lanes were built in the community for bowling enthusiasts. Plans were announced for a swimming ppol, to be opened by next summer on Sullivant-av, and acquisition of land was completed for the proposed Clime-rd park.

A remodeling and site expansion program was completed at Chicago, Avondale, Highland, West Broad and Dana Elementaries, and at West High School.

And at long last, the re-routing of Dry Run Creek got under way, McKinley-av was relocated north of Fisher-rd, and engineering work was started on the extension of Wilson-rd from Broad-st south to Sullivant-av.

Recognition also came to the pride of the Hilltop—the community center along Valleyview-dr, west of Hague-av, received an award for planning excellence from the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

JANUARY

3 — Lazarus purchased 15 acres for a west suburban store on W. Broad-st at Georgesville-rd. First baby of the year in the community was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willy Burris, 1046 Scott-st. Paul Langdon named vice-president of Columbus School Board for the third term. George Weber elected president of West Side Kiwanis. Plans announced for a new Doctors Hospital on W. Broad-st west of Lincoln Village. Richard Nash installed president of Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

10 — West Side Neighborhood Council completed its first year. Plans completed for the first step in construction of Outerbelt.

17—O. O. Tope installed as president of West Franklin Kiwanis Club. The old St. Aloysius School, unoccupied since the new building was opened, was razed, along with the social hall and rectory. Walter Cunningham elected president of West Side Neighborhood Council. Nelson Greene, Jr., installed president of Hilltop Business Association.

24 — Bert Korls, assistant secretary of Hilltop YMCA, named new executive, replacing Al Hollowell who was appointed executive of the Indianapolis Metropolitan YMCA. Norris S. Boothe, mayor of Valleyview, died unexpectedly. West and Central High Schools graduated last mid-year classes Jan. 23. John Roman named president of the Hilltop YMCA Board of Management.

31 — Council authorized plans for re-routing of Dry Run Creek near N. Haldy, Roys and Chase-avs, at cost of $200,000. The $2.5 million Senior Citizens Center was started between Sullivant-av and W. Rich-st, opposite Sunshine Recreation Center. Charles Ater elected president of West Side Board of Trade.

FEBRUARY

7—Henry Ruegg, 735 Wiltshire-rd, installed president of Columbus Area Council of Churches. Dr. Thurman R. Fletcher died at his home, 1939 Berkshire-rd, at 73.

14 — Herschel S. Stephen named president of Gladden Community House. Hilltop Community Council met to discuss plans and site for the proposed new recreation center at Westgate Park.

21—John Glenn made his historic, three-orbit trip around the earth Tuesday. Legislation passed by city council will bring the acreage of proposed Clime-rd park up to 225.

28—Members of Glenwood Methodist worshipped for last time in church building on Highland-av Sunday, and passed the keys to the building trustees of the purchasing church, Oakley Baptist. Columbus Firefighters began limited use of new $800,000 training center and communications complex on Greenlawn-av, although it was not yet completed.

MARCH

7—St. John Lutherans dedicated newly enlarged and remodeled church. First steps taken to route bus service to the Holly Hill and Georgian Heights subdivisions. Mrs. Amazona Dunson, 289 Nashoba-av, died Feb. 28 at age 105.

14—City Council approved construction of $400,000 Westgate Recreation Center. Mrs. Hazel Roberts of Yost Florist, 303 Belvidere-av, became first woman member of City Park Commission. Ground broken for Lazarus West. An extension to Hilltop Branch Library approved.

21 — Glenwood Methodist consecrated. Michael Kagay, 65 N. Roys-av, Miami University student, selected to tour Russia on a student-exchange plan.

28 — Southeastern corner of Westgate Park selected for new recreation center. The city earmarked $8000 for initial engineering survey for proposed extension of Wilson-rd from Broad-st to Sullivant.

APRIL

4 — Valleyview Council approved plans for repaving Murray-av from Valleyview-dr north. City Council granted right-of-way easements to the county to begin the $125,000 McKinley-av relocation north of Fischer-rd.

11 — Annexation of 67.5 acres to the city stirred opposition of Franklin Township Citizens Association and South-Western City School District. Robin Eyer, 16, of 91 S. Gift-st, was "Boy of The Year" of the West Side Boys Club. A probe into the Juvenile Diagnostic Center's difficulties pointed to administration weaknesses.

18 — Extension of Mound-st bus line approved, and May 7 set as effective date. John Auble, Jr., of the Hartley Newspapers staff was in Washington, D. C., Apr. 9, 10 and 11, covering the Ohio Farm Bureau Conferences with legislators.

25 — Robert M. Edwards, 433 Weymouth-ln, elected president of the Optimist Club of Western Columbus. City Council approved the $15,100 purchase of 5.8 acres of land on Jackson-pk for construction of women's workhouse. Columbus Jets scheduled first game of the season Apr. 25.

MAY

2 — Kiwanis Club reopened its Youth Foundation Cabin in Fairfield County. Built five miles north of Lancaster on Rt. 33 in 1936, it was originally intended for use by West High Scout Troop. City Council urged full support of Scioto Conservancy District's request for $1.5 million loan to finance its program.

9—The Health, Medical and Child Care Levy was defeated at polls. John Nippert, vice-president of Nippert Electric Products, 1759 W. Mound-st, re-elected president of TB Society. Ground was broken for new 106-room Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge at 3833 W. Broad-st. Mrs. Kenneth Adams selected Hilltop Kiwanis "Mother of the Year." Galvy E. Gordon named president of Hilltop Lions Club. One-fourth of all weekend traffic fatalities in Ohio were residents of the six-mile area between Valleyview and Hilliard. Dead were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cunningham, 3053 Valleyview-dr, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davidson, 4744 Fisher-rd, killed in a head-on crash in Clark County; Ronnie Edward Perry, 21, of 2310 Walker-rd and Jerry C. Ramsey, 32, of 3010 Alton-Darby Creek-rd, victims of a train-car crash Sunday on Georgesville-rd. Mrs. Helen Stewart, 28, of 52 S. Southampton also fatally injured in an accident at Mound-Sandusky interchange. In addition, Tommy Piper, 10, of 500 W. State-st, and his would-be rescuer, Leonard Logan, 15, of 341 Rush-al drowned.

PHOTOGRAPHER SEES MOVING SITE

HERE'S A ROLLING HOME that gathered no loss for enterprising Richard Jackson of 630 S. Wayne-av. When Jackson learned that the Board of Education planned to buy and demolish five houses directly north of Chicago-av Elementary school for expansion purposes he became interested. He bought this six-room house for about $500, paid the Muth Co. about $3000 to roll it out into the street, turn it around and set it over a newly dug basement on a lot he purchased next door from his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Rotherford. Jackson plans to rent it as an investment. The local mailman probably is confused. The house, formerly owned by R. Tudor, originally sat at 53 Chicago-av. Now it's No. 63 Chicago-av.

A Look Ahead

It is that time of year when everyone asks, "What's ahead?"

Perhaps it is well that we are unable to see what is ahead. It is better that we keep our equilibrium and our faith as we go into the future looking for something better.

It is easy to find trouble. Show me a person who looks for trouble and he is sure to find it.

It is well that we remember the joys of the Christmas season and in doing so we will find the joys of a New Year.

The Gay Philosopher Says: "This is the time of year when you realize that you not only can't take it with you but you can't keep it here."

Our Pledge For 1963

When we destroy the last page on the 1962 calendar we look back with a lot of satisfaction on the last year just passed . . . a year in which our newspapers have extended our services to many more people.

In the new year we look forward to further opportunities to be of service to the many residents of the areas in which our papers circulate.

Recent years have seen the growth of a strong suburban press all over America. The future looks even brighter.

Our pledge in 1963 is to produce even better suburban newspapers which will better serve our communities.

Two Watch Night Services Slated

A social hour will be held from 10 to 11 p.m. Monday, Dec. 31. The group will then retire to the sanctuary for a special sermon by pastor James F. Lorenz. Title of the sermon will be "Another Way into 1963."

The Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethern, combined with the Hilltonia Evangelical United Brethren, will observe the tradition at the Hilltonia Church, 552 Columbian-av. For further information, interested parties may call Rev. Gerald Koster, BR. 4-4207.

Wagon Wheels!

'EXCUSE OUR NOISE'

Contractor Prepares Area For 'Sounds Of Progress'

A Columbus construction company has taken steps to answer hundreds of questions before they are asked.

Complete General Construction Co., 1221 E. Fifth-av, has prepared an illustrated pamphlet for house-to-house distribution along the route of the West Side sanitary sewer project near Jets Stadium.

L. A. Guzzo, president of Complete General Construction, had the yellow and black pamphlets prepared to explain the project and the noises that will be a necessary part of it.

Called "Excuse Our Noise," the pamphlet tells all about the "sounds of progress" that will be heard as workmen start this week to break up rock formations underground.

Work will be along the west side of Jets Stadium, to Mound-st, west on Mound to Holton-av, north on Holton to Thomas-av, west on Thomas to Princeton-av, and north on Princeton to Sullivant-av.

Complete General Construction was low bidder on this 7½-foot-wide second section of the Scioto main trunk sanitary sewer. Complete's $887,550 bid was $252,450 under city engineers' estimates.

The pamphlet distributed to all homes along the project route points out that the work:

1) Will eliminate the danger of any more flooded basements in the West Side.

2) And, because of the hard rock formation underground, the economical and time-saving way to dig the sewer line is with modern, vibration-less blasting.

"Doing the work this way will save Columbus taxpayers more than a quarter million dollars," the pamphlet says.

It goes on to explain the "controlled blasting" that will be done with the help of DuPont experts and electronic devices that check all shock waves.

"Specialists will control each blast with a hand-operated shoe box-size 'carometer' that serves as a seismograph.

"This system assures you that vibrations caused by the blasting of small areas of rock are so slight as to be negligible.

"When it is done scientifically . . . with electronically-calibrated instruments, shock waves are kept to a bare minimum."

The pamphlet says "it all boils down to this":

"First, all these miniature 'sonic-like booms' are necessary. They will help make possible vital flood control, which is part of a long-range civic program.

"Second, these noises are harmless. There will be no flying debris nor will you feel any vibrations. (Because of the noise, sometimes some people think they 'feel' vibrations.)

"Third, to do the work this way is quicker and will save taxpayers more than $250,000 under the estimated cost figured by city engineers."

The company asked residents for "your indulgence when this noise is in your neighborhood, and hope you understand that it is harmless, and is necessary to the progress and growth of our community."

Time To Revive Thrift

This is the time of the year when most of us pause to look back over the past 12 months and take a little inventory as to how we are doing.

A great segment of Americans have been taught and thoroughly believe in thrift, the kind that leaves a little extra security after the week-in-week-out needs have been taken care of.

At year end, many an American family will find itself in substantially better financial condition than at the beginning of the year. This has been brought about largely through frugality and keeping out of debt beyond the ability to pay.

Many other families, however, find they are involved in huge monthly payments, excessive interest through loan companies and generally living beyond their income. This can only lead to hardship and disaster.

In the period from Dec. 1 through Dec. 24 something like $720 million has been paid out by the federal government in interest alone. It is estimated that it will take almost $30 million a day, or $912 million a month to meet federal debt interest payments in 1963.

Every minute of every day finds our federal government in a worse financial condition. Yet, from all directions there is a clamoring for increased federal spending. It appears to be high time that individual Americans are more insistent upon economy in government else the savings of these frugal people will end up in a federal waste basket.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Good News In Store For Food Shoppers

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, cranberries, tangerines, grapes, oranges, grapefruit

Vegetables — Cabbage, carrots, potatoes, yams

Protein Foods — The less popular cuts of pork and beef

It looks like a good year ahead for food shoppers.

The United States Department of Agriculture predicts more beef, pork, chicken and dairy products in 1963. We might find more canned vegetables and frozen fruit juices on the market during the coming year than we found last year.

Mrs. Franks

Several foods may be in shorter supply in 1963 but should be still large enough to meet needs. They are: eggs, potatoes, apples and frozen vegetables. Supplies of turkey may be smaller than a year earlier during the first few months of the new year.

Pork prices should be lower than during 1962; beef about the same; but lamb probably will be higher. Frying chickens should be cheaper; turkeys and eggs should average about the same.

Prior to the Florida freeze, orange and frozen orange juice prices were expected to be lower during the winter and spring months. However, the supply situation has changed, and citrus fruit prices may be higher during this period.

USDA forecasters had also predicted vegetable prices to be lower than a year ago but as was the case in 1961, freezing weather in the growing areas has reduced the supply and will likely bring higher prices.

Prices at food stores should average about the same as during 1962, and USDA economists believe food will continue to take only about 19 cents of each dollar of the typical family's take-home pay. This is the smallest share on record — seven cents less than the share spent for food a dozen years ago.

The cost of getting food from the farm to the retail store seems to have halted its climb of the past 10 years, and USDA economists expect it to remain about steady during 1963. In all, 1963 looks like a happy and prosperous year for Mrs. Food Shopper.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

'Insensible Clod' Floored By Culture

For years it worried me that there was little which I liked about contemporary poetry, abstract art and opera.

Was there something lacking in me — an inability to appreciate "the finer, the more esthetic phases" of our culture? Was there some crude block in my sensibilities?

McPeek

At first I was reluctant to admit that perhaps it was because I did not, or could not, fully understand them.

So like many others when confronted by esoteric poetry, abstract art or opera, I would adopt an alert look of understanding and feign an attitude of appreciation.

But as time passed I grew unable to tolerate such self-hypocrisy, and freely would admit I did not like such "art." This immediately would spur the defenders into accusations (albeit accusations clothed in polite euphemisms) that I was an ignorant clod, possessing no more sensibilities than a marinated oyster.

Phooey! Who do these psuedo intellectuals think they're kidding? Why don't they come out from behind their hypocritical masks (Oops! I beg their pardon—"masques") and quit trying to achieve status by nurturing inferiority complexes in others.

Let's start with contemporary poetry. Granted some of it is beautiful and expressive, but the greater part of it is pseudo-lyrical hokum, fraught with nebulous allusions.

Not even the sharpest literary Fearless Fosdick could penetrate the verbose haze of such poems to trace the meaning behind their riddle-ridden verses. Furthermore, rarely can the authors give an intelligent explanation of what they were trying to say.

Take one such contemporary poem and five "critics." What do you get? Five totally different critiques.

So that makes me ignorant and thick-headed? Well, here's one dolt who prefers the poets of olden days who were content with saying clearly what they meant in words intrinsically rich with music; not wordy sounds devoid of sense, designed to appeal to literary snobs who construe verbal puzzles as profundity.

As for abstract painting, most of it is so ridiculous it has little more artistic value than the ink blots psychiatrists use in an effort to penetrate the tortured minds of schizos.

I can understand and even appreciate the cubistic art of Picasso, which gave birth to this shameless abstract bastard that has seduced so many in the ranks of the intelligensia. Cubistic art contains geometric power that makes it quite obvious that it was painted by a disciplined artist, not some bearded nut who repeatedly whacks a canvas with a frazzled hemp rope dipped in Kemtone.

Abstract art defenders who ooh and aah about the hidden messages in such works could get their kicks just as well by going into their back yards and stirring patterns in mud puddles.

Opera is in a different class. No one can deny it is a highly refined art form requiring greatly cultivated talents. But, designed as much for pageantry as for musical quality, it frequently is ludicrous in the former and deathly dull in the latter.

The music more often than not is labored and sometimes incoherently cacophonous in its effort to match the drama of the story, and the pageantry (at least in many early works) is an absurd anachronism that has all the credibility of the Marx brothers portraying the key roles in a dramatic presentation of "Little Women."

Who honestly is not inclined to snicker, if not guffaw outright, when a couple of 200-pound lovebirds awkwardly juxtapose their bellies to permit a tender embrace at the conclusion of a bombastic Wagnarian love duet?

What's more, most opera stars can't act well enough to qualify for a walk-on part in the average high school class play.

Let it be made clear, this should not be construed as an unprovoked attack upon these three art forms; rather it is a defensive action on behalf of we "insensible clods."

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Something sacredly new in man's experience on this plant came out of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia, nearly 200 years ago. For the first time, the common man had a guaranteed chance to live under law, not a slave to the whims of venal men.

Then came the Bill of Rights, as experience of the people under this new and priceless rule of law made such added evolution of this sacred document obvious and honestly utilitarian.

Men were free at last to work and aspire and save something out of their own worthy labors. Fearless men went farther West and overcame both the elements and the Indians. For 100 years after that historical gathering at Philadelphia, able and dedicated men endured every hardship and privation that one can imagine.

Stupidity, avarice, double dealing were always present to be sure, but the "leaven in the loaf" that document provided was superior to all the mistakes and hypocrisy that crooked men dreamed up.

Then, beginning in 1890, came the machine-age revolution and more and more short-sighted men of great talent and power persisted in their constant efforts to subvert the original purposes of the noblest document ever born out of the minds of men.

Countless politicians rose up to temporary power and became fabulously wealthy and less and less honorable in their respect for the American Way of Life. But Almighty God seemed at every darkest dark hour to have this new chart of freedom in His care and every generation also produced and called to honest and dedicated leadership, men who were giants in their day.

Today, we see all that accomplished down through the last 200 years threatened as never before by old and disproven follies of the Sixteenth Century. Work has become a badge of ill repute; sweat has become a "dirty word." Taxes have become a destructive virus in the very body-politic of our national existence. Millions of yet-free citizens have been seduced into abject slavery to "pie in the sky" and the monstrous idea that "everything can be for free" if they vote right. That madness will destroy all of us if it is not stopped in THIS GENERATION.

THE AMERICAN WAY

An Impossible Task

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

GROWING OLD GRACEFULLY

"Old folks" has become almost a dirty phrase. The new one is "Senior Citizens". But there are more of them than ever before. And by their own efforts and the substantial interest of others, they are enjoying longer and happier lives .

In Columbus there are at least 81 places sponsored by various organizations where older people meet quite regularly and take part in an amazing spread of activities. Churches sponsor 29, settlement houses nine, and business, community organizations, and public agencies promote 34. The Columbus Recreation Department directs nine, the largest and best known of which is the one in old Memorial Hall at 280 E. Broad-st. Franklin County participates there, indirectly because it owns the place.

The Senior Citizens' Center has 968 members. Mrs. James L. Fowler is its director and William Moore its president. A monthly news letter is published, edited and written by members.

Recreation Department people instruct classes in poetry, ceramics, painting, music, dancing, leathercraft, sewing, woodcarving, and other things.

Citizens exhibit their handiwork at the Ohio State Fair. They've had 14 annual hobby shows. They have an annual selling mart, too, the last at the Art Gallery.

The Seniors hope to move early in 1963 to the new center on McDowell-st near, but separate from, Senior Citizens' Apartments. The Metropolitan Housing Authority will lease the center to the city of Columbus at $1 per year.

It says here . . . . . .
It's no disgrace to grow old. It's just a little inconvenient.

OUR READERS' Views . . .

Letters to the Editor on topics of public interest are always welcome. They should be written or typed legibly on one side of the paper only, and limited to 350 words. Always sign your name and address so that authenticity of the letter may be checked if necessary. The writer's name will not be printed if so requested.

Says Senior Citizens Getting 'Run-Around'

To the Editor:

I am quite sure that many of your readers are as interested in what is being done in the name of our Senior Citizens and such things as special housing. All kinds of specialized groups are being formed to ride herd on the Old Folks who can no longer look after themselves, so let's look at just how far from reality some of this stuff really goes.

Start with housing for the aged. To be the judge of the cost of these units per person, just go and price them and see for yourself whom such housing was really erected for. Look at figures presented by Frank Harris of the Boston Globe and by Prof. E. J. Burtt of Boston University.

They state that in 1959 the Department of Commerce said a decent income in that year — for a single person — was $3,600 and that for a married couple it was $4,800 per year. They contend, and rightly so, that no one can live decently on $2,500 per year if they are 65 or older and cite the fact that the newspapers and the Congressional Record reveals that the average income from all sources is less than $1,000 per year for this age group.

Now here are some federal double talk and standards: The Bureau of Labor estimates that $3,200 is the very least that a man and wife of 65 or over can exist on, but that the war veterans of this nation 65 or over are limited (by law) to an income of $3,000 per year for a man and wife. They can't have one cent more or they lose any veterans benefits they may have under the so-called Pension Act of 1959.

The President of these United States has ruled that federal housing and housing built with federal funds, must be rented to all races, with the result that many states will refuse such housing and funds. They realize that this directive practically eliminates all who are 65 or over if they happen to be of the wrong color, so we can mark off that kind of housing for the aged as class legislation and slanted to care for certain groups only and not for all of our Senior Citizens.

This gives you a rough idea of the run-around the old people are getting from their government at a time when pensions and allowance are being paid to Cuban refugees, over-aged Chinese soldiers on Formosa, etc., with housing furnished by our government, but they can't do the same for their own people.

Wake up, Americans, and demand equality and justice for all of USA.

1963, An Unmarked Vista Of Time, Awaits

Philippians 3:13-14 "Forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize."

An art calendar had as its picture for the month of January a winter sports scene in full color. It portrayed a beautiful rolling hillside, covered with a mantle of pure white, untouched snow. At the top of the hill stood a solitary skier, poised, ready to thrust and sweep his trail through the long vista of unmarked snow.

Rev. Neff

As I looked at the picture I wondered what kind of a trail he would leave.

At this season of the year, each one of us stands with the man on the skis. Before us stretches a clean, unmarked vista of time, consisting of 365 days. What sort of trail are we going to make in it? I am confident that each one of us yearns to make a better trail than we made last year — a trail that is straight and true and clean. But how does one make a straight path or live a better life?

Consider first some ways it is not done. One does not make a new trail straight by looking back in order to straighten out the crooks and kinks in an old trail. This only seems to make the new one crooked too, as everyone knows who has actually tried to make a straight path across a field of unmarked snow or tried to row a boat in a straight course across a lake. Neither can one remake his life by brooding over the mistakes and blunders or sins of the past. A person does not make a new trail straight by drifting along or aimlessly wandering without a fixed goal ahead. Neither is one's trail likely to be straight when he frequently changes his aim from one goal to another.

There is but one way to make a trail that is straight and true. It is done only by firmly fixing our eyes upon one definite goal and walking toward it. There is but one way to live a better life this year than last — a life that is true and pure and upright. That is to fix our eyes upon Jesus Christ, who is to each of us an example in all things, and to seek his help along the way. He alone lived a life worthy of being copied, for He alone lived without sin or mistakes. And He alone, gave inspiration and power for us sufficient to help remake our lives.

Thus, may we make but one New Year's resolution: "forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before, I press toward the mark . . . Christ Jesus.

Wild Animals, Too, Become Citified

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Good numbers of birds have been coming to our feeder, although their trips are more frequent during cold weather.

Song birds at a feeder are perhaps the best example of wild animals that are not too wild. But all of the wildlife we have in Ohio today has learned to live remarkably well with man. It is not at all unusual to see an opossum or raccoon within city limits. Al Staffan, Columbus, who runs an urban trapline for sport has caught a mink, 27 muskrats and two raccoons this year within 50 yards of a four-lane throughway.

At least once a year someone phones me that he has seen a fox in the city, and last year three deer were killed on the highway on the east side of Columbus. Crows fly over the suburbs and the outskirts, and I've seen them cawing their way across N. High-st near Walhalla.

Waterfowl seek the sanctuary of the city, and one of the prime spots to observe wild ducks is the ponds along Frank-rd. Here, safe from disturbance and hunters they can be seen at ease loafing in flocks. Geese fly over high in the sky, and on one unforgettable autumn afternoon I saw a perfect wedge of Canadas, containing one snow goose, fly over Ohio State University's stadium during a football game. It was a contrast that will stay with me always, for above were the wild and wary birds from the arctic, and I was surrounded by a crowd of yelling people who did not even notice the moving picture of striking beauty overhead.

Squirrels are perhaps the tamest of the wild. They are tame enough to become pests in some people's attics. But however pesky, the sight of a wild animal attracts most people. We like to watch them and we like to feed them, and may it ever be so. And in the process we get a strain of city-dwelling squirrels that live more on handouts than on nuts and acorns.

The question is often asked, is it cruel to cage wild animals in a zoo? Apparently no one has ever asked a lion if he is happy, and I am not volunteering. But people who have worked for many years with animals in zoos believe their charges to be satisfied. To understand this you must grasp the concept of a territory, in which every animal lives. Animals show no mercy to each other, and by this constant sparring a peck-order and a home territory is established. In effect animals live in limited areas — cages without bars.

It is not a great strain on a beast then to accept a small "territory." Certainly, they would prefer to get out at first, but once the situation is accepted they are content. There are many examples of animals returning to cages on their own after escaping. Zoo animals live longer than wild ones, so the cage is not a physical hardship. They are freed from their two greatest enemies — hunger and predators.

It is fortunate for us that you can observe wildlife from your backyard and car window. If the animals had not learned to live with us, we wouldn't have any.

JOLLY SAINT NICK DID IT AGAIN!

Wind-Up Dolls Were Most Popular Christmas Gifts

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

It's sometimes hard to believe that a man like Santa Claus — with all the things he has to think about — is able to keep up with current events. But, sure as there's Christmas, he did.

Maybe he subscribes to Time magazine. They ran a story about the new kind of "doll craze" sweeping the country. That is, the "wind-up" variety. Like Time said, they have the Jack Benny doll. You wind it up and it keeps the key.

Or, the Khrushchev doll that you wind up and it takes off its shoes and beats on the table. The President Kennedy doll you wind up and it calls a press conference. Anyway, you get the general idea.

And, so did Santa.

This Christmas Santa delivered dolls in the city patterned after Columbus people, gosh by gum by golly. And, they proved to be real popular. Seemed to give a "grass roots" flavor to Christmas here and, at the same time, gave a panoramic view to fast-fleeting 1962.

Here are a few received, all fashioned by Ibsen, Santa's "Doll House" elf:

Columbus resident Governor-elect James Rhodes made an excellent one. You could wind this "doll" up and he still wouldn't talk to newsmen. Did you see the Governor Michael V. DiSalle doll? When wound, he made liquor probe hearings public.

The Columbus Mayor Ralston Westlake doll was a real favorite this year. Wind him up and he heads for Port Columbus to greet visitors. (Sometimes, he declares emergencies, too).

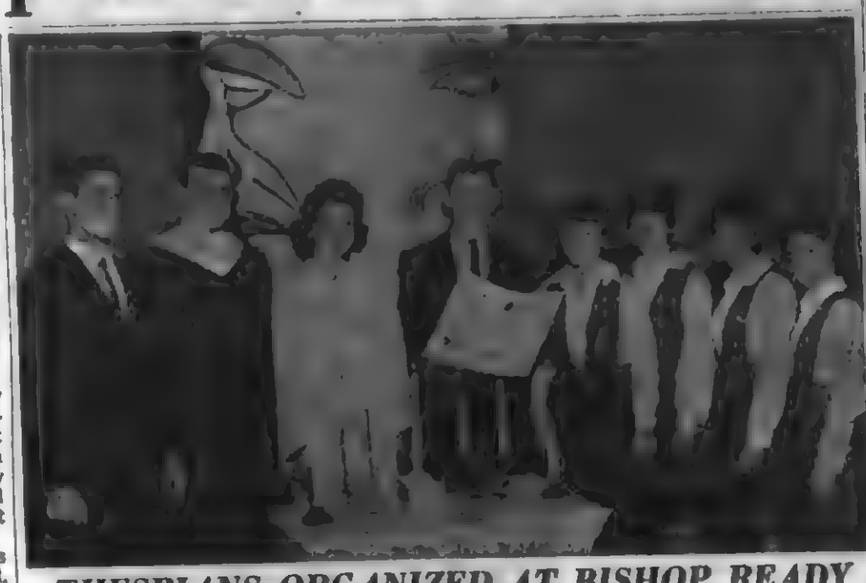
How about that doll that resembles Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher? This one's a real gas. A few turns of the key and he hangs up a traffic light which immediately turns red and throws the synchronization out of all the other toy traffic lights that came with this model.

The Congressman Sam Devine doll shows the most costuming technique. It's dressed in a referee's uniform and comes complete with its own whistle. It's a thin uniform and shows the effects of long wear.

For those who wanted a life-size doll, Jerry Lucas made a perfect model. Caution is needed in this one, though. Wind him too tight and he turns down offers with professional basketball teams.

For straight-talking doll, see if your friends got the former Columbus mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner model. This one talks on "If At First You Succeed, Try, Try Again." This one's very inspiring and comes complete with a straw hat and a long-playing record that tells funny stories. Your friends might not like this one, though. Most of them have probably heard the funny stories before.

Speaking of speaking dolls, how about the Police Chief George Scholer doll? Wind him up and he makes a pitch for more manpower. The Fire Chief Walter Strickfaden doll came neatly wrapped in a lowered fire insurance policy.



For football fans, there's the Woody Hayes doll that, when wound, takes off his coat. This doll is dressed in a baseball cap and short-sleeved shirt. Sewer Superintendent Carl Schoene is a good doll, too. Wind this one up and he mumbles something about "Bliss Run sewer? Oh, no!" and then falls apart.

The County Prosecutor Earl Allison doll, when wound gets another second-degree murder conviction. The Parks Commissioner Richard Lawwill doll looks amazingly like Johnny Appleseed and carries a picnic basket.

Isban didn't forget the suburbs, either. Take, for example, his Bexley Mayor William Schneider doll. Wind this one and it issues parking bans along E. Main-st. It also comes with a paint brush in one hand to mark traffic lanes along E. Broad-st.

The WTVN disc-jockey Spook Beckman doll is, perhaps, the most Christmasy. It comes dressed in a Santa Claus suit and immediately goes into a commercial "pitch" on where he bought his Santa Claus suit.

The Gene King model is fascinating, too. This doll, patterned after the secretary of the Greater Columbus Sunday Association, comes complete with a handful of affidavits for stores opened on the Sabbath. Little tots can issue them to their friends this summer for operating Kool-Aid stands after church.

THE GET TOGETHERS, a club of eight, energetic seamstresses, meeting once a month to sew for the needy, earmarked their dues for the past four months to buy food for Christmas baskets. Assembling them at their Christmas meeting held last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Thomas, 1480 S. High-st, are, kneeling in front, Mrs. Margaret Worthington, and from left, Mrs. Harry Ridgeway, Mrs. Robert Ridgeway, Mrs. Robert Wrights, Mrs. Stanley Thomas, Miss Sadie Clendenon, Mrs. Verna Campbell (in front) Mrs. Walter Whitelaw and Mrs. Sue McKinley. Members come to monthly meetings from as far as Harrisburg and Orient.

Christmas Spirit Of Aiding Less Fortunate Is Year-Round Attitude Of Sewing Club

"We save everything but ravelings—and in time, we may find a use for them," is how Mrs. Margaret Worthington, president of "The Get-Togethers" explains the source of materials for the club's year-round sewing projects for the needy.

A mountain of cancer pads, bed jackets, lap robes, bed gowns and clothing has come from the needles and machines of the group during the past 13 years.

Worn out shirts and sheets, discarded clothing of cotton and wool, and scraps of material are fashioned into items for patients at Alum Crest Hospital, families in need and many whose homes have been burned.

Members set their record-high production in two days during the flood—23 little girls' dresses and half that many pajamas, all fashioned of new material in two days' time. The items were given to the Salvation Army for distribution.

More than 800 cancer pads, as well as bed jackets, lap robes and chair pads, night-shirts and bed gowns by the dozen, have been contributed to Alum Crest Hospital during the past two years.

Although most of their sewing is contributed to Alum Crest, the club is not affiliated with the hospital, preferring to remain independent.

The "Get-Togethers," limited to eight members, meets monthly for a potluck luncheon and sewing session.

University Women Set Education Meet

Columbus Branch, American Association of University Women, will begin its 60th year with its annual education conference Saturday, Jan. 12, at the Faculty Club, Ohio State University, at 10 a.m.

Subject for the day-long discussion is "A Woman's World."

Reservations are needed for the luncheon at 12:30 p.m., and should be made with Mrs. John Gunn, 2582 Swansea-rd, or Mrs. Vern Reynolds, 899 Kinnear-rd.

Fun Tempered With Rest Sum Of Happy Holidaze

The happy holiday season featuring festive productions liberally sprinkled with good cheer, good will and good times, too often means good-by to some of the necessary elements of physical fitness.

During this period of parties, dinners and socializing, it's important to give equal time to planning non-party days.

One of the major requirements in the physical fitness program, now under great emphasis by the government, calls for proper rest and relaxation.

Since the excitement and anticipation which permeates the air may keep the youngsters emotionally stirred up, it's important to present a peaceful home-front, particularly at meal times.

Meal planning also requires a new look during this period. Since we're often treated to bounteous boards literally creaking with multi-coursed goodness, a light touch in the kitchen is definitely in order for the next day's dining.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture defines the four essential food groups necessary to good health, but it also stresses the number of calories recommended for daily intake. While we all need daily portions of meat, milk, breads and cereal, fats and carbohydrates, menus should include balanced selections.

Children should be taught to eat but not encouraged to over-eat. Contrary to popular opinion, those extra pounds of "baby fat" just don't "run off easily" later.

A minimum of friction at meal time is essential to the well-being of all members of the family. A tensionless atmosphere constitutes as important a part of physical fitness as nutrition, proper exercise, a satisfying job and proper rest.

A smart homemaker soon realizes that her dinner table offers a first line front in the quest for physical fitness, psychologically, nutritionally, emotionally and festively.

Mother, Baby Care Class Is Slated

A three-week "Mother and Baby Care" class, offered by Red Cross, will begin Tuesday, Jan. 8.

The class will meet twice each week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 10 a.m. to noon at Chapter Headquarterm, 995 E. Broad-st.

The class provides instruction in pre-natal care, bathing, clothing, feeding and overall care of the newborn.

Instruction is designed to give confidence to the expectant mother for her new role.

The class is free, as are all Red Cross services. Registration should be made by calling Franklin County Red Cross, 995 E. Broad-st, at CL. 3-8511.

Brandeis Study Group To Hear Book Review

Brandeis Women's study group will meet at the home of Mrs. Jule Mark, 3025 Dale-av, 2 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 5.

The book, "Donbey," by Charles Dickens, will be discussed by Mrs. Alan Gilman.

Best Wishes

SPONGE OR ROCK? It's a sponge. But it illustrates the porous sandstone in which natural gas is stored underground by your gas company. ▪ Located thousands of feet below the surface of the earth, this sandstone "soaks up" tremendous volumes of natural gas, pumped there during summer months. ▪ The stored gas is held among the grains of the rock, ready for use to heat homes in winter. ▪ Underground storage, pioneered by Columbia Gas System companies, is one of the big reasons why people in this area can depend on the best possible gas service at reasonable rates.

Auto Club Buys Gifts For Youths

Christmas came early for boys and girls in orphans' homes of Franklin and adjoining counties, thanks to members of the Columbus Automobile Club.

Funds remaining from member contributors for the club's annual Orphans' Picnic last summer were used to purchase Christmas gifts for the homes.

These include:

Franklin Village, a television set and funds for driving lessons for residents of the proper age; homes in Circleville, London, and Marysville, television sets; home in Delaware and Methodist Home in Worthington, arts craft equipment; St. Vincent's foot lockers for older children and jig saw puzzles and blocks for the younger ones.

The Club's 57th annual outing was held July 10 at Columbus Zoo and Zoo Park. In addition to dinner and rides for all, each of the older children attending that day received a transistor radio and the younger ones large teddy bears.

Members of the Orphans' Picnic Committee, responsible for the club's biggest activity each year, are Robert O'Brien, chairman; Robert K. Levy, Sr., Dr. C. C. Sherburne, H. R. Penney, J. W. Echenrode and Fred D. Pfening, Jr.

Hilliard Man Named Clerk

Andrew J. McFarland, Jr., of Hilliard has been named a deputy clerk by Franklin County Clerk of Courts Joseph M. Clifford.

McFarland will serve as deputy in charge of the criminal courtroom.

He has been assistant clerk ofthe Board of Elections for the last seven years, is married and has three children.

He will replace Carris Marmie, who has resigned to take a position with State Attorney General-elect William Saxbe.

Free Coffee Featured On Turnpike

Coffee will be "on the house" for New Year's Eve travelers on the Ohio Turnpike, according to the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

In fact, one may obtain not just "one for the road" on the big road but as many cups of coffee as anyone wants, and at all service plazas. Hosts for the annual coffee fiesta will be the operators of the six Howard Johnson's restaurants and 10 Holiday House restaurants on the turnpike.

The "free coffee" opportunity lasts from 10 p.m., Monday, Dec. 31, to 7 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 1.

Toll collectors will give notices concerning the free "coffee break" to all travelers entering the turnpike during the period of the offer. Last year the turnpike service-plaza restaurants served 2,804 free cups of coffee during the nine-hour period.

John Baum Will Speak To Eagles

Junior Past State President John Baum will be the guest speaker at the celebration of the 60th Anniversary, Fraternal Order of Eagles Aerie 297, 771 N. High-st, at 2 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 30.

At 4 p.m., a roast turkey dinner will be served. Donation for Benefit Fund is 75 cents. Dancing will start at 6 p.m. with the Anniversary cake-cutting at 7 p.m. All Eagles, their families and friends are invited.

The annual New Year's Eve Party will be held Monday Dec. 31, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Reservations may be made through the aerie secretary.

The free educational service is provided by Binney and Smith, Inc., manufacturers of crayons and other school art supplies. The workshop will be conducted by Mrs. Betty Ohlrogge Dabbs, who has taught extensively and holds a master's degree from Indiana University.

Haulers May Hit $7.9 Billion Revenue Mark

Based on current business conditions and forecasts of the general economy, 1963 will show a continued progress for the nation's motor freight industry.

Clinton L. Sanders, president of the American Trucking Associations, Washington, D.C., said, "Total revenues for the approximately 16,000 for-hire motor freight carriers under regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission are expected to reach $7.9 billion."

Net earnings for 1962, according to Sanders, will reflect a rebound from the adverse business in the previous year.

Deans To Mark Half-Century Of Marriage With New Year's Day Reception At 'Y'

Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Dean, minister emeritus of Hilltop Community Church, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday, Jan. 1, with an open house reception from 2 to 6 p.m. at the Hilltop YMCA, Valleyview-dr, west of Hague-av.

The Deans have made their home on E. Olentangy River-rd, Delaware RFD 4, since his retirement from the active ministry in 1958. He had served at Hilltop Community since 1940.

REV. AND MRS. J. L. DEAN

During the past four years Rev. Dean has served as supply minister.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Dean grew up on the Hilltop, and were married Dec. 28, 1912, in the parsonage of Glenwood Methodist Church by Rev. Postle E. White.

They have four children—Genevieve, wife of Rev. Ben King, pastor of Soul's Haven Church in Delaware; Martha, wife of Rev. William Meddock, pastor of Bradley Methodist Church in Greenfield, Ind.; Lawrence of 3320 Fisher-rd, part owner of Bolin and Dean Dental laboratory, and Paul, at home.

The couple also has ten grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

President Wilson signed the Underwood Tariff Act, on Oct. 3, 1913.

More than 67,000 motor vehicles are registered in Alaska.

Feeder In Backyard Helps Share Yule

Share Christmas with the birds. If you have no backyard feeder, trim an outdoor tree for them.

Pine cones dipped in suet or peanut butter can be attached to branches. Balls of suet and strings of popcorn or cranberries can be hung from a tree. Bits of apple and grated carrot, even pie crust, dry donuts and crumbs will be welcomed by the birds.

A coconut shell shaped as a container holding sunflower and other bird seed can be fixed to a branch. Don't put the food too far inside a tree or birds may harm the branches while feeding. Once you start feeding birds, keep it up all winter. Provide water, too.

Bluejays, woodpeckers, nuthatches, chickadees, warblers and brown creepers are meat eaters. Cardinals, juncos, sparrows and finches like vegetable seeds.

BY THE ROAD . . . The little church by the side of the road may still be found from one end of th country to the other. And, of course, the bells always ring loudest and clearest on Christmas morning.

METRONOME . . . Pulsebeat for Music.

CHURCH . . . Pulsebeat for your New Year's Resolutions.

Beginners in music study have to have help in timing their practice.

The Metronome is a reminder to stay on the right beat.

The Church is the means through which God pronounces his word. God's word sets up the highest ideals for man to live by. Therefore there is no better ground to base your New Year Resolutions on, than those set up by our Lord.

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

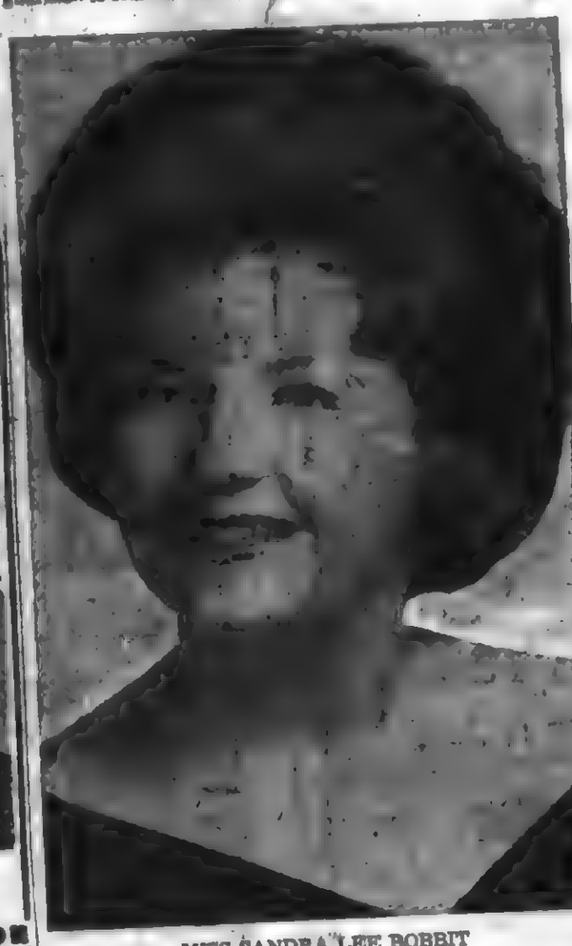
JIM GRAHAM



HAPPY NEW YEAR

Jim and I wish all of our friends and customers a most happy and very prosperous New Year. We can look back on a very satisfying 1962. We made lots of new friends and sold shoes to a lot of old ones. It is very gratifying to have a business like ours in a nice neighborhood like the Hilltop. Our customers are not transients, to be sold once and never seen again. Rather, our patrons are our friends and neighbors . . . their kids go to school with our kids, we see them in church and at the grocery. We are interested in doing our very best for them.

So . . . resolved for 1963, we are going to give more service, more attention to fitting feet. In this age of self-service, when "cripple yourself" shoe stores are springing up like toadstools, we know that the future foot health of a good part of our children, is going to depend on dedicated shoe men and shoe stores where fit is first. Rash Of Robberies Reported In Columbus

Armed bandits were busy in Columbus over the weekend.

A Columbus painter lost his auto and $38 in cash to a pair of hitchhiking bandits early Sunday. John W. Martin, 34, of 71 N. Central-av, told police he stopped at Broad and Miami-sts to pick up two hitchhikers. One of the men produced a gun and forced Martin to get out of his car.

A strong-armed robbery of $45 was reported by Jack Nincere, 63, a clerk at George's Carry Out, 241 E. Long-st, on Saturday.

Another Saturday night robbery attempt at Greenway Market, 68 S. Washington-av, failed. Robert Greenway, 48, store owner said the bandit forced him to empty his pockets but, the pockets were empty. The bandit asked Greenway to "count to 100 while I back out of here" and fled.

Another thug obtained $55 at Robbins Variety Store, 1262 Oak-st. Jessimae Sheets, 46, a clerk, told police a male customer produced a gun and demanded the money.

The fifth bandit took $55 and three suits from M&S Cleaners, 1174 Oak-st. The owner, Mary Hudler, 65, said a man entered the store Saturday afternoon and said, "Open that cash register. I mean business and don't want to kill you. I have a mother of my own."

France devaluated the franc Oct. 1, 1936.

Excuse Our Noise

As the ol' saying goes . . . things are going to start poppin' soon in your neighborhood. It will sound a little like the Fourth of July, but you won't see anything.

What you will hear will be "sounds of progress" . . . underground. These noises are necessary for two reasons:

1) They will help the City of Columbus in the completion of the second phase of a huge 7½ ft.-wide sanitary sewer that will eliminate the danger of any more flooded basements in the West Side.

2) Because of the hard rock formation underground, the economical and time-saving way to dig the sewer line is with modern, vibration-less blasting. Doing the work this way will save Columbus Taxpayers more than a quarter million dollars on this project. To dig this hole with picks and shovels would take too long and be too costly.

So, here's what is going to happen along the route of this sanitary sewer line:

A connection will be made near John Stadium. It will move along the west side of the ball park to Mound St., west on Mound to Hamilton Ave., north on Hamilton to Thomas Ave., west on Thomas to Princeton Ave., and north on Princeton to Sullivant Ave.

Periodic noises will be created by work crews conducting "controlled blasting" with the help and supervision of DuPont experts and electronic devices that check all shock waves. Specialists will control each blast with a hand operated shoe box-size "Caromoter" that serves as a seismograph. This system assures you that vibrations caused by blasting of small areas of rock are so slight as to be negligible. When it is done scientifically . . . with electronically-calibrated instruments, shock waves are kept to a bare minimum.

The reduction of vibrations to such a low level is achieved through the use of modern methods and equipment. It can be proved through seismograph records that vibrations are so slight that no damage is caused to above-ground structures.

For those of you interested in a more technical explanation, here's what DuPont experts say:

"Although the human ear experiences the noise of the blast as one report of varying duration and intensity, a blast is actually a number of reports separated by such a small fraction of a second that they cannot be individually recognized. This separation is caused by detonating successive holes at intervals as short as 5 to 25/1000 of a second apart with delay detonators. Use of these devices reduces seismic vibrations by limiting the amount of explosive detonating at any particular instant and, as an extra dividend, improves fragmentation."

What it all boils down to is simply this:

First, all these miniature "sonic-like booms" are necessary. They will help make possible vital flood control, which is part of a long-range civic program.

Second, these noises are harmless. There will be no flying debris nor will you feel any vibrations. (Because of the noise, sometimes some people think they "feel" vibrations.)

Third, to do the work this way is quicker and will save taxpayers more than $250,000 under the estimated cost figured by city engineers.

We ask your [illegible] when this noise is in your neighborhood and hope you understand that it is harmless, and is necessary to the progress and growth of our community.

READY SWEEPS PAIR

Linden Edges West, Bucs Sink Bulldogs

BY BOB LYNCH

Sharpshooting Linden-McKinley overcame an 11-point deficit during the second half, after trailing at the end of each quarter, to squeeze by the host West Cowboys, 69-67, in a City League encounter, Friday.

Starting a much taller unit than in prior contests this season, Coach Fred Heischman's squad led throughout most of the first half, although the lead changed hands many times before the Cowboys poured in a flurry of points to lead by six at halftime.

SOPHOMORE STEVE Barnard and senior Karl Smith, both recent additions to the starting unit, boosted the Cowboys' rebounding.

At one point in the second half the Cowboys held an 11-point margin, but were unable to hold it as Linden connected several fast breaks to close the margin.

West led, 67-66 until the Panthers managed a field goal with about 20 seconds left, and shortly thereafter added a charity toss to sew up the win.

For the Cowbovs, Charlie Castle (19), Karl Smith (16), and Don McDaniel (15) were the only scorers in double-digit totals.

CENTRAL EMPLOYED a lightning-fast break and a "blanket" defense which forced South into hurried, outside field goal attempts to rattle the Bulldogs, 43-38.

The Pirates, held to an 8-8 first period tie, oiled up their offense in the second period to build up a six-point lead which was never seriously threatened.

Fleet-footed Tom Fullove bombed South's defense from the outside with 17 points to pace Buc scorers. Neither team was able to shoot with red - hot accuracy, Central shooting at 39 per cent and South a chilly 23 per cent.

BISHOP READY finished the week's activities with two wins in two attempts, postponing a third contest with Coshocton Sacred Heart.

Jay Kubin's 21 points and complete control in the rebounding department (32) earned the Silver Knights a 53-41 win over Waterloo Saturday evening.

Earlier in the week, Ready led all the way, coasting to a 54-38 win over New Albany.

Kubin shared scoring honors in this one with teammate Paul Eberts, each collecting 15 points. Hank Martensen chipped in with 12 more markers.

HOLY FAMILY'S quintet wasn't quite as successful, faltering twice during the week. The Raiders bowed to Monroe Township, 60-49, before dropping an 80-72 overtime decision to Delaware St. Marys, Saturday night.

Family challenged Monroe all the way, trailing only 44-42 after three periods but the winners pulled away in the final stanza. Ralph Holman scored 13 points for the Raiders.

The Raiders were unable to hang onto a five-point halftime lead Saturday as both teams battled on even terms throughout the second half—the regulation game ending at 70-all.

BOB MURPHY dropped in 26 points for St. Marys while Bates racked up 18 markers for the losers.

In other area play, Aquinas was hard pressed for three periods before posting a 52-45 win over its Alumni. Tom Woodward's 17 points paced the Terriers.

Only West's (3-4) visit to Bexley (1-4) Saturday night spots the area's holiday cage [illegible]

END OF A FAST BREAK—Central's Gibson Hayes (33) adds the finishes to a successful Pirate fast break attempt by converting a two-pointer against South despite the efforts of the Rebs' Paul Hunt (10).

TIP IN TRY—Central's Harold Winton (33) outreaches South's Bill Bullock (34) and Joe Cook (24) as he tips up a rebound shot against the Bulldogs Friday night. Gibson Hayes (33) is ready to back up Winton's effort.

RALPH PITSENBARGER has the contented look of a hunter after a job well done as he looks over his subdued catch — a 275-pound plus, 14-point buck. Ralph bagged the animal on a hunting excursion in Jackson County recently.

Westside Hunter Bags 14 Pt. Buck

Deer season in Ohio may run only two days (Dec. 13-14) but one hunter, at least, made good use of the 48-hour period, bagging the largest buck checked in at Max Shipley's Taxidermist Shop this season.

Ralph Pitsenbarger of 521 W. State-st, traveled to Jackson County on Dec. 13 to fell a 14-point deer with his 16 gauge Remington shotgun.

HUNTING IN TEMPERATURES of -15 degrees, Pitsenbarger, accompanied by hunting buddy, Bill Mannering of Jackson, downed the animal with a rifle slug.

The buck, which weighed between 275 pounds and 300 pounds on the hoof, measured six feet from nose to rump with a horn measurement well over the minimum 142 inches required to enroll Pitsenbarger in the Buckeye Club, a Central Ohio hunting fraternity.

Ralph, who hunts every time he gets a chance, lists West Virginia as his favorite hunting spot but admits that the Ohio deer was his best bag ever.

PITSENBAGER AND Mannering were on the lookout for rabbits and pheasants when they noticed the tracks of a wounded deer. When the search grew futile, they spotted another deer atop a hill about a mile away.

Trudging through knee-deep snow, the pair made their approach and Pitsenbarger felled his catch with a shot which went through the buck's ear and neck into his shoulder.

"It was all we could man- just getting him loaded in the trunk of the car," Ralph laughed.

Although he does most of his hunting in Pendleton County, W. Va., (near the Virginia line off Rt. 33), Ralph has hunted in Germany's Black Forest for deer and wild boar.

An avid hunter and fisherman for 17 years, Ralph concluded his conversation with a tip for local anglers.

"You can tell the ice fishers that the big bluegills aren't hitting through the ice yet."

'62 Sports Fizzled But '63 Promising

The turn of the year is significant for a number of reasons. Basically it gives everyone a chance to look back over the outgoing and make some resolutions in regard to the incoming.

Before old acquaintance is forgotten, let's take a quick look at what happened sportswise, over the past 365.

LOCALLY, THERE wasn't much to toot our horns about with the new year getting off to a bad start as far as OSU cage fans were concerned when Cincinnati clobbered the Bucks for the second straight year in the NCAA finals.

Baseball rolled around with three shutouts recorded on three efforts, no pennants and everybody left on base. The Jets didn't make the playoffs, the Indians sputtered at midseason and collapsed and Cincy's defending NL champs died a slow death in September.

Autumn came and went with football fans wondering what ever happened to the Buckeyes' grid monster and profootball TV fans switching channels as the Brownies consistently got inside the 20 and bogged down.

BUT THERE WERE bright spots. Jack Nicklaus bowled over the pro golf circuit in his first try, winning the Open and then nabbing the rich "World Series" of golf, understroking Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Maybe it's still too early to start waving the flags for Fred Taylor's "new-look" Buck cagers but Gary Bradds and Co. have so far ignored the wizards of the ratings by outscrambling everybody in a year when most followers figured the wins would be sparse.

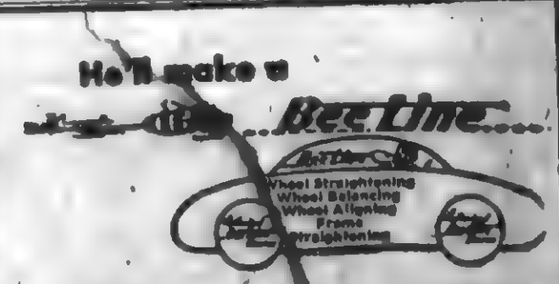
But how about the resolutions? Jim Piersall has resolved to bury the hatchet with AL umpires. (Jim doesn't indicate where he'd like to bury it).

PAUL BROWN HAS resolved to call only 98.7 per cent of the Brownies plays next season and Woody Hayes has resolved to wear only-long sleeved shirts to OSU football games.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have resolved to print an entirely new kind of program for Buc fans next season. Realizing you can't tell the players without a scorecard, the "who's who" will be tabbed, "New Faces of '63."

The NCAA and AAU have resolved to flip a larger silver dollar to settle their scrap.

CASSIUS CLAY resolves to hold his opponents up for more than three rounds to give boxing fans a little bit more for their money.



Around the deck, the "fearless predictor" has resolved to call them all right on the high school grid scene next season.

As for us, we have only one resolution. We resolve to please all the people all the time. And if that little promise can be realized, we suppose all the forementioned suggestions have as good a chance as any.

BITTS OF WIT(T) — Ever wonder what baseball players do during the off season? Other than play winter ball, the paths that lead back to spring training are widely scattered. Redleg coach Dick Sisler is Director of Recreation for the Tennessee State Prison during the winter.

Cincinnati catcher Johnny Edwards, a native of Columbus, is enrolled at OSU, planning to graduate as a Ceramic Engineer in March, 1963.

And then there's Jim Brosnan, the journalist of the Redleg set. Pitcher Jim, who has already written two books (The Long Season and The Pennant Race" is working on another novel at his Morton Grove home in suburban Chicago.

Economic Recovery In 62 Noted By OSU Research Professor

By JAMES G. YOCUM
Professor Of Business Research
Ohio State University

During the expansion that occurred since the February 1961 "trough" of the last business recession, the Columbus metropolitan area has continued to grow and prosper. The population of Franklin County rose to 740,196 by Sept. 1, 1962, compared with 716,116 in 1961.

Births in the county totaled 16,269 in the first 11 months of 1962, a slight drop from 16,734 record in the same period in 1961.

Total business turnover as measured by bank debits was up seven per cent in 1962 from 1961.

Columbus postal receipts totaled $16 million in the first 11 months of 1962 versus $15.3 million in the same period in 1961.

The number of active gas meters in the county rose to 192,919 as of Nov. 30, 1962, from 186,312 a year earlier.

Industrial consumption of electric power was 683 million kilowatt hours in the first 11 months of 1962, up from 629 million in the same months of 1961.

Even though the Columbus area is more largely industrialized, its economy showed more strength and growth during the 1962 portion of the current expansion phase of the business cycle than most other highly industrialized metropolitan areas of Ohio.

The number employed in Columbus area manufacturing was up 11 per cent from 1961, compared to an increase of 3.9 per cent in Ohio as a whole, and 3.6 per cent in the U.S.

Manufacturing payrolls in the Columbus area jumped 14 per cent above 1961, while increasing 10 per cent in Ohio as a whole and nine per cent in the U.S.

Retail trade in the Columbus area totaled over $1 billion in 1962 — a new all time high and up nine per cent from 1961. Columbus area retail sales in 1962 accounted for nearly one-twelfth of the total retail volume in Ohio.

Another extraordinary record was made by Columbus home builders. In the first 11 months of 1962, 9,082 residential building permits were taken out, an increase of 39 per cent.

Among the eight largest Ohio metropolitan areas Columbus was the only one to have an increase, by September, 1962, in manufacturing employment above the last pre-recession peak of May 1960 and had the largest increase in non-manufacturing employment of any of the areas.

In the level of unemployment, Columbus has been more fortunate than other Ohio metropolitan areas. As of October, unemployment in Columbus was only three per cent of the civilian labor force of the area. In the Dayton area the unemployment rate was also three per cent in October, but in other Ohio areas unemployment ranged from 3.5 per cent of the civilian labor force in Akron, 4.4 per cent in Cleveland to a high of 6.7 per cent in Canton and 8.7 per cent in Youngstown.

The Columbus area has shown greater-than-average stability on the down-side of the business cycle — and substantially greater-than-average vitality and growth in the expansion phase of the cycle. The strength of the upward cyclical expansion is the result of the purely cyclical recovery laid on top of the strong secular or long-term growth the Columbus area has enjoyed since World War II.

Efforts of local business, government, financial and civic interests of all types, headed by the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, to bring desirable new businesses and industrial plants to the Columbus metropolitan area have been well rewarded.

A continuation of selective and judicious industrial development activities would seem to be to the long-run best interest of the areas' economy.

Army, District To Work On Conservancy Project

Although Scioto River Basin flood control plans by the Army and the Scioto Conservancy District do not totally coincide, both groups are pledged to work with each other on the project, according to Huntington District Engineer Col. Harrington W. Cochran, Jr.

Speaking to the Columbus Post, Society of American Engineers, at Columbus Army Dept., Col. Cochran said he expects the government and the Conservancy District to "co-ordinate and work together."

The Conservancy's Chief Engineer Harry H. Turney, Jr., indicated that co-ordination presents no major difficulties and added that "we do not know just what Congress will do toward appropriating funds at this time."

Without this knowledge, the Conservancy District must assume it will have to do the entire job. Two reservoirs, Sale Creek and Paint Creek, are not in the district's recently-adopted plan but they have been endorsed by conservancy officials.

The government plan for the Scioto area will cost an estimated $125 million, exclusive of the Delaware project, already completed. Big Darby, Deer and Paint Creek reservoirs are in the pre-construction stage and may be started in two years if Congress makes funds available.

Folk Dancing Class Open

rd and the Jackson Township line, and the Scioto River to Brown-rd. Miss Georgena Howell, 910 Harmon-av, became Columbus' first woman assistant city attorney.

26—George P. Weber was elected president of West Side Kiwanis Club. Some 3,900 striking workers at Westinghouse returned to work Monday. Judge Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, was awarded the 33rd degree, highest honor of Scottish Rite Masonry, in Philadelphia. Westgate Hawks traveled to McKeesport, Pa., where they broke the host team's 57-game winning streak, with a score of 19 to 13.

OCTOBER

2—First Sabin On Sunday campaign was held Sunday. Westhill Church of Christ, 3270 Sullivant-av, announced a fund campaign to finance completion of the church. Plans for the Wilson-rd extension were approved by the City Planning Commission.

10 — Some parking bans were lifted on W. Mound-st. A new Big Bear Store opened on W. Broad-st at N. Murray Hill-rd.

17 — West Side Neighborhood Council held an open meeting concerning the growing number of liquor establishments on the near West Side, and was told by Fred Rose, representing the director of the Ohio Department of Liquor that the state cannot completely halt issuance of permits. Council was promised it would be notified of all West Side applications for permits. City Council approved the start of steps to acquire right of way for the Wilson-rd extension between Sullivant-av and Fremont-rd.

24—Mother M. Constantine, CSC, 69, provincial superior of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, Eastern Province, and former administrator and controller of Mt. Carmel Hospital, died Thursday at Mt. Carmel after a long illness. Sgt. Orville R. Ballenger, prisoner in Laos for 16 months, was back home on the Hilltop, visiting his mother at 371 N. Algonquin-av. A public hearing was held on the proposed West Freeway (Interstate 70), and the general corridor the $15 million highway north of W. Broad-st to West Jefferson will take, was outlined.

31 — Les Swinford was elected president of Hilltop Kiwanis Club. City inspectors found carbon monoxide in 44 out of 151 Hilltop homes as their campaign to stop the silent killer entered its third day. Central High Pirates defeated the East team and clinched the city high school championship title, their first since 1949. Money for planning a floodgate on Dry Run and a new levee along the Scioto River north to Dublin-rd, was approved by City Council.

NOVEMBER

7—Harry Holroyd, 479 N. Warren-av, was sworn in as mayor of Valleyview, following the resignation of Mayor Robert Fisher. Work was started on the first leg of the $104,599,000 Columbus Outerbelt. Four winners of the Hartley Newspapers' search for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year were, Mrs. Oliver Tallman, 3306 Stephen-dr S; Mrs. Phillip Wagner, 2869 Bulen-av; Mrs. Mac McKinley, 835 South Enfield, and Mrs. Kedron Heckner, 161 Topafield-rd, Lincoln Village. The four will go to the national finals in Chicago.

14—Westgate Hawks lost to Arlington in their try for the third straight league championship. Mr. and Mrs. Max Knox, 125 Postle-blvd, lost their lives in a car-truck collision on Clime-rd. Pierson ("Pete") Block, 3181 Parkside-rd, was elected president of Hilltop Community Council. W. Town-st and W. Rich-st were aopproved for one-way traffic.

28—The request to annex 946 acres in southeastern Franklin Township to Columbus was denied by County Commissioners. Mrs. Robert Haverkamp of Park Forest, Ill., was named Suburban Homemaker of The Year in Chicago, and winner of $5000.

28—An apparent mix-up at City Hall stalled traffic commission's plan to convert Town, Rich and Belle-sts to one-way traffic, between Starling-st and Central-av. Mrs. Virginia Garrison, a West Side resident for 20 years, now making her home at the Bellview Rest Home, marked her 103rd birthday Dec. 1. Scioto Main truck sewer, destined to serve most of the lower West Side, reached a point just north of Stimmel-rd, with about three-fourths of the first phase of construction finished. Elmer Hegenberger, president of Shank and Saunders, Inc., was named president of the Hilltop Business Association.

DECEMBER

5 — Briggsdale Methodist Church marked its 140 anniversary Sunday. Grand opening of Park Federal's Savings and Loan West Side branch was held at 4770 W. Broad-st, Lincoln Village. Announcement was made of a new $250,000 swimming pool to be built on Sullivant-av, between Wedgewood-dr and Holly Hill-dr, and completed in time for the summer season.

12—A state of emergency existed in Columbus Dec. 12, as a major water main broke near the Dublin Road Pumping Station, cutting off water supplies to the city with the exception of the Hilltop, West Side, east of Alum Creek and area north of Morse-rd. Purchase of the final parcel of land for the proposed Clime Road Park was readied for council, completing the 270-acre recreation site.

19 — West Side Neighborhood Council closed its second successful year of operation. Valleyview was among city elementary schools tagged for traffic flasher lights. Announcement of Hartley Newspapers' 1963 Stork Derby was made. Improvements at West High, John Burroughs, Eakin and Highland Elementaries, and Hilltonia Junior High were among the school board's proposed $6.25 million 1963 program. Area men, Rev. F. James Boehns and Rev. James E. Van Horn, were to be ordained into the Catholic priesthood Saturday at St. Joseph Cathedral.

Two Juveniles Admit School Equipment Theft

Two juveniles, one from the Hilltop and the other from the South Side, were arrested in connection with the theft of equipment from four Columbus schools. They were ordered held at the Juvenile Detention Home for further investigation after preliminary hearing in Juvenile Court, Dec. 19. Both admitted their part in the robberies, police said.

Three adults appeared in Municipal Court Dec. 20, in connection with the same robberies. They pleaded innocent to burglary.

Judge Fred Shoemaker bound Paul Taylor, 19, of 816 S. Ohio-av, to grand jury under $5000 bond.

Sam C. Taylor, 18, of 929 W. Rich-st, and David A. Ball, 18, of 151 Bellows-av, had their cases continued to Dec. 27.

Oct. 1, 1908, Henry Ford introduced his Model T automobile. This was the first of the 15 million black "Tin Lizzies" that were to change the face and life of America.

LEMONS, LIMES, TOO

ORANGE TREES BLOOM IN FRANKLIN PARK NOW

If you're a little frustratrated by the cold weather, stop by the conservatory at Franklin Park for a refreshing change of pace.

Orange trees. That's what you'll see there. Several of them are now in bloom and have small fruits on them. Also, lemon and lime trees, all blooming with a seemingly obliviousness to the snow outside.

While you're gazing at the fruit, you may like to know the history of the orange. Besides it being one of the few words in the English language that doesn't rhyme with any other word, here are a few other interesting facts:

A striking feature of the orange and other citrus trees is their habit of bearing flowers and fruit at the same time. Because of this, orange blossoms have become the symbol of fruitfulness.

In the Middle Ages, Saracenic brides started a custom that has survived to this day of wearing orange blossoms in their veils.

The orange originated in the Far East but traveled as men explored new lands. It is grown in many areas of the tropics and subtropics, but grows best in our own states of Florida and California, and in Italy and Spain.

TRAINED

JACKIE L. CHAPMAN, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Spangler of 353 S. Ogden-av, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, at Great Lakes.

Three Cabbies Are Robbed By Knife-Wielders

Three Columbus taxi drivers were robbed Saturday and one cab was stolen and damaged during the early morning hours.

One of the robberies resulted in the arrest of 30-year-old Brown Andrews, 416 Galloway-av.

He was arrested at Oak-st and Kelton-av shortly after he allegedly used a knife to relieve Warren R. Johnston, a driver, of $31. Andrews is being held for investigation of armed robbery.

About an hour earlier, John Baker, 35, of 530 Wilson-rd, said a fare pulled a knife on him and took $61. Carl Baiser, 56, of 490 Rumsey-rd, received a similar treatment from a passenger in front of 2456 Darthmouth-rd. Baiser lost $25 to a knife-wielding bandit there.

FROZEN VEGETABLES DRAMATIZED IN MAIN DISH FOR BUFFET SUPPER

Buffet suppers provide an excellent opportunity to introduce new recipes to family and friends. You can let originality and creative ability run rampant in these meals, but as a general rule keep them simple with one or two main dishes that are well prepared.

The garden-fresh color and texture of frozen vegetables are invaluable for brightening winter tables—and appearance should be one of the first considerations in planning your buffet menu.

Here bright green frozen peas provide dramatic contrast against the delicate pink color of the molded vegetable-shrimp ring.

Another feature of this dish is its ease of preparation using convenience foods like frozen onions and green peppers already chopped, frozen shelled and deveined shrimp, and ready-to-cook frozen green peas. Incidentally, frozen green peas with cream sauce or onion sauce make an interesting variation for filling the center of the ring.

VEGETABLE-SHRIMP RING

- 1 (14 oz.) or 2 (7 oz.) packages frozen shrimp, shelled and deveined
- 2 (10 oz.) packages frozen green peas
- ½ cup frozen chopped onions
- ¼ cup frozen chopped green peppers
- ½ cup finely diced celery
- 2 cups cubed day-old bread
- ¼ cup vegetable oil
- 1 egg, lightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs tossed with ¼ cup melted butter or margarine (optional)

Cook frozen shrimp as directed on the package. Reserve several for garnish and chop remaining shrimp. Remove peas from freezer. Measure frozen chopped onions and peppers and dice celery. Soak cubed bread in water, then squeeze water out. Heat vegetable oil and cook onions, peppers and celery until almost tender. Combine all ingredients except peas and mix thoroughly. Grease 1½ quart ring mold thoroughly with softened butter or margarine. Turn shrimp mixture into mold and pat down evenly with spoon. Top with buttered crumbs, if desired. Bake in 350 degree oven for 25 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare peas according to package directions. Unmold ring by cutting around edges with a knife, then inverting over a warm chop plate. Spoon peas into center and garnish with whole shrimp and lemon slices. Makes six generous servings.

Variation: Two (8 oz.) packages frozen green peas with cream sauce, or two (9 oz.) packages frozen peas in onion sauce (heat-in-bag), may be used to fill center of ring.

State Board Gives High Rate To S-W

Parents may not know it but the Ohio Department of Education sends an inspection team to check on all high schools in the state, and reports to the local board of education.

All South-Western City high schools were recently inspected by a state board team, and all were given the highest ratings.

Courses are up to the standards set by the Ohio Department of Education as well as to those set by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

Only point of criticism was that the high school libraries should have more books and more space for the number of students enrolled.

This criteria will be met before the next inspection, according to school officials.
